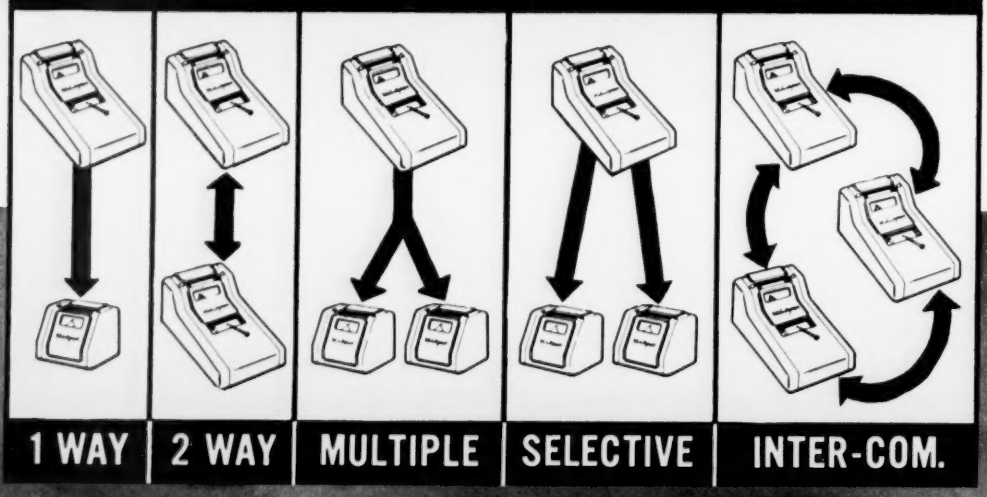
INSTANT HANDWRITTEN COMMUNICATION



HOW FLEXIBLE IS TELESCRIBER COMMUNICATION?

Study the diagrams above and you will see that telescriber communication is as adaptable and as flexible as your needs demand.

1-WAY	One transceiver writes to one receiver.
2-WAY(1)	Two transceivers write to each other.
MULTIPLE(1)	A transceiver writes to any number of receivers at the same time.
SELECTIVE(1)(2)	A transceiver selects any one — or any group — of receivers to write to at a specific time.
INTER-COMMUNICATING(1)(2)	Each transceiver on this system has full selectivity power to write to one, a group or all other transceivers in the system.

(1) A "lock-out" switch automatically prevents more than one message from being received on a receiver at the same time.

(2) Selector keys are required for Selective and Inter-Communicating Systems.

For information concerning telescriber use in Late Charge Control, Admissions, Discharges, Out-Patient File Control, Diet Control, etc., write to Dept. AG-36.

GUARD AGAINST EXPLOSION HAZARDS

...with these electrically-conductive operating room units

• Many prominent institutions have standardized on these Blickman-Built operating room units. Their highly-polished stainless steel surfaces ground static charges effectively through electrically-conductive casters and floor tips. Sturdy, seamlessly welded construction assures long service life. Elimination of dirt-collecting joints and crevices facilitates cleaning. Before buying operating room equipment, see and compare the advantages of "Blickman-Built."

SEND FOR BULLETIN 9 ORC . . . . illustrates and describes more than 50 different Blickman-Built stainless steel units of operating room equipment.

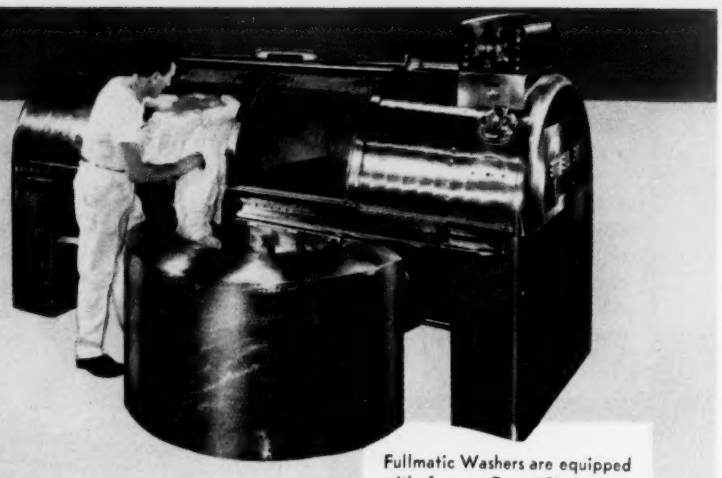
TROY FULLMATIC WASHER — Constructed of gleaming stainless steel, this machine is streamlined in design and completely automatic in operation. The Fullmatic Control automatically fills washer with water to desired level . . . regulates and maintains selected water temperature . . . injects exact amount of soap required . . . adds measured amounts of blue, bleach and sour when needed . . . regulates number and length of various washing and rinsing operations . . . calls attendant when load is completed, by flashing light and ringing bell. Washer sizes: 42" x 36", 42" x 54", 42" x 84", 42" x 96".



Fullmatic Washers are equipped with famous Troy "Slyde-Out" feature for easy unloading. Electromatic and Electromanual Washers are also available with "Slyde-Out" feature or with open pocket cylinder.

ELECTROMATIC WASHERS — Similar to Fullmatic in appearance but with semi-automatic controls. Sizes: 30" x 30", 30" x 48", 42" x 36", 42" x 54", 42" x 96".

ELECTROMANUAL WASHERS — Similar to Fullmatic and Electromatic in appearance but with manual controls. The same sizes are available as Electromatic.

Now! More than 500 U. S. Hospitals Use NCG Oxygen Piping Equipment

The map above locates more than 500 hospitals that have oxygen piping systems in which NCG equipment is used.

This figure is particularly remarkable when you realize that it represents a greater number than the total of all U. S. hospitals that were reported two years ago as having piped oxygen systems.

This is significant in two ways:

1. It emphasizes the strong trend to piped oxygen. Comparatively rare a few years ago, it is now accepted as the method of choice in supplying oxygen. Hospitals have found that it is more convenient, more economical and permits more effective use of inhalation therapy.
2. It is a graphic indication of the leadership in this field conferred upon NCG by hospitals and hospital architects—a leadership won by equipment of excellent design and construction, and a planning and advisory service that has proved most helpful to hospital executives, architects and builders.

You can easily get the facts about an oxygen piping system for your hospital, whether for new or existing buildings, NCG will gladly survey your requirements and give you estimates and preliminary plans—with no cost or obligation to you.

Why not take advantage of this expert advice based on practical experience with over 500 hospitals of all sizes and types? Phone or write to your nearest NCG branch, or to the address below.

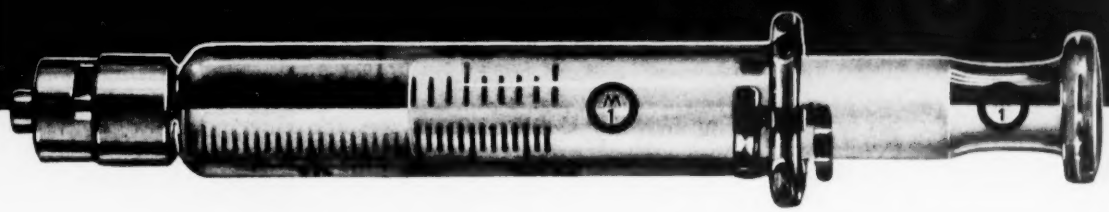
NEW B-D MULTIFIT® SYRINGES



Extensive hospital trials show that syringe costs can be lowered materially with new B-D MULTIFIT. The B-D MULTIFIT Syringe offers a unique combination of economies:

1 Saves Time: ease and speed of assembly cuts handling time—every plunger fits every barrel

2 Saves Money: in case of breakage, you lose only the broken part—the unbroken part remains in use

3 Saves Material: the clear glass barrel virtually eliminates friction, erosion and breakage.

EXPLOSION-PROOF

Suction and Suction-Ether Units

with AEROVENT Overflow Protection

All units on this page are listed by the Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., and approved by Canadian Standards Association for use in hazardous locations, Class 1, Group C.

GOMCO®
Hospital Units for suction and ether

No. 927—Double Pump Model (for extra heavy duty)

No. 928—Single Pump Model

Hospital users report that these units are so simple to operate and maintain that real savings of time and money are effected. Steel cabinet finished in baked enamel. Heavy-duty construction throughout. Famous AREOVENT Overflow Valve automatically prevents pump flooding. Precision control of ether (0 to 15 lbs.) and suction (0" to 25" mercury).

GOMCO®
Hospital Units with AEROVENT for suction service

No. 929—Double Pump Model (for extra heavy duty)

No. 930—Single Pump Model

Embodying quiet-running precision Gomco pumps, these handsome all-steel cabinet units provide accurately controlled suction from 0" to 25" of mercury.

Thermotic Drainage Pumps

Mild, attention-free suction for . .

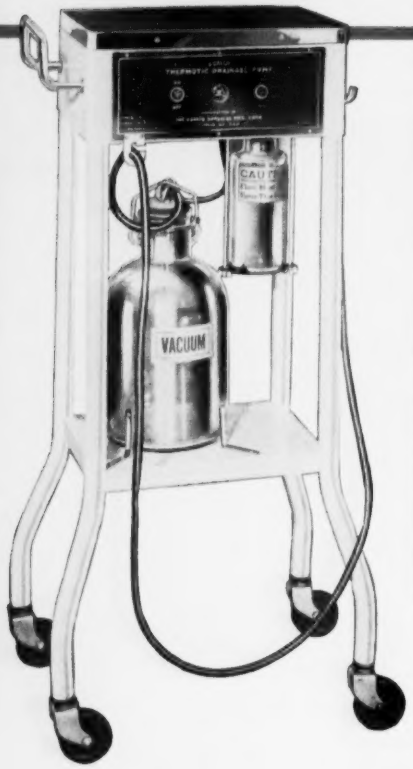
- Vesico-vaginal fistula
- Prostatectomy
- Surgical Trauma
- Ileo - vesical fistula
- Ruptured bladder
- Cystotomy
- Intra - partum rupture
- Duodenal fistula
- Intestinal decompression

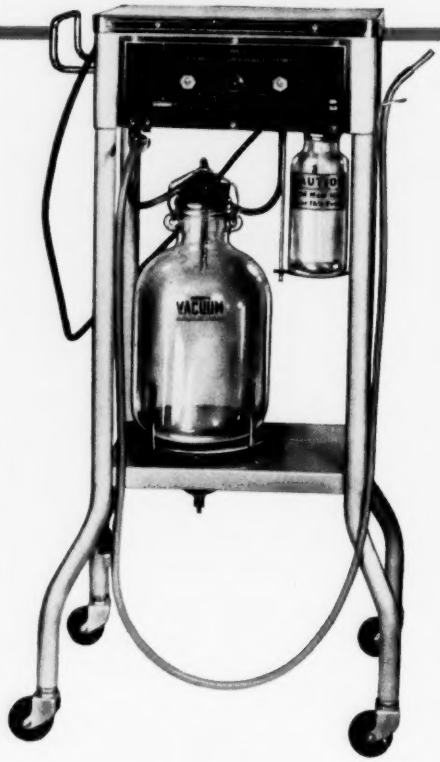
THERMOTIC DRAINAGE PUMP No. 765



Automatic pump has no moving parts to wear out or make noise. Operates on expansion and contraction of air subject to variations in applied heat. Suction may be set to operate indefinitely at either 90 mm. or 120 mm. of mercury, without variation. Supplied with gallon suction bottle and 16-oz. trap bottle.

THERMOTIC DRAINAGE PUMP No. 765-A

with AEROVENT Overflow Protection



The 765-A is identical to the 765 except that it is equipped with AEROVENT.

AEROVENT prevents overflow pump damage by stopping suction when liquid in gallon bottle reaches pre-determined weight. Unit is put back into operation in seconds, by emptying suction bottle. AEROVENT is standard with this unit.

PERFORMANCE—PROVED HOSPITAL EQUIPMENT

Quality PRECISION UNITS at Moderate Cost... with all essential features of more expensive units

GOMCO® Portable Aspirating Pump No. 789

Ideal for polio cases, post-operative work, urological and bronchoscopical suction. Weighs only 18 lbs. Suction range: zero to 20". Gomco Safety Overflow Valve prevents pump damage.

GOMCO® Explosion Proof SUCTION - ETHER UNIT No. 900

Motor and switch fully enclosed. Suction from zero to 25" mercury. Patented Gomco Overflow Valve prevents pump damage from over-filled bottle. Ether system with 0 to 15 lbs. pressure and large bottle to provide smooth anesthesia. Stand 33" high, 12" wide, 9½" deep is finished in enamel and stainless steel.

GOMCO Explosion-Proof Suction Unit No. 901

Same as above without ether system.

GOMCO® Aspirator No. 790

A trim stand-mounted unit finished in gleaming baked-on enamel with all chrome-plated fittings. Simple, easy to control. Precision regulator valve allows setting of suction from 0" to 20" mercury. Quality GOMCO pump is trouble-free—protected from overflow danger by the GOMCO Safety Overflow Valve.

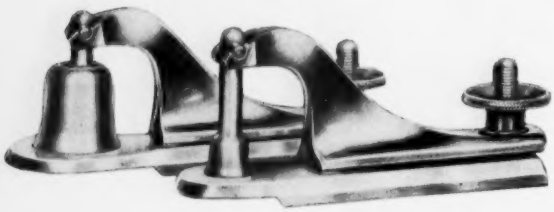
GOMCO® Portable EXPLOSION-PROOF Suction - Ether Unit No. 910

Listed by Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc. and approved by Canadian Standards Association for safe use in ethyl-ether atmospheres (Class 1, Group C). Regulator controls suction from 0" to 25" mercury. Pressure from 0 to 30 pounds.

GOMCO® Portable EXPLOSION-PROOF Suction Unit No. 911

For assured safety in the operating room. This unit is listed by Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc. and approved by Canadian Standards Association for use in atmospheres containing ethyl-ether vapors (Class 1, Group C). Suction from 0" to 25" mercury.

GOMCO® CIRCUMCISION CLAMPS



No anesthetic or sutures required for infants — few sutures for adults. Greatly reduces danger of infection. Post-operative hemorrhage practically eliminated. Available in eight sizes from newborn to adult. Savings in sutures alone pay for this apparatus in a short time.

GOMCO® ELECTRIC BREAST PUMP No. 785

Here's dependable protection against milk contamination and lacerated nipples. The Gomco rotary pump maintains a constant suction, thus preventing re-circulation of any air column which might have been contaminated by a previous patient. Patient may regulate degree of suction to her comfort. Easy to clean and maintain — no external moving parts.

Statistical Guides

TEXT AND TABLES in this Statistical Guides section bring up to date many of the studies conducted in earlier years by the American Hospital Association. There are, in addition, new reports on subjects not previously covered.

As was done previously, the various reports are grouped under four major headings: (1) Hospital Plant, (2) Hospital Utilization, (3) Hospital Finances, and (4) Special Information.

The statistical tables are assembled from questionnaires that were mailed to all hospitals registered by the American Medical Association. The reports cover a 12-month period ending September 30, 1952, with certain corrections made up to January 15, 1953.

Four types of tables are presented. Seven-year trend tables are included for three divisions. Those are followed by national summary tables and additional tables providing details by geographic regions.

The regional groupings followed throughout this section are illustrated by the diagrammatic map below. U. S. territories and Canada follow the regional tables. Statistical summaries on individual states, territories and Canadian provinces appear in the Guide to Hospitals section under the respective state or provincial headings.

Included for the first time this year are new statistical reports on several factors of medical staff organization. There also are new information tables on the background, training and work schedules of administrators of the nation's hospitals.

The text that precedes the tabular reports serves merely to point up the major trends of 1952 and previous years. Hospital administrators, department heads and others will find answers to a host of individual questions by carefully studying the several sections.

latest clinical report[1] demonstrates D & G Aureomycin Packing is "far superior"

Recent investigators state: "Aureomycin Packing is far superior to iodoform gauze, plain gauze or any other type of gauze packing known to us."[1] The study covered many different types of abscess, as well as postoperative and non-postoperative wound infections, from all of which 12 strains of bacteria were isolated. Untreated sterile packing and iodoform packing were used as controls.

High, prolonged antibacterial action: After 16 hours, 65.4% of the aureomycin had been utilized, and after 48 hours, 93.3%. Thus D & G Aureomycin Packing helps heal infected wounds otherwise inaccessible to systemic antibiotics because of the presence of an inflammatory wall with thrombosed blood vessels and a total decrease in blood flow.

No interference with wound healing: "Aureomycin and plain packing showed no impairment of growth of cells in tissue culture. . . . Iodoform showed decreased growth."[1]

Relatively non-toxic: "No significant local or systemic toxic effects were noted, nor was allergy or local skin irritation in evidence."[1] Also, "Foul odor . . . was considerably reduced."[1]

THE GROWTH OF hospitals in the United States during the past seven years is presented in the following table.

An understanding of the classification of hospitals used by the American Hospital Association is necessary for interpreting trends and avoiding conclusions not encompassed in the data. The predominant type of care rendered in a hospital was used as the basic classification characteristic in the establishment of the various categories of hospitals. An exact classification of hospital services can not be made when mutually exclusive categories are used for classifying purposes. In some instances, a hospital has many types of patients under one administration. In these cases the predominant type of care provided by the hospital organization was used as the classifying characteristic. On occasion, the hospital changes its predominant type of service through addition of beds or a change in emphasis of its service, and such a hospital is then moved from one category to another. In other instances, single hospital organizations divide their identities into separate units, each administered independently. Each unit is then considered an individual hospital and each is classified by its predominant type of service.

Although changes in the character of the over-all hospital system are not extensive or rapid, they do affect statistical analyses when attempts are made to measure growth or decline in the number of hospitals and beds allocated to specific categories of services. This is true of the groups of hospitals which are relatively few in number and large in capacity, such as the longterm general and special and, to some degree, tuberculosis hospitals. Special caution should be used in analyzing the growth of these two groups of hospitals. By studying the tables, it might appear that there was a loss of beds in a particular group of hospitals, whereas there may be a need for an extension of that type of care. This apparent loss in some instances is explained by the reclassification of hospitals from one category to another. Thus, a conclusion that there are fewer beds caring for that particular type of patient would be unwarranted.

In some federal hospitals a central authority determines the bed complement of each hospital under its jurisdiction as of a particular date. When circumstances dictate, new determinations of bed complement are made through the opening and closing of whole or parts of individual institutions. This changes the bed complement and number of hospitals based on current need and affects statistics. For comparative analysis, the statistics for total number of hospitals at the present time is apparently the most reliable.

The case that baffled an entire hospital!

Patients discharged in the pink were leaving this Connecticut hospital in the red.

The patients recovered, but the hospital was having a hard time recovering costs from insurance and welfare agents. Close to 90% of hospital revenues today comes from these "third party" agents. They require positive proof of costs.

Total recovery of patient costs called for accurate accounting of these costs. And that called for businesslike record-keeping methods.

McBee had the answer for the Connecticut hospital—and for scores of other hospitals suffering from ill-kept records: Keysort Charge Tickets – cards with pre-coded holes along the edges. When notched, the marginal holes made it easy to collect the facts on each patient . . . classify them . . . file them . . . find them . . . use them . . . quickly and accurately.

For hospitals, as for business firms in almost every field, Keysort cards and machines provide complete cost-control information more economically than any other method.

No special personnel is required to operate Keysort methods, no costly installations or major procedural changes are necessary. With simple, flexible Keysort cards and machines, any executive can keep his fingers on the pulse of his entire operation.

No wonder McBee sales have multiplied tenfold in just a few short years.

There is a McBee representative near you, trained to advise you frankly whether or not McBee can help you. Ask him to drop in. Or write us.

Hospital Utilization

★ ADMISSIONS ★ CENSUS ★ OCCUPANCY
★ LENGTH OF STAY
★ BIRTHS

THE TREND TOWARD greater utilization of registered hospitals continued in 1952. Approximately 1,000,000 more patients were admitted to hospitals in 1952 than in 1951. Average daily census reached an all-time high of 1,336,000, which was about 38,000 more than the daily average in 1951.

The per cent of occupancy as well as the average length of stay in hospitals remained approximately the same as during 1951. General and special short-term nonprofit hospitals reported a decrease of 0.8 in their per cent of occupancy. The lowest per cent of occupancy in short-term hospitals was 65.4 in the west-south-central and the mountain states. The highest per cent of occupancy for short-term hospitals was 76 per cent in the east-north-central area, followed closely by the Pacific states with 75.2 per cent.

Of the 3,050,049 babies reported born in all hospitals, 95 per cent, or 2,918,934, were born in general and special short-term nonprofit hospitals. Births in federal hospitals in 1952 were more than three times the number reported in 1946.

J. T. POSEY COMPANY

Manufacturers and Distributors of Hospital Specialties

We specialize in Hospital Equipment, having produced a number of items which have proved of unusual value to modern institutions.

Since 1937 we have manufactured and distributed quality hospital equipment designed to aid modern institutions. Every Posey product is guaranteed 100% satisfactory, or it may be returned for refund. We also manufacture the Posey Fracture Equipment and a number of other products which are used and favorably known throughout the hospital field.

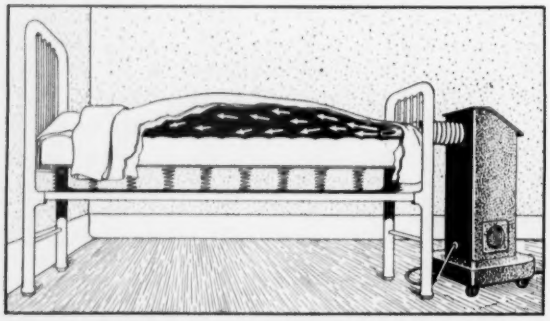
THE POSEY SAFETY BELT

U. S. Patent No. 2,333,346

Prevents patients falling out of bed. Maximum freedom with safe restraint. Causes no mental fear or physical discomfort. Better than side boards, the Posey Safety Belt is so designed that it is under the patient and out of the way. Sizes: Small, Medium, Large. Cat. No. S-141, Price $5.50. (With key-lock buckles, Cat. No. P-453, Price $18.50 each)

POSEY WRIST OR ANKLE RESTRAINT

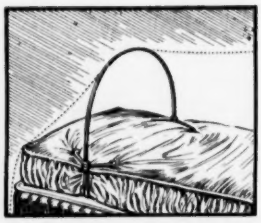
A friendly restraint designed for use on adults, children and babies. It allows some freedom of movement, causes little mental or physical discomfort, yet prevents falling or getting out of bed. Made in infant, small, medium and large sizes. Cat. No. P-450, Price $5.25 per pair, $10.50 per set.



THE SWEETLAND BED WARMER AND CAST DRIER

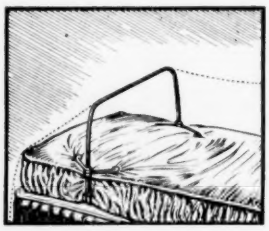
U. S. Patent No. 2,122,964

For treating patients by continuous flow of thermostatically controlled warm air. Warms bed for post-operative care in from 7 to 10 minutes. Warmer, when used with cast drying mats, will dry plaster casts in less than one-half time usually required. Ideal in treatment of burn cases. Bed Warmer: $295.00. Accessories for use with the Bed Warmer when drying plaster casts: Adult Body Cast Drying Mat $37.50; Adult Leg Cast Drying Mat $27.50; Child Body Cast Drying Mat $35.00; Child Leg Cast Drying Mat $25.00.



POSEY BODY CRADLE

P-140, $6.00



POSEY LEG CRADLE

P-140A, $6.00

Simple, self-locking clamp to mattress holds Posey Cradle in place while keeping patient accessible. Full width of bed with light hooks on body size.

McDONALD RESTRAINT

A strong, friendly restraint designed to prevent patient from getting or falling out of bed. Small, medium and large sizes. P-4147, Price $5.75. Available with key-lock buckles, Cat. No. P-353, Price $18.75 each.

Prices and specifications subject to change without notice. F.O.B. California.

*Excluding hospitals operated by the federal government.

Add AUDIO easily to your present VISUAL nurse call system of corridor domelights Executone's Audio-Visual Nurse Call System Cuts Foot Travel in Half!

Easily and quickly added to your present visual domelight system. Executone frequently uses existing conduits or raceways—providing you with a modern Audio-Visual Nurse Call System! All accomplished with no interruption of service during installation!

Many hospitals—old and new—are discovering the economy and efficiency of Executone's Audio-Visual system. More patients are handled with less effort, in less time! One hospital reports that Executone has reduced operating costs 8% per bed. It is an invaluable aid in relieving the nurse shortage.

By pressing a bedside button, the patient activates signals at three locations—chime and light on nurse's control station, corridor domelight, buzzer and light on duty stations. The nurse presses key to reply . . . Executone's Call System may be installed complete, added to existing domelight systems, or installed without domelights.

FOUR MORE Executone SERVICES

1. Radio-Sound Distribution System provides patient with entertainment programs through individual "pillow speakers".
2. Doctors' Call System locates doctors instantly, anywhere in the hospital.
3. Bed Occupancy Monitor© alerts nurses when a "bed restricted" patient tries to get out of bed.
4. General Administrative Intercom coordinates activities between departments and individuals.

~~1773~~ hospitals have switched to Angelica because of original designs like the new 'safety-lok' surgeon gown*

*PATENT PENDING

the surgeon gown every hospital is seeking because...

the (1) "Safety-Lok" tab, which fastens securely and quickly with two indestructible knot buttons, eliminates all ties and provides a comfortable, adjustable fit at the neckline.

because...

the replacement of all ties with (2) double bartacked knot buttons reduces linen room repairs . . . saving time and money.

because...

the adjustable "Safety-Lok" neckline feature, the (3) extra four-inch overlap at the back, the (4) absorbent double stockinette cuffs and the (5) 54-inch finished length assure complete safety from contamination.

because...

the new "Safety-Lok" surgeon gown gives full comfort to the surgeon with (6) roomy raglan sleeves for freedom of movement and (7) tunnel belt for snug fit at the waistline.

Like all Angelica hospital apparel, the "Safety-Lok" surgeon gown is made to last longer. It is available for immediate delivery and priced to your budget. Call your Angelica representative today.

HOSPITAL OPERATING costs continued upward during 1952 but there were some signs that an important trend might be in the offing. The income-expense picture for nonprofit short-term hospitals showed some improvement over the previous year when expenses gained more rapidly than income. In 1952—for the first time in several years—the increase in income kept pace with the increase in operating expenses. Income per patient day was up $1.55 and expenses $1.54.

Though there was that improvement, hospitals still were not into the clear. Income from patients still was $1.45 per day less than expenses. Outside sources still were being called on to make up the difference.

For all registered hospitals in 1952, the operating expense total came to nearly four and one-half billion dollars. Since many hospitals do not include depreciation as part of their expenses, it is safe to assume that total expenses were even greater.

Payroll required a bit more of the hospital operating dollar—57 cents in 1952 as compared to 56 cents in 1950 and 1951.

ANTISEPTIC LIQUID SURGICAL SOAP

Hexachlorophene Germa-Medica®

REDUCES

BACTERIA . . .

SHORTENS

SCRUB-UP

This unique Liquid Surgical Soap has earned its place in America's finest hospitals because it does a thorough and economical job of preparing the surgeon's hands and the patient's skin for surgery. It reduces the time required for both techniques.
Hexachlorophene Germa-Medica is most economical because it is diluted 3 to 1 before use. Surgeons and nurses prefer Hexachlorophene Germa-Medica for their hands because it leaves the skin soft and feeling really clean.

Hexachlorophene Germa-Medica contains 2.5% hexachlorophene on the anhydrous soap basis, 1.0% total weight basis.

HUNTINGTON SURGICAL SOAPS, SANITATION SUPPLIES AND DISPENSERS

THE HUNTINGTON PORTABLE FOOT PEDAL DISPENSER is economical, trouble-free. Positive action. Won't clog. Easy to clean. All metal in contact with soap is non-corrosive, stainless steel. Single or twin types. Leased without charge to quantity users of our soaps.

OTHER HUNTINGTON SOAP AND ALCOHOL DISPENSERS. A complete line of dispensers . . . all aseptically correct for hospital use . . . includes new plastic dispenser bottles, liquid or lather pump-type dispensers, pneumatic wall-type and gravity-feed dispenser systems; stainless steel alcohol dispenser.

NEW SPAL CONCENTRATE is a powerful liquid detergent. Useful as an all-purpose cleaning compound . . . for walls, woodwork, floors and as a green soap stock-solution. Dissolves oily dirt, eliminates rinsing, makes cleaning easier. Suds quickly in any water . . . hard, soft, hot or cold. Cleansing action lasts even after water muddies.

NEW INSTRU-SAN INSTRUMENT CLEANER is a time-saver for nurses. Simplifies instrument clean-up. Dissolves dried blood plasma, serum and other encrustations without scrubbing. Will not leave a film. Safe for use on glass, metal, rubber and plastics. Won't corrode instruments or dull edges.

NEW FORMA-SAN INSTRUMENT GERMICIDE is a potent chemical solution for the thorough disinfection of instruments. Contains hexachlorophene. Tested and proved effective against tubercle bacilli, spore formers and pathogens. Safe for use on rubber, metal, plastics, glass. Won't dull edges or corrode instruments. Provides a new measure of safety.

New Korex

KOREX GERMICIDAL CLEANER is a general purpose, antiseptic cleaning compound. It contains fine soap, detergent and a new type of germicide, phenol coefficient 2. Kills communicable disease germs. Cleans, disinfects and deodorizes in one operation. A pleasantly perfumed universal cleaner. Eliminates need for special cleaners; cuts out extra operation usually required for disinfecting. Use on any surface that is unharmed by water. Easy to use. Economical.

*Registered, Huntington Laboratories, Inc.

CABINET-SAN DEODORANT is highly concentrated. It quickly removes obnoxious odors when sprayed in rooms, corridors, cabinets and on fabrics. Popular in the new Aerosol Dispenser. Also wick-type dispenser or plastic atomizer bottles.

SAN-PHENO X* has a phenol coefficient of 10, yet costs no more than ordinary germicides. Nonirritating to animate and inanimate objects. Pleasant odor. Readily soluble in water. Stable. Kills Mycobacterium Tuberculosis germs. Very low cost in use.

SAN-PHENO V* is a powerful germicide with a pleasing odor. Suitable for personal hygiene, as well as other hospital uses. Mild in contact with tissue, yet high in germ killing action. Stable.

HEXACHLOROPHENE BABY-SAN LIQUID SOAP helps prevent infections. Soothes baby's skin as it keeps the bacteria count low. Liquid castile made from imported olive oil. Available without hexachlorophene. Huntington Baby Oil is soothing and aseptic. An alternate to daily bathing.

SURGO-SAN SURGICAL PASTE SOAP contains 65% anhydrous soap. Concentrated for economical use, it is greatly diluted with water before using. Made with coconut and olive oils . . . always pure and uniform.

FLOOR-SAN UNIVERSAL CLEANER* contains soap, detergent and emulsifier . . . works on any type of dirt! Suds in any water. May be used on any surface that's unharmed by water. Excellent for green soap stock-solution.

SILENT HUNTINGTON FLOOR MACHINES are made in four types; 12- and 16-inch sizes. Special quiet belt-driven model for hospital use. Sand, scrub, steel wool and buff. Guaranteed.

SILENT HUNTINGTON VACUUM CLEANER is quiet and efficient. Portable. Used for wet and dry pick up.

HUNTINGTON SELF-POLISHING WAXES are made from the best carnauba wax under strict laboratory control. All are heavy duty waxes, and listed by U.L. Anti-Slip Cosmolite includes amazing new colloidal silica. Weatherall has great resistance to water. Neo-Shine is concentrated to give longest wear.

Special Information

SIXTEEN SPECIAL studies are tabulated on the following pages. For the most part, this is information not previously reported. The range is wide and many of the reports have special significance when considered in relation to reports in previous issues and to other reports in this issue on plant, utilization, finance and specified facilities.

Many of the reports of the issues published in 1950, 1951 and 1952 may still be used as reliable guides. For those wishing to refer to back issues, there is printed below a complete index to all special information reports of this and the three previous issues.

IN THIS ISSUE

TABLE A—Extent of medical staff organization in hospitals.

TABLE B—Classification of appointments of staff physicians.

TABLE C—Restrictions on staff physicians' surgical privileges.

TABLE D—Non-staff members practicing in hospitals.

TABLE E—Hospital examining rooms for private practice.

TABLE F—Physicians' private offices in hospitals.

TABLE G—Diagnostic facilities for private patients of staff physicians.

TABLE H—Organized outpatient clinics.

TABLE I—Routine tissue examination.

TABLE J—Hospital administrators' background and training.

TABLE K—Administrators' hospital experience.

TABLE L—Hospital administrators' non-administrative work load.

TABLE M—Fulltime assistant administrators.

TABLE N—Replacement funds required by hospitals.

TABLE O—Ambulance service available to hospitals.

TABLE P—Ambulance attendants' qualifications.

REPORTED IN 1952

See page 19 and following, Statistical Guides section of part II of the June 1952 issue of HOSPITALS.

TABLE A—Hospitals classified according to predominating type of service. Of 6,832 reporting hospitals, 5,200 were classified as general hospitals on the basis of predominating type of service provided.

TABLE B—Hospital beds specifically allotted to type of service. A total of 669,531 beds were specifically allotted to nervous and mental service in 1951. (See also Tables M, N, O and P of 1951 issue.)

TABLE C—Hospitals reporting additional beds to be put in operation during 1952. More than 15 per cent of the hospitals reported plans for adding new beds during 1952. (See also Table B of 1951 issue.)

TABLE D—Hospitals reporting beds closed. Of 30,868 closed beds in hospitals, 13,927 were closed because of lack of personnel.

TABLE E—Hospitals reporting employment of administrator and nursing director within the year. In 16 per cent of the reporting hospitals, the administrator had served in that post less than one year. The directors of nursing in 19.5 per cent of the hospitals had been employed less than one year.

TABLE F—Job vacancies in hospitals. Hospitals with a working force of 843,418 reported 49,465 job vacancies, almost half of them graduate nurse staff vacancies.

TABLE G-1—Hospital employment of medical record librarians and medical social workers.

TABLE G-2—Hospital employment of occupational therapists and physical therapists.

TABLE H—Auxiliaries and other volunteer workers. Of the total reported women's auxiliary membership, 75 per cent were members of auxiliaries serving short-term hospitals. (See also Table Q of 1951 issue.)

TABLE I—Hospitals directly controlled by governing boards. The average membership of governing boards was shown to be 11.

TABLE J—Types of food service in hospitals. More than 80 per cent of the hospitals reported a centralized type of food service.

TABLE K—Selective and non-selective menus in hospitals. Thirty-seven per cent of the reporting hospitals were providing selective menus.

TABLE L—Types of dishwashing service in hospitals. Mechanized, centralized dishwashing service was the type reported by 61 per cent of the reporting hospitals.

REPORTED IN 1951

See page 23 and following, Statistical Guides section, of Part II of the June 1951 issue of HOSPITALS.

TABLE A—Hospitals reporting surgical operating rooms. A total of 5,166 hospitals reported 9,851 major operating rooms. The count of minor operating rooms was 6,907.

TABLE B—Hospitals reporting additional beds to be put in operation during 1951. The number of beds planned was 90,235.

TABLE C—Hospitals reporting organized training courses for auxiliary nursing personnel. There were 965 reporting courses.

TABLE D—Hospitals reporting pension or retirement programs. At that time 1,426 hospitals reported this employee benefit.

TABLE E—Hospitals reporting physician staff members specializing in pathology. There were 1,301 hospitals reporting fulltime pathologists and 1,708 reporting the part-time service of a pathologist.

TABLE F — Hospitals reporting physician staff members specializing in radiology. The count was 1,402 hospitals with fulltime radiologists and 2,089 hospitals with part-time radiologists.

TABLE G — Hospitals operating laundries. More than 50 per cent (3,565 out of 6,788) operated their own laundries.

TABLE H—Hospitals owning stand-by generators for emergency electric service. There were 689 hospitals reporting stand-by service for all areas; 1,637 for some areas.

TABLE I—Types of fuel used for cooking. Among 5,777 reporting hospitals, 4,403 used gas and 1,083 used electricity.

TABLE J—Types of fuel used in general heating. Coal was used by less than half of those reporting; gas by about one-fourth and oil by about the same number.

TABLE K—Hospitals with facilities for newborn. A total of 1,443 hospitals reported that they had special nurseries for premature infants and 4,171 reported the ownership of 13,315 incubators.

TABLE L — Hospitals reporting oxygen piped to specific areas. Less than 250 hospitals reported piping to any one specific area.

TABLE M—Tuberculosis beds in short-term general hospitals. There were 269 short-term hospitals reporting a total of 8,615 beds for tuberculosis patients.

TABLE N — Psychiatric beds in short term general hospitals: 313 hospitals reported 7,274 beds.

TABLE O—Chronic disease beds in short-term general hospitals: 305 hospitals reported 6,922 beds.

TABLE P—Communicable disease beds in short-term general hospitals: 697 hospitals reported 6,452 beds.

TABLE Q — Volunteer workers. The reported number of volunteer workers was 71,859.

REPORTED IN 1950

See page 56 and following, Part II June 1950 issue of HOSPITALS.

TABLE 12—Air conditioned areas in hospitals. Operating rooms are most often so equipped.

TABLE 13 — Hospitals admitting polio patients. A total of 1,545 reported 32,628 polio admissions.

TABLE 14—Tuberculosis beds in short-term general hospitals. The count in 1949 was 160 hospitals with 4,380 tuberculosis beds.

TABLE 15 — Psychiatric beds in short-term general hospital. There were 199 reporting hospitals providing 4,356 psychiatric beds.

TABLE 16 — Contagious disease beds in short-term general hospitals: 594 reporting hospitals with 5,755 contagious disease beds.

TABLE 17—Routine x-ray of inpatients on admission: 1,142 hospitals reported this practice. (See also Table 7, this issue.)

TABLE 18—Volunteer workers in general and special hospitals. The number was 28,940 in this group.

TABLE 19 — Surgical operations performed in hospitals. A total of 4,372 hospitals reported 7,076,953 major, minor and unclassified operations. Of the total, 2,477,825 were classified as major.

About Table A

TABLE A PROVIDES a report by 5,874 hospitals of specified factors regarding medical staff organization. The factors, tabulated according to size and type of hospitals reporting, indicate the number which have chiefs of staff, chiefs of services, written staff regulations, regularly scheduled staff meetings and standing medical staff committees.

On a comparative basis, the 2,730 general and special short-term nonprofit hospitals reporting show a higher percentage of staff organization than other classifications of hospitals. For the most part, these general and special short-term nonprofit hospitals reported more complete staff organization as they increased in size. The hospitals under 50 beds show 71 per cent having written staff regulations as compared with 97 per cent in the 250-bed and over size.

Of the total replies, more than 88 per cent reported that they have chiefs of staff. This ranged from 83 per cent of the mental and allied hospitals to 92 per cent of the general and special short-term nonprofit hospitals. Of the 4,530 hospitals reporting that they had written staff regulations, the percentage among major groups of hospitals ranged from 50 for tuberculosis hospitals to 91.6 for federal hospitals.

Medical staff organization is the largest single item in the point-rating system used by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. This important requisite to good patient care has shown much improvement in the past 30 years, stimulated by the accreditation program and the American College of Surgeons hospital standardization program that preceded it. For more details, see the Accreditation section on page 305 of this Administrators Guide Issue of HOSPITALS.

About Table B

TABLE B IS A RESUME of reports by 5,399 hospitals on the number and ratio per 100 beds of staff physician appointments in the active, associate, courtesy, consultant and honorary groups.

The active, courtesy and consultant appointments are the most predominant types, comprising about 86 per cent of all types of staff appointments. The honorary is the least used type of appointment and active the most frequently used type.

The general and special short-term nonprofit hospitals show the largest ratio of active staff members per 100 beds, 30.5, and the mental and allied group shows the smallest ratio, 0.5 per 100 beds. The 2,526 general and special short-term nonprofit hospitals reporting showed a ratio of 7.0 associate staff members per 100 beds as compared with less than 0.1 associate staff members per 100 beds in the mental and allied and federal hospitals. This would indicate a different pattern in methods of appointment used in the various groups.

While the 5,399 hospitals replying reported a total of 319,889 staff appointments, this figure on the number of appointments overstates the total number of physicians with hospital affiliations, since in many communities a physician may have staff appointments of one or more types in several hospitals.

OHIO CHEMICAL & SURGICAL EQUIPMENT CO., MADISON 10, WIS.
A DIVISION OF AIR REDUCTION COMPANY, INCORPORATED
"At the frontiers of progress, you'll find . . . an Air Reduction product"

THE LATEST ADVANCEMENT IN SURGICAL LIGHTING . . .

the new OHIO *Surg-o-beam

The color-corrected shadow-reduced light of the Surg-o-beam combines intensity and uniformity of illumination with versatility and economy to an extent never before achieved in a major operating light.

WHY THE SURG-O-BEAM GIVES BETTER SURGICAL LIGHT

Amazing Shadow Reduction — Although the surgeon may place his body in front of the light, the surgical field is still evenly and amply illuminated with excellent penetration of deep cavities.

Greater Maneuverability — The Surg-o-beam can be maneuvered so that it illuminates any point within a nine-foot circle without the necessity of tilting the lamphead. The light also can be positioned from any place outside the nine-foot area.

Color-corrected, cool, white light — The excessive red and yellow of the light is removed, as well as 85% of the heat. The result is a cool, white light that makes the identification of minute details easier.

Greater Intensity and Uniformity of Illumination . . . not heretofore achieved in a major operating light. The total amount of illumination projected by the Surg-o-beam within a circle 10 inches in diameter is 30% greater than that projected by conventional operating lights.

The superiority and economy of the Surg-o-beam are important not only in new hospital installations, but should be considered in replacing lights now in use.

* Trade Mark

Economy — The design of the Surg-o-beam makes it possible to utilize a two-filament lamp with a long life of 1,000 hours (approximately 8 months) rather than the usual 200-hour lamp. Saves time, trouble, and money.

Safety — Conforms to the recommendations of the National Fire Protection Association. Accepted and listed by Underwriters' Laboratories.

About Tables C and D

TABLE C IS A REPORT on the degree of restrictions on staff physicians' surgical privileges. Seventy-two per cent of 5,061 hospitals reported that restrictions were placed on surgical privileges. This ranged from 57 per cent in the proprietary hospital group to 82 per cent in the general and special short-term nonprofit group.

Within the general and special short-term nonprofit group, the per cent of restriction increases as the hospital bed complement increases; i.e., from 61.6 per cent in the under-50-beds group to 95.2 per cent in the group with 250 beds or more. This is true also in the governmental classification ranging from 50 per cent in the 50-bed-and-under group to 84 per cent in the 250-bed-and-over group.

TABLE D GIVES a report by 5,662 hospitals on the percentage of non-staff members allowed to practice within these hospitals. Thirty per cent of all hospitals reported that non-staff physicians were permitted to practice within the hospital. This ranged from 7 per cent of the federal hospitals to 54 per cent of the proprietary hospitals permitting this practice.

In the general and special short-term nonprofit and governmental short-term hospitals the percentage of non-staff physicians allowed to practice in the hospital decreases as the bed complement increases. For example, in the general and special short-term nonprofit group 43.5 per cent were allowed this privilege in hospitals with fewer than 50 beds and only 16 per cent in hospitals of 250 beds and over. Likewise in the government group, 46.7 per cent permitted this privilege in hospitals under 50 beds and 13 per cent in hospitals with 250 beds or more.

About Tables E and F

TABLE E IS A tabulation of 5,553 hospitals' answers concerning the provision of examining rooms primarily for private ambulatory patients who are being treated by members of the hospitals' medical staffs.

Thirty-eight per cent of all reporting hospitals provided this facility for their medical staffs. The highest percentage (68 per cent) occurred in the proprietary group; the lowest, 16 per cent, in general and special longterm group.

IN TABLE F, 1,033 of 5,539 hospitals reported that they provide physicians' offices in the hospital, which physicians may use for seeing private ambulatory patients. This represents 18.6 per cent of the hospitals replying. The highest percentage maintaining such facilities are the proprietary hospitals, and the lowest percentage appeared in the general and special longterm hospitals.

Among the general and special short-term nonprofit hospitals, 15.9 per cent replied that they provided such offices for physicians.

About Table G

TABLE G INDICATES that approximately 76 per cent of the 5,597 hospitals reporting on x-ray facilities and 74 per cent of the 5,529 hospitals reporting on laboratory facilities make these services available to the private ambulatory patients of physicians.

Replies by general and special short-term nonprofit hospitals show that approximately 93 per cent permit the physician to use these ancillary services for his ambulatory patients. Only 12 per cent of the federal hospitals allow this practice. Almost 90 per cent of all short-term hospitals provide these services for ambulatory patients.

In securing the information contained in Table G, no attempt was made to determine to what degree there is duplication of these facilities in physicians' offices nor to what degree these facilities are actually used by physicians.

About Tables H and I

TABLE H SHOWS THAT 46 per cent of the 5,669 hospitals which answered this question have one or more organized outpatient clinics. As the hospital bed complement increases there appears to be a tendency to have organized outpatient clinics. Tuberculosis hospitals reported that 71 per cent have such clinics, and 77 per cent of the federal hospitals reported one or more clinics. Only 26 per cent of the reporting general and special short-term nonprofit hospitals under 50 beds reported one or more clinics, as compared with 85 per cent of this same classification of the hospitals of 250 beds or more.

TABLE I SHOWS that in 83 per cent of all reporting hospitals all tissue removed in surgery is routinely examined by a pathologist. The general and special short-term nonprofit hospitals show the highest percentage (90 per cent) and the proprietary the lowest (68 per cent). As hospitals increase in size, the practice of having tissue routinely examined by a pathologist increases. Hospitals under 50 beds show percentages lower than the over-all average. Federal hospitals report 88 per cent, which is approximately 5 per cent above the average for all hospitals.

Surgical Tubing You Can Depend On—

You can depend on RLP Pure Latex Surgical Tubing because:

It's Safe—

RLP Tubing is formed by a patented process in which no acids or minerals are used to coagulate the latex. Hence any ill effects which might result from such processes are eliminated.

It's Dependable—

This translucent, amber colored tubing is absolutely smooth both inside and out. This feature precludes the possibility of obstructions forming on uneven surfaces. There are no seams to burst because RLP Tubing has no seams.

It Has Long Life—

The Pure Rubber Latex of which RLP Tubing is made provides maximum resistance to storage and the effects of repeated usage and sterilizations.

About Tables J, K and L

TABLE J PROVIDES the first report assembled by the American Hospital Association on the background and training of hospital administrators.

On the question of professional background, 33 per cent of the 5,688 reporting hospitals said their administrators are physicians, and 29 per cent reported that their administrators are graduate nurses. Administrators with other than medical or nursing training predominate—38 per cent. Administration by a physician is typical in mental and tuberculosis hospitals, especially those operated by governmental groups.

The reports also show that of 5,817 hospitals, 3,502 or 60 per cent had male chief administrative officers. In the general and special short-term nonprofit group, the largest classification, the ratio is almost even between the sexes.

About 11 per cent of the reporting hospitals are administered by graduates of university programs in hospital administration.

TABLE K—Seventy-five per cent of our present hospital administrators have been in some type of hospital work ten years or more. Table K shows that 60 per cent of the administrators have been in their present positions for less than five years, and 16 per cent for less than one year.

TABLE L—A little more than half (57 per cent) of the reporting administrators said they are devoting the proper amount of their time to what they consider the real duties of hospital administration. The others reported that duties such as medical care of patients, direct nursing staff supervision, administration of anesthesia and x-ray and laboratory work take more of their time than is usually required for over-all general supervisory control and administrative responsibility.

About Tables M and N

TABLE M—Fulltime assistant administrators are employed in 2,571 of 5,691 reporting hospitals. Even in the smaller hospitals there were persons performing these duties, approximately one out of three reporting hospitals replying in the affirmative.

TABLE N is a summary report of the estimated amount of money needed for replacement of obsolete equipment or expansion of service facilities. Need for funds for this purpose was reported by almost one-third of the reporting hospitals.

The estimates of need were of such proportion as to label the "reconstruction" activity a long-range program. More than one billion dollars would be spent within the foreseeable future if funds were available. That amount is about one and one-half times the amount of money that it is estimated will be spent for all hospital and institutional construction in the country during 1953. The U. S. Departments of Commerce and Labor estimated late last year that 725 million dollars would be spent on all hospital and institutional construction, including bed-producing construction not included in the expansion and replacement requirements summarized in the following table. The table hints that fund-raising programs will be high on the list of administrative functions for some time to come. (For fund-raising suggestions, see page 326.)

A DEPENDABLE SERVICE IN FUND RAISING

Based On Over 45 Years' Successful Experience

$1,400,000,000

RAISED

Hospitals contemplating an organized appeal for funds for new construction or modernization should, in their own interest, SEEK THE BEST IN COUNSEL AND DIRECTION.

ONLY ONCE in so often can such an appeal be made.

Too much is at stake to resort to a service other than that which has the backing of a long and well-established record of successful performance.

That such a dependable service through this firm is available is borne out by hundreds of testimonials from clients previously served.

Hospital Administrators and Boards of Directors are cordially invited to request a conference for a discussicn of their problems which will gladly be rendered without cost or obligation.

About Tables O and P

TABLE O—Sixteen per cent of the 5,607 reporting hospitals, 748 in number, said their predominating type of ambulance service was hospital owned and operated. An additional 156 hospitals, however, 2.8 per cent of the total, may have some hospital-owned ambulances operated in combination with city or private ambulance services, because this number submitted reports on the qualifications of hospital-owned ambulance attendants.

Although about 95 per cent of the hospitals reported having some type of ambulance service, some qualified their replies in such ways that their responses could not be tabulated, and others indicated combinations of services resulting in dual tabulations. These factors explain why the sum of the numbers of hospitals in some categories do not equal the total number of reporting hospitals.

TABLE P—The best qualified attendant is either trained in first-aid or is on-the-job trained in almost two-thirds of the hospitals operating ambulances.

Physicians are attendants in about six per cent of the hospital-owned ambulances, and interns in about nine per cent. Intern attendants were reported most frequently by general and special short-term hospitals of 100 beds or more. It is in those hospitals where intern training programs are most prevalent.

Attendants trained in first-aid were most often reported by federal hospitals. Federal hospitals also are the biggest owners—percentagewise—of ambulances.

Diack for Dependability

Diack Controls

SINCE 1909

By Far the Most Popular Sterilizer Control

A Standard for 43 Years!

HOW THE DIACK WORKS:

When you wrap your dressings include a Diack Control at the center of each pack. Load the sterilizer and insert one or two Diacks well down between the packs. Then autoclave.

When the charge has been run examine the Diacks placed among the packs. If melted send the load to surgery or store. In surgery when the packs are opened nurse should give final check to complete steam penetration of packs by examining Diack Controls previously placed at the centers of the packs . . . A melted Diack is your assurance of clean, safe dressings.

Use Diacks in sterilizing rubber goods and liquids at 250°.

PRICES:

1 Box (100 Controls)	$3.90

INFORM CONTROLS

an aid in Control of Epidemic Infant Diarrhoea

If you are following the recommended technique calling for terminal heating of formula at 230° for 10 minutes please recall that 250° (not 230°) and 30 minutes (not 10 minutes) is used in general sterilization.

Therefore, when you use only 230° for just 10 minutes you must be sure that this minimum condition is fully achieved inside the formula—we repeat—inside the formula!

Actually, several minutes of the 10 minute exposure are taken to heat the milk to 230° and only during the remaining few minutes is the liquid held at this temperature. The full 230° time cycle is a variable depending upon several factors, viz., efficiency of autoclave, size of load, steam head in lines, viscosity of formula, etc.

However—there is now available a means of checking all these factors—of making sure your formula is safe—

THE NEW

Ster-O-Timer

For conversion of ALL makes of autoclaves to automatic control.

This new device has passed stringent operating tests by everyday use in a 625 bed Detroit hospital for the past five years. A labor-saving instrument producing as efficient sterilization as though a manual operator were in CONSTANT ATTENDANCE by the autoclave. Durably built, easy to install, three oustanding advantages:

Unlimited and portable remote control — meaning it can be placed on the operating room supervisor's desk: in the hall where the night duty nurse passes frequently: on the wall outside the sterilizing room—or anywhere desirable in the hospital.

2.

Its adaptability to use on OLD as well as new autoclaves.

Your autoclave can be operated manually AT ANY TIME DESIRED.

[a] All data other than Number of Hospitals and Bed Complement are based upon returned questionnaires. Calculations for "total" lines are omitted since less than 100% coverage would result in improper weighting. Also omitted are income data except for short term non-profit and short term proprietary hospitals.
[b] Excludes resident physicians, interns and students.

[a] All data other than Number of Hospitals and Bed Complement are based upon returned questionnaires. Calculations for "total" lines are omitted since less than 100% coverage would result in improper weighting. Also omitted are income data except for short term non-profit and short term proprietary hospitals.

[a] All data other than Number of Hospitals and Bed Complement are based upon returned questionnaires. Calculations for "total" lines are omitted since less than 100% coverage would result in improper weighting. Also omitted are income data except for short term non-profit and short term proprietary hospitals.

[a] All data other than Number of Hospitals and Bed Complement are based upon returned questionnaires. Calculations for "total" lines are omitted since less than 100% coverage would result in improper weighting. Also omitted are income data except for short term non-profit and short term proprietary hospitals.
[b] Excludes resident physicians, interns and students.

[a] All data other than Number of Hospitals and Bed Complement are based upon returned questionnaires. Calculations for "total" lines are omitted since less than 100% coverage would result in improper weighting. Also omitted are income data except for short term non-profit and short term proprietary hospitals.
[b] Excludes resident physicians, interns and students.

[a] All data other than Number of Hospitals and Bed Complement are based upon returned questionnaires. Calculations for "total" lines are omitted since less than 100% coverage would result in improper weighting. Also omitted are income data except for short term non-profit and short term proprietary hospitals.
[b] Excludes resident physicians, interns and students.

[a] All data other than Number of Hospitals and Bed Complement are based upon returned questionnaires. Calculations for "total" lines are omitted since less than 100% coverage would result in improper weighting. Also omitted are income data except for short term non-profit and short term proprietary hospitals.

[a] All data other than Number of Hospitals and Bed Complement are based upon returned questionnaires. Calculations for "total" lines are omitted since less than 100% coverage would result in improper weighting. Also omitted are income data except for short term non-profit and short term proprietary hospitals.
[b] Excludes resident physicians, interns and students.

[a] All data other than Number of Hospitals and Bed Complement are based upon returned questionnaires. Calculations for "total" lines are omitted since less than 100% coverage would result in improper weighting. Also omitted are income data except for short term non-profit and short term proprietary hospitals.

[a] All data other than Number of Hospitals and Bed Complement are based upon returned questionnaires. Calculations for "total" lines are omitted since less than 100% coverage would result in improper weighting. Also omitted are income data except for short term non-profit and short term proprietary hospitals.
[b] Excludes resident physicians, interns and students.

[a] All data other than Number of Hospitals and Bed Complement are based upon returned questionnaires. Calculations for "total" lines are omitted since less than 100% coverage would result in improper weighting. Also omitted are income data except for short term non-profit and short term proprietary hospitals.

[a] All data other than Number of Hospitals and Bed Complement are based upon returned questionnaires. Calculations for "total" lines are omitted since less than 100% coverage would result in improper weighting. Also omitted are income data except for short term non-profit and short term proprietary hospitals.
[b] Excludes resident physicians, interns and students.

[a] All data other than Number of Hospitals and Bed Complement are based upon returned questionnaires. Calculations for "total" lines are omitted since less than 100% coverage would result in improper weighting. Also omitted are income data except for short term non-profit and short term proprietary hospitals.

[a] All data other than Number of Hospitals and Bed Complement are based upon returned questionnaires. Calculations for "total" lines are omitted since less than 100% coverage would result in improper weighting. Also omitted are income data except for short term non-profit and short term proprietary hospitals.

[a] All data other than Number of Hospitals and Bed Complement are based upon returned questionnaires. Calculations for "total" lines are omitted since less than 100% coverage would result in improper weighting. Also omitted are income data except for short term non-profit and short term proprietary hospitals.

Facts

ABOUT HOSPITAL FUND RAISING

When your hospital needs funds, there is nothing more important for you to have than the facts about what a professional fund-raising organization can or cannot do for you.

To provide these facts, Lawson Associates has prepared a brochure, WHEN YOUR HOSPITAL NEEDS FUNDS, which gives what we believe to be the most exhaustive study of the subject ever written.

It will be sent to you without charge when requested on your letterhead.

Prepared by one of the country's leading firms of fund-raising and public relations counsel, this 24-page, illustrated booklet examines in detail all the factors affecting hospital fund raising, including the basic factors which motivate charitable giving; the many practical considerations involved; the relation of Need, Availability of Money and Leadership as the major factors in a successful campaign; the advantages of professional versus non-professional direction; a specific description of the services provided by professional fund-raising counsel; the kind and degree of cooperation expected from the hospital client, and the cost of a professionally-directed campaign.

American Hospital Association

MEMBERSHIP in the American Hospital Association is divided into two major classifications: Institutional and Personal.

Institutional Membership

Institutional membership is offered to six categories of organizations.

Type I includes hospitals, both general and special, that care primarily for patients with conditions normally requiring a comparatively short stay. Dues are computed at the rate of six mills per patient day with a $45 annual minimum and $600 annual maximum.

Type II includes all other institutions that provide inpatient care. Dues range from $45 to $120 per year and are computed at three mills per patient day.

Type III includes dispensaries, clinics and other organizations for the diagnosis and treatment of the sick which do not render inpatient care. Dues are $45 per year.

Type IV includes only organizations operating hospital service (Blue Cross) plans which have been approved by the American Hospital Association Board of Trustees. Dues: $45 per year.

Type V includes women's hospital auxiliaries or other women's service groups affiliated with hospitals which are institutional members of the American Hospital Association. Dues for women's service organizations in hospitals of 100 beds or less are $15 per year; 101 to 300 beds, $25 per year; 301 or more beds, $50 per year.

Type VI includes hospitals in the planning stage or under construction, related organizations in the health and hospital field and hospitals and health organizations in foreign countries. Dues for nonprofit organizations in this category are $45 per year; for those operated for profit, $90 per year.

Government Hospitals: For government hospitals the Board of Trustees makes special provisions to facilitate membership. Groups of hospitals operated through central agencies of government may obtain institutional membership under this provision. The main unit of such groups pays full dues, and all other hospitals in the group pay $45 annually.

Purchases of Services: Where laws prohibit purchase of membership with public funds, governmental hospitals may purchase the services given institutional members for an annual sum equal to what their dues would be.

Duplicate Mailings: Members may receive duplicate mailings of publications and written material at an annual charge of $45 in addition to regular dues if a duplicate copy of HOSPITALS, the Association Journal, is included; $43 if it is not.

Affiliation: Forty-five state hospital associations have entered into agreements of affiliation with the American Hospital Association. In these states at least 50 per cent of the state hospital association's institutional members are also institutional members of the American Hospital Association. Types I, II, and III only are covered by affiliation agreements.

For special services, films, publications, and other information about the Association, see following pages

Personal Membership

Personal membership in the American Hospital Association is available to individuals connected with member hospitals and with related organizations holding institutional membership. Dues are $7.50 a year unless otherwise established.

For full information about membership and accompanying services, write the American Hospital Association, 18 East Division Street, Chicago 10, Illinois.

AMERICAN HOSPITAL ASSOCIATION
Special Services

THE OBJECT of the American Hospital Association, as expressed in Article I of its Bylaws, is " . . . to promote the public welfare through the development of better hospital care for all the people." The many services offered by the Association to its members are aimed at helping them attain this objective.

Although most of the Association's services and facilities are available only to institutional and personal members, a non-member may subscribe to HOSPITALS and TRUSTEE, official Association journals which are published monthly.

Some major services offered by the Association are described here.

LIBRARY

In the Association's Library, members have access to the world's largest collection of literature on hospitals, hospital administration, and related subjects. More than 10,500 volumes, clipped articles by the thousands, brochures, pamphlets and journals are available for a month's loan without charge.

Library material is supplied in response to letters, telephone calls, telegrams and personal visits. Often it is supplemented by a personal letter or with pertinent information provided by members of headquarters staff. When necessary, inquiries are referred to related agencies.

Visitors to the Library may inspect and study items in the Library's special collection which, because of their rarity and value, cannot be loaned.

LIBRARY PUBLICATIONS

The Index of Current Hospital Literature, now in its ninth year, is a semi-annual index of articles appearing in more than 125 hospital and allied journals. Articles are listed by author and subject, and complete bibliographic information is given for every item. Subscriptions to the Index are priced at $3 annually; the Five-Year Cumulative Index for 1945 through 1949 is priced at $5.

A handbook entitled "The Magic Key to Hospital Literature," describing the Library's facilities and services, is distributed without charge upon request. Also available is a list of basic readings for hospital administrators, covering such topics as community health, nursing, hospital organization and management, prepayment plans and hospital-physician-patient relationships. This list of readings can be found on page 340 of this Administrators Guide Issue of HOSPITALS.

Another list compiled by the Library includes notations on free and inexpensive literature on hospital vocations. The administrator will find the suggestions especially helpful in his contacts with high school students.

Clippings and Vertical Files, Kits

Clippings and reprints from periodicals form a major part of the Library's collection. This growing fund of information now fills nearly 100 vertical file drawers. Also available on loan from the Library are kits containing sample copies of annual reports; programs for dedications, anniversaries and special events; employee information booklets; fund-raising brochures; hospital bulletins; nursing school brochures; patients' booklets and admitting forms.

Safetygraphs

For safety programs and education in safe practices there are 12 spirally bound Safetygraphs which can be borrowed from the Library at no cost for a maximum of two weeks. Produced by the National Safety Council, the illustrated 18x 24" Safetygraphs come equipped with easel and instruction sheet.

Safetygraph titles in the Library's collection are: "How to Lift," "Plant Housekeeping," "Ladder Safety," "Using Fire Extinguishers," "Accidents Don't Happen," "Preventing Fire," "Electrical Hazards," "Only a Scratch," "Wanted: Safe Workers," "Falls," "Static Sparks and Flammable Liquids" and "Two Methods of Artificial Respiration."

Films

Films for use by hospitals in public relations or employee education may be rented or purchased from the Association Library. Rental charges for most films are $4 for three days' use and $1 for each additional day. A minimum of two weeks' notice is required for booking.

The following section "Film Library of the American Hospital Association" contains a complete listing of films either suggested by the Association or available from its film library.

Radio Transcriptions

"At Your Service" is a transcribed series of radio programs, for use by local radio stations, each 15 minutes in length and dealing with a particular aspect of the hospital. Introducing Your Hospital, Planning Your Hospital, Surgery, Obstetrics, Pathology and Radiology, Nursing Services, Dietary Department, Pharmacy, Hospital Personnel, Hospital Costs, Hospital Auxiliaries, Voluntary Prepayment, Obsolescence and Expansion—these are the subjects treated in the individual records.

The entire series may be rented from the Library at a charge of $5. Purchase sets of new records are now out-of-stock; however sets of used records, still in good condition, may be purchased for $10.

Pins and Insignia

Service pins for presentation to hospital employees, volunteer workers and auxiliary members are available to member hospitals. Illustrations and descriptions of these pins, all of which carry the official insignia of the American Hospital Association, and official order blanks may be obtained by writing the Library.

Cuts of the official American Hospital Association insignia may be purchased for use by active institutional members. Suitable for use on letterheads, envelopes, publication and other printed matter, the cuts are available in both halftone and line drawing type. Three sizes are offered: three-quarter inch, one and one-half inch and two-inch diameters. Cuts for state associations affiliated with the American Hospital Association are available in both halftone and line drawing in three-quarter inch, one inch, and one and five-eighth inch sizes. For additional information and prices, write to the Library of the American Hospital Association.

PERIODICALS

Four periodicals are published by the Association. Editorial offices for all are at 18 East Division Street, Chicago 10. The periodicals are: (1) HOSPITALS, Journal of the American Hospital Association; (2) TRUSTEE, journal for hospital governing boards; (3) Auxiliary Newsletter and (4) This Month at the American Hospital Association, a membership newsletter.

HOSPITALS is edited for administrators, department heads and others concerned with the administration of hospitals, the techniques of hospital operation and the planning and construction of hospitals. One subscription to HOSPITALS is included as part of all personal and institutional memberships with an automatic deduction of $2 from annual membership dues. Employees, staff, board members and others associated with member hospitals may subscribe at the rate of $2 a year; for others the rate is $3 a year.

The Administrators Guide Issue of HOSPITALS is a special two-part issue published each June. Part two includes a complete statistical report on the nation's hospital world. These statistics on hospital use, care, finance and many other aspects of hospital operation are presented in tabular, easy-to-use form. There is also a complete detailed listing of registered hospitals in the United States, its territories and Canada. A third section is a guide to professional organizations and schools.

A final section—a handy reference for administrators and department heads—is the Management Guides section. It presents a diversity of technical information on hospital operating departments.

TRUSTEE is the Association's pocket-sized journal for members of hospital governing boards. One copy is provided governing board presidents of institutional member hospitals with an automatic dues deduction of $2. Additional subscriptions may be entered at $2 a year by members, and non-members may subscribe for $3 per year.

This Month at the American Hospital Association is an informal newsletter sent each month without charge to all institutional and personal members. It informs members of current activities within the Association's councils and committees and contains a message from the executive director.

The Auxiliary Newsletter is published monthly for women's hospital auxiliaries holding institutional membership in the Association. Serving as a means of communication between the members, it helps them plan and carry out their programs, assists in the selection of projects that will best meet the needs of their hospitals. Presidents of member auxiliaries receive the "Newsletter" without charge, as do presidents and secretaries of state hospital associations. Individual members of affiliated auxiliaries may subscribe at $1.50 a year.

STAFF ASSISTANCE

Special problems may be directed to the Association's specialists in hospital operations and other members of its headquarters staff. This service comprises a great deal of correspondence with member hospitals, officers of state associations and representatives of other organizations.

WASHINGTON SERVICE BUREAU

As the amount of federal legislation affecting hospitals grows, the role of the Association's Washington office becomes ever more important. Its function on behalf of the membership is two-fold: it represents hospitals to government and governmental agencies in interpreting their need for specific legislation; it informs hospitals of governmental regulations and legislation of interest to them.

State Associations officers are kept informed of developments of interest to them by means of the Legislative Report issued approximately twice monthly by the Bureau.

Bulletins and special letters are sent regularly to members by the Washington Service Bureau. Questions about federal legislation, its legal interpretation and that of government action and similar matters may be directed to Albert V. Whitehall, Director, Washington Service Bureau, American Hospital Association, 1756 K Street N. W., Washington 6, D. C.

MANUALS

All manuals written by councils and committees of the Association are distributed without charge to institutional members. Personal members may purchase them, and institutional members may buy additional copies. The following section, Publications of the American Hospital Association, lists all manuals currently available. Those out of print may be borrowed from the Library.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

Public Relations Services to Hospitals

"Telling Your Hospital's Story," a basic public relations program for member hospitals, is now available in a single bound volume. Originally distributed as a series of kits and bulletins, this material was designed to help hospitals strengthen their relationship with their community. It deals with use of specific channels such as radio, press, films and advertising. Outlined are public relations programs which relate to employees, patients, National Hospital Day, auxiliaries, civic groups and special events.

The bound volume of "Telling Your Hospital's Story" is available to members on purchase or loan.

Public Relations Services to Associations

State and local hospital associations receive monthly by News Service bulletin prepared by the public relations department. It contains items suitable for publication in state association bulletins and newsletters.

INSTITUTES

Institutes and refresher courses have been offered to Association members and other representatives of member hospitals since 1944. Held at convenient locations throughout the country, they cover a wide range of subjects of interest to hospital personnel. A sampling: public relations, personnel relations, accounting, dietary department, operating room administration and housekeeping. Almost 1,500 persons attended the courses during 1952 to study these and other topics.

For a current schedule of institutes and courses showing dates and locations, write the Association.

CONVENTION

The Annual Convention of the Association, held in strategically located cities, is attended by 8,000 to 12,000 representatives of the hospital and health fields. Here administrators, department heads, trustees and other representatives of hospitals are brought up to date on current trends in their sphere of operation and learn the solution to many of their administrative problems. Talks and panel discussions constitute the program, supplemented by the Hospital Merchandise Mart of more than 500 commercial and technical exhibits representing 350 firms.

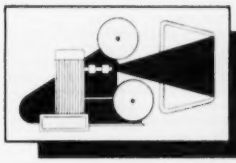
EDUCATIONAL EXHIBITS

The Committee on Women's Hospital Auxiliaries holds its annual conference concurrently with the Association Convention. Representatives of women's auxiliary service groups throughout the United States and Canada attend the conference.

SERVICES TO ASSOCIATIONS

A number of publications designed especially for the use of state hospital associations have been prepared by the Association. Among these are "Program Planning Aids," containing suggestions for convention programs, "Organizing the State Hospital Association as a Full-Time Endeavor," and "Organization of Local Hospital Groups." New this year is the "Handbook for State Hospital Association Officers," to be published annually.

Officers of state associations are encouraged to call on the headquarters staff for help on any problem related to their organization.



Films, Filmstrips and Slides

COMMUNITY RELATIONS

Ambulance Doctor—(16mm, black and white, sound, 18 min.). Produced by RKO Radio Pictures in 1951. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for 3 days. Purchase: American Hospital Association, $65.

This documentary film portrays the experience of a doctor as he rides the ambulance through the city's busy streets in answer to emergency calls of all kinds. Good for personnel as well as community groups since it explains the vital role of hospitals in the community. Not as good as "House of Mercy" however for the small hospital. "Ambulance Doctor" was filmed at the Roosevelt Hospital in New York City.

Another Light—(16 mm, black and white, sound, 20 min.). Produced by the U. S. Public Health Service in 1952. Loan: State Departments of Health. Purchase: International Film Bureau, Suite 1500, 6 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill. $65.

This is the story of a small city's ambition to have a community hospital, of their efforts to obtain the necessary funds, and of their ultimate success. The role of the Public Health Service and of the federal government through the Hill-Burton Act is depicted, but emphasis is on local interest and effort. Through three peoples' experience, the modern hospital is contrasted with its earlier counterpart where people came only to die.

Excellent for arousing community interest and support.

At Our House—(16mm, black and white, sound, 9 min.). Sponsored by the Vermont State Department of Health and produced by Communication Materials Center, Columbia University Press, New York City 27. Rental from Communications Materials Center $2.50 per day. Purchase prints from Communications Materials Center $30.

This film depicts a family's experience with a multiphasic screening project. The various tests are given to the young couple, their son and their aging father to discover unsuspected disease or disability. Results of the tests are confidential, and where there is need for diagnosis and treatment, a family physician is consulted. Photography and narration are good.

Hospitals will find this film helpful in selling either their governing boards or their communities on the value of multiphasic screening.

Behind the Scene in a Modern Hospital—(16mm,, color, silent, 35 min.). Produced by Peralta Hospital, Oakland, Calif., 1938. Loan: Peralta Hospital, Oakland, Calif.

Story of a woman who comes to the hospital for a caesarean section; shows all the departments in hospital, especially the laboratories and x-ray.

Could be used for orientation of lay employees to show all hospital contacts. Not so well adapted for community groups, however, because of the filming of the actual surgery.

City of the Sick—(16mm, black and white, sound, 20 min.). Produced by the Ohio Division of Mental Health of the Department of Public Welfare. National distribution (outside of Ohio) handled by National Mental Health Foundation. Loan copies from American Psychiatric Association, 1624 Eye St., N. W., Washington 6, D.C., if borrower prepays postage plus special handling. Rental: Association Films, Inc., 35 W. 45th St., New York City, at $4 a day, $10 a week. Purchase prints: Special Services Section, National Mental Health Foundation, 1790 Broadway, New York City 19, $35.

An educational film, not a training film in the formal sense. It is intended to help people understand mental illness in their own terms—to make them feel and believe in treatment and recovery. The film is not directed at the specialists who know the nature of the job to be done and the frustrations and obstacles that prevent its being done well. It is intended for presentation to that vast audience whose mental hospital acquaintance should go beyond hearsay and exposé to include some knowledge of the goals that can be achieved.

House of Mercy—(16mm, black and white, sound, 17 min.). Produced by RKO-Pathe, 1270 Avenue of the Americas, New York 20, N.Y., 1950. Rental: American Hospital Association. $4 for 3 days. Purchase prints: American Hospital Association. $65.

Sets forth the valuable community role of the hospital, and is an extremely fine presentation of hospital life. Now being shown in local theaters as one of series of "This Is America."

Excellent for employee training, public education, fund raising, auxiliary meetings. A public relations tool with which all administrators should be familiar.

Modern Surgery (The Case of Mrs. Conrad)—(16mm, black and white, sound, 15 min.). Produced by the March of Time in 1948. Loan from the Committee on Medical Motion Pictures, American Medical Association, 535 N. Dearborn St., Chicago 10 ($2 service charge).

This film tells the story of a surgical operation from the time the family doctor suggests hospitalization until the patient fully recovers and is discharged to her home. Among aspects presented are hospital plan benefits, preoperative rest, medical records, laboratory tests, electrocardiograms and roentgen examinations. The work of the anesthetist is especially well described.

For presentation to lay audiences to acquaint them with the services and facilities of a modern hospital.

Why Wait for a Million—(16mm, color, sound, 20 min.). Produced by: Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, Inc. Rental: A.H.A. $4 for three days.

The story of Thayer Hospital in Waterville, Maine, is told effectively in this film Detailed hospital operation is not illustrated; a major emphasis is on the work of Dr. Fredrick Hill. The film can be shown to community groups to inspire them to similar action in obtaining modern hospital facilities The title is self explanatory—don't become discouraged in hopes of a hospital by thinking a million dollars is necessary. The desire for a hospital and the willingness to work to attain it will produce results, as Thayer Hospital can testify.

You're the Doctor—(16 mm or 35 mm, black and white, sound, 18 min.). Produced through a grant by Will, Folsom and Smith. Loan: American Hospital Association. $4 for 3 days. Purchase prints: American Hospital Association. $40—16 mm, $75—35mm.

Stresses the important role played by the hospital in community life, emphasizes the various professional services available to patients in the hospital.

For use in fund-raising campaigns and also to help interpret the hospital to the community. Could be shown to any community group, such as service clubs, church organizations, school, and also the women's auxiliary.

DEFENSE

Medical Service in Atomic Attack (Part III of the Effects of Atomic Weapons)—(16mm, color, sound, 25 min.). Produced by U. S. Army. Loan from nearest Army Headquarters film library.

With all governmental agencies advocating civilian defense against the atom bomb, this film is among the best of the several films now available. It emphasizes the need for organization and trained civil defense workers, and shows the vital role blood donations, treatment centers and hospitals will play, should an attack come.

For showing to all hospital personnel, and as public relations promotion to lay citizen groups.

Pattern For Survival—(16mm, black and white, or color, sound, 20 min.). Produced by Cornell Films 1950. Rental from Association Films, Inc., 79 E. Adams St., Chicago, Ill., $7.50 per day in black and white, $15 per day in color. Purchase prints from Association Films: color version, $200; black and white, $100.

This film which features William L. Laurence, scientific writer for The New York Times, gives factual information on atomic radiation and suggestions about personal preparation and protection against atomic attack. Neither shocking or sensational.

For showing to community or to hospital employees in connection with hospital's disaster planning.

Survival Under Atomic Attack—(16mm, black and white, sound, 9 min.). Produced by Castle Division of United World Films, 1445 Park Ave., New York 29, N.Y., 1951. No rented prints available. Sale prints from United World Films, $17.50.

This is an official U. S. Government civil defense film, approved and endorsed by the Federal Civil Defense Administration and based on a government pamphlet. It explains the effects of atomic radiation and makes suggestions for personal safety, but does not urge or even suggest desirability of participation in community civilian defense activities.

Other films in this defense series are "Civil Defense for Industry," "Fire Fighting for Householders," "What You Should Know About Biological Warfare," and shortly to be released, "The Cities Must Fight," "Emergency Action to Save Lives," "Civil Defense for Schools," "What You Should Know About Poison Gases," and "Preparing Your Home Against Atomic Attack."

Target: U.S.A.—(16mm, black and white, or color, sound, 20 min.). Produced by Cornell Films, 1951. Rental from Marsak Films, 220 W. 42nd St., New York City 18, $15 per day in color, $10 a day in black and white. Purchase prints from Marsak Films: color version, $200; black and white, $100.

Based on studies by the National Security Resources Board, Department of Defense and the Research Institute of America, this dramatic documentary informs personnel and management how best to safeguard the lives, property and equipment of their organization. Differing from other atomic bomb films, "Target: U.S.A." deals exclusively with atomic disaster protection in offices, plants, institutions and hospitals.

Producers will allow a "trailer" at end, crediting the hospital with making the film available in the interests of health and safety.

DIETARY DEPARTMENT

The Danger Point—(16mm, color, sound, 12 min.). Produced by the Public Health Committee of the Paper Cup and Container Institute, 1790 Broadway, New York City 19. Free loan: Association Films, Inc., 35 W. 45th St., New York City 19. Borrower pays transportation charges. Purchase prints: Association Films, Inc., 35 W. 45th St., New York City 19. $90.

Discusses the spread of respiratory diseases and their prevention by proper food handling sanitation. Transmission by improperly sanitized glasses is demonstrated. Use of paper cups emphasized.

A special sequence, dramatizes the way infected eating utensils may serve as the channel of infection by which respiratory diseases are spread in public eating and drinking places.

For showing to heatlh officers, food handlers, dietitians, educators, club groups and schools.

Dietetics—The Career With a Choice—(2"x2" slides, requiring 35mm projector, Kodachrome, 23 slides). Produced by the American Dietetic Association for loan to members only. Non-members may make loan arrangements through a member. For only charges are those for shipping. Address request to American Dietetic Association, 620 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago 11, Ill.

These slides illustrate the many opportunities open to dietitians, but emphasize hospital careers. Although their chief purpose is for recruitment and they would be used at community meetings rather than hospital meetings, they could be used within the hospital in developing departmental relationships and acquainting other personnel with the dietitian's duties and responsibilities.

Dishwashing Dividends—(16mm, color, sound, 28 min.). Produced in cooperation with Cornell University by Economics Laboratory, 1951. Free loan from Economics Laboratory, Inc., Guardian Bldg., St. Paul, Minn. Purchase prints from Economics Laboratory, Inc., $98.50.

Proper maintenance of dishwashing machinery and equipment is the subject of this how-to-do-it film. The efficient and sanitary operation of washing dishes, glassware, and silver is reviewed; among new features are pre-flush garbage grinding, streamlined dishroom layout, electronic dispenser control.

"Dishwashing Dividends" is especially good in training kitchen aides, but it can also be used generally for showing advantages and economies obtained through maintenance.

Feeding the Patient—(16mm, black and white, sound, 15 min.). Purchase prints: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29. $26.43.

Explains the factors that affect appetite and digestion; preparation of the environment and the patient for the meal; proper balance of food and arrangement of the tray; individualized feeding care; and the factors to be considered in after-care of the patient. Shows feeding of both recumbent and up-patient.

For in-service training of dietetic aides to make them cognizant of importance of meals to patients.

Hospital Food Service Personnel Training—(16mm, black and white, sound, Parts 1-3, approx. 15 min. each, Part 4, (in color) approx. 40 min.). Produced by U.S. Army in 1949 and 1950. Free loan from nearest Army Headquarters film library. Loan from Library of the American Hospital Association, $10 for three days for complete set of four films; individual titles not available singly. Purchase prints from United World Films, 1445 Park Ave., New York City: Part 1, $22.83; Part 2, $17.57; Part 3, $15.86; Part 4, $68.11.

This series consists of four parts; introduction, the individual, equipment, and serving food. All of the four are excellent training films for food handlers. With interesting narration and good photography, ideas of sanitation, personal cleanliness, safety habits, etc., are presented. Recommended for inclusion in orientation and training program of every kitchen employee.

Malnutrition in the Hospital Patient—(16mm, color, sound, 30 min.). Produced by E. R. Squibb & Sons, 745 Fifth Avenue, New York City 22, 1949. Loan: E. R. Squibb & Sons, 745 Fifth Avenue, New York City 22.

In this film, malnutrition in the sick and means of preventing it are discussed in detail by three doctors who recommend a new post-operative nutritional regimen, high in proteins and vitamins. Suitable for showing to medical staff, food service personnel or nurses.

Modern Commercial Dishwashing—(35 mm slide, black and white, sound (with record), 10 min.). Produced by Jam Handy Organization. On loan from Wyandotte Chemicals Corp., 1113 Statler Bldg., Boston, Mass. Also, the American Hospital Association Library has one print for loan. $4 for 3 days.

Good dishwashing technique. Sanitary methods of dishwashing by both machine and hand operation. Good for training kitchen aides.

Modular Equipment Modernizes the Kitchen—(Set of 15 slides, 3¼x4", prepared by E. R. Kingbury, planning director of L. S. Ayres and Company, Indianapolis, Ind.). Free loan from American Hospital Association.

These slides illustrate the use of items of a uniform size so that a specified size of tray, rack or pan readily fits related refrigerators, shelves, ovens or trucks in an orderly manner.

When It's Your Turn at the Meat Counter—(35 mm slide strip, color, silent, 25 min.). Produced by Livestock Branch of U. S. Department of Agriculture, 1952. Rental from Library of the American Hospital Association, $4 for 3 days. Purchase from Photo Lab., Inc., 3825 Georgia Avenue, N.W., Washington 11, D.C., $4.

This filmstrip was developed to assist in teaching the market selection of meats. It is presented in a nontechnical form and is designed especially for use with consumer-buyer groups. A U. S. Department of Agriculture catalog, No. C-16, accompanies the filmstrip for use as lecture notes.

Useful in training courses for dietary personnel.

FACILITIES AND SERVICES

Blood Transfusion—(16mm, black and white, sound, 17 min.). Produced by British Information Service, 1947. Rental from International Film Bureau, Inc., 6 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago 2, Ill., $2.50 daily. Purchase prints from International Film Bureau, $55.

This film depicts the development of processes in storage of both blood and plasma; it describes the various characteristics of blood, serum, plasma and dried plasma and shows what contributions various countries have made in blood research. The need for blood donors in peacetime as well as during war and the development of blood banks are emphasized. Good continuity and wide and timely appeal.

Although this film naturally stresses British blood banks, it could be used anywhere for public education or blood procurement programs.

The Bone Bank—(16mm, color, sound, 28 min.). Produced by Sturgis-Grant Productions, Inc., 314 E. 46th St., New York 17. Rental: 314 E. 46th Street, New York 17, $10. Purchase: 314 E. 46th Street, New York 17, $150.

Produced in 1950 under the supervision of Philip D. Wilson, M.D., surgeon-in-chief of the Hospital for Special Surgery in New York City, this film describes the organization and administration of a bone bank. The color is excellent and increases the value of the film immeasurably. It is recommended for medical staff meetings or for presentation to the governing boards of institutions considering the establishment of such a facility.

Central Supply Service—(35mm filmstrip, black and white, silent, 42 frames). Produced by: Department of Hospital Administration, University of Toronto.

Rental: A.H.A., $4 for three days. Purchase: University of Toronto, Department of Hospital Administration, School of Hygiene, Toronto 5, Canada. $3.50.

This filmstrip gives an overall view of central supply organization and flow of work. It is good for informing hospital staff to this department's purpose and facilities, and for orienting new employees of the department. A few frames have no caption; since no record is available with this strip, commentary by a speaker is needed.

Protecting Your Profits—(16 mm, color, sound, 20 min.). Produced by Jam Handy Organization. Free loan: Sales Promotion Dept., American Laundry Machinery Co., Cincinnati 12, Ohio. This 20 minute color film may be shown to hospital laundry managers, hospital officials, and administrators without charge on request.

Perhaps a large percentage of those responsible for power laundry operation appreciate the advantages of modern laundering machinery but are unaware of the manifold details in caring for the machinery and equipment. How to use it properly in everyday operations is revealed visually and orally in this movie.

Good film, stressing large equipment, proper maintenance and inspection—tie-in between laundry department and engineering department. Primarily designed for commercial laundries, but does mention hospitals and could be shown to hospital laundry managers and hospital engineers.

Routine Admission Chest X-ray in General Hospitals—(16 mm, black and white, sound, 21 min.). Produced by U. S. Public Health Service, 1946. On loan from local or state health departments. Also, the American Hospital Association Library has one print for loan; $4 for 3 days. Purchase prints: Associated Screen News, Ltd., Benograph Division, 1330 Sherbrooke St., W., Montreal, Quebec. $33.

How photofluorographic equipment can be installed in the admissions offices of general hospitals so that all incoming patients can be given chest x-rays as part of regular admission procedure. Operation of the equipment, method of keeping patient's records, and how the stystem results in finding a significant percentage of otherwise undetected cases of tuberculosis. Promotes routine chest x-rays in hospitals.

RX—(16mm, black and white, sound, 20 min.). Produced by Louis de Rochemont for E. R. Squibb & Sons. Loan copies: American Hospital Association, $4 for 3 days. E R. Squibb & Sons, 745 Fifth Avenue, New York 22.

This documentary picture, designed for lay audiences of all age levels, describes briefly how drugs are made and points to greater medical achievements in the future through research.

It could be shown to department heads to improve departmental relations and to student and graduate nurses.

Techniques of Group Chest X-ray Services—(16 mm, black and white, sound, 19 min.). Produced by U. S. Public Health Service, 1946. Loan: Audio-Visual Aid Division, Illinois Department of Public Health, Springfield. Purchase prints: Associated Screen News, Ltd., Benograph Division, 1330 Sherbrooke St., W., Montreal, Quebec. $30.

Covers procedures to be followed in the administration and operation of miniature film mass radiography programs and shows recent developments.

Of value to technical and professional personnel. Good for public education.

There Is No Substitute—(16mm, black and white, sound, 21 min.) Produced by Moss Film Productions for Cutter Laboratories and American Red Cross. Loan or purchase from United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York 29.

This film shows the entire procedure of blood donations, including storage and manufacture of plasma. Emphasis is on the great need for more blood from donors and its purpose is educational—to remove the fears of the general public concerning donating blood. Ending is dramatic; should be effective in recruiting donors.

There is some mention of hospital blood banks, but the Red Cross program receives emphasis.

You Can Be Safe from X-Rays—(16mm, black and white, sound, 10 min.). Prepared by the Division of Chronic Disease and Tuberculosis, Public Health Service, 1952. Loan from Medical directors of Public Health Service, Federal Security Agency regional offices, or Communicable Disease Center, Public Health Service, P.O. Box 185, Chamblee, Ga. Rental from Library of the American Hospital Association, $4 for 3 days. Purchase prints: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29.

This training aid for x-ray technicians and other personnel stresses the hazards of secondary radiation in x-ray installations and outlines protective measures against overexposure to radiation. In cartoon style, it depicts an x-ray technician who takes excellent care of his equipment but does not use the same care in protecting himself.

For training personnel concerned with operating x-ray equipment.

MATERNAL, INFANT, AND CHILD CARE

Benjy—(16mm, black and white, sound, 25 min.). Produced by: The Los Angeles Orthopaedic Foundation, 2424 South Flower Street, Los Angeles 7. Rental: Los Angeles Orthopaedic Foundation, 2424 South Flower St., Los Angeles 7, Calif. $5.00.

By breaking his arm, Benjy, a small boy from a poor family, attracts the attention of orthopaedic surgeons who discover a much more serious condition, a back deformity. Overcoming family objections, the hospital staff attempt to correct the deformity. What is done and how it is done make this a gripping story, well deserving the Academy Award it received.

The narrative is fast moving, and the acting unusually fine. Although the film was produced as promotion for an individual hospital, it presents a hospital's activities and staff so clearly and so sympathetically it could be used by any hospital, especially one for children.

Concept of Maternal and Neonatal Care (Rooming-In)—(16mm, black and white, sound, 26 min.). Produced by George Washington University School of Medicine, Washington, D.C., and Medical Film Institute of the Association of American Medical Colleges in 1951. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days, $1 for each additional day. Purchase: Medical Film Institute Services, 13 E. 37th St., New York City 16, $50.

Designed for showing to professional audiences, doctors, nurses and hospital administrators, this film shows the approach and care of the pregnant mother and newborn infant. In the hospital of the film, emphasis is placed upon a balance of scientific facilities, educational experiences and home-like accommodations of rooming-in. The discussion of rearrangement of conventionally designed hospitals is of interest to both administrators and architects. A fact sheet, an outline and a bibliography are also available for use in showing this film.

Excellent for training nurses and nursing aides in philosophy of maternity care.

First as a Child—(16mm, black and white, sound, 20 min.). Produced by Virginia State Health Department in cooperation with the Children's Bureau, Federal Security Agency. Free loan from every state and territorial health department; various university extension libraries; Film Program Services, 1173 Avenue of the Americas, New York City 19, for nominal service charge. Also, the American Hospital Association Library has one print for loan; $4 for 3 days. Purchase prints: Film Program Services, 1173 Avenue of the Americas, New York City 19, $30.

Every state has a public agency for the care of children who are crippled. Here parents can bring their children to have their handicaps diagnosed and to get help and guidance in their treatment or correction. With sympathetic understanding and knowing skill, doctors, nurses, medical social workers, physical therapists and other workers treat their small patients—first as children, second as handicapped children and finally as children with a specific crippling condition. "First as a Child" affords a quick glance at some of the children who get help at one of Virginia's clinics and then tells you the story of "Alexander." Core idea is treating the whole child, not just for his disability. Shows importance of team work of social service worker, public health nurse, doctor. Directed to parents, women's groups, lay citizen organizations.

Making Baby's Formula—(35mm slide film, black and white, sound, 12 min.). (Illustrated booklet and printed commentary available). Produced by Evaporated Milk Association, 307 N. Michigan Avenue, Chicago. Preview print available from American Hospital Association, $4 for 3 days. Free loan prints available from Evaporated Milk Association.

This instructive film shows the three principal steps in formula preparation: What equipment is necessary, how to make the formula, how to feed the baby.

The film was produced in 1949 and revised in 1951. The techniques are good and it is recommended for nurses, dietitians and in prenatal clinics.

Starting Line—(16mm, black and white, sound, 20 min.). Produced by Virginia State Health Department in cooperation with the Children's Bureau, Federal Security Agency, 1947. Free loan from every state and territorial health department; various university extension libraries; Film Program Services, 1173 Avenue of the Americas, New York City 19, for nominal service charge. Also, the American Hospital Association Library has one print for loan; $4 for 3 days. Purchase prints: Film Program Services, 1173 Avenue of the Americas, New York City 19. $30.

One in every 20 babies born in the United States is born prematurely. About one-half of all the babies who die during the first month of life are premature babies. Many could be saved if given the specialized care they need. With such care we could add each year many thousands of young lives to the national family. "Starting Line" shows how one state health department—Virginia—is providing this specialized care for some of its premature babies from birth until they can be cared for by their mothers. Eventually Illinois hopes to have a network of "premature" centers throughout the state for the benefit of all babies needing these specialized services.

Factual; very instructive. Directed to parents, women's groups, lay citizen organizations.

Temples of Mercy—(16mm, color, sound, 30 min.). Produced by Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children, Chicago 35, Ill., and obtainable from hospital on free loan

This film was made with the primary objective of telling the hospital's story to the multiple Shrine organizations of the Chicago area in order to win more enthusiastic and lucrative support from them. It tells the story of a boy's admittance, treatment and ultimate recovery in the Chicago Shriners Hospital. The color, acting and narration are excellent.

Although this film's use is limited because of the Shrine appeal, it could be very helpful as a sample fund-raising film for institutions planning to produce a motion picture of their own activities.

We See Them Through—(16mm, black and white, sound, 20 min.). Produced by Virginia State Department of Health in cooperation with the Children's Bureau, Federal Security Agency. Free loan from every state and territorial health department; various university extension libraries; Film Program Services, 1173 Avenue of the Americas, New York City 19, for nominal service charge. The American Hospital Association Library has one print for loan. $4 for 3 days. Purchase prints: Film Program Services, 1173 Avenue of the Americas, New York City 19. $30.

Rheumatic fever kills more school-age children in the United States than any other disease. For each child who dies of it, many more suffer long, drawn-out attacks, lasting several months. Little is known of the cause and prevention of rheumatic fever, but its treatment is helped greatly by a coordinated program that brings together the best medical, nursing, medical-social, and related skills. "We See Them Through" shows how the health department of the State of Rhode Island carries out its program for treatment of children with rheumatic fever, not only through the acute stage, but also through the long convalescence from this serious disease.

Directed to parents, women's groups, lay citizen organizations.

MEETINGS

Discussion Technique—(16mm, black and white, sound, 28 min.). Produced by: U. S. Department of Army in 1950. Loan: From nearest Army Headquarters film library. Purchase: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29. $34.43.

Various methods of conducting discussions are explained and illustrated, including the forum, symposium, debate, panel, conference, committee and informal group. "Snafu's" wrong methods of handling groups point up by contrast the correct and effective discussion methods and techniques recommended by the army. Photography is excellent; although the film was made for information officers of the army, it is highly recommended for any civilian group which holds meetings.

How Not to Conduct a Meeting—(16 mm, black and white, sound, 10 min.). Free loan to borrowers who pay transportation costs to and from General Motors Corporation, Department of Public Relations—Film Section, General Motors Bldg., Detroit 2, Mich. Also the American Hospital Association Library has one print for loan, $4 for 3 days. Purchase prints from General Motors Corp., $15 (film agreement required).

Lemuel Q. Stoopnagel, the word-twisting and thought-twisting comedian of stage, screen and radio, burlesques the common errors and omissions so frequently encountered in poorly-planned meetings.

This picture is not intended to show parliamentary procedure, or to depict all the rules for conducting a meeting. Rather it is a comedy treatment of certain types of informal luncheon gatherings and shows the way not to conduct a meeting.

Typical faults included are:
Poor acoustics.
Poor ventilation.
Interruptions.
Inadequate planning.

The film is intended as a satire on the manner in which some poorly planned meetings are conducted.

Especially good for local, state and individual hospital meetings.

NURSE RECRUITMENT

Deed to Happiness—(16mm, black and white, sound, 15 min.). Produced by The Cincinnati Sanitarium. Rental: American Hospital Association. $4 for 3 days. Purchase prints: E. Elliott Otte, The Cincinnati Sanitarium, College Hill, Cincinnati. $97.50.

A nurse recruitment film produced by amateur actors with professional assistance and direction. Describes the experiences of a student nurse starting from the time she decides to go into training. Considerable emphasis is placed on the educational aspects of the training period.

Suitable for showing to junior high school and high school students.

Girls in White—(16mm, black and white, sound, 25 min.). Produced by RKO-Pathe, 1270 Avenue of the Americas, New York 20, N.Y. 1949. Rental: American Hospital Association. $4 for 3 days. Purchase prints: American Hospital Association. $65.

This picture portrays the life of the student nurse and opportunities open to the graduate nurse.

Excellent for showing to junior high school and high school students, also to women's auxiliaries. Every administrator could get this into school audio-visual libraries with long-time recruitment effect.

Keepers of the Lamp—(16mm, black and white, sound, 20 min.). Produced by: the Committee on Careers in Nursing and the Theater Arts Institute. Rental: A.H.A. $4 for three days. Purchase: Motion Picture Associates, 86 George Street, Mt. Ephraim, New Jersey. $45.

This newest addition to the nurse recruitment program tells the experience of four student nurses and shows what opportunities of employment are offered them upon completion of their training. Both the work and recreation are portrayed, and junior or senior high school girls could easily identify themselves with the four students. Should have great appeal and arouse interest and enthusiasm for nursing as a career.

Life in Her Hands—(16mm, black and white, sound, 60 min.). Produced by Crown Film Productions. Rental from British Information Services, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York City, $6. Purchase from British Information Services, $135.

This is the story of a young woman who when her husband is killed in a motor accident, decides to become a nurse in a subconscious effort to escape from personal grief, but discovers nursing is her vocation, offering a hopeful future. This film departs from the traditional documentary approach and offers a fictional story acted by professionals. It is authentic and moving but has a weak ending. Much too long for most audiences and of possible value for recruitment only in Great Britain or Canada.

Nursing—(16mm, black and white, sound, 10 min.). Rental: Carl F. Mahnke Productions, 215 East Third St., Des Moines 9, Iowa. $2 for one day. Also American Hospital Association Library has one print for loan, $4 for 3 days. Purchase prints: Carl F. Mahnke Productions, 215 East Third St., Des Moines 9, Iowa. $50 less 10% educational discount. One of "Your Life Work" series. Teacher-student manual available for use with film.

Shows nurses at work in many different types of nursing jobs. Nurses are shown at work in operating rooms, as school nurses, in various visiting nursing and government nursing bureaus, and in hospital executive positions.

The narration explains the advantages of nursing and goes into detailed analysis of the qualifications and requirements necessary to be successful in the field of nursing.

For use in nurse recruitment. To be shown to junior high school and high school girls, also to women's groups.

This Way to Nursing—(16mm, black and white, sound, 20 min.). Produced by Emerson Yorke Studio, 333 W. 52nd St., New York City 19. The American Hospital Association Library has one print for loan, $4 for 3 days. Purchase prints: Emerson Yorke Studio, 333 W. 52nd St., New York City 19. $100, less 25% discount to schools of nursing, educational institutions, hospitals, and organizations concerned with health and medical welfare.

Narrated by Milton Cross and has a special music score by Solita Palmer. A factual presentation showing, in part, the theoretical and practical instruction as well as many other interesting activities of a student nurse in an accredited school of nursing. Scripted and produced under the supervision of experts in the nursing, health, and medical fields, it is officially endorsed and approved by the U. S. Public Health Service, the American Hospital Association's Student Nurse Recruitment Committee, National Committee on Careers in Nursing, and the American College of Surgeons.

NURSING PROCEDURES

Aseptic Technique: Terminal Sterilization Following Septic Cases—(16mm, color, sound, 15 min.). Produced by Carl W. Walter, M.D., Boston, 1947. Available on loan from Wilmot Castle Company, Rochester 7, N.Y.

This film shows step-by-step procedure for decontaminating an operating room after septic surgery. Explanation is clear and simple and technique acceptable. For use in training operating room nurses and technicians.

Bathing the Bed Patient—(16mm, black and white, sound, 25 min.). On loan: Commandant of nearest naval district.

Shows hospital corpsmen using proper procedures in bathing patient; includes technique of making bed.

Good training film for ward aides.

Chain of Asepsis—(16mm, black and white, sound, 29 min.). Produced by U. S. Navy. The American Hospital Association has one print for loan; $4 for 3 days. Purchase prints: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29. $35.85.

Emphasizes importance of sterile linens, preoperative preparation of the patient, scrub technique, preparation of the operating room, and maintenance of chain of asepsis during an operation.

Excellent, not only for training operating room personnel but also for laundry and housekeeping auxiliary groups, to inform the public why operating room charges are necessarily the amounts they are.

Handling and Care of the Patient (in Anesthesia)—(16mm, black and white, sound, 26 min.) Produced by the British Ministry of Information. Loan from International Film Bureau, Inc., 57 E. Jackson Blvd., Chicago 4, or the American Hospital Association, $4 for 3 days. Purchase from International Film Bureau, $75.

One of a series on the "Technique of Anesthesia," this film shows by contrast the right and wrong ways of preparing the patient for surgery. The mental aspects as well as the physical preparation are emphasized. Film includes both pre- and post-operative care pointers.

Excellent for training surgical nurses and operating room teams.

Hypodermic Syringes and Needles, Their Care and Function—(16mm, color, sound, part 1—20 min., Part 2—25 min.). On loan: Becton, Dickinson & Co., Rutherford, N.J. Also, the American Hospital Association Library has one print for loan, $4 for 3 days.

Brief history of development of syringes, basic standards, demonstration of types, cleansing and sterilization, preparation, inspection, intradermal, subcutaneous, intramuscular, venipuncture, and intravenous injections.

Part 1 especially helpful for purchasing agents. Shows factors to be considered in making a durable syringe and needle. Part 2 for nursing-staff—outlines explicit instructions for cleansing and sterilizing. Helpful in training of nursing aides.

Isolation Technique—(16mm, black and white, sound, 18 min.). Produced by U. S. Navy. American Hospital Association Library has one print for loan. $4 for 3 days. Purchase prints: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29. $24.26.

Describes isolation technique that must be employed in communicable disease cases. Includes terminal disinfection.

Excellent; good training not only for nursing staff but also for laundry and housekeeping employees.

Oxygen Therapy—(16mm, black and white, sound, 30 min.). Produced by The Linde Air Products Co., 30 E. 42nd St., New York City. Loan from Linde Air Products Co.

Shows the different methods of administering oxygen in a hospital, adjusting and use of the cylinder, different types of masks, and nasal catheter. The importance of timing and careful nursing attention are stressed.

This instructive film would be good for training nurses. It also would be helpful for people who must administer oxygen to patients at home.

Pre-operative Care—(16mm, black and white, sound, 12 min.). The American Hospital Association Library has one print for loan; $4 for 3 days. Purchase prints: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29. $16.76.

Mental and physical preparation of patient for surgery by hospital corpsman. Emphasizes need and methods of allaying patient's apprehension.

Excellent for nursing staff and also nurse aides who may assist in certain of the procedures.

Setting Up an Operating Room—(16mm, black and white, sound or silent, 36 min.). Produced by Surgical Film Library, Davis & Geck, Inc., Brooklyn. Free Loan: Surgical Film Library, Davis & Geck, Inc., Brooklyn.

This film shows the application of aseptic principles in preparing the operating room and depicts the duties and organization of work among nurses. It was prepared in 1945, with the collaboration of Edythe Louise Alexander, R.N., supervisor of operating rooms of Roosevelt Hospital in New York City, and although a few of the procedures are outdated, it is still a good training film for student nurses and operating room technicians. Three other films in the series, of particular interest to nurses are: "Duties of the Suture Nurse" (23 min.), "Preparation and Draping" (21 min.) and "Care and Handling of Sutures" (26 min.). Transcripts of the commentary are available.

PERSONNEL: TRAINING AND SUPERVISION

As Others See Us—(16mm, black and white, sound, 15 min.). Produced through a grant from Becton, Dickinson Foundation for the Extension of Scientific Knowledge. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for 2 weeks.

The vital role played by all hospital personnel in influencing patient opinion, as well as the attitude of the community as a whole toward the hospital, is portrayed in this picture by contrasting two women's hospital experiences. This film is old, styles of dress are outmoded, and in some prints the sound is poorly synchronized. Despite these disadvantages this film still enjoys wide popularity as an effective public relations tool.

The Boss Didn't Say "Good Morning"—(16mm, black and white, sound, 12 min.). Rental: Association Films, Inc., 79 E. Adams St., Chicago 3. $2.

Shows importance to employee's well-being and sense of security of the boss's greeting. When he doesn't speak, it's human nature to imagine you've done something wrong, that your job is in jeopardy.

Would be fine for starting a discussion in a meeting of department heads.

By Jupiter—(16mm, black and white, sound, 30 min.). Produced for Marshall Field & Co. by Wilding Picture Productions, Inc., 1345 Argyle St., Chicago 40. Not available on loan or for rent. Purchase prints: Wilding Picture Productions, Inc., 1345 Argyle St., Chicago 40. $125, including instructional manual, theater program, souvenir booklet and tie-in talk to follow showings.

Poindexter is "discovered" in the opening sequence by Jupiter and Juno from their vantage point on Mt. Olympus. Jupiter is trying out his waning miracle-working powers and Poindexter looks like a great subject for the experiment. He has just been through a completely miserable day in which everyone had contributed some unpleasantness, beginning as usual, with himself. Through Jupiter's intervention, he gets a chance to relive the day. At each instance where the events of his day had turned out badly, Jupiter reminds Poindexter to be kind and courteous as well as thoughtful. As a result, life becomes much happier for Poindexter and for those he meets. This is the picture story, amusing, well cast and skillfully produced.

Good for employee training in courtesy, getting along with people.

Cleaning and Maintenance of Soft Floors—(16mm, color, sound, 22 min.). Produced by: Kent Lane. Free loan from: National Sanitary Supply Association, 139 North Clark Street, Suite 1105, Chicago 2, Illinois.

Promotion of good sanitation is this film's message. Besides the emphasis on proper procedures, neatness and orderliness of the supply cabinet and work planning are stressed. Although prepared commercially, product promotion is omitted. This is a good training film for housekeeping and maintenance employees.

Damp Dusting—(16mm, color, sound, 19 min.). Print loaned or made available through local Bell Telephone Co. office in any town. Purchase prints: $121.

Shows proper dusting methods; moves slowly but would be excellent for training; time and motion economy in planning work. Manual available to accompany film.

A similar film is available from the same source on "Mopping."

For training housekeeping personnel.

Discipline: Giving Orders; Discipline: Reprimanding—(16mm, black and white, sound, Giving Orders—15 min.; Reprimanding—10 min.). Purchase prints from United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29. Giving Orders—$20.68; Reprimanding—$14.09.

"Giving Orders" stresses the importance of disciplining a person properly and giving orders clearly. Shows the results obtained in an office where emphasis is placed on gaining the workers' confidence. Orders should be given correctly, courteously and considerately.

"Reprimanding" shows several examples of proper and improper methods of reprimanding employees by supervisors. Chief points to remember are no sarcasm, do it privately, and don't threaten.

These two films are good for supervisory training. Although made during World War II and slightly dated, the principles fit today's situations.

Every Employee a Salesman—(35mm sound slide, 5-color, sound, 15 min.). Produced by Frederick House for the American Hotel Association. Available on loan from local hotel which has purchased set. Also the American Hospital Association Library has one print for loan; $4 for 3 days. Purchase print: American Hotel Association, 221 W. 57th St., New York City 19. $48 for set of 3: This "Front Office Courtesy" and "Fire Prevention." These strips require a 35mm projector with a 16-inch turntable for records.

Impresses hotel employees in all departments with the value of giving proper attention and service to guests as a sales device. Stresses the personalized and internal aspects of selling the guest through courtesy and giving the little "extras" in service.

Cartoons more effective than movies; excellent for employee orientation and training.

Every Minute Counts—(16mm, black and white, sound, 10 min.). Produced by U. S. Office of Education. Rental: Association Films, Inc., 79 E. Adams St., Chicago 3. $2. Purchase prints: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29. $20.74.

A supervisor becomes worried because of absenteeism and tardiness in his department. His superintendent points out many of the causes, and the supervisor takes steps to remedy them.

For supervisory training. Another good film for showing in department head meetings.

A Fair Wage by Job Evaluation—(35mm sound slide film, color, 90 frames, 15 min.). Produced by National Foremen's Institute, Inc., New London, Conn. Rental print: American Hospital Association, $4 for 3 days. Purchase print: National Foremen's Institute, Inc., New London, Conn., $59.50. Leaders Guide accompanies print.

This sound-slide film tells the story of job evaluation in a fictional company. It explains problems before job evaluation, the job survey procedures, common misunderstandings about job evaluation, and advantages after installation of this technique. It is recommended for explaining the "why" of job evaluation to supervisors, employees, and top management, and although it applies directly to industrial establishments, it can be used very well in hospital personnel departments.

First Impressions—(16mm, black and white, sound, 21 min.). Produced by U. S. Navy. Rental: Association Films, 79 E. Adams St., Chicago 3. $3. Purchase prints: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29. $27.12.

Discusses reasons why new employees may not like their jobs and gives some primary steps in giving them a good first impression of their work.

Navy civilian office in wartime, but factors in proper orientation of new employees in any office are well illustrated. Primarily for supervisory personnel.

Front Office Courtesy—(35mm sound slide, 5-color, sound, 15 min.). Produced by Frederick House for the American Hotel Association. Available on loan from local hotel which has purchased set. Also, the American Hospital Association Library has one print for loan; $4 for 3 days. Purchase print: American Hotel Association, 221 W. 57th St., New York City 19. $48 for set of 3: This, "Every Employee a Salesman" and "Fire Prevention." These strips require a 35mm projector with a 16-inch turntable for records.

Plays up the vital role of the front office in guest relations and emphasizes courtesy.

Very effective cartoon. Could be used for admitting officers—shown at beginning of meeting to start discussion.

Hospital Applies Better Methods—(16 mm, color, sound, 35 min.). Produced by Cleveland Clinic, Cleveland, Ohio. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for 3 days. Purchase prints: Cleveland Clinic, Cleveland, Ohio, $120.

Projects undertaken by the methods department of the Cleveland Clinic Hospital to streamline operations and eliminate unnecessary paper work are presented in this film. Most of the examples are from the dietary and laundry departments. This film can be shown to all hospital employees to make them aware of hospital costs and to stimulate suggestions for economies.

The Inner Man Steps Out — (16mm, black and white, sound, 28 min.). Produced by: Pathescope Productions. Rental: A.H.A. $4 for three days. Purchase: Pathescope Productions, 580 Fifth Avenue, Room 710, New York, N. Y.

The problems of supervision are presented in this film. It tells in dramatic fashion and with forceful dialogue the story of a plant supervisor who goes to a doctor for help. His physical troubles, however, are caused by the tensions and unpleasant experiences he encounters as a supervisor. The principles of good supervision are enumerated and film ends at a point which leads naturally into a discussion period with audience participation.

Good for training all supervisors of personnel.

Introducing the New Worker to His Job—(16mm, black and white, sound, 16 min.). Produced by the U. S. Office of Education. Rental: Association Films, Inc., 79 E. Adams St., Chicago 3. $2. Purchase prints: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Avenue, New York City 29. $27.88.

A new worker is being started on his job. First, the induction is done very poorly. Then, the same job is done over again, but this time as it should be. The difference between the first and second ways of inducting the worker is obvious.

Direct factory application in employee training, but principles good. Orientation is the same in any management situation.

The Invisible Receptionist—(16mm, black and white, sound, 21 min.). Prints loaned or made available through local Bell Telephone Co. office in any town. Purchase prints: $34.50.

Tells why being a switchboard operator is harder than being a receptionist, because one has to project the whole personality and gain good will for the company by voice alone.

For training switchboard operators.

It's Up to You—(16mm, black and white, sound, 24 min.). Produced for Associated Merchandise Corporation. Loan or rent from stores which are members of the Associated Merchandise Corporation and have purchased prints. Purchase prints: Caravel Films, 730 Fifth Ave., New York City.

Store supervision. Supervisor does all the wrong things, antagonizes people and makes more work for himself; then he sees errors of his ways.

Good for training supervisors: how to get along with people.

Maintenance of Office Machines—(16 mm, black and white, sound, 37 min.). Produced by the U. S. Navy. The American Hospital Association Library has one print for loan; $4 for 3 days. Purchase prints: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29. $45.41.

Care and maintenance of typewriters, transcribing machines, dictating machines, adding machines and calculators. Shows all different makes of machines and how to fight enemies of dust, dirt, and carelessness.

Excellent training film for office employees.

A New Supervisor Takes a Look at His Job—(16mm, black and white, sound, 13 min.). Produced by U. S. Office of Education. Rental: Association Films, Inc., 79 E. Adams St., Chicago 3. $2. Purchase print: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29. $23.60.

A young workman has just been made a line supervisor. In the interview with the superintendent, he is shown that in his new job he must learn to get results from people instead of machines.

For supervisory training; industry again, but application of principles can be made in hospitals.

Office Etiquette—(16mm, black and white, sound, 14 min.). Produced by Encyclopedia Brittannica Films, Inc., Wilmette, Illinois. Rental: Encyclopedia Brittannica Films, Inc., Wilmette, Illinois. $3.50 for 3 days. Purchase: Encyclopedia Brittannica Films, Inc., Wilmette, Illinois. $70.

This film shows the progress of Joan Spencer in the business world and illustrates how getting along with one's associates at work is an important element in attaining success. Courtesy and thoughtfulness are emphasized. It can be used in orienting new employees, especially in the business office, although the basic principles of punctuality, cooperation, and good work habits obtain in every department.

Strange Interview—(16mm, black and white, sound, 55 min.). Produced by General Motors Corporation, 3044 W. Grand Boulevard, Detroit 2. Free loan from General Motors Corporation, 3044 W. Grand Boulevard, Detroit 2. (Borrower pays all transportation costs.)

By contrasting the personnel policies of a harassed small business man today with those of Benjamin Franklin, this film teaches a very effective lesson in supervision. The situation in which Bill Parker, the small factory owner, finds himself are typical of those existing in any human relationships, and the audience easily identifies itself with him. The film is fast moving and humorous, and although it runs nearly an hour it does not seem overdone or unnecessarily prolonged.

"Strange Interview" is recommended for all personnel, especially supervisors.

Supervising Workers on the Job—(16 mm, black and white, sound, 10 min.). Produced by U. S. Office of Education. Loan: Association Films, Inc., 79 E. Adams St., Chicago 3. $2. Purchase print: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29. $20.74.

Various kinds of poor supervision practices are shown, among them, nagging and snooping. By dramatized incidents, the poor results of these methods are made apparent.

For supervisory training; factory application, but principles are the same for any employee-supervisor relationship.

Supervisor as a Leader, Parts 1 and 2—(16mm, black and white, sound, part 1—14 min., part 2—13 min.). Produced by U. S. Office of Education. Rental: Association Films, Inc., 79 E. Adams St., Chicago 3. $2. Purchase prints: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Avenue, New York City 29. Part 1—$25.71; part 2—$23.60.

Part 1—Several workmen are asked what they consider to be the qualifications of a good supervisor: Always keep promises. Never take credit for someone else's work. Don't pass the buck. Don't play favorites.

Part 2—Four supervisors discuss the qualities of leadership. Dramatized incidents make clear what they mean. One man lets his job go to his head. Another goes to pieces under pressure, he can't control himself. In other incidents, it is pointed out that the good supervisor is not afraid to praise his men for work well done and that he is loyal to them.

Orientation for supervisors and as a stimulus to group discussion of supervisory problems.

Telephone Courtesy—(16mm, black and white, sound, 25 min.). Prints loaned or made available through local Bell Telephone Co. office in any town.

Depicts proper telephone manners in any situation.

For instructing all employees and staff in the hospital, not just the switchboard operators.

Working With Other Supervisors—(16 mm, black and white, sound, 8 min.). Produced by the U. S. Office of Education. Rental: Association Films, Inc., 79 E. Adams St., Chicago 3. $2. Purchase prints: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Avenue, New York City 29. $17.88.

Several supervisors discuss Larry, one of their colleagues, who has been unable to work harmoniously with them. The question is raised—What can be done about Larry?

Good for starting discussion on functions of supervision.

REHABILITATION

Coming Home—(16mm and 35mm, black and white, sound, 15 min.). Produced by National Tuberculosis Association, 1790 Broadway, New York City 19. To obtain, consult local or state tuberculosis association.

Story of Jack Burns and his family. It tells of their fight against a disease which threatened all their hopes for the future. It shows how that disease—tuberculosis—was defeated, and how Jack came back to his home and his family a well man.

"Coming Home" shows how Jack and Helen Burns solved their problem with the help of the family doctor. In a series of dramatic flashbacks on the screen, Jack tells how his tuberculosis was discovered, treated, and arrested. He tells how Helen managed to maintain their home until he returned, cured, from a tuberculosis hospital and how he regained his job and his place in life.

Shows chest x-ray in mobile truck. Show to all community groups and the women's auxiliary.

The Institute of Rehabilitation and Physical Medicine—(16mm, color, sound, 22 min.). Produced by New York University Film Library, 26 Washington Place, New York City 3. Rental from New York University Film Library, $1 a day plus parcel post special delivery charges.

The institute described in the film is a unit of the New York University-Bellevue Medical Center established as a model demonstration center for the rehabilitation of disabled civilians. The film shows in some detail the retraining program, the exercises employed, group training, development of equipment, etc., in the direction of making the patients self-sufficient, independent, and capable of active participation once more in the work from which previously their physical handicaps had excluded them.

Very good for instructing community in rehabilitation needs; would encourage any community to establish such a center.

Journey Back—(16mm, black and white, sound, 20 min.). Produced by Veterans Administration. Loan: Veterans Administration, Medical Illustration Division, Research and Education Service, Vermont and H Sts., N.W., Washington, D.C.

The rehabilitation of a hemiplegic veteran. Early physical measures, the retraining methods in self-care and ambulation activities, prevocational and avocational guidance, speech retraining, and social and economic readjustment. Methods by which these procedures are carried out and the means of achieving an integrated teamwork program. Suitable for showing to community groups to illustrate the completeness of the care given these patients.

On Our Own—(16mm, black and white, sound, 10 min.). Produced by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, 120 Broadway, New York City. Loan from the National Foundation.

The training of poliomyelitis victims to adjust to normal life and be able to care for themselves again is the message of this film. A boy tells the story of his learning to walk again and of the rehabilitation team which helps him. The training methods and understanding of the instructors and medical personnel who help polio patients to regain their physical and mental strength again are stressed.

Good for showing to general public for fund raising for polio campaigns and for showing to student nurses to acquaint them with problems faced by polio patients.

Rodney — (16mm, color, sound, 10 min.). Produced by: Film Graphics, Inc. Rental: A.H.A. $4 for three days. Purchase: National Tuberculosis Association, 1790 Broadway, New York 19, N. Y. $55.

This animated cartoon is cleverly prefaced by roadside signs listing producer, director, etc., and leading to the center of the town where Rodney lives. Rodney is a boy in his early 20's whose life is disrupted temporarily by the discovery that he has tuberculosis. Sanitarium life and care are well portrayed; the main message of the film is that tuberculosis is curable.

In a very entertaining way, Rodney can be used to arouse community interest in mobile chest x-rays and regular check-ups. Excellent for general community showings as a public education service.

Story of Lucy—(16mm, color, sound, 17 min.). Produced by Kessler Institute, Pleasant Valley Way, West Orange, N.J.

Loan from Mr. William Page, Administrator of Kessler Institute for Rehabilitation.

This film presents a twenty-five year old paraplegic woman's comeback from complete dependency to independence and full employment. Lucy's recovery is not presented as a miracle, but as an "all hands" evolution involving many individuals and groups. The rehabilitation team consisting of physicians, nurses, therapists, vocational counselors, and bracemaker, together with many individuals and agencies in the community, make it possible for Lucy to secure training and to solve her problem realistically.

Good to acquaint community groups with importance of rehabilitation and how it is achieved.

Time Out—(16mm, black and white, sound, 25 min.). Produced by U. S. Army, 1949. On loan from army surgeon of the army area where request originates.

Hospitalization of army tuberculosis patient and importance of occupational therapy in his recovery. Very good. Not overemphasized. Patient was extremely cooperative. Good film for teaching the public about tuberculosis and effectiveness of the treatment given in sanatoria. Suitable for showing to all community groups and the women's auxiliary.

SAFETY AND FIRE PREVENTION

Accidents Don't Happen: III—Handling—(16mm, black and white, sound, 10 min.). Produced by National Film Board of Canada, 400 W. Madison St., Chicago. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for 3 days. National Film Board of Canada, $1.50 a day. Purchase: National Film Board of Canada, $21.

In almost any job, occasions arise for lifting or moving large objects. This film shows the right and wrong ways of handling heavy materials. It would be useful in hospital safety programs. Other films in the series are: I—"Organization," II—"Machines," and IV—"Falls."

Cause for Alarm—(16mm, black and white, sound, 10 min.). (35mm, black and white, sound, slide strip.). (Discussion leader's manual, true-false quiz and photoscript booklet accompany print). Produced by the National Safety Council, 425 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago. Rental: American Hospital Association has one 16mm print, $4 for 3 days. National Safety Council, $3 per day, $5 first week, $3 for each additional week. Purchase: National Safety Council, $45 (film); $18 (sound slide strip).

A step-by-step portrayal of what to do in case of fire. It describes the three types of fires and the most common types of fire extinguishers. The narration is excellent.

A useful aid in employee training for fire safety, it can be shown to advantage to all hospital employees, but especially to the maintenance and housekeeping staffs.

Diagnosis Danger—(16mm, black and white, sound, 27 min.). Produced by Chicago Film Studios, 1947. Loan: St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co., 111 West Fifth St., St. Paul 2, Minn. Also, American Hospital Association Library has one print for loan, $4 for 3 days.

Designed to eliminate unsafe conditions occurring within the hospital. Shows the danger of inadequate equipment in the various departments of the hospital, such as slipping on wax floors, worn-out electric cords, serving food on chipped dishes, hot water bottle burns, dispensing and administration of incorrect drugs and similar hazards which may result in harm to the patients, visitor personnel.

For employee training in every department to watch for accident hazards and report them. Emphasizes waste of time and equipment caused by needless accidents.

Fire—and Your Hospital—(16mm, black and white, sound, 25 min.). Produced by Audio Productions, Inc. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: Audio Productions, Inc., Film Center Building, 630 Ninth Ave., New York City 36, $65.

This training film shows how a fire safety plan should be organized, how each department of a hospital should react to a fire alarm, how patients can be saved and fire spread reduced and how to prevent disaster. Its chief purpose is to train all hospital employees; it can also be used to acquaint civic groups with the many fire safety problems in a hospital. Filmed in an actual hospital, this movie is timely and its message is urgent. Strongly recommended.

Fire Prevention—(35mm sound slide, five-color, sound, 15 min.). Produced by Frederick House for the American Hotel Association. Available on loan from local hotel which has purchased set. Also the American Hospital Association Library has one print for loan. $4 for 3 days. Purchase prints: American Hotel Association, 221 W. 57th St., New York City 19. $48 for set of 3: This, "Every Employee a Salesman" and "Front Office Courtesy." These strips require a 35mm projector with a 16-inch turntable for records.

Has received unofficial approval of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Its theme is prevention.

For employee training in fire safety; for maintenance men or housekeeping staff. Effective cartoon, would serve as an introduction for any discussion on fire prevention.

Stop Fires, Save Jobs—(16mm, black and white, sound, 19 min.). Produced by Audio Productions, Inc., 1950. Free rental from National Board of Fire Underwriters, Film Library, Bureau of Communications Research, Inc., 13 E. 37th St., New York City 17. Purchase prints from Audio Productions, Inc., 630 Ninth Ave., New York City 19. $47.

This motion picture was designed specifically to stimulate employee cooperation and reduce the numbers and costs of industrial fires. Nevertheless the principles of fire safety: good housekeeping, elimination of igniting elements, etc., are as valid for hospitals as for industry, and despite the definite industrial application, this film could well be shown in a hospital safety program.

The Torch—(16mm, color, sound, 11.5 min.). Produced by National Board of Fire Underwriters. Loan: National Board of Fire Underwriters' Film Library Bureau of Communications Research, Inc., 13 E. 37th St., New York City 17.

Unusual new color cartoon showing that there is just a bit of human carelessness in everyone. A new slide motion technique is used to make an intriguing and humorous film of fire safety. Mr. Torch has his rogue's gallery—anyone could be guilty of carelessness and qualify.

Excellent for fire prevention teaching in general. Could be included in safety programs and shown to all hospital personnel as a prelude to discussion.

What's Your Safety I. Q.?—(35mm, slide film; 16mm movie, black and white, sound, 15 min.). Rental: National Safety Council, 425 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago 11. To members: $3 a day, $5 a week, $3 second week; price doubled for non-members. Purchase prints: National Safety Council, 425 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago 11. To members: 35mm slide films, $18; 16mm movie, $45; price doubled for non-members.

Worker training film on off-the-job accident hazards. Pictures common unsafe acts and conditions that cause accidents in the home, in traffic, and at play. As each set of hazards is illustrated on the screen, workers are asked, "What's wrong with this picture?" They are given from 12 to 15 seconds to spot the safety errors, then the narrator takes over. He identifies the safety hazards pictured and discusses what should be done to eliminate them.

Effective as a safety training aid in personnel management to encourage workers to "play safe" wherever they are.

WOMEN'S HOSPITAL AUXILIARIES

June Fete—(16mm, color, sound, 15 min.). Produced by Motion Picture Associates, Ardmore, Pa. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for 3 days.

This film describes the annual festival of the Abington Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, Abington, Pa. This particular fete is a well established and financially successful event; it includes such activities as a horse show and a dog show as well as the more usual outdoor projects. It will offer other auxiliaries suggestions and encourage them in their fund-raising efforts.

Films listed under "Community Relations" are also suitable for Auxiliary meetings.

Hospital Architects

American Hospital Association APPROVAL PROGRAM

Excerpts from Stated Policy of the American Hospital Association

The American Hospital Association will prescribe qualifications for architects who wish to become Personal members and will require such candidates for membership to be certified to the executive director by a special Hospital Architects' Qualifications Committee, thus providing its Membership Committee with informed guidance in considering these architects for membership. All architects approved for such membership will be eligible for listing in the Association's Roster of Hospital Architects whether or not they elect to apply for or to maintain Association membership.

In furtherance of its aim to promote the sound designing of hospitals and to facilitate the selection of specialized architectural talent and counsel for the many hospitals in the United States and Canada, the American Hospital Association will:

Extend to architects of proficiency in hospital design and good standing in their community an invitation to become Personal members; and

Promote the general practice of engaging hospital architects of established qualifications for the design of hospitals or as consulting architects to supplement the services of architects lacking specialized knowledge of hospital requirements.

The certification by the Hospital Architects' Qualifications Committee will be made only after the committee's appraisal of primarily the applicant's knowledge of hospital facilities and requirements as demonstrated by hospital buildings he has erected and the provisions for such construction made in his creation of floor plans and specifications and its study of the applicant's demonstrated cooperative spirit, professional background and the quality of his professional organization. Architect's qualifications will be considered with relation to the size and character of hospitals he has customarily been called upon to design and construct.

It is the basic intention of this program to maintain a roster naming the largest possible number of qualified architects. The qualifying procedure will give recognition to every architect able to demonstrate his proficiency in the field of hospital design and construction.

Experience demonstrated by a licensed architect who has carried a major responsibility for the creation of plans for hospital construction while in the employ of any other architect will be given full consideration by the Hospital Architects' Qualifications Committee.

Prepared by the Hospital Architects' Qualifications Committee of the Council on Hospital Planning and Plant Operation of the American Hospital Association.*

Applications for approval under the program will be made on a standard form to the executive director of the Association, who will also notify applicants of their acceptance or rejection. The Association will be under no obligation to approve any applicant or to give any reason for rejection. It is understood that any application may be returned with a request for additional information. Documents submitted for examination by the committee will become the property of the Association, which at its own option may include them in the Association Library file of hospital plans and specifications.

The Association will have the right to remove from the roster any listed architect for cause, upon action of the Association's Board of Trustees.

Any facts bearing on the fitness or qualification of a listed architect appearing to constitute cause for removal from the roster shall be examined by the Hospital Architects' Qualifications Committee, and all complaints against any listed architect shall be made in person before the Hospital Architects' Qualifications Committee which shall grant to the architect against whom any charges are made an opportunity to appear before the committee. All information thus collected, together with recommendations of the Hospital Architects' Qualifications Committee, shall be submitted to the Association's Board of Trustees for final action.

Approval under this program will not of itself confer any degree, privileges or license for the practice of architecture; nor is it the aim of this program to interfere with or to limit the professional activities of any duly licensed architect.

This Roster of Hospital Architects will be made available to all hospitals seeking advice on the design of new buildings. The Association's aim is to encourage the employment for hospital planning of architects from the Roster. Its further aim is to encourage the engagement of approved architects in a consulting capacity to supplement the services of architects who lack a thorough knowledge of hospitals' technical requirements but whose other attributes have prompted their choice for the design of hospital projects. From association with qualified men in this manner, it is foreseen that the special knowledge needed for hospital design will be gained by architects whose careers are aimed at proficiency in this field.

Requirements for Applicants

Each applicant for approval must establish to the satisfaction of the Qualifications Committee that:

1. He is of good character.
2. He is the architect with a major responsibility for the design of three hospital construction projects of which at least one will have been constructed within a reasonably recent time, preferably within the previous five years. These projects, if other than totally new buildings, must be alterations or additions to hospitals of such a scope that will clearly indicate the candidate's familiarity with the major departments of the hospital plant. Two may be general hospitals in the course of planning or construction.
3. He has demonstrated his readiness to work well together with both his principals and consulting talent.
4. He has had adequate previous personal experience in the general practice of architecture.
5. He has had adequate training in architecture.
6. He is regularly licensed by one of the states having architects license law requirements or his practice is limited to states not requiring licensing.
7. He has the resources of professional talent for the design of hospitals he will be called upon to design and construct.

STATE ADVISORY COUNSELORS

The Committee on Women's Hospital Auxiliaries of the American Hospital Association in June 1950 sponsored state advisory counselors in order to stimulate the organization of women's hospital auxiliaries, to coordinate hospital auxiliary programs, and to interpret continuously the effectiveness of hospital auxiliary service to the hospital and the community.

State advisory counselors are appointed by the president of the American Hospital Association. The term of office is for the period from September to September. As of April 1953 advisory counselors had been named from 36 states.

If the state association of hospital auxiliaries is organized with officers, the president of the state association of hospital auxiliaries automatically becomes the state advisory counselor and serves as state advisory counselor during the period she is the president of the state association of hospital auxiliaries. This is also true if the state hospital association has a council on hospital auxiliaries or a committee on hospital auxiliaries.

The state advisory counselors are asked to cooperate with state hospital associations in planning meetings in conjunction with the district, state and regional hospital groups.

The state advisory counselors are invited to participate in the Conference of Women's Hospital Auxiliaries held concurrently with the American Hospital Association annual convention.

The state advisory counselors are as follows:

Organization

Blue Cross Plans make it possible to prepay hospital bills on a voluntary, community-sponsored basis. Each Plan is organized locally and governed by a board of trustees composed of community leaders, hospital representatives and the medical profession, all of whom serve without pay.

Although Blue Cross Plans coordinate national enrollment, public relations, statistical research and other activities through the Blue Cross Commission of the American Hospital Association, they exercise independence in local operation so that each Plan may best fulfill the specific needs of the area served.

Nonprofit operation and guaranteed service to Blue Cross subscribers by participating hospitals are the foundation stones on which Blue Cross Plans are built. Thus, maximum service at minimum cost to subscribers is fundamental in Blue Cross.

Blue Cross approval is granted by the Board of Trustees of the American Hospital Association to hospital service Plans which meet prescribed approval standards. These standards include nonprofit operation, adequate public and professional representation on a governing board of trustees, maintenance of adequate financial reserves to meet emergencies, and a reasonable record of growth. All Blue Cross Plans are required to submit evidence of conformance to these requirements annually in order to obtain re-approval.

Blue Cross Highlights

Every fourth person now has Blue Cross; enrollment as of December 31, 1952 was more than 43,800,000.

During the twelve months ended December 31, 1952, hospital bills totalling more than $570,000,000 were paid by Blue Cross for more than 6,000,000 people.

5,800 hospitals, with 85 per cent of all general hospital beds, are Blue Cross member hospitals.

More than 800,000 Blue Cross babies are born annually.

Out of every dollar received from subscribers, a national average of 89 cents is paid to hospitals for subscribers' benefits.

Subscribers who change residence usually may transfer to another Blue Cross Plan.

Free from financial worry, Blue Cross subscribers enter (and leave) the hospital sooner than the average patient. Prompt care means speedy recovery.

Medical/Surgical Plans

Eighty-four Blue Cross Plans are coordinated with 73 companion nonprofit Plans to cover the costs of medical and/or surgical care. Enrollment in these medical/surgical Plans is now more than 23 million and is growing rapidly. Combined with Blue Cross, they provide a comprehensive program to meet costs of unexpected illness or accident.

For listing of Blue Cross Plans and Blue Shield Plans see pages 227-228-229

Hospital Administration
GRADUATE AND POST-GRADUATE COURSES

All of the following courses are approved for students eligible for GI educational benefits.
[1] Course is a member of the Association of University Programs in Hospital Administration.
[2] Unaffiliated program. (Undergraduate degree required for admission.)

Baylor University, Medical Field Service School, Fort Sam Houston, Texas[1]

Graduate course leading to a degree of Master of Hospital Administration or Master of Science degree from School of Public Health, Baylor University, Waco, Texas.

Candidates must hold the rank of major or above; be members of the Regular Army or Organized Reserve Corps and not have passed the age of 42; have had recent hospital experience and demonstrated ability and interest in hospital administration; hold a degree of Doctor of Medicine from a medical school approved by the American Medical Association or a Bachelor's degree in either Arts or Sciences from a college acceptable to Baylor University. A selected reading list must have been completed prior to beginning of course.

Course is of twenty-two months' duration comprised of ten months of academic instruction given at the Medical Field Service School, Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, and twelve months of supervised approved residency at selected military hospitals. This may be partially waived in the case of students having had considerable recent hospital experience. Candidates are required to write theses which must be completed by the end of the residency year.

Special United States and Allied Armed Forces students are admitted to the course.

Course Director: Col. Frederick H. Gibbs, MSC, Director, Department of Administration, Medical Field Service School, Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

University of California, School of Public Health, Berkeley, Calif.[1]

Course is on a graduate level and leads to the degree of Master of Public Health.

Candidates for admission are required to have (1) an M.D. or D.D.S. degree from an acceptable medical or dental school or (2) a bachelor's degree with adequate training in the social sciences, natural sciences and business administration.

In addition to meeting the academic requirements of the Graduate Division, the candidates must have had three years of experience in hospitals or closely related health fields. In lieu of such experience, one year of approved administrative internship, prior to admission, may be substituted for all or part of the experience requirement.

Following the nine-month academic program, students are normally required to complete a one-year administrative residency in an approved hospital.

Course Director: Richard J. Stull, Clinical Professor of Hospital Administration; Associate Director, Keith O. Taylor, lecturer in Hospital Administration, School of Public Health, University of California, Berkeley 4, Calif.

University of Chicago, School of Business, Chicago, Ill.[1]

Course is on the graduate level, leading to degree of Master of Business Administration. The program is based largely in the School of Business, School of Medicine and the Division of Public Health and Preventive Medicine. It is of approximately two years' duration, consisting of three academic quarters (twelve weeks each), in residence and twelve months of administrative residency in a hospital acceptable to the University. Applicants will be required to have a Bachelor's degree, or its equivalent, and must have completed a course in basic accounting. Selection will also be based on the applicant's aptitude and capacity for work in the field of hospital administration. In order to assure individual participation in seminars enrollment is limited to twelve students annually.

Course Director: Ray E. Brown, Director, University of Chicago Clinics, Chicago 37, Ill.

Columbia University, School of Public Health, New York, N. Y.[1]

The newly formed Institute of Administrative Medicine will provide advanced administrative education and experience in the various fields of medical care, including the program in Hospital Administration — now in its seventh year — education for leadership and administration in prepayment plans, public health, health insurance, occupational medicine, clinic administration, health associations, and medical school administration. These courses will be of the graduate level, leading to a Master of Science, Master of Public Health, or a Doctorate Degree from the Faculty of Medicine of Columbia University. These curricula will draw upon other University facilities, affiliated hospitals, and the various organizations of medical care. There will be a central core of subjects pertaining directly to administrative organization and management. The special considerations of each field will be brought into focus under the faculty which consists of leaders in the respective areas. The course will consist of twenty-one months with nine academic months (thirty-two weeks) in full-time residence, plus one calendar year of supervised residency in an approved organization. The residency period has been placed in the middle of the academic work, from February 1 through January 31, in order to better coordinate the total program of the student in his didactic and practical work. The applicant must possess a Baccalaureate degree from a university or college approved by Columbia University. Evidence of personal capability and fitness for work in the hospital field is considered in each case and will be regarded as essential to admission. Some previous actual working experience in the health field is highly desirable but may not be required. No credit that would shorten the academic year of residence will be given for previous experience or instruction. Only full-time students are accepted as candidates for the degree and will be admitted only at the beginning of the academic year in September, except by special permission of the Director of the School. Admission to certain courses as special students is sometimes granted to advanced students or experienced administrators.

Course Director: E. Dwight Barnett, M.D., Director, Institute of Administrative Medicine, School of Public Health, Columbia University, New York 32.

Duke Hospital, School of Medicine, Duke University, Durham, N. C.[2]

A Certificate in Hospital Administration is given by the School of Medicine upon satisfactory completion of the program. No degree in hospital administration is conferred. Training of apprenticeship type, with student given actual experience in hospital administration by rotation through the various major administrative areas of a hospital, supplemented by classes, field trips, and seminars in related subjects. Program is designed to cover two years and requires full time of student; therefore no outside work is permitted. At present the course is open to men only (twenty-one years of age and over). Candidates for admission must hold either a B.A. or a B.S. degree from an approved college, and preferably with a scholastic average of B or better. It is desirable for applicants to have had previous courses in economics, accounting, business management, and the basic sciences. Previous experience in the health field is helpful. A sound educational background and excellent personal qualifications are essential, and a personal interview of applicant with each member of the Admissions Committee is required. Enrollment is limited to two men each six months.

Course Director: Office of the Course Director, Duke Hospital, Durham, N. C.

University of Georgia, Atlanta Division, School of Business Administration, Atlanta, Ga.[2]

Certificate course in hospital administration. The course covers a period of nine months of academic instruction at the Atlanta Division of the University of Georgia in Atlanta and twenty-seven weeks of field experience in two or more smaller hospitals outside Atlanta.

Candidates for admission are selected by an Advisory Admissions Committee. Selection is based upon the demonstrated ability of two years' full-time successful experience in a hospital or a closely related field, or as demonstrated by aptitude tests, personal interviews or other means of evaluation as determined by the Advisory Admissions Committee. Academic credit will be dependent upon meeting University requirements. Candidates must submit written application and must meet successfully requirements of the Advisory Admissions Committee.

Course Director: Henry C. Pepper, Ph.D., Chairman, Division of Public Administration, Atlanta Division, University of Georgia, School of Business Administration, 24 Ivy St., Atlanta 3, Ga.

State University of Iowa, Graduate College, Iowa City, Iowa[1]

Course is on the graduate level leading to a Master of Arts degree in the major course of study. Program requires approximately three years, one academic year in residence followed by two calendar years of in-service training in one or more carefully selected hospitals. Applicants are required to have a Bachelor's degree with a minimum academic grade point average of 2.5 (on a 4.0 maximum). Basic courses in accounting, sociology or psychology, biology or chemistry, public speaking, economics, and business organization and management are desirable as prerequisites.

A few qualified candidates will be given the opportunity to study for the Doctor of Philosophy degree. Only candidates with an adequate base in actual hospital administration experience will be considered.

Program Director: Gerhard Hartman, Ph.D., Professor and Director, Program in Hospital Administration, State University of Iowa, University Hospitals, Iowa City, Iowa.

Johns Hopkins University, School of Hygiene and Public Health, Baltimore, Md.[1]

A course with the dual purpose of: 1) acquainting the School's students in various fields of public health with the subject of hospitals, and 2) providing training for those wishing to specialize in the administration of hospitals or allied activities. In addition to the School's basic courses in public health, specialized training is provided by four special courses in hospital administration, plus different combinations of supplementary training varying from short administrative projects within the Johns Hopkins Hospital to research projects of a year or more in combination with administrative residencies in the Johns Hopkins Hospital or other Baltimore hospitals.

Physicians wishing to specialize in hospital administration will be candidates for the degree of Master of Public Health. In addition to meeting the basic requirements for the Master of Public Health degree, they will be required to complete the four hospital administration courses and to take special work in hospitals during the three months following their academic studies.

Other students will be accepted as candidates for the degree of Master of Science in Hygiene if they meet all requirements for admission as set forth in the current catalog. They will be required to spend two academic years, the first devoted largely to prescribed courses of study, the courses varying according to type of preliminary preparation and the needs and wishes of the student. In the second year, research activities are conducted under School direction, combined with periods of administrative experience in the Johns Hopkins Hospital or other Baltimore hospitals. A thesis and written examination are required at the end of the second year.

One or two physicians may be accepted as Doctor of Public Health candidates after completing the Master of Public Health requirements, and one or two other students who have completed the Master of Science in Hygiene program, or its equivalent, may be accepted as candidates for the degree of Doctor of Science in Hygiene.

Course Director: Dr. Ernest L. Stebbins, Director, School of Hygiene and Public Health, The Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore 5, Md.

University of Minnesota, School of Public Health, Minneapolis, Minn.[1]

Graduate course leading to degree of Master of Hospital Administration from the School of Public Health. Course is of approximately twenty-one months' duration, comprised of one academic year of three quarters in full-time residence, and one calendar year of supervised administrative residency in a hospital approved by the University. Candidates must have a degree equivalent at least to baccalaureate level from an approved educational institution; must have had a course in elements and principles of accounting (may be secured by a summer or a correspondence course); and must possess personal capability and fitness for work in the field of hospital administration. No credit for previous experience is given in the academic year. In rare instances the residency year may be shortened with the approval of the Course Director. Only full-time students are accepted as candidates for the degree. In some instances special students are admitted to the course.

Course Director: James A. Hamilton, Professor, Course in Hospital Administration, School of Public Health, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis 14, Minn.

Northwestern University, School of Commerce, Chicago 11, Ill.[1]

The holder of a Bachelor's degree or its equivalent (in liberal arts, nursing education, medicine, business administration, or other fields) from an institution of accepted standing may become a candidate for the degree of Master of Hospital Administration if the transcripts of his college record and of any graduate work he may have done show that he is able to pursue graduate work with credit to himself and to the University. A grade average of B- or better in undergraduate work is considered acceptable.

Students are selected for admission to the Program on the basis of previous education, experience in hospital work (preferably at the supervisory level), and such evidence of personality, aptitude and capacity for administrative work as can be obtained from letters of recommendation and through personal interview. A limited number of students is selected each spring by an admissions committee for entrance into the Program the following September.

The Program is a division of the School of Commerce. Nine months of full-time study in residence are required to complete the academic work. In addition, an administrative residency of twelve months' duration must be served in a hospital approved for that purpose before the Master's degree in Hospital Administration is awarded. Part-time students are admitted, and may complete the academic requirements in from two to three years. Most of the classes and demonstrations are held in the evening.

Course Director. Dr. Malcolm T. MacEachern, Professor of Hospital Administration, The School of Commerce, Northwestern University, 339 E. Chicago Ave., Chicago 11, Ill.

University of Pittsburgh, School of Public Health, Pittsburgh, Pa.[1]

Course at the graduate level leading to a Master of Science degree or a Master of Public Health degree depending upon the student's qualifications. The course is of twenty-one months' duration of which the first nine are spent in University residence followed by a full calendar year of supervised residency in an acceptable hospital. Applicants must hold at least a Bachelor's degree with an adequate background in the natural and social sciences, and must meet the minimum standards of the Graduate School before consideration is given. Final selection will be based upon demonstrated aptitude and capacity for work in the field of medical administration.

Course Director: Glidden L. Brooks, M.D., Professor of Hospital Administration, Graduate School of Public Health, University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh 13, Pa.

St. Louis University, Graduate School, St. Louis, Mo.[1]

Graduate course, leading to degree of Master in Hospital Administration. Applicants for the degree must spend at least one year in residence at the University and one calendar year of supervised administrative experience in a hospital approved by the University. To advance to candidacy for the degree, the student must pass an examination in modern language or statistics and present an essay on some phase of hospital administration. Applicants for admission must have a Bachelor's degree and in addition must meet all the entrance requirements of the Graduate School. Previous experience in nursing or medicine is desirable; however, consideration will also be given to other candidates with personal capabilities and fitness for work in the hospital field. Undergraduate training must include three semester hours in accounting; and courses in economics, psychology, and sociology are desirable.

Acting Course Director: Rev. John J. Flanagan, S. J., Department of Hospital Administration, St. Louis University Graduate School, 1438 S. Grand Blvd., St. Louis 4, Mo.

University of Toronto, School of Hygiene, Toronto 5, Ont., Canada[1]

The Department of Hospital Administration is in the School of Hygiene and offers a twenty-one months' course for university graduates in the arts, medicine, or the sciences who have acceptable academic standing, experience, and aptitude. The course consists of thirty-two weeks of instruction on the campus and in nearby general and special hospitals, followed by twelve months of supervised administrative residency in an acceptable hospital in Canada or the United States. A thesis on a selected subject is required to complete the second year's work. The course leads to the Diploma in Hospital Administration (Tor.), which is equivalent to the Master's degree. The teaching staff has been associated with the Canadian Hospital Council in the development and supervision of a two-year extension course in hospital organization and management for those individuals who are not eligible for or cannot take the graduate course.

Course Director: Dr. Harvey Agnew, Professor, Department of Hospital Administration, School of Hygiene, University of Toronto, Toronto 5, Ont.

Medical College of Virginia, School of Hospital Administration, Richmond, 19, Va.[2]

Applicants for the course must have a Baccalaureate degree, or more than its equivalent, from an accredited institution. The course is open to men and women. Preparation, capability and fitness for a career in this field will be deciding factors in the selection of candidates.

The didactic course consists of nine months' intensive classroom instruction, ample opportunity being provided to observe the functions of the various hospital departments.

Following the didactic course, a year's administrative residency must be served. Students are rotated through eight affiliating Virginia hospitals. Under this plan of rotation through various hospitals, the student gains knowledge not only of a teaching hospital but of the smaller hospitals and their problems.

Upon completion of the year's residency a certificate in hospital administration is awarded.

Candidates interested may then apply for work in the hospital administration field leading to the degree of Master of Hospital Administration. Requirements for the degree are: 1) an additional year's work in the field of hospital administration; 2) preparation of a thesis satisfactory to the Committee on Graduate Study and to the faculty of the School of Hospital Administration.

Course Director: Charles P. Cardwell Jr., Director, Hospital Division, Medical College of Virginia, Richmond 19, Va.

Washington University School of Medicine St. Louis, Mo.[1]

Graduate course leading to a Master of Hospital Administration degree. The course covers a full-time period of twenty-one months, nine months of academic instruction at the medical center and twelve months as an administrative resident in a hospital approved by Washington University School of Medicine. Candidates for admission must hold a Bachelor's degree in either the arts or sciences from an educational institution acceptable to Washington University or a degree of Doctor of Medicine from a medical school approved by the American Medical Association. A basic course in accounting must be completed prior to admission. Physical qualifications and personal fitness are additional criteria for admission. Applicants must present themselves for a personal interview.

Course Director: Dr. F. R. Bradley, Director, School of Hospital Administration, Washington University, School of Medicine, 507 So. Euclid Ave., St. Louis 10, Mo.

Yale University, School of Medicine, Department of Public Health, New Haven, Conn.[1]

Graduate course leading to a Master of Public Health degree or a Master of Science degree. (In unusual cases a degree of Doctor of Public Health is conferred on physicians completing special requirements in addition to the full course in Hospital Administration.) Total period of training required is not less than twenty-one months, made up of nine months in residence at the University and twelve months in supervised practical work in administration. Three classes of students are eligible for admission: (1) Doctors of Medicine who have had at least two years in the practice of medicine, or comparable experience; (2) graduate nurses who have a Bachelor's degree and at least three years' experience in administration of medical care facilities or in public health work; (3) others who have a Bachelor's degree in the arts or sciences and who have had either practical experience in the field of administration of medical care or related facilities or who have spent at least one year in graduate studies in public health. At least one-half year of accounting at the university level is required. Preference is given to students with a background of study in the biological and physical sciences.

Course Director: George S. Buis, Director, Course in Hospital Administration, Department of Public Health, Yale University School of Medicine, New Haven 11, Conn.

Some 9,500 people were in South Amboy, N. J., that drizzly evening in 1950. At the waterfront, longshoremen were transferring the last of 12 freight cars of ammunition to lighters that would carry it to a waiting vessel in Raritan Bay.

But the City Hall clock never got to 7:27—and the freighter's deadly cargo never got loaded. Explosions shattered windows over a radius of 12 miles; and hundreds of people looked at their arms and legs and saw that flying daggers of glass had stabbed them.

At dawn, 312 of the injured had been counted.

Such disasters have happened many times before in America. They could happen again. And if they do—and when they do—there must be blood plasma on hand to take care of the injured. For blood saves lives!

But blood cannot be mined or manufactured. It must come from the veins of healthy men and women. Men and women who feel concern for a suffering neighbor. So give blood—now!

Whether your blood goes for Civil Defense needs, to a combat area, or to a local hospital—this priceless, painless gift will some day save an American life!

SEALED-IN STERILITY

In the manufacture of 'Vaseline' Sterile Petrolatum Gauze Dressings, especially designed equipment, especially trained personnel, especially planned techniques, and especially rigid control tests assure absolute sterility. Heat-sealed foil-envelopes safeguard this sterility under all normal conditions of storage for an indefinite period.

These many precautions cannot be duplicated in the extemporaneous preparation of petrolatum gauze . . . and the usual result is a dressing of uncertain sterility. Sterility is of the first order, so is its assurance.

Accreditation

THE Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals is an independent, voluntary, nonprofit corporation organized to render a public service. Its main purpose is to improve the quality of care rendered to patients in hospitals. Its method of achieving this goal is to establish minimum standards of quality of patient care and then to invite all hospitals which offer care to the sick to meet or surpass those standards by improving their services and their facilities.

Any hospital desiring recognition of its quality may invite a survey by the joint commission. Upon satisfactory proof that it has met the minimum standards it will be granted recognition in the form of a certificate and listing by the joint commission in its annual publication of accredited hospitals. Hospitals are listed as fully approved or provisionally approved.

ORGANIZATION

The Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals is composed of five nonprofit associations, namely, the American College of Physicians, American College of Surgeons, American Hospital Association, American Medical Association and the Canadian Medical Association. Each of the members appoints individual persons to represent it according to its interest declared and agreed upon. The representatives of the members are known as commissioners and are 20 in number appointed in the following proportions:

American College of Physicians 3
American College of Surgeons 3
American Medical Association 6
Canadian Medical Association 1
American Hospital Association 7

One commissioner representing the American Hospital Association is chosen from its Canadian hospital membership.

The Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals is independent. It is incorporated under the laws of the state of Illinois and its actions are not subject to ratification by its component members. It is financed by annual grants from the members made according to their representation. The costs of operation are divided into as many equal parts as there are commissioners. Thus, the American Hospital Association, having appointed seven commissioners, contributes seven-twentieths of the total budget.

One of the objects of the joint commission is to make known to the public the names of those hospitals which have invited its scrutiny and have been accredited by it as meeting the minimum standards established for good hospital care. The net effect of the program is to enable the public to discriminate between hospitals that are accredited and those that are not. It is a protection for the public and a stimulus to hospitals to do better work.

HISTORY

The hospital accreditation program of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals is a continuation of the hospital standardization program of the American College of Surgeons. Begun in 1918, the purpose of the original standardization program was to improve the poor hospital service which was then generally prevalent in North America. The first list of approved institutions was published in 1919 and contained 89 hospitals approved out of 692 surveyed. In 1951, out of a total of 4,111 hospitals under consideration in the United States, Canada, and a few other countries, 3,352 were either approved or provisionally approved by the American College of Surgeons. The program speaks for itself. The major share of the credit for its success belongs to Dr. Malcolm T. MacEachern, who for 27 years conducted and promoted it to hospitals, to the health professions and to the public.

The hospital standardization program of the American College of Surgeons was formally conveyed to the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals on December 6, 1952, but full responsibility for the accreditation of hospitals did not begin until January 1, 1953. Dr. Edwin L. Crosby is director of the joint commission.

METHOD OF PROCEDURES

The final decision to accredit a hospital rests with the commissioners. The director receives the reports of hospitals surveyed, reviews them and makes recommendations to the commissioners for favorable consideration or otherwise.

Two of the member associations —namely, the American College of Surgeons and the American Medical Association—conduct approval programs for professional activities in hospitals. The American College of Surgeons is interested in cancer programs in hospitals which are surveyed periodically for approval. The American Medical Association also maintains a field staff of surveyors for the purpose of inquiring into programs offered by hospitals for residents and interns in medicine.

To avoid duplication of surveys by the joint commission and those of its members, it has been agreed that ACS and AMA surveyors would also represent the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. Neither the American

This material was compiled by Dr. Charles U. Letourneau, secretary of the American Hospital Association's Council on Professional Practice.

College of Physicians nor the Canadian Medical Association maintains a field staff. The American Hospital Association maintains a field staff to carry on the Association's activities in the field to represent it in its work of encouraging and promoting the improvement of hospital care. Hospitals in the United States and Canada are thus surveyed not by the field staff of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals but by the field staff of three of its component organizations, namely, the American Medical Association, the American College of Surgeons and the American Hospital Association.

The director of the joint commission allocates the survey of some 3,500 hospitals to the field staff representatives. In the initial breakdown, hospitals approved or desiring approval for cancer programs are allotted to the surveyors of the American College of Surgeons. Those seeking approval of the American Medical Association for residency and internship programs are allotted to the survey staff of the American Medical Association. The hospitals which are not involved either with the ACS or the AMA are allotted to the field representatives of the American Hospital Association. The task of the director is made difficult by the fact that more than half of the accredited hospitals are approved neither as cancer centers nor as training hospitals for residents and interns. To balance this fact, however, these hospitals are also the smallest in size and require the least time to survey. The goal of the commission is to survey every hospital at three-year intervals.

ACCREDITATION PROCEDURE

A hospital wishing to apply for accreditation should first direct its request to the director, Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, 660 N. Rush St., Chicago 11.

Minimum requirements for application are:

1. Registration by the American Medical Association.
2. In operation for at least one year.
3. A minimum size of 25 adult beds.

Upon receipt of a request, a hospital standardization report is mailed to the hospital for completion, indicating the basic information required by the joint commission before consideration can be given for a survey of the hospital.

The hospital returns the completed hospital standardization report to the director of the joint commission and then a preliminary evaluation is made. Should the hospital standardization report indicate that the hospital does not claim to possess the essential requirements for accreditation, the inadequacies will be pointed out in a reply from the director and a copy of the forthcoming "Manual of Hospital Accreditation" will be sent to the hospital to help it bring its essential services up to standard.

If the hospital standardization report shows that the hospital claims to have the essential requirements, the hospital is notified that it has been placed on the list for future survey and an effort will be made to have it surveyed within six months from the time of application.

THE SURVEY

Survey of a hospital is conducted according to a definite, established procedure. The standards upon which the surveyor bases his opinion will be outlined in the "Manual of Hospital Accreditation" and there will be little latitude for the personal opinion or prejudice of the surveyor. The criteria are objective. The present standards are essentially the same as those which were developed by the American College of Surgeons over a period of 35 years.

The director of the joint commission notifies the hospital of the date of the surveyor's visit to the hospital. With the notice, he also encloses a detailed questionnaire of statistical (confidential) information for completion by the hospital. The completed questionnaire is presented to the surveyor upon his arrival at the hospital.

On the appointed day, the field representative calls on the administrator of the hospital and proceeds with the survey of the hospital. He is already in possession of considerable knowledge about the hospital, much of it confidential, from the files of the joint commission. One of the sources of information is, of course, a previous survey of the hospital made by the American College of Surgeons.

THE POINT RATING SYSTEM

The hospital surveyor is interested in certain aspects of hospital operation which indicate the quality of service that the patients are receiving. The factors that make up the quality of patient care have been studied over a period of years by the American College of Surgeons and have culminated in the hospital accreditation scoring report on which the hospital is evaluated.

The scoring report is divided into two parts. The first part relates to the essential divisions of the hospital, which are eight in number.

1. The Physical Plant: 20 points. Essentially, the physical plant should be fire resistant, protected against fire hazard, equipped and designed for quick evacuation of patients, clean, sanitary and in a good state of maintenance. There should also be facilities for segregation and isolation of patients.

2. Administration: 35 points. The "Manual of Hospital Accreditation" will indicate standards for selecting members of the governing board, board meetings, and quality of trustees. Quality of administration is reflected in the general atmosphere of the hospital, which should be suggestive of a reasonable amount of interest shown in the patient. The administrator should be trained and experienced in hospital administration. The personnel should take advantage of organized institutes, attend naional, state and other meetings. The percentage of occupancy in the hospital will indicate overcrowding, if any.

3. Medical Staff Organization: 200 points. Control of quality of medical services rendered to patients is best assured by good medical staff organization. The degree and effectiveness of the organization weighs heavily in the survey. Evidence must be presented by the hospital to show that the medical staff is well organized with bylaws, rules and regulations that are acceptable and enforced. Appoint-

Why buy x-ray apparatus?

You can save money by renting under GE MAXISERVICE!

And MAXISERVICE also means

1. NO INITIAL INVESTMENT

Now you can get the GE diagnostic or therapy x-ray unit you want without initially investing one cent. There's no need to wait until you can accumulate the down payment . . . no need to tie up your capital in equipment.

2. NO SERVICING HEADACHES

MAXISERVICE includes GE's periodic inspection and adjustment service. Our factory-trained experts will keep your equipment in tip-top operating condition at no cost to you. You can minimize costly shutdowns.

3. NO TUBE OR PARTS REPLACEMENT COSTS

Your single monthly payment also covers replacement of worn-out tube and parts costs. And General Electric pays the bill on local taxes and insurance under the MAXISERVICE rental plan. There are no hidden costs.

4. NO OBSOLESCENCE RISKS

With MAXISERVICE, you never have an investment in obsolete equipment. When your apparatus is outmoded by new developments, GE will replace it with the new design — you never suffer obsolescence loss!

You get all these MAXISERVICE advantages at a cost that's actually less than if you bought the x-ray apparatus outright! Ask your GE x-ray representative to show you comparative figures, or write X-Ray Department, General Electric Company, Milwaukee 1, Wisconsin, for Pub. L-6.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

ments to the medical staff should be made only by the board of trustees, after consideration of a written application by the physician which establishes his credentials and qualifications. Each physician should have signed an agreement not to split fees. Membership of the medical staff should be restricted to graduates of approved medical schools who are licensees of the state or province, in good standing and eligible for membership in the local medical society.

Points are allotted for annual medical staff appointments, clearly defined medical staff groups, active departmentalization of specialty services and essential committees of the medical staff. The net death rate in an institution is also taken into consideration. In a general hospital, a 4 per cent net death rate should be considered the upper limit of normal. Exceptions are allowed, however, for the type of patient treated in the hospital.

The active interest of the medical staff in the quality of work done in the hospital is demonstrated by the number of medical staff meetings held annually, by the attendance at staff meetings and by records of discussions held at those meetings.

The minutes of the medical staff meetings should show a thorough review and analysis of the clinical work done in the hospital.

Relationships with the governing board, the administrator, the maintenance of internship or residency services and the provision of an organized medical reference library of current texts and periodicals round out the inquiry of the surveyor into the medical staff organization.

4. Medical Records Department: 125 points. The medical records are also heavily weighted as an index of quality of service. The records should be complete, up to date and reflect accurately the work done by the medical staff. The surveyor will need to know who is head of the medical record department and the qualifications, duties, responsibilities and privileges of that person. If nurses or other unqualified personnel take or write histories, progress notes or final discharge notes, 5 points will be deducted. The promptness of completion of the records, signatures by the attending physician, the filing and cross-indexing and the checking of records by a committee of the medical staff are important details. The use of records for research and their easy availability for such purposes will also be considered.

5. Clinical Laboratory: 95 points. Every hospital should have a clinical laboratory, suitably located and with adequate space. Facilities should include laboratory examinations for the following tests:

a. Chemical.
b. Bacteriological.
c. Pathological.
d. Serological.
e. Rapid diagnosis by frozen section.

Blood bank services also should be available. Either a fulltime or part-time clinical pathologist should be in charge of the laboratory. The number of qualified technicians should be adequate to handle all laboratory work efficiently. All tissues removed at operations should be examined, reported on in writing and the report signed by the pathologist. Reports should be filed in the patient's record with a duplicate in the laboratory and a cross-index. Requisitions for laboratory examinations should be in writing. All patients should receive a routine laboratory examination on admission. Complete clinical laboratory work should be reported to the administration monthly. Since autopsies are a good measure of the quality of medical service rendered in the hospital, the autopsy rate should be above 20 per cent of the total deaths.

6. X-ray Department: 50 points. There should be facilities for radiography, fluoroscopy and radiotherapy, with enough space in a satisfactory location and adequate safety measures. A qualified radiologist should be in charge and he should make signed reports in writing. Qualified x-ray technicians and an adequate filing system round out this department. Summaries should be reported monthly to the administrator and routine chest x-rays of all patients should be taken on admission.

7. Nursing Service: 90 points. The scoring report asks if there is a sufficient number of nurses to give good nursing service to the patients. The number of professional and practical nurses will be requested as well as the number of orderlies and nurse aides or attendants rendering service to the patients. The nurse-patient ratio and the supervisor-patient ratio will be calculated as well as the average hours of nursing service per patient per day. Each ward or department should be under the supervision of a competent registered graduate nurse. Regular graduate nursing staff conferences should be held at frequent intervals.

8. Dietary Department: 25 points. The surveyor must be assured that there is an organized dietary department with a qualified dietitian assisted by an adequate number of assistant dietitians. The elements of the department should be adequate modern equipment, facilities for therapeutic diets, clean and sanitary physical facilities and an adequate number of personnel. Diets should be made up in consultation with the medical staff.

The essential divisions rate a maximum pointage of 640 out of a possible maximum of 1,000. Failure to meet standards in the essential divisions may preclude listing of the hospital as fully accredited.

COMPLEMENTARY DIVISIONS

The second part of the hospital standardization scoring report is an evaluation of the complementary and service divisions. These are listed as follows:

1. Medical Department: 50 points. The surveyor looks for evidence that there is a qualified staff subdivided into a number of services according to the size of the hospital. The records, particularly, should justify the diagnosis and treatment in every case by a complete history and physical examination and by laboratory and other diagnostic tests. Consultations should be required for all seriously ill patients and recorded in writing. To achieve the maximum number of points, the department should also be equipped with an electrocardiograph and equip-

2. Surgical Department: 100 points. The surgical department should be composed of a well qualified surgical staff, holding fellowships in colleges of surgery, certification from boards of surgery or the equivalent qualification. A certain number of general practitioners also may be permitted in the surgical department. According to the size of the hospital, the surgical department should be subdivided into its component specialties with a competent surgeon to head each division.

The surgical department should be properly located and provided with a sufficient number of adequately equipped operating rooms containing facilities for major, minor, fracture, cystoscopic and emergency surgery. It should be staffed with qualified personnel including experienced graduate nurse supervisors, graduate nurses and a sufficient number of orderlies or attendants to handle properly the number of operations that are performed.

Control methods designed to keep unnecessary and incompetent surgery to the minimum should be enforced. The minimum standards recommend several methods, such as supervision by the head of the department, a surgical staff committee, limitation of surgical privileges, routine tissue examination, and interest by the operating room supervisor and the administrator.

An operating surgeon should have a qualified medical assistant in all operations. Proper controls for the sterilization of surgical supplies and instruments also should be demonstrated.

The records should show that the quality of surgery is controlled adequately by a close scrutiny of the medical records and a reporting of the number of operations performed. Points will be deducted for operation reports that do not support the preoperative diagnosis, for postoperative infections and for failure to obtain consultations. All these are criteria of quality of surgery. If the postoperative death rate is not within reasonable limits, deductions will be made. Death occurring within 10 days of operation are counted as postoperative deaths and are calculated in the percentage of the number of operations performed.

3. Obstetrical Department: 75 points. An inquiry will be made into the quality of the obstetricians and the facilities available to them. Patients should be segregated completely from other patients in the hospital, with isolation facilities for both the mother and the newborn. The department should be under competent graduate nurse supervision. Obstetrical records will be scrutinized for completeness of information. Evaluation of quality can be made from the statistics on the caesarean sections, the maternal mortality rate and the infant mortality rate.

There should be definite rules and regulations concerning consultations in obstetrical patients and all obstetrical procedures should be recorded. Caesarean sections should not exceed 4 per cent of viable births, maternal deaths should not exceed one-fourth of one per cent, and an infant mortality rate of over 2 per cent within 10 days of birth should be considered the upper limit of normal.

4. Anesthesia Department: 40 points. The administration of anesthetics is also a matter for inquiry. Qualified trained professionals should administer anesthesia. No points are earned where anesthetics are administered by graduate nurses, interns or residents, or referring physicians who are not trained in anesthesia. A fairly complete range of standard anesthetic agents also should be provided. No anesthetic should be administered without a physical examination and a urinalysis and hemoglobin estimation. Full score for adequate pre-anesthetic investigation can be given only on evidence that it has been done within 48 hours of the anesthesia. There should be a record of postanesthetic follow-ups by the anesthetist and the number of anesthetic deaths should not exceed one per 5,000 anesthetics administered. An excessive number of anesthetic deaths indicates poor practices and this factor alone may result in the withholding of accreditation from the hospital. A recovery room should be provided and adequate protection against explosion and fire hazards should also be provided in the operating suite.

5. Physical Medicine Department: 35 points. If the hospital possesses a department of physical medicine or one of its components such as physical therapy, occupational therapy or rehabilitation, these will be rated. Generally, physical medicine departments should be under the supervision of a physician trained in physical medicine. The personnel should also be properly trained and the department should have facilities adequate to maintain this service in the hospital. Record of treatment should be filed on the patient's chart with duplicates in the department. All treatment should be given only on written prescription by the referring physician.

6. Pharmacy: 20 points. This department should be under the supervision of a registered pharmacist; it should be well equipped and stocked and should be in a suitable location with adequate space. It should be established that only preparations listed in "U. S. Pharmacopeia," "National Formulary" and "New and Nonofficial Remedies" are used. Procedures for the proper control of narcotics should be established and the whole department should be under the sponsorship of an active pharmacy committee of the medical staff.

7. Outpatient Department: 20 points. As in other departments, proper organization, medical supervision, physical facilities and medical records are indexes of the quality of care available to patients.

8. Medical Social Service Department: 20 points. This department should be supervised by a medical social service worker who is qualified and assisted by similarly qualified medical social service workers according to the case load of the hospital. The extent of investigation by this department in matters of medical care, follow-up of discharged patients, financial welfare, rehabilitation and environment should be well established. Medical social service records should be filed on the patient's document with duplicates in the department. There should be active cooperation and interest between this department and the medical staff of the hospital.

PENALTY DEDUCTIONS

Although the hospital may be conducted excellently in most respects, a glaring fault in the hospital may cause the surveyor to recommend the imposition of a severe penalty deduction which would prevent the hospital from being listed as accredited. Penalty deductions may be imposed in many areas. For example, if the physical plant is a "fire-trap," this fact alone will preclude accreditation. Such factors as the appointment of unqualified practitioners of the healing arts to the medical staff, dishonest or unethical practices, incompetent administration, unexplained high mortality rate, or lack of adequate medical records will adversely affect the reports of the surveyor and any one taken alone may be sufficient to cause the joint commission to withhold accreditation until the deficiency has been rectified.

Having completed the survey, the field representative then reports his recommendation to the joint commission on the hospital accreditation scoring report. These are recommendations only and are subject to final evaluation by the director and the commissioners. It should be emphasized that the field representative is not empowered to assure the hospital that it has been either accredited or otherwise. The joint commission may possess information, which is not available to the surveyor at the time of his survey, which might alter his recommendation materially. The surveyor does have a duty, however, to point out the deficiencies in the hospital and to make suggestions as to how they can be remedied to enable the hospital to maintain minimum standards.

After final evaluation of the report of the surveyor by the director and the commissioners the corrected report is filed and a copy transmitted to the hospital. The hospital is then listed in the record of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals as fully approved, provisionally approved or not approved. Only the first two categories are listed in the annual publication.

ROLE OF ASSOCIATION

In addition to its participation in the policy making and financing of the Joint Commission on Accreditation, the American Hospital Association is actively engaged in assisting the joint commission by providing field representatives to survey hospitals. Since accreditation of hospitals is concerned mainly with the quality of professional care rendered in hospitals, this activity comes within the scope of the Council on Professional Practice, and the Association's field program is administered by that council. The field staff consists of four surveyors. Each has had extensive experience in survey work and has acquired a considerable knowledge of hospitals and hospital operation.

In their visit to hospitals, the surveyors have a dual role. As surveyors they are acting on behalf of the joint commission; as field representatives of the American Hospital Association they visit hospitals to become acquainted with current hospital problems and, in turn, to acquaint hospitals with the current program and development of the American Hospital Association. The main purpose of their visit is to stimulate improvement in quality of the services rendered by hospitals to patients. They do not visit hospitals as spies or snoopers to discover questionable practices. By their advice, they can be of considerable assistance to boards of trustees, administrators and physicians who practice in hospitals. By learning the problems which affect the hospitals that they visit, they can assist materially the American Hospital Association to render better services to its members and to the public. They should be welcome in the hospital for they come to help—not to hinder—the hospital in its work of mercy.

Specialized Equipment That Saves Money, Time and Trouble...

Ideal Food Conveyors and Ideal Special Diet Trays have greatly enlarged the range of nutritional therapy. Special diets in unlimited variety are delivered at the bedside kitchen-fresh. Ideal Food Conveyors assure easy, speedy economical handling of any feeding problem.

Over 2,000 different combinations of food pans are possible with this Model 1003 Extra Duty Ideal Food Conveyor. All Ideal Food Conveyors embody exclusive, outstanding design and construction features which assure long-life of trouble-free service. Many standard models to choose from.

Ideal Terminal Sterilizer

This amazing new Ideal Terminal Sterilizer saves space, labor, and assures absolute formula protection. With this unit a completely equipped formula room requires only 90 sq. ft. floor space. One nurse only is required, replacing the four usually needed. Hospitals using the Ideal Terminal Sterilizer get 100% good formula as contrasted with only 75% under the infinitely old methods in common use. Rubber nipples last two - three months instead of weeks. No bottles are broken by pressure or heat—none explode. No formula can be wasted by over-heating. Absolutely safeguarded against water or power failure.

Entire operation is automatic. The control panel gives complete information as to operating procedure. The nurse is completely free to leave the room during operation and if she does not return for hours, the formula still is kept safely cool within the sealed interior of the sterilizer.

IN the hospital world the trade mark, Ideal, commands respect, confidence and admiration for advanced design, fine precision workmanship, limitless durability and consistent satisfaction in use.

The specialized field of Ideal is the automatic operation and control of temperatures in apparatus and utensils designed for specific purposes. Ideal equipment is available in a wide variety of standard models.

Many Ideal custom-built units are designed and produced to meet unusual requirements. Ideal engineers will gladly study your problem and make recommendations no matter what phase of hospital service is involved. This entails no charge nor any obligation.

Ideal Hot Pack Heaters

Valuable time and labor is saved in hot pack treatments by Ideal Hot Pack Heaters. Dry, moist packs of uniform temperature, at all times and under all conditions are delivered at the bedside. Plugs into any outlet. Retains heat for many hours. Simple, safe, Underwriters' approved.

Management Functions

Commenting on the rapidly changing concepts of management, Lawrence Appley, president of the American Management Association, said in 1952:

"Something highly significant is taking place in the field of management. Indeed, this trend is assuming such proportions that it has been called a managerial 'renaissance'—a reawakening of management. Whatever it may be named, it is one of the most meaningful developments that has occurred in business management for years."

These same words might well have been said by any number of hospital leaders about hospital management. It is evident that not only a reawakening has taken place in that field but there has been a maturing and tremendously rapid growth to meet ever new and increasingly complex demands.

The American Hospital Association's House of Delegates, at its meeting during the 1952 convention in Philadelphia, expressly recognized the importance of sound management in providing sympathetic, quality patient care. There, the delegates approved a recommendation to expand the interest and scope of the Council on Administrative Practice to encompass all functions of management. This reflected the following concepts:

1. The management job is becoming increasingly complex. It is larger in terms of number of activities and volume of work; it is broader in the nature of its responsibilities; it is subject to far more external influences and pressures than in the past, and it is much more exacting because of the broader impact of managerial decisions and actions.

2. Management personnel are becoming more aware that management is an activity in itself which is unlike any other activity, and requires people of specific qualifications and preparation. Management is a profession, a science and an art requiring those in management to possess (learn) special skills and techniques.

3. Hospitals, as a major contributor to the welfare of the people, are not managed in a vacuum and thus international, national and local affairs have a profound bearing on the management job. It is imperative that management keep constantly aware of the world in which we live and alert to significant new developments.

These concepts paraphrase statements made by Mr. Appley about industrial management. They show the similarity between what is taking place in business and industry and the hospital field. Hospital management, frequently accused of being inefficient and backward in its thinking and action, has demonstrated the fallacy of this belief. A review of past and present practices shows that hospitals are using many of the now recognized principles of sound management. While bound by some tradition, the ever-changing demands placed on hospital management have required flexibility, a constant desire for new knowledge and a searching for better methods.

The action to expand the interest and scope of the Council on Administrative Practice to encompass all functions of sound management came about as understanding grew that progress in the hospital field is dependent on management at all levels—from the administrator to the head orderly—making full application of the basic skills and tools of management in its day-to-day operation. It was recognized that more attention should be given to bringing new knowledge and information to help all levels of management help themselves.

In the past, the council has been concerned more with operating practices or "trouble shooting" than with the application of principles of management. This approach is not uncommon; many administrators are continually faced with finding quick solutions to day-to-day problems of operation and do not find time to make a thoughtful and orderly approach to solving them or to developing ways and means to prevent critical situations from occurring.

In view of the fact that administrators of hospitals have so firmly and clearly recognized that hospitals are going to improve patient care through the willing cooperation of people, there is need for additional help to enable all levels of management to obtain this cooperation. Patient care is dependent not only upon medical skills and techniques but also on the organization and control of three vital components: Men, material and money. The proper balance of these components can be achieved effectively only by management through people. Cooperation is dependent upon: (1) The administrative organization and skills through which a hospital functions; (2) the climate and atmosphere in which people work; (3) the motivation of all personnel toward the efficient and enthusiastic accomplishment of their jobs and the increasing knowledge they bring to their work.

Today, good management approaches the introduction of new systems and techniques by first thinking how change will affect people. Solutions to problems are obtained through consultation with the worker rather than by telling him, "This is the way I want it done." The individual's need for security, belonging, recognition and participation are the keys to willing cooperation of people, and wherever enlightened management is found these human requirements are being recognized and satisfied on the job. When management thinks and acts according to this philosophy of the importance of the individual, the employee's use of equipment and materials becomes his personal responsibility along with management.

Each person in the hospital who has the responsibility for directing the work of others is a manager. The head nurse, floor supervisor, laundry manager, housekeeper, chief cook, director of nursing service and all department heads and supervisors are members of the management team.

In most instances, management personnel have had formal training in professional or operating skills. The dietitian, nurse, accountant, engineer — to mention only a sampling—have had training to get specific knowledge required to do their jobs. Few of these people, however, have had courses in leadership—in planning, in organizing or in getting along with other people.

These management skills can be taught. The Council on Administrative Practice will conduct research, prepare manuals, sponsor workshops and institutes to place in the hands of management personnel the tools which will enable them to solve problems over and beyond their own recognized capabilities. It will also devote attention to better planning, systems, work measurement, evaluation, operating problems and technical standards.

Executive Office

The book "Job Descriptions and Organizational Analysis for Hospitals and Related Health Organizations," prepared in cooperation with the American Hospital Association and published by the Government Printing Office, Washington ($2), outlines the executive office as follows:

PURPOSE: Direct all functions of the hospital in keeping with overall policies established by the governing board, in order that objectives of service to the sick, advancement of knowledge, and over-all contribution to community welfare may be achieved most effectively, economically, and to the satisfaction of patients, employees and medical staff.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR: As the administrative arm of the hospital, the executive office functions in two basic ways: namely, to interpret and administer policies of the governing board, and to act as technical adviser and liaison officer in matters involving formulation of these policies. To execute these functions properly, the department is responsible for management and supervision of all aspects of the hospital's activities, including planning and direction, public relations, budget and finance, personnel administration, purchase and supply, plant maintenance, housekeeping, and general administrative services.

More specifically, responsibilities of the executive office include:

1. Transmitting and interpreting policies, rules, and regulations affecting all hospital activities and personnel; establishing procedures for systematic performance of hospital duties, and coordinating activities of all departments.

2. Acting as liaison between governing board and hospital medical staff. Administration encourages professional and medical standards through an insistence on an organized medical staff prepared to take care of studying necessary quality standards. The ADMINISTRATOR is the deputy of the board and acts for it in an executive capacity.

3. Providing for equipment and facilities consistent with community needs and goals of the hospital, and insuring that high professional standards are maintained for care of sick. The executive office has primary responsibility for safety and protection of hospital patients.

4. Formulating and maintaining a program of good public relations. This involves explaining hospital costs and functions to the public, interpreting the hospital's purpose and importance in relation to community welfare, assisting in solicitation of funds and volunteer services, and participating in community affairs.

5. Maintaining sound financial structure, including establishing fee schedules, providing for careful, economical, and safe administration of funds, and maintaining accurate records of hospital finances.

6. Formulating sound personnel policies and disseminating these policies to all hospital employees, developing an organizational structure with clearly defined lines of authority and areas of responsibility which will enable the employees to work together toward common objectives, selecting and training qualified department heads and coordinating all department activities, establishing lines of communication between administrative and line employees.

7. Supervising maintenance and protection of buildings and grounds, giving final approval on equipment and supplies, and contracting for new construction.

8. Keeping abreast of advances in management and business methods, technological changes, and economic and political trends, and broadening the perspective and scope of hospital services to meet expanding needs of the community.

9. Preparing periodic reports to the governing board covering progress and activities of the hospital.

10. Finally, in cooperation with all departments affected, the executive office prepares a budget for approval by the board, and drafts recommendations covering future operations of the hospital.

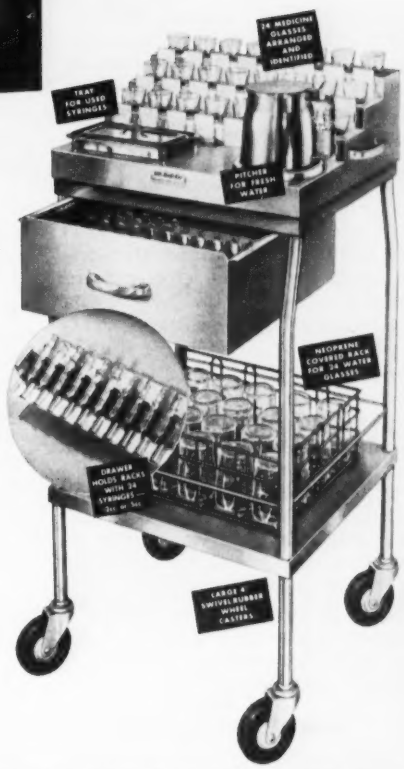
AUTHORITY: The ADMINISTRATOR reports directly to the governing board and is delegated authority for carrying out established policies, rules, and regulations of the board. The guiding and directing force for administration emerges from the governing board, as the primary policy-determining body. The board specifically expresses the aims and goals it desires to achieve. The ADMINISTRATOR assists the board in this policy determination and usually initiates action on many matters which require an expression of policy. He develops, in cooperation with his immediate staff, the first statement of policy for consideration and approval by the board. In addition, constant review and periodic alteration of policies is essential. Once policies are determined, the ADMINISTRATOR is delegated full authority to conduct activities of the hospital in such a way as to achieve results desired. The ADMINISTRATOR, in turn, should delegate to his department heads the same authority over their respective departments.

INTER- AND INTRA-RELATIONSHIPS: Because ultimate responsibility for all hospital activities rests with the ADMINISTRATOR, coordination of various sections or departments is one of the major functions of the executive office. To do this, the executive office must maintain close contact with all departments of the hospital.

This office deals both directly and indirectly with problems affecting patients, visitors, employees and the medical staff. The education and training functions of the hospital require careful organization and follow-up of all programs to insure that minimum standards are achieved and maintained. The personal contacts between the ADMINISTRATOR and the governing board, medical staff, department heads, auxiliaries, patients, public health officials, civic organizations, and numerous other groups and individuals typify interrelationships inherent in activities of the executive office.

GIVE YOUR HOSPITAL THE ADVANTAGES OF THE

Medi-Kar Experience-Proved Medication System...



No other medication cart can save you up to 53% in medication time . . . make such easy, safe deliveries to bedside . . . save nurses so much time and work!

Let the more than 600 hospitals using over 2000 Medi-Kars tell you why they adopted the Medi-Kar, the "Cadillac" of all medication carts, for their nursing service. These leading hospitals found from experience — no other medication system offers the practical advantages of safety and convenience for the patients with such great savings in time and work for their nurses!

With the Medi-Kar System one nurse can perform the duties of many — by preparing and administering the medications for a complete nursing section at once. No wasted trips back-and-forth for supplies. Up to 48 complete medications —24 oral and 24 hypos, each safely identified, plus all needed supplies roll easily and quickly to the patient's bedside.

Act today — learn more about how the Medi-Kar Experience-Proved Medication System will benefit your hospital — send for complete details!

1 24 complete oral medications are prepared at one time. Both the medicine glasses and the patients' medicine cards are placed in permanent holders for accurate, safe identification.

2 24 loaded hypodermic syringes are placed in special racks. Each syringes protected by an acceptable safe aseptic technique and properly, safely marked by the patient's own medicine card.

3 The racks slide into the drawer for transit. Syringes are held level and firm by both spring clips and sponge trough. No danger of medication leakage or sponges falling off. Medication and cards remain precisely as placed until ready for the patient.

4 The Medi-Kar rolls to the patient's bedside and the nurse selects either oral or hypo medication without delay. Everything she needs is provided — even fresh water, glasses and a tray for soiled syringes. This procedure is repeated for as much as an entire nursing section with complete safety and efficiency.

STANDARDS: Certain minimum standards for medical and professional care established by the American College of Surgeons, American Medical Association, American Hospital Association and other accrediting agencies are obligatory for many departments or units of the hospital. Others serve as guides in developing and maintaining an accepted level of performance. All standards must be thoroughly understood to insure conformance.

In addition, the American College of Hospital Administrators encourages increasing efficiency of hospital administration by promoting educational programs for training hospital administrators. Adherence to an established code of ethics is also encouraged.

STAFFING: The staffing pattern of the executive office will vary in accordance with size, type and activity of the hospital. In a small institution the ADMINISTRATOR frequently attends to details in many or all functional areas. In the large hospitals, the ADMINISTRATOR hires qualified section or department heads and perhaps one or more assistants in several of the primary administrative areas.

Administrative Guideposts

Following is a series of guideposts designed to help the administrator appraise the effectiveness of his personnel program.

ORGANIZATION

The established framework of functions, responsibility and authority within which people work together to accomplish prescribed objectives is known as organization.

1. Has the purpose of each department in accomplishing the objective of the hospital—patient care—been defined and put into writing?

2. Do you have a published organization chart showing the lines of authority and responsibility of departments and personnel? (a) Do all supervisors have a copy of the organization chart? (b) Is the organization chart reviewed at regular intervals?

3. Have all department heads been informed in writing of their functions, responsibilities and scope of authority?

4. Has the administrator established with each department head the number of personnel required in each department? (a) Does each department head have a list of the approved jobs in his department? (b) Are new positions reviewed and approved by the administrator before requisitioning additional personnel? (c) Is the current number of personnel in each job classification checked against an established budgetary control at least once each year?

5. Are there no more than eight department heads or key personnel who are directly responsible to the administrator?

POLICY

Policy—the guide to action—is a statement of intent and purpose for integrating individual and institutional needs. The procedures for carrying out such specific policy must be understood and practiced by management at all levels.

1. Do you have specific, written personnel policies (e.g., employment, training, hours, working conditions)?

   a. Are policies uniform for all employees?

   b. Are they "tailor-made" in terms of: (1) current practices in the community; (2) state and federal legislation relating to employment; (3) the hospital's financial status?

2. Does each supervisor have a manual of step-by-step procedures for carrying out the intent of each personnel policy? (a) Have the supervisors participated in writing the procedures? (b) Are procedures "tailor-made" to fit situations in each department?

3. Does each supervisor have a manual on the operating policies of the hospital?

COMMUNICATIONS

Communications is keeping people at all levels informed of conditions and changes affecting their work and work relationships.

1. Is the annual financial report distributed to department heads as well as members of the governing board?

2. Do you have an employee house organ? (a) Does an employee committee assist with the collection of information and material for the house organ? (b) Is the house organ also distributed to board members, medical staff and others interested in the hospital?

3. Have you used formal morale surveys to learn employee attitudes toward their jobs and toward the hospital?

4. Does each employee receive an employee handbook explaining personnel policies?

5. Do department heads hold regular meetings with their employees to give them information?

6. Do you have bulletin boards in convenient locations for posting information of interest to employees? (a) Is the material on the bulletin boards changed frequently? (b) Is it necessary to get approval before posting materials on the bulletin boards?

SUPERVISORY TRAINING

The training given supervisors is planned action that insures effective functioning of all management representatives.

1. Does the hospital have a definite training program with specific objectives for department heads and supervisors?

2. Does this program include special training in the following areas?

Skills in dealing with people:

a. Motivation.
b. Coordination.
c. Delegation.
d. Interpretation of policies, attitudes and actions.
e. Discipline.
f. Initiative.
g. Evaluation.

Job knowledge — general orientation in:

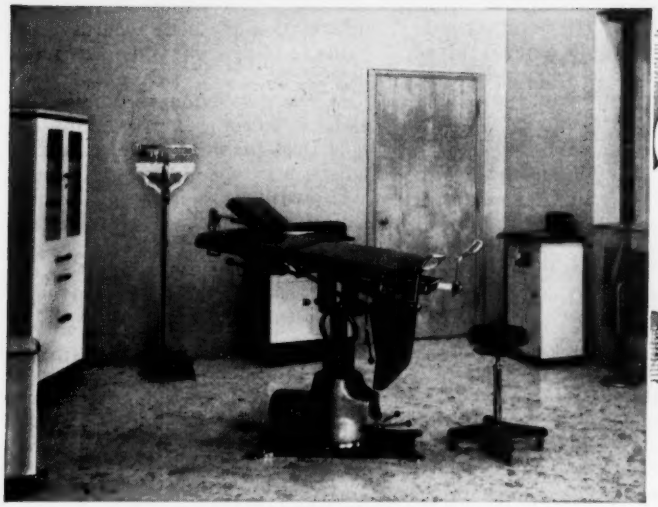
a. Objectives of the hospital.
b. Organization of the hospital.
c. Functions of each department.
d. Operating and financial problems of the hospital.
e. Personnel policies.
f. Other background information.

How to train employees in:

a. Job skills.
b. Orientation to hospital, department and job.
c. Relationships with coworkers.
d. Health and safety.
e. Other hospital procedures.

Supervisory functions and responsibilities:

a. Projecting—defining problems and determining general objectives.
b. Planning—developing a course of action to achieve objectives.
c. Job analysis—determining the jobs necessary to carry out course of action.
d. Staffing — selecting employees necessary to meet needs.
e. Delegation—assigning responsibilities.



For the hospital Ritter Modern Equipment

Many leading hospitals have completely equipped Ritter Treatment Rooms—equipped, as shown, with a Ritter Multi-Purpose Table Model "B", Type 2.

RITTER MOTOR-ELEVATED OPERATING TABLE WITH EXPLOSION PROOF BASE: All electrical mechanism, including mercury switch, completely enclosed for maximum safety. Also equipped with static conductive rubber slip covers and conductive rubber rollers and brakes. All Ritter Tables can be equipped as explosion proof tables, and with mobile bases.

RITTER ENT UNITS: Provide all necessary operating essentials for ENT work, including a set of self-retrieving electrical diagnostic and surgical instruments grouped within arm's reach on unit. Air cut-off has finger-tip control. Vacuum line hose discharges directly into waste line. Swinging instrument table. "MA" Unit equipped with Swinging Cuspidor; "MB" with separate stationary cuspidor. Both units available in Type 1, for positioning at right of chair; Type 2, for positioning at left of chair.

RITTER ENT CHAIRS: Model "MB" Motor Chair hydraulically raised by motor power in approximately 12 seconds; lowered at any desired speed. Has self-centering, self-adjusting head rest; comfortable, easily cleaned back pads, adjustable dual foot platform; stable base. Model "MA" Foot Pump Chair also available, with stationary or mobile base.

RITTER STOOLS: Mobilrest Stool—mounted on swivel-type casters for smooth, quiet movement. Instantly raised or lowered by release ring. Elevation range: 29" to 21" from floor.

THE RITTER SURGICAL CUSPIDOR: Is a new completely redesigned cuspidor that provides greater efficiency at low water pressure. More effective vacuum control is maintained with a finger-tip regulator placed right in hand at aspirator handle. Two vacuum breakers prevent back siphonage from the vacuum generator and cuspidor flush.

RITTER BONE SURGERY ENGINES: For mastoid and ear operations (including Lempert-Fenestration technique). Quiet, powerful engine has 4 forward, 4 reverse speed adjustments from 1400 to 6500 r.p.m. Engine swivels vertically through 360° range. Removable, sterilizable sleeve covers all-cord transmission and wrist joint.

RITTER MOTOR-ELEVATED TABLES: Universal Multi-Purpose Table, Model B, Type 2, completely equipped with adjustable headrest, perineal cut-out and stainless steel irrigation pan, adjustable knee rest, stirrups, and hand wheel operated tilt mechanism. Easily adjusted to any required position. Ritter Proctologic Table, Model B, Type 7, designed in cooperation with some of the country's leading proctologists. Perfectly balanced, easily positioned, smoothly operated, helps instill confidence in most nervous and apprehensive patients. All Ritter Tables rotate 180°, raise, lower smoothly with slight toe pressure. Range of elevation 26½" to 44½", 30" to 47" from top of table to floor. Information on complete line of Ritter Motor-Elevated Tables furnished on request.

f. Work scheduling—budgeting time to carry out job assignments.

g. Follow-up and evaluation —determining effectiveness of the course of action.

3. Do you have a definite plan for developing your supervisors in these various areas?

4. Does each department head have an understudy who can carry on his work during vacations and sick leaves and in the event of termination?

5. Is leadership of the supervisory training meetings rotated (e.g., administrator, personnel director, department head, special visitors) to insure full participation and expert coverage of the topics discussed?

JOB ANALYSIS

Job analysis is the study of jobs that must be performed to accomplish organizational objectives. It results in the accumulation of information valuable in selection, placement, promotion, transfers and training.

1. Do you have written job descriptions for all positions?

2. Are the job descriptions reviewed every six months and brought up to date?

3. Do the job descriptions include statements of: (a) The objectives of the job? (b) Specialized knowledge or skills required on each job? (c) The detailed duties performed on each job? (e) Qualifications required of an applicant for each job? (f) The relationship of each job to other jobs?

4. Are job descriptions used for (a) selection, (b) placement, (c) promotion, (d) transfer, (e) training, and (f) job evaluation?

5. Do your department heads participate in breaking down each job into standard procedures (step-by-step method), and writing the job descriptions?

JOB EVALUATION

Job evaluation is ranking all jobs to arrive at an equitable salary scale. Salaries should be based on the hospital's financial ability to pay and community rates for comparable jobs. They should be internally consistent.

1. Have you adopted a formal job evaluation plan to assure an equitable internal alignment of salaries for all job levels?

2. Do you check at least once a year on salaries paid elsewhere: (a) In comparable occupations in the community? (b) In other hospitals in the same general area? (c) Nationally as reported in the annual salary survey of the American Hospital Association?

3. Have you established a wage scale with minimums and maximums for each job? Do you review the entire rate structure annually to make sure it is in line with current salary practices elsewhere and cost of living?

MERIT RATING

Merit rating is a planned program for rating employee performance. Recognition for a job well done is an important aspect of employee satisfaction.

1. Do you have a formal rating program for all employees, including professional and supervisory personnel, under which each person is rated at regular intervals?

2. Is the rating discussed with each employee so that his strong and weak points of job efficiency are made known to him?

3. Did the supervisors participate in developing the rating form?

4. In order to attain the maximum consistency of judgment by the supervisors administering the merit rating plan, are the following practices used? (a) Is there a plan for "rating" the "raters"? (b) Is there a formal program for training supervisors how to rate their employees? (c) Is each employee rated by more than one supervisor wherever possible?

5. Is the employee's merit rating an important factor when he is considered for a salary increase or promotion?

EMPLOYMENT

Recruitment, selection and placement are techniques for securing adequate job applicants to insure proper screening and placement.

1. Are all employees recruited and screened in a central office?

2. Are such employee records as the following filed centrally: Application form, history record, reference recommendations, merit ratings, training records, physical examination reports, and other records?

3. Do you have a trained interviewer for screening all job applicants?

4. Is an employee application form used in screening all applicants?

5. Are records kept of the reasons why workers leave the hospital employment? Do you use the information in these records as a guide to improving your personnel practices?

6. Are employment tests used to assist in selecting new employees?

7. Does the department head requisition new employees?

8. Are department heads responsible for the final selection of new employees?

9. Are supervisors selected on the basis of their qualifications rather than seniority?

TRAINING

Orientation and training acquaint new employees with hospital policy and purposes, working conditions, and their fellow employees. Training also is given in specific job skills.

1. Does the hospital have a formal orientation program for bringing new employees into the hospital work team?

Do you plan "conducted" tours of the hospital at least once a month for all new employees to give them an over-all view of the physical plant of the hospital?

Are the policies, rules and regulations that will affect his work at the hospital furnished to each new employee in writing?

Do you use your patient handbook for employee orientation and training?

2. Is the supervisor responsible for on-the-job training of new employees?

Do you have classes for instructing supervisors in the best methods for orienting new employees?

Do supervisors have a planned conference with each new employee to explain how his job relates to patient care?

Has each job been broken down for training lay employees in specific job skills?

Does each supervisor have a check list to be sure that he has covered all pertinent information in orienting a new employee to his job, fellow workers and hospital?

3. Are there understudies for most jobs?

PROMOTION

Promotion results in full utilization of employee skills. Potential abilities may be developed through a sound promotion program.

1. Do you have a promotion plan (with a minimum number of "dead end" jobs) so that each employee knows what are his potential opportunities with the hospital?

2. Do lines of promotion and transfer cut through departments so that an employee does not "get stuck" in one department?

3. Are vacancies in advance jobs filled by employees already working in the hospital?

4. Are employees informed of vacancies before outside applicants are recruited?

5. Are records provided for evaluating present employees up for promotion?

6. Are promotions based on merit and ability to do the job rather than on seniority alone?

7. Are employees encouraged to take additional training and education to prepare them for jobs requiring higher skills?

RULES AND REGULATIONS

Rules and regulations governing employee action serve as positive disciplinary measures. They should be in writing. The reasons for all rules and regulations must be thoroughly understood by all employees to be effective.

1. Do you have written rules and regulations governing employee conduct (e.g., smoking, stealing, treatment of patients)?

2. Do you have a step-by-step plan of disciplinary action (progressing from warning, to written reprimand, to penalty of layoff or discharge) for infractions of rules and regulations?

3. Is this disciplinary action the same for each employee?

4. Are employees informed that certain infractions, such as stealing and gross insubordination, are cause for immediate dismissal without resort to the usual plan of disciplinary action?

5. Do employees have the right of appeal if discharged by their department heads for infraction of hospital rules and regulations?

HOURS

Vacation, sick leave, holidays and hours of work are an important aspect of employee working conditions. They should be practiced uniformly throughout.

1. Do you have a written vacation policy?

Do all lay employees receive the same amount of paid vacation for each year of service?

Is the paid vacation allowance for each year of service longer for department heads than for other employees?

Do employees with more than a specified number of years of service receive an additional vacation allowance?

After one year of service, do employees who resign receive their earned vacation pay?

2. Do you have a written sick leave policy?

Are all employees allowed the same number of days of sick leave per month each year?

Are employees required to notify their immediate supervisor on the first day of illness?

Is proof of illness from a physician required for illness lasting longer than a certain number of days specified by the hospital?

Is there a waiting period after employment before an employee is eligible for paid sick leave?

May employees accumulate sick leave up to a certain limit of time specified by the hospital?

3. Do you have a written holiday policy?

Do all personnel receive the same number of paid holidays?

Do employees who work on a paid holiday get overtime pay or compensatory time off at some other time?

If a holiday occurs during a vacation period, is an extra day added to the vacation time?

4. Do you have written regulations regarding hours of work?

Have you established a work week with the same number of hours of work for every employee?

Do employees who work more than the established number of hours per week get time off to compensate for overtime?

Are rest periods scheduled for every employee during the day?

WORKING CONDITIONS

Employee benefits such as locker rooms, rest rooms, cafeteria, recreational activities and insurance programs help keep good employees.

1. Do you have a pay cafeteria for all employees?

2. Are recreational activities planned for employees?

3. Do you have a general library for employees?

4. Do you have group contracts whereby employees may get various types of insurance coverage at low cost? Among these are: (a) Blue Cross or other group hospitalization insurance; (b) Blue Shield or other group medical and surgical coverage; (c) life insurance plans; (d) sickness and accident plans; (e) pension plans.

5. Are there adequate lockers, rest rooms and dressing rooms for all employees?

6. Do the employees have a credit union?

7. Is an all-employee party planned at least once a year?

HEALTH AND SAFETY

Health clinics and safety programs make an employee feel recognized as an individual and also help reduce some of the hospital's "hidden costs."

1. Do you have an employee health clinic?

Does the clinic: (a) Perform pre-employment physical examinations on all prospective employees; (b) perform periodic physical examinations for employees without cost; (c) provide medical advice to employees; (d) handle emergency illnesses among employees; (e) conduct a program to teach employees how to keep fit?

2. Are annual chest plates compulsory for employees?

3. Do you have an accident prevention program?

Are safety posters displayed on bulletin boards four or more times a year?

Are safety films shown to employees?

Are employees told of possible hazards in the hospital?

4. Do supervisors know their responsibility in the over-all safety program?

Do supervisors assume responsibility for training employees in preventive accident measures?

Do supervisors instruct employees to report all on-the-job injuries, no matter how slight?

Do supervisors turn in for insurance purposes a written report of every reported accident?

Do employees know that the hospital carries workman's compensation for their protection in case of on-the-job injuries?

5. Is every employee instructed in what to do in case of fire?

Do you have periodic fire drills?

Is each employee given written instructions on how the fire alarm system works and how he can be helpful in case of fire?

Do you have an automatic fire alarm system in the hospital and employee living quarters?

GRIEVANCES, RECOGNITION

Each employee's feelings must be understood, his ideas used (where practicable), and he must be recognized as an individual to insure a happy satisfied work team.

1. Do you have a formal grievance procedure?

Does the grievance procedure specify that the employee first take his problem to his immediate supervisor?

If the immediate supervisor cannot settle a grievance, may the employee take his problem to his department head?

Does the employee have the right of appeal to a grievance committee if a grievance is not answered to his satisfaction?

2. Does the hospital give recognition in some way for outstanding services?

Are service pins awarded to employees with five or more years of service?

Do supervisors give personal recognition for unusual service or performance?

Does the hospital recognize special anniversaries or unusual events, such as birthdays or community service, by cards, letters, or in the house organ?

3. Do you have a formal suggestion system?

Are all suggestions acknowledged immediately?

Are employees rewarded for written suggestions which are accepted and put into effect by the hospital?

Are suggestions reviewed and investigated by a suggestion committee before a decision is reached?

INDIRECT COSTS

Many practices cost money and contribute to increased payroll costs. Good personnel practice should result in increased productivity, better service, or improved employee morale. Indirect costs should be analyzed with these points in mind.

1. Have you taken steps to lower costs by trying to reduce labor turnover?

2. Have you taken steps to lower costs by trying to reduce absenteeism?

3. Do you pay salaries on a completely cash basis to eliminate the cost of providing living accommodations, laundry service, and meals which are not always recognized by employees for their true value?

4. Have you eliminated discounts to employees and their families for items in the pharmacy, hospital service, ambulatory and outpatient service, and diagnostic services?

5. Have you studied the functions within the hospital recently to reduce duplication of effort and duties in some units of the hospital?

Personnel Recruitment

The word "recruitment" in hospital parlance once conjured up visions of campaigns to induce young women to don the uniform of the student nurse and start on their way toward fulfilling a need felt by all hospitals.

Now, the term has been considerably broadened. Besides stimulating the interest of young women who may enter the nursing profession, a concentrated effort must be made to enlist students to train as medical technologists, dietitians, physical therapists, x-ray technicians; as medical record librarians, occupational therapists, medical social workers, or as auxiliary workers in any of these fields.

The administrator's immediate problem is locating sufficient already-trained personnel to keep his hospital operating at peak efficiency. From housekeeper to laboratory technician, from admitting clerk to laundry supervisor, hospital employees must be actively recruited and held if the individual hospital is to be fully staffed. Basic to a solution of this problem are the sound personnel practices outlined elsewhere in the Administrative Aids section.

The first problem to be combated, then, is one of making sure enough qualified young people enter hospital professions and trades that an adequate supply of trained personnel will be available for each hospital to draw from. Every hospital administrator has a stake in developing that supply of trained personnel.

Here are some of the things an administrator can do to educate qualified young people about the opportunities for them in hospital careers, and to encourage them to enter training in the one best suited to their talent and their tastes:

1. Designate one administrative staff member (personnel director or public relations director) to be in charge of all recruitment activities.

2. Establish contact with the particular associations identified with each profession or technical skill and obtain current literature from each. (See "Hospital Organizations, National, Regional and Related" in the Guide to Organizations and Schools section of this issue.)

3. Work closely with school counselors and principals and make sure they include hospital careers in their thinking. Keep them supplied with literature about the various professions and training programs, their scholastic requirements and what they can offer young people.

4. Plan and arrange a continuing program in grade and high schools designed to educate and inform students about what a future in hospital work might mean to them.

a. Conduct "career days" on which students would tour hospital, talk to department heads and employees.

b. Set up film program in the school, arrange talks by hospital representatives.

5. Set up speakers' bureau, train members to talk on "hospital careers" and arrange appearances at meetings of civic clubs, service organizations and church groups.

6. Enlist help of hospital's auxiliary, medical staff and governing boards, local service clubs and individuals of means, and interest them in establishing scholarships for student nurses or other personnel.

7. Maintain close working relationship with local newspapers to insure regular publicity about the hospital's recruitment program.

8. Set up training program for nurses' aides and/or practical nurses.

9. Offer to finance basic training program in hospital laundry operation or housekeeping for persons the hospital will employ on completion of course. (Sponsored annually by American Hospital Association in cooperation with State University of Iowa and Michigan State College, respectively. Scholarships available. Detailed information sent to administrators well in advance.)

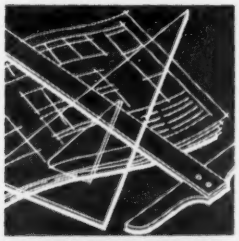
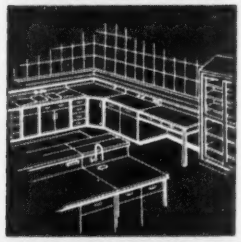
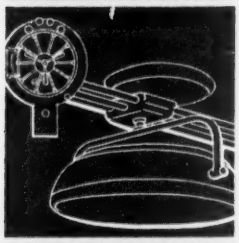
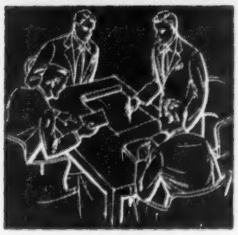
. . . equipment planning and contract service









Assures you systematic cooperation from the beginning with sustained service following completion

Aloe Hospital Equipment Layout and Planning Service was established because of the critical need for relieving hospital planners of time-consuming details incident to equipment selection. This service is available to architects, engineers, hospital consultants, and administrators.

To the Architect or Engineer: We provide layout assistance and technical information concerning fixed equipment exclusively related to hospital and laboratories; i.e., cabinets and casework, sterilizers, operating lights, etc.

To the Hospital Administrator, Board, Architect or Consultant: We will assist you in preparing cost estimates and selection of both fixed and non-fixed equipment—including preparation of suggested lists, suggested color schemes, and final selection of technical equipment.

To the Owner: We provide you with a comprehensive equipment procurement service, including our Customer's Order Control Record, which enables you to maintain a constant check on the status of your order. Shipments arrive at your hospital plainly marked with item numbers, hospital room number and department designation. Trained representatives make quarterly inspections of your equipment and make routine calls for sustained post-completion service.

A Plan: Your contractor requires a plan to construct the building. Hospitals have learned by bitter experience that a plan for the purchase of equipment is equally important. Pressed for time, and harried by endless details concerned with building construction and finance, many hospital planners have wisely turned to Aloe Purchase and Service Plan for experienced counsel and direct assistance in equipment planning, and selection.

Brochure Free: We have prepared an illustrated brochure which sets forth in clear, simple details our Plan for equipment selection, planning and purchase. This brochure will be sent to you on request. Address your inquiry to Contract Division, A. S. Aloe Company, St. Louis 3, Missouri.

Student Nurse Statistics: 1942 to 1952

Over a 10 year period the number of student nurses enrolled in state-approved schools of nursing has increased 10,352; the number of state-approved schools for the education of nurses has decreased by 144 during this same period; and the average enrollment has increased by 18 students, so that the number of students per school was 88 in 1952.

In 1952 there was a decrease of 700 students enrolled which may be related to the fact that there are actually fewer females of the age group who would be entering nursing in the population.

In 1951 there were 2,518 less students admitted than in 1950, while the number graduated increased by 3,004, making a total of 28,794 graduating from state-approved schools of nursing.

Active Registered Nurses

At the time of the 1951 inventory of professional registered nurses conducted by the American Nurses' Association there were 556,617 professional registered nurses in the United States and territories. Of this number 334,733 or 59 per cent were actively engaged in nursing. This is an increase of 34,200 over 1949.

At the end of 1951 it was estimated that 223,719 professional nurses were employed in non-federal hospitals and schools of nursing. This does not include the 26,489 professional nursing personnel in government agencies.

There has been a 4.1 per cent increase in employment of all types of professional nurses in hospitals with the exception of a 21.8 per cent decrease in private duty nurses between 1950 and 1951. During the same period there has been a 5 per cent bed capacity increase.

The greatest percentage change in employment of nurses appears in federal hospitals where the increase in beds in this period is 16 per cent.

The largest and most significant increase reported is 21 per cent greater utilization of general duty nurses through part-time employment.

The ratio of professional nurses to beds varies considerably from one type of hospital to another with general hospitals reporting one nurse for every three beds; tuberculosis hospitals one nurse for every 13 beds; and nervous and mental hospitals one professional nurse for every 61 beds. Though 53.9 per cent of the total patient load in all registered hospitals is in the nervous and mental hospitals, only 11,966, or 4.8 per cent, of the total number of professional nurses are employed in these hospitals.

Practical Nurses and Auxiliary Workers: 1947 to 1951

The number of practical nurses and auxiliary workers in all registered hospitals increased .1 per cent between 1950 and 1951. There was an over-all decrease of 7.5 per cent in the employment of practical nurses and attendants, while nurses aides increased 17.7 per cent and orderlies by 9.1 per cent.

In federal hospitals, the number of practical nurses and auxiliary workers increased by 13.8 per cent, while in this same period there was a decrease of 2 per cent in nonfederal hospitals.

At the present time more auxiliary nursing personnel than professional nurses are employed in all types of hospitals with the exception of general hospitals. On the average, there is one auxiliary worker for every five beds, with one for every four beds in general hospitals and one for every eight beds in nervous and mental hospitals.

In federal hospitals 77.2 per cent of auxiliary personnel were practical nurses or attendants and 5.6 per cent were nurses aides while in the nonfederal hospitals the former group constituted 52.9 per cent and the latter 29 per cent of all the nonprofessional nursing personnel.

Fund-Raising Aids

A manual describing tried and tested methods of raising funds by means of voluntary contributions, Suggestions for Fund-Raising, was published last year for the use of hospitals interested in either capital fund campaigns or annual maintenance drives. By outlining some of the organizational details and methods required in a community-wide campaign the manual helps governing boards and administrators determine whether professional fund-raising counsel should be engaged or whether they can reasonably expect to do the job themselves. The manual may be purchased by American Hospital Association members for $1.

An up-to-date list of firms specializing in capital fund-raising may be obtained by writing the Public Relations Department of the American Hospital Association.

Two films, "You're the Doctor" and "House of Mercy," have been widely used by hospitals in seeking community support by means of fund campaigns. Both are available in 16 and 35 mm. sizes and may be rented or purchased from the Association.

New this year and also appropriate for fund-raising programs are "Another Light" and "Why Wait for a Million," both available in 16 mm. size only. The first mentioned may be borrowed from state departments of health; the second may be rented from the American Hospital Association.

For details on these four films, and others, see the Special Services section of this guide, to be found under "Guide to Organizations and Schools."

The transcribed radio series "At Your Service" presents dramatically various phases of hospital life and is thus appropriate for community education during a fund-raising program. Thirteen 15-minute shows constitute the series, which may be rented or purchased from the Library of the Association.

Public relations projects and techniques described in "Telling Your Hospital Story" series of kits and bulletins will be useful in a fund-raising effort, which is, after all, a concentrated public relations activity. The series may be purchased in bound form from the Association.

Every solicitor should be equipped with the Association's booklet Giving for Less showing tax deductions allowed individuals and corporations because of contributions to hospitals. The following schedules (see page 328) are from that booklet, which members may purchase in quantity from the American Hospital Association.

Corporate Gifts

Business is becoming allergic to emotional appeals and "compliments of a friend" advertising. Hospitals can offer dividends on investments in the hospital that will pay off in far more than good will.

Under internal revenue laws today, contributions made to tax-exempt "educational, scientific and welfare" agencies by corporations

Announcing An All New

HERB-MUELLER Explosion-Proof ANESTHESIA UNIT

With A Completely Automatic Recirculating Oil System

For years the preferred unit everywhere for combined ether anesthesia and surgical suction, the Herb-Mueller Unit is now completely redesigned, simplified and improved—more than ever the finest, the most efficient anesthesia unit in its field.

It's safe—explosion-proof, of course. It's quiet—so quiet the cabinet doesn't even need sound insulation! And it's simple—especially with its new recirculating lubrication system—the simplest of all anesthesia units to operate and maintain.

The special motor operates at slow speed to develop full power with greater efficiency, less heat and absolute quiet. A single panel holds all controls and gauges at convenient eye level. The stainless top serves admirably as an instrument table for the anesthetist. Ether and vacuum bottles are all fully visible, although the gallon bottle is partially recessed in the cabinet back, both for protection against breakage and more compact design. The handsome, heavy gauge steel cabinet has a large accessory drawer, rolls on silent 4″ casters.

Deliveries of this improved Herb-Mueller will begin June First. Write today for full information on this most efficient, trouble-free, heavy duty unit!

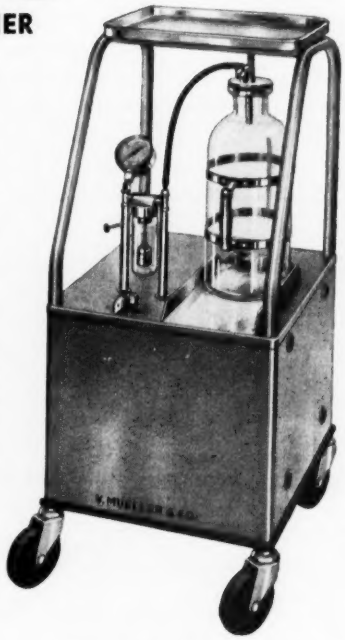
ACCEPTED IN THEIR ENTIRETY BY UNDERWRITERS' LABORATORIES, INC.

Exclusive!

Our new recirculating oil system (Patent Applied For) automatically maintains motor and pumps at top efficiency . . . eliminates oil drip or spray in cabinet or pressure lines. There's no service problem: simply change the oil in the unit two or three times a year. That's all there is to do!

AND HERE'S ANOTHER

Suitable and Safe For Your Operating Rooms



Simply, functionally designed, the AS-29 Unit makes an extremely valuable addition to any operating room. It requires only 16″ by 16″ of floor space, and has no bothersome projections of any kind. It rolls easily and silently on 4″ ball bearing, conductive rubber casters. An integral, 10″ by 14″ stainless steel tray at the top of the unit is 36½″ from the floor, handy for instruments or accessories.

(These units are for operation on 110-115 volts, 50-60 cycles, alternating current. Available for other voltages on special order.)

MUELLER SURGICAL ASPIRATOR

Explosion-Proof—Heavy Duty

Sufficient capacity for every operating schedule is yours in this improved, explosion-proof, heavy-duty surgical aspirator. It is our AS-29 Unit, which creates a controlled vacuum of from 0 to over 25 inches of mercury—more than ample for every surgical purpose. Utterly dependable, quiet and vibrationless, it offers a simplicity which requires little or no attention during operation. The standard gallon suction bottle is removable and replaceable in seconds under its simple, positive, spring-lock closure. Vacuum gauge and control valve are handily placed, fully protected. The 1/6 hp. explosion-proof motor and pump, silent and vibrationless, are completely enclosed but accessible through a hinged door at the rear of the ventilated cabinet. Carefully designed and built throughout, this Mueller AS-29 Unit is safe, convenient and sure for heavy daily duty in any operating suite.

reduce corporate taxes, but there are relatively few big businesses which now take full advantage of this provision. Some corporations, however, have set out to do specific jobs with tax deduction dollars—jobs that spell additional financial as well as good will return for the corporations.

The new approach to business begins with the hospital's appraisal of needs and projects to utilize the business dollar. The administrator sits down with his board and reviews all hospital activities and unmet needs. They work out a list of specific projects of need and key this to the particular corporation or corporations in the community that should sponsor each specific project.

The following 21 projects are suggestive of others that will grow out of individual hospital needs. Each hospital, however, must relate its projects to its own community potentials.

This list was prepared by W. H. Markey Jr., former accounting specialist, American Hospital Association, and A. G. Stoughton, assistant director of the Association's Washington Service Bureau. It was first published in HOSPITALS for April 1952 under the title, "A New Approach to Corporate Gifts."

Automobile companies: Interns' and residents' libraries—small general and magazine libraries in interns' and residents' quarters. (Named after company.)

Book companies or other businesses: Patients' libraries and library services. (Company name on each book.)

Dairy and canned milk companies: Equipment and supplies for newborn infant formula rooms. Establishing services, training of personnel, and so forth, for care of premature infants. (Name of sponsoring company publicized to mothers of hospitalized infants and to general public.)

Department stores: Student nurses' loan funds—fixed funds from which student nurses borrow, without interest. (Name of donor associated with fund: for example, "Hub Store Loan Fund.")

Drug manufacturers and distributors: Setting up laboratories or pharmacies, bearing name of company. (Many small hospitals do not have these departments.) (Pharmacy labels and other material with name of company.)

Film companies: Recreational therapy films, training films, film libraries. (Each film identified with name of company.)

Florists: Student nurses' scholarships and nurses' loan funds. Flower vases and flower arrangement assistance. (Name of donor company identified with the project.)

Food manufacturers and distributors: Scholarships for hospital dietetic or purchasing personnel attending short-term educational institutes. (Diploma shows name of company.) Dining rooms or snack shops, bearing name of company, for hospital personnel, visitors or medical staff. Nutrition clinics for paying patients.

Furniture (office and living room) companies: Furniture for lobbies and waiting rooms. (Appropriate plaque on each individual piece of furniture.)

Tax Savings Through Gifts to Hospitals

The federal government encourages gifts to establish and support charitable, educational and scientific organizations such as hospitals by allowing deductions up to 20 per cent of an individual's or married couple's adjusted gross income.

The accompanying tables show tax savings available to single persons and married couples, respectively, under current tax laws. Further savings may be realized through contributions of stocks, bonds or other capital assets which have increased in value since they were acquired.

Federal income tax deductions allowed married couples because of contributions

Women's Auxiliaries

"Your auxiliary like your hospital is nationally important." This statement describes the importance of the program sponsored by the Committee on Women's Hospital Auxiliaries of the American Hospital Association.

The first committee was named by the Association president, with the approval of the Board of Trustees, following the 1949 convention in Cleveland. At that convention the House of Delegates established a special institutional membership for hospital auxiliaries, stating that Type V membership "shall include any women's service group organized in connection with a hospital which holds institutional membership in the Association."

At the 1951 convention the bylaws were further amended to give added status to the hospital auxiliaries by making the chairman of the Committee on Women's Hospital Auxiliaries a member of the Association's Committee on Coordination of Activities.

The Committee on Women's Hospital Auxiliaries is a rotating committee of 12 members, four appointed each year for three-year terms. The members are representative of geographical sections, and of auxiliaries in large and small, rural and metropolitan, voluntary and tax-supported hospitals.

The committee meets three times a year to formulate and develop a program to enable hospital auxiliaries to give improved service to their individual hospitals, and through that service to contribute to the patients and communities of the hospitals of America. The committee also plans the program for the annual conference of the national auxiliary organization which is held in conjunction with the annual convention of the American Hospital Association.

In 1950 the State Advisory Counselor program was inaugurated. That is, a volunteer liaison representative is appointed in states to work with the national committee, the state hospital association and local auxiliaries. Thirty-eight states have state counselors. Any program for state hospital auxiliaries is encouraged to be within the framework of the state hospital association.

Auxiliaries have in general threefold aims: giving volunteer services within the hospital, developing better public relations, and aiding in financial assistance for their hospitals. Each auxiliary's program is carried on in the community in ways approved by the administrator and the board of trustees of the hospital. The development of better hospital facilities and the understanding of hospital services owe much to the enthusiasm and far-sighted leadership of women's hospital auxiliaries throughout the United States and Canada.

From its inception the committee has emphasized: (1) the purposes of the auxiliary; (2) the functions of the auxiliary; (3) the auxiliary's relationships with the hospital administration; (4) auxiliary organization. In brief, the committee has stressed how the hospital auxiliary may accomplish more effectively the purpose for which it is established; namely, to help the hospital provide more and better patient care.

Organized hospital auxiliaries are indeed a powerful force working together to serve America's hospitals through expansion of more effective volunteer services, the improvement of public relations and approved methods of fund-raising. To accomplish these things auxiliaries must have a clear cut, well defined understanding of organization and areas of activity and relationship to the hospital. Without this understanding the greatest potentialities for service to the hospital cannot be achieved.

TYPE V MEMBERSHIP

Any auxiliary affiliated with a member hospital of the American Hospital Association is eligible for Type V institutional membership. Application for membership is filed with the American Hospital Association and approved by the Association's membership committee. The membership annual dues are established on the bed capacity of the hospital with which the auxiliary is affiliated. For hospitals of 100 beds or less, the annual dues are $15; 101 to 300 beds, $25 per year; 301 beds and more, $50 per year. Since the establishment of the Type V membership 779 hospital auxiliaries have become affiliated with the American Hospital Association. (See Guide to Organizations and Schools for a listing of the Type V members.) These 779 hospital auxiliaries represent a membership of approximately 500,000 women.

The national hospital auxiliary program since September 1949 has contributed substantially to better hospital care through auxiliary work. It has:

Sponsored five annual national conferences.

Published the Proceedings of the first conference, 1948, and papers from the third, 1950, and fourth, 1951, conferences.

Edited the Auxiliary Newsletter, monthly except June, July and August.

Edited the Manual on Organization of Women's Hospital Auxiliaries with Model Constitution and Bylaws.

Edited the Manual of Operation —Gift Shops and Snack Bars.

Edited A Guide — Membership and Public Relations for Women's Auxiliaries.

Adopted "cherry red" as official uniform color and designed an emblem, a past president's pin and a member pin for Type V members.

Stimulated regional, state and local auxiliary group meetings.

Offered the unique service of a wide variety of loan kits and available educational films from the Association's library.

Afforded information on individual problems of auxiliaries through the secretary of the national committee.

Each Type V member receives as a membership service a copy of the Auxiliary Newsletter; a copy of the manuals, conference proceedings and workbooks edited in the name of the Committee on Women's Hospital Auxiliaries; a copy of This Month, the Association's newsletter; official announcements of Association activities; and information and consultation on auxiliary programs and projects through the committee members and the staff secretary.

A few of the functions of a hospital auxiliary are suggested under the three headings of service: Volunteer service within the hospital or supplementing the hospital personnel wherever needed and working under the director of the hospital staff; public relations or education of all members as ambassadors of good will and interpreters of hospital services, needs and problems; financial assistance or raising money for continuous services, for special needs, demonstrations or nonbudgetary items.

Salary Trends: 1945-1952

Salary surveys have been made by the American Hospital Association for eight consecutive years—from 1945 through 1952. They cover starting salaries as well as personnel policies related to salaries paid. Among the latter are data on hours worked, vacation days, extra pay and salary increase provisions, maintenance and uniforms provided personnel, labor contracts, pension plans and automatic salary increases.

In 1952, when the most recent salary survey was completed, salaries for all types of hospital personnel were considerably higher and working conditions were decidedly more satisfactory than in 1945. These changes are readily apparent from a study of the figures in the accompanying table which appeared originally in

Note: Data for 1946, 1947, 1948, 1949, 1950, 1951 and 1952 do not include hospitals operated by the federal government; 1945 data include 11 federal hospitals.

Hospital Salary Survey 1952, published by the American Hospital Association.

It should be remembered that these figures are for the United States as a whole, and that some variation occurs when the data are presented by region, by size of hospital, and by the type of service offered by the hospital.

Average Room Rates

National averages show an increase in rates from 1947 to 1952 of 42 per cent in one-person rooms; 45 per cent in two-person rooms; and 47 per cent in multibed rooms.

The per cent increase in rates for one-person rooms in 1952 was 8.5 per cent; for two-person rooms, 6.6 per cent; for multibed rooms, 7.2 per cent.

The American Hospital Association has made annual surveys of hospital rates for the last six years. The data includes use of all-inclusive rates; charges for special services, routine laboratory tests, care of newborn and drugs; policy on charging for day of discharge; average government payments for care of indigent patients, and the government reimbursable cost formula rates.

The accompanying tables are from Hospital Rates 1952, published by the American Hospital Association.

Blue Cross Statistics

As 1952 ended, 5,800 hospitals in the United States, with 85 per cent of all general hospital beds, guaranteed hospital care to members of approved Blue Cross plans.

The first Blue Cross plan was organized in 1929; today 82 approved Blue Cross plans are serving the United States and Alaska, one is located in Puerto Rico, and five others serve the Dominion of Canada—a total of 87 plans. The majority of Blue Cross members are enrolled through their place of employment.

Annual data of Blue Cross membership and services are shown in the following three tables. See the Guide to Organizations and Schools for a current listing of Blue Cross plans.

Insurance for Hospitals

A suggested outline for safety and claim prevention by inspection is presented here.

TYPES OF HAZARDS

1. Physical and permanent. Physical and permanent refer to those conditions where the action of the employee or other parties is incidental to physical condition; for example, the bricking up of unused windows, the blocking of old elevator hatches, and so forth. This includes such items as improper design of stairs, halls, railings—all of those things which are constructional parts of the physical plant and permanent as regards the persons in the building being affected.

2. Conditions and practices. These are the things which the people (employees, patients, third parties) do or are exposed to, and which are controllable by relatively simple expedients, proper training, adequate guards, training in accident prevention, and so forth.

a. Personnel technique. Personnel technique includes use of equipment, apparatus, and so forth.

b. Institutional systems. Institutional systems include places of storage of hazardous materials, routine of handling and transporting goods.

c. Malpractice. Malpractice includes factors which may lead to malpractice claims.

PLAN OF CHECK LIST

Objective. The objective is to list the items which will be suggestive of policy and environment. The list is not intended to be complete.

Plan. The items will be presented in as simple a way as possible so that the management can grasp them quickly and easily. A geographical plan was followed as far as possible.

Goal. The goal is to stimulate thought in elimination of hazards.

A check list of suggestive hazards follows.

PHYSICAL AND PERMANENT

1. General locations of buildings, exposures, and so forth.

a. Are there any unprotected doors which by accident or intent might be a cause of falls?

b. Are there any unnecessary or unused windows opening near other buildings through which fire could spread?

c. Are there any attractive nuisances (ponds for children), or hazardous porches, rooftops, promenades, balconies, ladders, or open buildings unattended?

d. Are there any irregularities of sidewalks, streets, projecting pipes and manhole covers, vent-pipes, oil fill pipes, garden hose, or valves which are dangerous?

e. Are there any loose parts on buildings, coping, roof, temporary structures, or signs which might fall and cause injury?

f. Are there any wires, poles holding wires and transformers which might fall or cause dangerous electrical results?

g. Are there any poorly lighted building entrances, driveways, approaches, or signs which are hazardous to persons in a hurry or to those with poor vision, especially to those who see poorly at night?

2. Buildings proper.

a. Are the exits and fire escapes marked and lighted according to law?

b. Are the stairhalls marked so that deliberate or accidental falls cannot easily take place?

c. Are the windows barred or protected where there are irrational or disturbed patients?

d. Are there proper doors for powerhouse, shops, or maintenance buildings to keep out public and children?

e. Are there properly vented storage facilities for x-ray films?

f. Are there fire alarm systems? Are they working? Does the fire department know the location of stations? Are they checked by the fire department periodically?

3. Interior of buildings in general.

a. Are the floors too slippery after waxing?

b. Are there hand rails on stairs and in elevators?

c. Are corridors cleaned so one side is dry while other is being washed, mopped or waxed? Is such cleaning done at night or during periods of least traffic?

d. Are there upturned edges of mats, rugs, uneven tile or marble which might cause injury? Are all rugs treated to prevent them from slipping?

e. Are the stair landings lighted properly and are exit lights at all times on separate wiring?

f. Are housekeeping and painters' apparatus properly stored so as to prevent fire hazards.

g. Are sand urns provided especially in wood floored buildings, outside operating suite area and laboratories?

h. Do you keep fire extinguishers in operation, test them annually as required by law (using such emptying of extinguishers as a method of training personnel to fight fires started and under control of fire department)? Are hoses in good condition? Are valve handles in operation?

i. Are adequate signs provided not only for fire exits but for all exits?

j. Are double acting doors hinged on side facing direction of corridor traffic to prevent collision injuries?

CONDITIONS AND PRACTICES (PERSONNEL TECHNIQUE)

1. Institution as a whole.

a. Are employees aware of risks? Do they seek to eliminate them? Is there a program of training, posters, and so forth? Are periodic safety meetings held?

b. Are employees' quarters kept in good condition to stimulate sense of importance to good housekeeping and repair?

c. Are employees encouraged to refrain from using tools with which they are not accustomed?

d. Do employees report accidents to patients as a result of fumes, smoke, sparks and other dangerous conditions?

INSTITUTIONAL SYSTEMS BY DEPARTMENTS

1. Kitchens and dietary.

a. Is electrical equipment guarded?

b. Are grinders, slicers and mixers guarded?

c. Is there grease or soap on floor?

d. Are there holders for knives and other utensils?

e. Are handles firmly attached to pots and pans?

f. Do metal sinks have sharp corners or edges?

g. Is there grease in stacks or flues?

2. Pharmacy.

a. Is rubber hose being used to conduct illuminating gas, steam or chemicals under pressure?

b. Are approved containers being used for inflammable fluids (benzene, ether, acetone, and so forth)?

c. Is there an approved narcotic control system?

d. Is there an approved alcohol control system?

e. Is there a book for recording names, purposes and time of those coming to pharmacy at night for drugs or supplies?

f. Is there an inventory control for dangerous or expensive drugs and biologicals?

g. Are all bottles and containers clearly marked and uniform for each item?

h. Are dangerous and poisonous drug containers so marked?

i. Is there proper lighting to avoid errors?

j. Are experimental products used without control in treatment of patients?

k. Is there adequate equipment; for example, scales and other apparatus for accurate dispensing?

3. Anesthesia.

a. Are there proper notices (no smoking, open flames, and so forth)?

b. Are rules enforced controlling smoking and flame hazards, cauteries, heating units, x-ray or diathermy and other sources of electrical sparks, and does the anesthesia apparatus conform to the current recommendations of the National Fire Protection Association and the American Hospital Association regarding operating room explosion hazards?

c. Is apparatus for anesthesia and all electrical equipment checked regularly?

d. Are gas cylinder valves working smoothly (never oiled)? Are there proper wrenches for fittings? Are tanks covered with cloth sleeves? (Concealed names are dangerous.)

e. Are tank trucks in good condition, easily movable and with low center of gravity?

f. Are pipeline systems checked regularly for leaks?

g. Is there caution against greasy fingers (even from own hair) when connecting regulators?

h. Are empty tanks marked and stored in different place from full tanks?

i. Are all tanks containing gas and other inflammable anesthetics kept away from radiators, steam pipes, fire, sparks or electrical equipment?

j. Are measures taken to insure humidity within gas apparatus before starting anesthesia?

k. Are anesthetic gas machines equipped for use of the pin index system to assure noninterchangeability of medical gas cylinders, as recommended by the American Hospital Association, the American Society of Anesthesiologists and the Compressed Gas Association?

4. Operating room (surgery).

a. Is there humidity control (hygrometer)?

b. Are all switches, outlets and electrical devices explosion proof when they are below the five-foot level, as specified in current recommendations of the American Hospital Association and the National Fire Protection Association for control of operating room explosion hazards?

c. Are conductive metals, conductive rubber and conductive flooring materials used exclusively throughout the surgery and anesthetizing areas?

d. Is mechanical equipment placed outside rooms wherever possible?

e. Are overhead surgical lamps securely fastened? Are cables on movable lights inspected regularly?

f. Are operating tables and other equipment and apparatus examined routinely for possible repair?

g. Are safety holders provided for breaking catgut tubes?

5. Floor nursing equipment.

a. Are chart identifications unmistakable?

b. Are signal systems working?

c. Are utensils, dishes and glassware in good condition (no chipped, sharp edges or loose parts)?

d. Is drug cabinet kept locked?

e. Are sterilizers, bedpan washers, and so forth, arranged so that steam burns cannot occur?

f. Is there nonsyphoning (air gap, vacuum breaker) protection on sterilizers, and so forth?

g. Is there periodic sterilization of chart containers and contents?

h. Is there a system of recording and controlling medication lists, treatments, and so forth?

i. Are there antitips on wheel chairs? Are ramps guarded?

j. Are radiators, blanket warmers and hot plates protected?

k. Are there signal lights on all sterilizing equipment and hot plates?

6. Laboratories (pathological and all others).

a. Are there safe containers for dangerous and inflammable materials?

b. Are there safe tank holders, valves and apparatus for liquid carbon dioxide for frozen tissue work (danger of finger freezing)?

c. Is there a method of control for specimen identification?

d. Is there an adequate system for checking blood donors?

e. Are microscopes insured against theft? Is there a safe place in which to lock them? Are serial numbers recorded for all such equipment?

f. Are there safety covers on centrifuges? (Top should lock automatically when motor is on.)

7. X-ray department.

a. Is malpractice insurance carried on radiologist for both x-ray and radium?

b. Is there an approved system of x-ray filter control and of record keeping?

c. Is safety film (acetate, not nitrate, film) used?

d. Is nitrate film stored as prescribed by insurance carrier (ventilation, separate room or building)?

e. Is apparatus shockproof (especially on portable equipment)?

f. Are there safety controls on water cooled equipment, for water failure, and so forth?

g. Are alarms provided to prevent deep therapy overdose?

h. Is there a control system so that films do not leave department without permission?

8. Laundry.

a. Are the presses of safety type so fingers and hands cannot be caught?

b. Are there guards on flat work rollers to protect hands?

c. What provision is there for ventilation, salt dispensers and similar protection against heat fag?

d. Are steam lines insulated?

e. Is there a steam trap for each machine? Is it easily accessible?

f. Are trucks for washed clothes so constituted as not to drip on floor?

g. Are soap and slippery material kept off floor?

h. Are chlorination tanks (where used) and bleaching chemicals and solutions available only to skilled persons?

i. Are all belts, gears, or rotating parts arranged so as not to be exposed?

j. Do electric irons have bull's

l. Are there hydraulic or pneumatic moistening sprays for ironers rather than rag and cup or blow (mouth) sprays?

9. Central supply.

a. Are there interlocking doors on electrical dumb waiters?

b. Are there recording temperature gauges for autoclaves?

c. Are there approved standards of sterilizing technique?

10. Powerhouse and associated services.

a. Are adequate gauges and other safety apparatus provided?

b. Are steel steps, ramps and floors as skid-proof as possible?

c. Are lights continually burning in dark passageways where rapid passage may have to be made?

d. Are pipes, beams, bars protected to prevent head injuries?

MALPRACTICE

The following safety measures are based on actual claims and their causes. Local or state laws may influence and govern certain conditions.

1. Surgery.

a. Is the cabinet used for storage of sterile supplies, inscribed "sterile" on the outside?

b. Are all empty cylinders of anesthesia gases taped with adhesive, designating that the cylinder should not be relied upon for future service?

c. Are there direct reading mercury thermometers in the exhaust lines of autoclaves to assure readings at the lowest operating temperatures?

d. Is there an approved overhead water fill to the instrument and utensil sterilizer which will prevent syphonage back into the water supply? (The water waste fittings should have an open air gap broken fitting to prevent syphonage from the water waste into the sterilizer proper.)

e. Is there a non-return and non-syphoning approved flushometer on bedpan sterilizers and all slop sinks? (The individual filters for each tank should have a trap to prevent raw water from entering into the sterile water tank. The waste connection should have an open air gap fitting.)

f. Is the temperature of hot water available at the faucets throughout the building, except for kitchen and laundry supply, at a maximum of 120 degrees, thereby reducing the possibility of hot water burns?

g. Is carbon tetrachloride used as a substitute for ether for cleaning and tape removal? (Ether is dangerous from explosion standpoint.)

h. Are open or partially used cans of ether permitted to be stored in the surgical department?

2. X-ray.

a. As far as possible, are shock-proof and ray-proof units provided because of the known hazards incident to the use of other types of equipment?

b. Is the release of x-ray films to patients prohibited?

3. Dietary.

a. Are there thermometers in all

Fund-Raising Counsel and Active Assistance that Has Helped Clients Raise $794,626,450

Assisting hospitals, medical and religious groups, educational and philanthropic organizations to raise funds has been the major business of the John Price Jones organizations for 35 years. Available to clients is the experience gained on more than 1,000 fund-raising and related public relations jobs, plus a corps of trained, adaptable and forceful men.

Fund-raising is a science. Today, its planning and management call for a knowledge of public relations, giving habits, gift-inducing techniques and special skills. You may discuss your financial needs fully and confidentially without obligation, and obtain estimates of fund-raising costs.

b. Are keys to the pharmacy, laboratories, record rooms, supply rooms and other important departments limited to responsible persons? Are keys properly listed and signed out to each person? (Emergency keys should be provided in a central location and used only under careful supervision.)

8. General.

a. Is the use of unlabeled bottles or damaged containers prohibited in all departments? (All medicines, narcotics or dangerous substances kept by nurses must be stored in locked cabinets, in well lighted space or within nurses' stations, constantly attended.)

b. Are leaky, patched or worn hot water bags routinely discarded?

c. Are medical records safe from inspection by patients and unauthorized individuals?

d. Are oxygen tents and other oxygen therapy equipment set up and operated only by trained personnel?

Basic Readings for Administrators

A hospital administrator is often confused, if not overwhelmed, by the deluge of literature which passes over his desk. Limitations on his time compel him to be selective in his reading, yet he is not always able to evaluate a particular book because he is not familiar with other publications in the same area. Although his book budget is limited, he wants to include essential publications in his library.

To assist the administrator in this dilemma, the library of the American Hospital Association has compiled the following list of suggested readings, covering the entire field of hospital organization and administration. All of the books are currently available except the first. Two law, two nursing and two public health books are included, leaving a choice to the individual if he feels he cannot purchase both titles.

The books in this list may be borrowed from the Association's library. Because of their permanent reference value, however, ad-

Identification of the Newborn

The Principles and Recommended Procedure as a Guide for the Identification of the Newborn in Hospitals was approved by the Board of Trustees of the American Hospital Association on December 3, 1949. The complete text of the recommended procedure follows.

GENERAL CONSIDERATIONS

The American Hospital Association is concerned that all hospitals have the best possible procedure for the identification of the newborn. Although the incidence of actual mixups of babies in hospitals is extremely low, the confusion which results therefrom is of tremendously serious import to the families of the patients affected.

From an examination and review of the various methods currently employed in hospitals, there is some indication of lack of standardization in regard to the best method of identification. The following principles and procedure have been devised by the Council on Professional Practice of the American Hospital Association as a guide to hospitals in the establishment of a positive, practicable and reliable system of identification.

IDENTIFICATION PRINCIPLES

1. The hospital should make sure that every newborn infant is properly identified immediately at the time of birth. This should be done in the delivery room before either the mother or infant is transferred from the birth room. Both mother and infant should be removed from the delivery room before another mother is brought in for delivery.

2. Duplicate items of identification should be placed on the infant in the delivery room. These items should be clearly visible, and should be used by doctors, nurses and the mother each time the infant is moved.

3. Identification items should show the mother's full name and admission number; sex of infant; date and time of birth, and other definite correlation with identity of mother, such as the mother's fingerprint. Error in the designation of sex should be avoided by use of the term "boy" or "girl."

4. At least two of the identifications should be identical. One of these should be removed when the infant leaves the hospital, and should be acknowledged by the mother or person removing the infant. The acknowledged identification should be retained as part of the hospital records.

5. All mothers in the obstetrical department should be informed of the identification system used and of the mother's responsibility to check the identification on the infant each time it comes to her bedside and when she goes home.

6. It should be recognized that the newborn infant's footprints or fingerprints are of little value as a positive means of identification due to the fact that the whorls and ridges are not always in evidence at birth. If infant footprints are recorded, it should be understood that their value is limited largely to souvenir purposes only.

IDENTIFICATION PROCEDURE

Identification items: 1. Duplicate items of identification are fastened on the wrist (s) or ankle (s).

2. Appropriate items are: Tapes which may be tied or sewed; waterproof and oilproof bands; or any similar identification device upon which the required information in Principle 3 above is recorded.

Delivery room: 1. Items of identification are prepared individually for each infant by the supervising nurse in the delivery room.

2. All items of identification are secured to the newborn infant immediately upon delivery.

3. Before taking the infant to the nursery all identification items are checked by the supervising nurse to see that the name of the mother, her admission number, the date and time of delivery, and the sex of the infant (boy or girl) are recorded. Simultaneously the same identification information is placed upon the infant's birth record.

Newborn nursery: 1. When the infant is brought into the newborn nursery, the labor or delivery room nurse and the nursery nurse check to see that the information on all identifications and on the infant's birth record is identical. The sex of the infant is verified, and both nurses sign the infant's birth record.

2. The crib card is filled out by the nursery nurse who affixes it to the infant's crib.

3. Infant identifications and crib cards are checked each time the infant is either removed from or returned to the crib.

Presentation to the mother: 1. On the first presentation of the infant to the mother, the method of checking and identification procedure is explained, and the mother is instructed to check the infant's identifications each time she receives the infant. The sex of the infant is demonstrated to the mother.

2. When carrying infants to mothers, only one infant is taken at a time.

3. Each time, before giving her the infant, the nurse speaks the mother's name, announces the name and sex of the infant, and waits for the mother to confirm the identity of her infant.

Discharge of infant and mother: 1. At the time of discharge all identifications are checked with the crib card and the infant's birth record in the nursery by the supervising or graduate nurse in charge.

2. The infant is taken to the mother or to the person taking custody of it. With the assistance of the nurse, the mother checks the infant's identifications, removes one of the infant's identifications, and records her signature acknowledging her acceptance of her infant. This signature is witnessed by the graduate nurse in charge who checks the identifications. The item of identification removed is attached to the infant's birth record.

3. The infant is dressed in the presence of the mother or the person taking custody, and is discharged without removing the remaining item of identification.

Only Pennies Per Pair with PIONEER Surgical Gloves

Carefully made to rigid specifications from the highest quality virgin latex or neoprene, each PIONEER glove is subjected to 100% inspection to insure complete protection of both doctor and patient. Sheer but tough, these long-lasting gloves provide the extra comfort, greater fingertip sensitivity and almost barehand dexterity doctors and nurses demand.

Higher tensile strength (average 5,000 pounds) and greater elongation (850%) — both in excess of Federal Specifications ZZ-G-421-A — ten sterilizations show no perceptible loss in strength. Twenty or more sterilizations are common.

Multi-Size Markings . . .

the practical new accurate way to speed up glove sorting and cut operating costs. No color code to memorize, size is printed in a row like this —

$7\frac{1}{2}$ $7\frac{1}{2}$ $7\frac{1}{2}$ $7\frac{1}{2}$ $7\frac{1}{2}$ $7\frac{1}{2}$ clear across the cuff . . . easily visible in any sorting pile. As gloves are separated and pile is disturbed, other size markings come instantly into view. Available exclusively on PIONEER surgical gloves at no extra cost.

ROLLPRUFS®

Flat-banded beadless wrists snap over sleeves and s-t-a-y there — no annoying roll down or time-wasting adjustments at critical moments. Their greater elasticity is less constricting and they fit smoothly during long operations. Exclusive banding feature reduces tearing. Latex, in white, No. RP-158, or brown No. RP-168. Sizes 6 to 9½.

Exclusive Rollpruf features also available in neoprene gloves in new hospital green for easy identification. Soft-textured neoprene is free of the natural rubber allergen which sometimes causes dermatitis. No. 75 LW. Sizes 6½ to 9½.

Regular Surgical Gloves

Sturdy surgeons gloves of finest quality latex, tissue-thin but durable, with regular rolled wrists. White latex, No. 22, or brown latex SQ-77. Sizes 6 to 9½.

Quixams

One glove (not a pair) fits either hand. No waste in broken pairs. Short wrists permit quick easy donning for examinations, dressings, treatments. White latex or green neoprene. Small (6, 6½), medium (7, 7½), large (8, 8½).

Obstetrical Gloves

Either hand style — any two gloves make a pair. Elbow length. Sizes medium (7, 7½) and large (8, 8½). White latex, No. O-B.

Autopsy Gloves

Non-slip finish assures firm handling of wet or slippery objects. Made of DuPont milled neoprene — resistant to damage from acids, oils and other solutions. 10½ inch length, sizes 7, 7½, 8, 8½, 9, 9½.

Food Service

Minimum Standards

1. There is a properly organized dietary department under the direction of a competent graduate dietitian whose training conforms to standards approved by the American Dietetic Association.

2. The department is responsible for (a) the efficient administration of the general food service; (b) the scientific diet of patients, and (c) the education of the student nurse or the dietetic intern in hospital dietetics.

Facilities: 3. The department is provided with adequate administrative and teaching facilities.

4. The dietitian has an adequately equipped office.

5. The kitchens, storage rooms, refrigeration and other service requirements provide the necessary accommodations and equipment to operate the food service.

6. A well equipped classroom and laboratory are available for the education of student nurses or dietetic interns when a school of nursing is attached to the hospital or there are dietetic interns in training.

Personnel: 7. There is an adequate administrative and technical staff.

8. All members of the staff are competent in their respective activities.

9. The staff conforms to proper physical, mental and character standards.

Records: 10. A comprehensive system of administrative, financial, clinical and technical records is provided.

11. Records originating in the food service are correlated so far as necessary with medical and other records of the hospital.

Policies: 12. The director of dietetics and staff, with the approval and cooperation of the superintendent or director and governing board of the hospital, initiates and develops rules and regulations pertaining to the administrative and professional policies of the department.

13. Rules and regulations specifically provide for departmental and interdepartmental conferences at regular intervals to review the work of the dietary department for the purpose of improving the service which is rendered and its general efficiency.

Essential Information for Programming the Dietary

The following questions are to be used by the hospital planning lay group, administrator, or others interested in building or remodeling a hospital. Answers to the questions represent the essential information that the architect needs before beginning any drawing.

This set of questions, titled "Essential Information for Programming the Hospital Dietary Department," was prepared by Edith A. Jones, dietitian consultant, under the direction of John W. Cronin, M.D., chief of the Division of Hospital Facilities, Public Health Service.

5. What will be the need for special diets?

6. What work stations will be needed to provide food service for patients and personnel?

7. Will staples be kept in a central storeroom or must all dietary purchases be stored in dietary facilities?

8. Will any baked products be purchased?

9. Will ice cream be purchased or made? If purchased, how often?

10. How frequently can perishable items be delivered to the hospital?

11. Will frozen food be used? If so, how much?

12. What type of meat will be purchased? Carcass or fabricated cuts?

13. What will be the source of ice for the hospital—particularly for the personnel dining area?

14. What method of dishwashing will be used for patients? Personnel?

15. Where will coffee be prepared?

16. How many staff workers will be employed to operate the facilities?

17. Must space be provided for teaching student nurses?

18. How will food waste be disposed of?

19. What space must be allowed for trash disposal?

20. What plans must be made for infant formula?

21. What other practices will be followed? For example: Isolation care, pediatric service, research, and pasteurization of milk.

Summary: Work stations needed for the entire dietary department and location of each in the hospital plan.

Policies and Procedures for Department Administration

Most of the difficulties that occur in hospital dietary departments may be due to one or more of the following:

1. A lack of understanding of policies between the administrator and the dietitian or between the dietitian and the personnel of other departments.

2. Insufficient and inefficient personnel to carry on the basic functions of the department, with the result that the person in charge is too overworked to pay attention to important details and to initiate improvements.

3. A lack of clear-cut personnel policies and employee training.

4. Poor and inadequate physical facilities.

In a new hospital the fourth difficulty should not exist. Recognition of the first three points should result in an efficient dietary department.

In the following check list, questions of policy to be established for the dietary department in a new hospital, are italicized. These policies should exist in all operating hospitals. Points following each question indicate the current trend of thought on the policy or points which should be considered before a decision on the policy is adopted.

The check list is adapted from an article by Wilma F. Robinson, consultant dietitian for the Illinois Department of Public Health, Division of Hospital Construction and Services, which appeared in HOSPITALS for July 1950.

PATIENT FOOD SERVICE

Will the type of menu be selective or nonselective?

1. The selective menu may promote patient satisfaction and may eliminate the need for special diets based on patients' likes and dislikes.

2. It may save food because the patient usually will order only what he likes and intends to eat.

3. It may provide more accurate information in regard to the amounts of food to be prepared.

4. The selective menu will involve the preparation of a greater variety of food and will require personnel for menu distribution and menu summaries.

5. The cooperation of the nursing department probably will be required in the matter of menu distribution and collection.

6. Although it does not have the advantages listed above, the nonselective menu is used successfully in many hospitals.

What foods will be allowed on standard hospital diets?

1. At least a temporary decision should be reached in regard to the foods to be allowed on the normal, soft and liquid diets.

2. Lists should be submitted to the medical staff for approval.

3. Usually there are no restrictions on the normal diet.

4. Light diets are now generally omitted.

5. On a soft diet, the patient usually is allowed young, tender, whole vegetables instead of vegetable puree.

6. Liquid diets usually are classified as clear or full liquid.

Will there be between-meal feedings (nourishments)?

1. The medical staff should be consulted on this policy.

2. The trend is toward cutting out between-meal feedings unless the evening meal is served so early that the period between it and breakfast is unusually long.

3. A policy will be needed regarding charges for nourishments not generally allowed.

What will be the time schedule for tray service?

1. This schedule will depend largely on nursing routines.

2. Patients usually prefer that breakfast and the evening meal be served as late as possible.

3. Dietary employees' hours on duty must be planned in accordance with the tray service schedule.

Will dinner be served at noon or in the evening?

1. Common practice in the community or area must be considered.

2. Consideration should be given also to the availability of sufficient personnel for dinner preparation at the time decided upon.

METHOD OF DISTRIBUTION

What type of service or method of distribution will be used?

1. This is indicated usually by the facilities provided.

2. Centralized service usually is planned for hospitals of 100 or fewer beds but may be used in larger hospitals as well.

3. The most important factor in any method of food distribution is the period of time between the serving of food and the delivery of the tray to the patient.

What are the responsibilities of the nursing department in tray service?

1. This depends upon the method of tray distribution.

2. Nursing personnel usually deliver the tray to the patient when there is decentralized service.

3. In most instances the dietary department has the responsibility of serving the food.

4. Any division of responsibility should be clarified so that both departments know definitely the extent of their responsibility.

5. Patients should be ready to receive their trays.

GUEST TRAYS

Will guest trays be served in patients' rooms?

1. A decision may be deferred until the number of probable requests is determined and it is possible to tell whether or not employees are available to give this extra service.

2. This service may be limited by serving trays only on the recommendation of the doctor or head nurse.

3. The amount to be charged for the tray should be established.

How will the meal census be computed?

The meal census should be an actual count of meals served and not a figure based on patient days. Suggested meal census records are given in "Computing the Meal Census" in this part of the Administrators Guide.

How will complaints be handled?

1. There will be complaints concerning the food. These are often constructive criticisms.

2. It is worthwhile to develop an attitude among the staff that criticism used objectively for the improvement of the service will pave the way for compliments.

Will the dietitian make routine visits to all patients?

The practice of the dietitian's visiting all patients promotes good public relations, but it takes time and should be considered in the planning of her schedule.

EMPLOYEE FOOD SERVICE

Will the type of menu be selective or nonselective?

1. This decision will depend somewhat on facilities and available personnel.

2. If a selective menu is offered to patients, it should not be too difficult to offer a selection to the employee group also.

3. A selective menu usually promotes employee satisfaction.

4. When employees are provided meals as perquisites, a nonselective menu usually is offered.

5. In the pay cafeteria some selection is necessary.

What type of service will be used?

1. The physical facilities provided usually will decide the type of service.

2. Cafeteria service is the most popular type service at the present time.

3. In the smaller hospital, a self-service arrangement may be provided adjacent to the main kitchen.

18 insets in six sizes allow for many variations in menus.

Model ALS-4922

• With its numerous top-deck arrangements, the new Blickman-Built All-Purpose Food Conveyor is specially designed to take care of your different food service requirements. For ward service, you store the limited variety of foods in a few of the larger insets. To accommodate the more diversified foods in your selective menus and special diets, simply take out the large insets and substitute a number of smaller containers. Eighteen square and rectangular insets are provided with the conveyor in six different sizes. These can be arranged in various combinations. Two heated drawers and lower compartments add to the ample storage space provided in the top deck.

You obtain these additional advantages· Food is kept piping-hot; arrives on time, in kitchen-fresh, palatable condition – important factors in diet-therapy. You save time and labor, waste less food. Since food is transported in bulk, fewer trips are required, dish and tray trucks are eliminated. Cleaning, too, is a swift and easy task Blickman-Built stainless steel food conveyors are the only standard models available with one-piece, crevice-free body and seamless top-deck construction These, and other important aids to mass-feeding efficiency are yours–when you use Blickman-Built All Purpose Food Conveyors – the finest made.

367-bed Beth Israel Hospital, of Boston, Mass., serving 70,000 meals per month, of which 30,000 are patient meals, has found an effective solution to their mass-feeding problem in the Blickman-Built All-Purpose Food Conveyor. Illustration shows truck being loaded in main kitchen. Conveyors distribute hot foods to serving pantries on each floor.

At Stamford (Conn.) Hospital, conveyor carries bulk food from central kitchen to serving kitchens on each floor. Shown here is nurse carrying loaded tray from serving kitchen after it has been loaded on All-Purpose Food Conveyor. Patient gets the food hot and appetizing.

4. The cafeteria may be a pay or nonpay type.

How will the time schedule for meal service be established?

This will be affected by the tray service schedule and the hours on duty set for personnel.

Will employee meals be offered as a part of maintenance or on a pay basis?

1. Hospital policy regarding salaries will determine this.

2. Cafeteria facilities also will determine this.

How will a meal census of the employee food service be kept?

1. Some of the methods used in hospitals are: Plate count, mechanical counter, the employee's signing or checking his or her name on a daily register, the employee's signing individual slips placed on the tables in the dining room, customer number cards, cash register (pay cafeteria) and meal tickets.

2. The cash register or meal tickets probably are the most accurate methods yet devised.

Will meals be served for physicians, private duty nurses and visitors?

1. The pay cafeteria automatically takes care of this decision.

2. If a pay cafeteria is not provided, meal tickets are usually sold at the information desk or at some other convenient place.

Will special meals be served for professional groups?

1. It is customary in most hospitals for the dietary department to serve dinner to the medical staff of the hospital on the night of their regular meeting.

2. Other professional groups may wish to have dinner meetings at the hospital. This is good public relations, but the extra load on the dietary department should be taken into consideration.

PERSONNEL POLICIES

What are the hospital policies for all employees?

The following are not essentially dietary policies, but this information is needed by each new dietary employee.

1. Pay day—When does the hospital week begin and end? Where does the employee receive his pay?

2. Laundry—Are uniforms laundered free of charge, or what is the charge per uniform? Where are soiled uniforms deposited, and how are clean ones obtained?

3. Locker keys—How are they obtained, and where are they turned in on the last day of employment? Is a deposit required?

4. Illness—To whom is illness reported, and what provisions are made for the medical care of employees?

5. Sick leave—How many days are allowed each year?

6. Holidays—What holidays will be observed, and how much time off are employees allowed for each holiday? Must the time be taken on the holiday, or may it be taken at some other convenient time?

What special regulations must be established for the department?

1. Employees should be told what type of uniform is required, if these will be furnished by the hospital, and if hair nets or caps are required for food handlers.

2. Food handling regulations, based on state health department requirements, may be necessary.

3. Individual jobs may necessitate other rules.

OPERATING PROCEDURES

Some of the points to be considered fall logically into the category of operating procedures rather than policies. The following are suggestions to assist with the development of these procedures.

1. Nutritional adequacy of the menus should be checked periodically.

2. It is advantageous to write menus in advance.

3. In a small hospital the dietitian usually is responsible for the purchase of food supplies.

4. In the larger hospital staple supplies may be bought by the purchasing agent in accordance with the dietitian's specifications.

5. The person planning the menus should decide the quality and type of food desired.

6. Government grades should be used as a guide in purchasing.

7. It is well to set up specifications so that fair comparisons of products can be made.

8. The objective in food purchasing is to obtain the best quality for the lowest cost per serving.

Food storage: 1. A thermometer should be provided for each refrigerator so that temperatures may be checked daily.

2. Recommended temperatures for the storage of the three general types of food are: Perishables—50° F. or below; milk—40 to 45° F.; raw meats—40° F. or below, and frozen foods—0° to 10° F.

3. All perishable foods should be kept in the refrigerator.

4. Foods should not be crowded or stacked in the refrigerator.

5. Fresh produce should be checked before storage and overripe or decayed parts disposed of. It should be used promptly to avoid spoilage.

6. Staple groceries and canned goods should be stored in a cool, dry, well ventilated room at a temperature of 60° to 70° F.

7. Windows should be screened, and walls and floors should be ratproof.

8. Staples in cloth or paper bags should be cross-stacked on racks to provide air circulation.

9. Cereals and cereal products purchased in bulk quantities should be stored in metal containers with tightly fitting lids.

Other procedures: 1. Use of standardized recipes should produce foods which look and taste the same each time they are served.

2. The dietitian should be familiar with all state health department regulations on sanitation.

3. Employee training usually will pay dividends in careful, dependable employees.

4. Up-to-date written records of the duties involved in each job are helpful not only to the employee but also to the supervisor and particularly the new supervisor.

Minimum Dishwashing Standards

Effective dishwashing procedures call for a standard of less than 100 organisms per utensil surface. The following check list of procedures and equipment for manual and machine dishwashing includes points which must be followed if this standard is to be met. The list is adapted from "Minimum Dishwashing Standards Suggested for Hospitals," by Margaret Gillam in the January 1950 issue of HOSPITALS.

MACHINE DISHWASHING

1. Food remains shall be removed from the dishes by hand or suitable mechanical device.

2. Preflushing of dishes with warm water may be done in a preflush section of the machine or as a separate operation.

3. Dish racks shall be designed to minimize masking of the sprays.

4. Overcrowding of racks prevents effective washing.

5. A sufficient number of racks shall be provided to permit continuous operation under maximum load.

6. Means shall be provided for returning empty racks without speedy tray service

. . . from floor diet kitchens, heated tray trucks or subwayor stations. Four tray design insures that food will be HOT when delivered to patients' bed.

These service units conserve valuable space in corridors for they are designed to nest, when not in use, in any order and quantity. For example, while each unit is 25 inches long, each additional unit stacked adds only nine inches to the total space involved. The nested length of three units is 43 inches and that of five is 61 inches.

An added feature is the unusual caster arrangement. Mounted on three double ball bearing swivel casters with 5 inch ball bearing rubber tired wheels for easy rolling, this "Tri-caster" mounting causes far less spilling of soups and other liquids than the conventional four caster arrangement by reducing vibration to a minimum.

A test will readily prove to your satisfaction that these versatile units are a distinct improvement over equipment lacking these features.

These tray trucks are usefully employed in countless other hospital services, such as floor deliveries from pharmacy and central drug supply. MODEL 1358 has furniture steel shelves, aluminum bronze finished throughout, while MODEL 1359 is furnished with polished stainless steel shelves, aluminum bronze finished chassis.

damage or contamination from the outlet to the inlet end of the machine.

Washing: 7. The temperature of the wash water shall be not less than 140° F., or higher temperatures are desirable with good preflushing.

8. Means shall be provided to maintain the temperature of the wash water at not less than 140° F.

9. The minimum washing time shall be 20 seconds.

10. Each rack of dishes shall be sprayed from above and below in about equal amounts with a total of not less than 12 gallons of wash water per 100 square inches of tray area under not less than three pounds flow pressure at the top manifold.

11. In single tank machines the time of washing shall be controlled automatically at not less than 40 seconds.

12. In multiple-tank machines such time shall be controlled at not less than 20 seconds.

13. Means should be provided to maintain the concentration of detergent in the wash water automatically and continuously at not less than 0.1 per cent by weight in excess of that necessary to satisfy the hardness of the water.

14. In multiple-tank dishwashing machines, excessive spilling or carryover of water shall be prevented by:

(a) At least 15 inches of space between the beginning of the wash tank and the center of the first spray arm opening;

(b) at least 20 inches between the centers of the last wash spray arm opening and the first rinse spray arm opening;

(c) at least five inches between the center of the last rinse spray arm opening and the curtain rinse opening, and

(d) not less than 10 inches between the center of the last curtain rinse spray opening and the end of the rinse tank.

Rinses: A power or recirculated rinse (two-tank machine) is desirable wherever the quantity of utensils to be washed justifies the cost and the space permits. Points 15-18 apply to a recirculated rinse, and points 19-23 to a single-tank machine or cases where a recirculated rinse is not provided.

15. The temperature of rinse, water shall be not less than 180° F. at the inlet to the spray arm.

16. The minimum time of rinsing shall be 10 seconds.

17. Each rack of dishes shall be sprayed from above and below in about equal amounts with a total of not less than 12 gallons of rinse water per 100 square inches of area under not less than three pounds flow pressure at the nozzles.

18. Where this rinse is used as the sanitizing rinse, provision shall be made to stop the machine automatically and to display a warning light whenever the temperature of the rinse water drops below 180° F.

19. When a recirculated rinse is not provided, the fresh water rinse from the pressure line shall be maintained at a temperature of not less than 180° F.

20. The inlet to the spray arm shall be provided with automatic stop and warning lights.

21. The minimum time of rinsing shall be 10 seconds.

22. Each rack of dishes shall be sprayed with at least three-eighths of a gallon of fresh water per 100 square inches of area under not less than 15 pounds flow pressure at the nozzles.

23. Provision shall be made to stop the machine automatically and to display a warning light whenever the temperature of this rinse water drops below 180° F.

Equipment: 24. The water and steam valves shall be of dependable construction, easily accessible, marked with standard designating colors in accordance with A.S.A.: A 13-1928, "Scheme for the Identification of Piping System," labeled as to purpose, and shall not so protrude as to be easily broken off.

25. Valves shall be suitable for the purpose and built to withstand 125 pounds of operating pressure.

26. The water valves shall be of globe type with removable seats.

27. A dial type thermometer with 180° F. visibly marked showing final rinse water temperature shall be installed near the discharge end of the machine.

28. A thermometer also shall be installed to show the wash water temperature.

29. Gauges to show the flow pressure shall be provided as near as practical to the spray arm openings of both the wash and rinse water systems.

30. Scrap trays shall have openings smaller than those in the spray arm and shall be readily accessible and removable for cleaning.

31. A strainer, accessible for cleaning, shall be provided on the pump suction.

32. Spray arms shall be made of material that is relatively noncorrodible in warm detergent solution and shall be easily removable for cleaning.

33. Either the spray arms shall move or the dish racks shall be moved during washing and rinsing to increase the coverage of the sprays.

34. The tanks and hood shall be constructed of monel metal, stainless steel, or equally corrosion-resistant material in such a manner as to be easily cleaned.

35. Sharp angles, unnecessary ledges and open seams shall be eliminated.

36. Each tank, including the pump, shall be easy to drain.

37. The pump suction shall be at least two inches above the bottom of the tank.

38. Each tank shall be provided with a water level indicator.

39. The bottom platform of the machine shall be not less than six inches off the floor.

40. Side clean-out doors or removable panels, not less than 16 inches in width, shall be provided for convenience in cleaning the tanks.

41. When the hardness of the water exceeds five grains per gallon (85.5 ppm) a hard water detergent should be used; when it exceeds 10 grains (171 ppm), it should be softened to five grains or less.

42. The water connections to the dishwashing machines shall be so made as to prevent back-siphonage of dish water, sewage or wastes, and in accordance with A.S.A.: A 40.6-1943, "Back-Flow Preventers."

43. Means shall be provided, as by booster heater with or without storage tank, to supply not less than two and one-fourth gallons per 100 square inches of tray area per minute of water at 180° F., or higher, at the inlet to the spray arms for single tank machines, and

For a $13,000,000,000 Industry . . . New Goals to Be Achieved

FOOD SERVICE INDUSTRY BEGINS AT BEGINNING TO POLICE ITSELF

Food Service Equipment Makers Get National Sanitation Code Of Standards to Guide Them

There are somewhere near 600,000 established places to eat in the United States outside of the American Home, ranging from soda-fountain luncheonettes to hospital diet kitchens and factory cafeterias. They have been doing an annual gross business of 13 billions of dollars in recent years, making them the fourth largest retail operation in the nation and taking 25 cents of every dollar spent outside the home. Standards of sanitation in these places vary from excellent to very very bad . . . . Free Reprints of this complete Newspaper Article available to those interested in "up-grading" the Industry — with permission granted for reprinting. 25 ...THIS "WINNING TEAM" DEALER POLICY

For a quarter-century of progress—this accredited policy of Southern Equipment Company's successful nation-wide sales pattern has advocated and practiced "Selective" DEALER DISTRIBUTION.

This policy has proven sound! This has always reflected mutual trust between Factory and Dealer. This independently owned and operated Southern Dealer has built his Equipment and Supply business into an integral and substantial component of his locale. This obligation to his local trading area renders valuable exclusive territorial service—to fill his Customer's equipment needs. This Dealer is solidly backed by Southern Factory assurance of quality—with policy—with progress.

This two-way team combination stresses a "feet-on-the-ground" mutual understanding. This continually directs all combined efforts toward his Customer's satisfaction at all times!

This cooperation is "packed" with basic, workable confidence, expressed tangibly for 25 years—(with many of the original Dealers still active). This was achieved without use of franchise, contract, or written agreement . . . dedicated to produce for his Customer now and in the future.

This gives the Southern Dealer's Customer a look at the back of Southern's policy "picture"—the important Customer segment! . . .

(A) Backed up by the local Southern Dealer.
(B) Backed up by the Southern Factory Field Consultant Engineer.
(C) Backed up by Southern Factory custom fabrication.

This team backs up the Dealer's Customer purchase! This gives "on-the-spot" national factory confidence of equipment brand quality and performance, with assured immediate local dealer service to his Customer.

This good will disposition of the many Customer-friends of the "Custom-bilt by Southern" Dealer . . . to return to the place where he has been well treated will always back up the Southern "picture". So, for this 25 years, we join in extending mutual thanks to OUR Customer.

Southern's Silver Anniversary culminated in a very successful DEALER Engineering Sales Conference. Factory training, work clinics, engineering, service and sales sessions—coupled with technological advances in fabrication and sanitation, dominated the 3-day meeting . . . All dedicated to "Help Southern Dealers Help Themselves".

as much as two gallons per minute of water at 180° F. for each curtain rinse on a multiple tank machine.

44. After the dishes from each meal are finished, the tanks should be drained empty, and the tanks and spray arms cleaned and left dry until the next use.

45. Complete operating instructions should be provided.

46. The machine should be installed so that all parts are easily accessible for repair, servicing or replacement.

47. All valves, fittings and pipes shall be so placed as to avoid obstructing door openings.

MANUAL DISHWASHING

1. Food should be removed before washing with a brush or squeegee and by rinsing or preflushing with water.

2. Three-compartment sinks are recommended.

3. Dishes should be cleaned in warm water at a temperature of 110° F. to 120° F. with a suitable detergent.

4. The dishes should be rinsed in hot water in the second tank.

5. Dishes are sanitized in the third compartment of the sink by subjecting them to one of two types of germicidal agents: heat or chemicals.

6. Sanitizing by hot water requires immersion for at least two minutes in clean, hot water at a temperature of at least 170° F. or for one-half minute in boiling water.

7. When hot water is used for bactericidal treatment, a hot water heater (preferably controlled by a thermostat) capable of maintaining a water temperature of at least 170° F. in the vat should be provided at all times.

8. Care must be taken to assure that the hot water is in contact with the entire surface of the dishes and utensils.

9. When hypochlorites are used, dishes should be immersed for at least two minutes in a lukewarm chlorine bath containing at least 50 ppm of available chlorine.

10. Bactericidal treatment with chlorine is ineffective if the utensils are not clean.

11. When chlorine treatment is used a three-compartment vat shall be required.

12. Chemical sanitizers do not work satisfactorily unless wash tanks, brushes and other wash and sanitizing equipment are clean.

DETERGENTS

1. The use of a detergent-sanitizer in the wash water in the mechanical or manual washing is being considered by authorities as an adjunct and an added safety factor in dishwashing.

2. Detergent-sanitizers alone do not do a satisfactory job of sanitizing.

3. In studies of hand dishwashing in restaurants, recontamination by bacteria-laden water has been found.

4. A combination of a detergent-sanitizer and a sanitizer rinse has been found to be a good method for obtaining good results.

Modified Diet Planning

The regular hospital diet is the same as the normal diet for adults. The diet is used for patients with no diet restrictions. It may be served also to hospital employees. Planned according to the basic food pattern, the diet supplies optimum amounts of all the dietary essentials required for good nutrition.

The normal diet is the basis for planning all modified diets. Of the therapeutic diets, which the food service may be required to prepare for patients, the following diets are prescribed most frequently:

Soft diet: The soft diet is a modification of the normal diet in consistency. It is prescribed for patients who need easily digested foods or when mechanical ease of eating must be considered. Foods on it are moderately low in fiber, connective tissue and flavor. Omit pastries, fried foods, and other foods that may cause distress. Meats are tender, chopped, or ground for greater ease in eating. Vegetables low in fiber are selected and may be sieved. Fruits, except grapefruit and orange sections and ripe bananas, should be cooked and free from seeds and skins.

Most physicians have found the diet satisfactory and more acceptable to patients when vegetables of low fiber content and tender meats are selected instead of the sieved and ground food.

Patients receive the same amounts of foods as on the normal diet, except milk is increased to one quart, and there is an additional serving of citrus fruit juice or tomato juice. Because protein is important in convalescence, the diet may include more meat than is usually served. This higher protein content has made the diet more palatable and acceptable to patients.

Full liquid diet: This diet is used postoperatively as a step between the clear liquid diet and the soft diet and for patients unable to take solid foods. Foods that are liquid or become liquid at body temperature are served. The diet does not include essential food requirements for adequacy and usually is prescribed for a limited time. If a patient is on a full liquid diet for an extended time, however, an adequate food intake can be planned.

High protein diet: A high protein diet has been found to be of therapeutic value in liver cirrhosis,

Basic Food Pattern

Foods to include each day for nutritional adequacy

Food	Daily quantity	Size of one serving
Milk	1 to 1½ pints	1 glass or 8-ounce carton
*Meat, poultry, or fish	1 serving	3 to 4 ounces (edible portion)
Meat or alternate	1 serving	1 ounce; ½ to ⅔ cup
Egg	1 serving	1 egg
Vegetables—1 serving a green leafy or yellow, and raw ones frequently	2 servings	½ cup
Potatoes—white or sweet	1 or more servings	½ cup or 1 medium
Fruit—1 serving: a citrus fruit or tomato or their juices, or other good source of ascorbic acid	2 servings	½ cup; 4 ounces juice
Bread and cereal—whole grain or enriched	4 or more servings	1 slice or 1 ounce bread; ½ cup cooked cereal; 1 ounce or ⅔ cup ready-to-eat cereal
Butter or margarine with added vitamin A	3 servings	1 pat (2 level teaspoons)

Additional servings of the above foods, if desired, and sugar, sweets, baked goods, and other cereal products and fats to meet caloric requirements and as needed for satisfying meals.

*Liver should be served once in 2 weeks.
Meat or alternate includes either 1 ounce cheddar cheese, cottage cheese, meat, poultry, fish, peanut butter, dried beans or peas, or 1 egg.

post-operative cases and in severe burns. All food essentials in the normal diet are served, plus increased amounts of milk, eggs and meat, poultry, or fish. In cases of underweight, often accompanied by poor appetite, the patient may prefer a well selected diet from the normal diet menu supplemented by a high protein beverage to make up the protein requirement. The use of dried whole or dried skim milk powder adds protein to the diet.

To make this a high carbohydrate diet, serve fruit juices reinforced with concentrated sugars.

High calorie diet: A diet with a calorie content above that supplied by the normal diet is prescribed to increase body weight (gain weight), to maintain a normal weight in convalescence, or for conditions accompanied by loss of weight, such as tuberculosis, rheumatic fever, infections, hyperthyroidism and malnutrition. The diet is adequate, and by supplying increased calories—through the use of more milk, whole wheat bread, citrus juices and a second egg—the protein, vitamin and mineral content is improved.

The calorie content of the diet is usually prescribed in steps of 250, 500 and 1,000 calories above the regular hospital diet, depending upon the energy needs of the patient and ability to take the diet.

Low calorie diet: In the low calorie diet, prescribed for weight reduction, the calorie value of the food intake is below normal energy requirements. The diet is adequate except in calories. It should be planned with the patient and adjusted to individual food habits.

Sugar and sweets, pastries, desserts except unsweetened fruit, fried, creamed and scalloped foods, gravies, soft drinks and alcoholic beverages are not allowed. Fats, cereals and other foods are given in restricted amounts.

Low fat diet: The low fat diet usually is prescribed for diseases of the liver and gall bladder. Energy calories from fat are reduced by serving only 40-50 grams of fat daily, about one-half the amount on the normal diet. Calories to meet the energy requirement, above those from protein, are supplied by increased carbohydrate.

Because protein foods generally contain fat, eggs are limited and skim milk and lean meat, with visible fat removed, are used. Cooking fats are omitted and butter is decreased. Otherwise the diet contains all the foods of the normal diet.

With the possible exception of vitamin A, the low fat diet has all essential nutrients. Liberal use of green and yellow vegetables and frequent servings of liver are necessary to insure an adequate amount of this vitamin. Vegetables that cause gastric distress, and raw vegetables and raw fruit if not well tolerated, may be omitted from the diet.

Measured or weighed diet: The measured or weighed diet is used in planning a diet with a limited amount of carbohydrate or when the food intake is controlled. Individual planning for the patient is necessary to adjust the selection of foods to the patient's food habits.

In the treatment of diabetes, the normal diet is limited in carbohydrate. A diabetic diet is planned according to the physician's diet order which prescribes the grams of protein, fat and carbohydrate per day. The diet is arranged to meet the needs and condition of the patient and maintain a normal level of nutrition. The quantity and selection of food served depend upon the diet prescription.

Meal Planning With Exchange Lists, published by Health Publications Institute, Inc., Raleigh, N. C., contains charts for calculating diabetic diets, food exchange lists, and other material for use in teaching diabetic patients. It has been prepared by committees of the American Diabetes Association and the American Dietetic Association in cooperation with the Diabetes Branch, Public Health Service. The publication is used widely as a guide in planning diabetic diets and simplifies teaching procedures for hospitals and patients.

The "Handbook of Diet Therapy" by Dorothea Turner, published by University of Chicago Press for the American Dietetic Association, also contains information helpful in this area.

Variations of the soft diet are served to children under six years of age and when the gastric soft or low residue diets are prescribed. For young children from 20 months to six years, chopped meats, vegetables and fruits are served together with some raw vegetables and fruits. For older children the same variety of foods is served as on the normal diet for adults. The only difference is the size of servings, and one quart of milk is included instead of one pint.

The gastric soft is the same as the soft diet but omits extracts of meat and chicken, tea and coffee, and includes more milk. Cereals are refined and breads are limited to white, finely ground whole wheat and rye without seeds. Foods may be divided into small frequent feedings.

For the low residue diet, vegetables are sieved, if necessary, fruits pureed, fruit juices strained and meats ground to change their consistency. Milk is limited to one pint per day to decrease the residue in the diet.

All the commonly used modifications of the normal diet, with the exception of the full liquid diet, should contain adequate servings of the protective foods listed in the basic dietary pattern.

MASTER MENU

Use of the American Hospital Association's Master Menu provides the food service department with a day-by-day menu for each meal for the normal diet and seven modified diets discussed above. The menu, including both normal and modified diets, is planned to allow maximum economy to the hospital and at the same time provide patients with essential nutrients in amounts recommended by the National Research Council.

One of the guiding motives underlying the Master Menu is greater efficiency of operation and planned purchasing in the food service department. The Master Menu is arranged to minimize the kinds of food required in planning special diets.

Two things are essential for use of the Master Menu in a hospital: (1) A schedule of comprehensive Master Menus provided in each month's issue of HOSPITALS; (2) the Association's Master Menu kit consisting of three permanent Master Menu wall cards—one each for breakfast, dinner and supper; transfer slips; the Master Menu Diet Manual, and directions for using the Master Menu service. The transfer slips, on which the menu for each meal is written, are keyed by number to the menus appearing in HOSPITALS and to the three wall cards.

Modifications in the menu can be made to suit the market in a particular area or for the general convenience of the dietary department. These substitutions, however, should be selected carefully to provide the same food values as

Terminal Heating for Infant Formulas

Three methods of terminally heating infant formulas are outlined above. Either nonpressure methods (vapor or water bath) or the pressure method (autoclave) can be used. Source material for the table and additional information on the preparation and handling of milk formulas are in the manual, Procedures and Layout for the Infant Formula Room, published by the American Hospital Association, Chicago, in 1949.

The Formula Room

In a hospital caring for obstetrical and pediatric patients, it is essential that a formula room be provided for the preparation of milk or milk substitute feedings, solutions for prelacteal feedings and water for infants. This room should be used for no other purpose.

The formula unit should consist of two rooms, a clean-up room and a formula preparation room, the two being connected only by a controlled passageway or window.

Proper division of space can be accomplished by the use of a partition with only slight loss of space. The two-room plan provides for greater efficiency in (1) administering the formula unit by the supervisor, (2) providing space for receiving soiled bottles, and (3) saving time and labor. The savings possible in a two-room operation will more than offset the cost of the original partition.

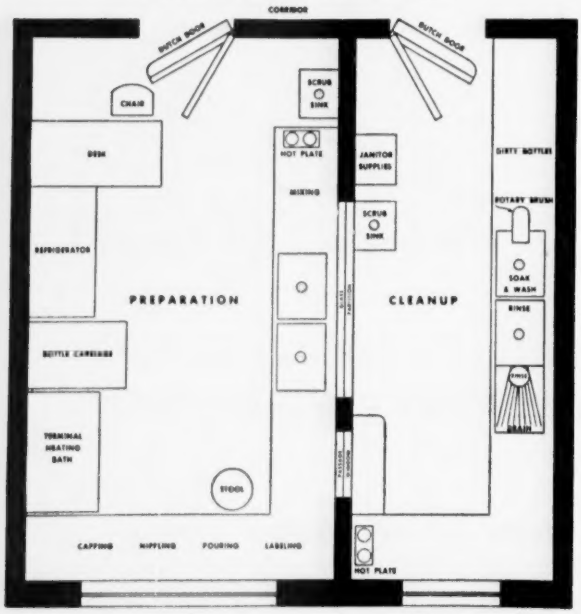
Hospitals which cannot meet the minimal standard of two rooms must make provision for the clean-up process in another area of the hospital or in the formula room by segregating it from the formula preparation by time and space. At no time shall the cleaning process be carried on in the formula room during the preparation of formulas.

The formula room flow chart and model formula room diagram, both reprinted from the American Hospital Association manual, Procedures and Layout for the Infant Formula Room, illustrate efficient layouts for the formula unit.

Computing the Meal Census

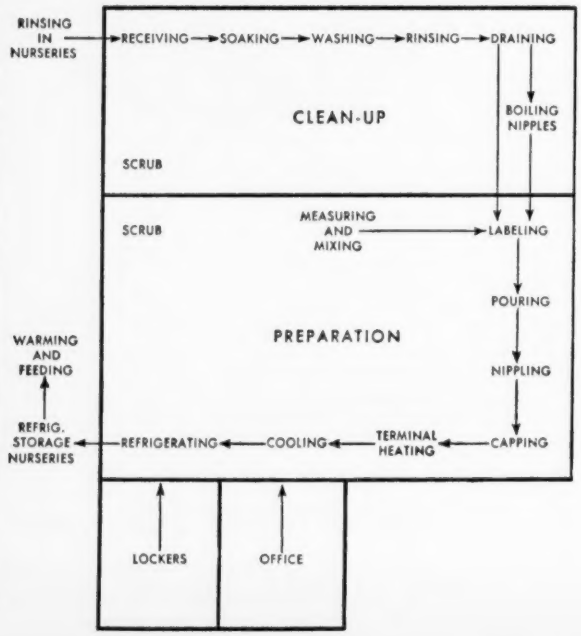
The accounting manual of the American Hospital Association rec-

MODEL FORMULA ROOM DIAGRAM



SCALE: ¼ inch = 1 foot

FORMULA ROOM FLOW CHART



ommends the following procedure for computing the meal census.

The unit of service for the dietary department should be a served meal, except that in pay cafeterias, tea rooms, etc., statistics of sales might be more appropriate.

The number of served meals should be segregated according to:

1. Meals served hospital patients (excluding nourishments, and formulas prepared for infants)—recorded by class of patient and subclassified according to regular diets and special diets.

2. Nourishments served hospital patients—recorded by class of patient.

3. Formulas prepared for infants—classified as newborn infant nursery formulas and others.

NOTE: If formulas are prepared under the supervision of the nursing department, the nursing department should submit these statistics.

4. Meals served hospital employees.

NOTE: The above classification should include only meals actually provided employees as perquisites. Meals sold employees should be included in the count of units of service applicable to the pay cafeteria or restaurant.

5. Meals served special nurses.

6. Meals served guests and relatives of patients.

7. Meals served (sales) in pay cafeteria, restaurant, or tea room. (Source: Handbook on Accounting, Statistics and Business Office Procedures for Hospitals. Chicago, American Hospital Association. 1950. Pp. 28-29.)

Food Cost Accounting

The American Hospital Association manual, Food Cost Accounting, presents a system of dietary accounting which requires a minimum of time and forms. It is simple enough for easy use in smaller hospitals and can be adapted for the complexity and large-scale operations of a larger hospital.

Control of day-to-day hospital food costs is possible if the procedures given under each of the eight steps outlined in the manual are functioning in the hospital. The procedures are:

1. Storeroom operation.

2. Setting up a purchasing procedure and a system for accurately recording purchases.

3. Daily receiving procedure.

4. Issuing merchandise from the storeroom.

5. Summarizing daily purchases, issues and credits.

6. Recording the meal census.

7. Daily food cost record.

8. Monthly summary of costs.

Sample records are illustrated to aid in obtaining a closer control of operations in the department.

Food Cost Accounting, published by the American Hospital Association in 1948, may be purchased by Association members for $1 a copy.

EMERGENCY ELECTRICITY for ALL ESSENTIAL HOSPITAL SERVICES

5 and 10 K.W., A.C. 4 cylinder, water-cooled standard low-cost models

10 K.W. to 35 K.W., A.C. Fully housed models, 4 and 6-cylinder water-cooled engines

Here's full protection against failures of electric power . . . for hospitals large and small. Onan Standby Electric Plants assure lighting in corridors, wards, operating rooms and other locations, provide power for heating system, ventilators, elevators, X-ray machines, oxygen tents, and other vital machines operated by electricity.

With an Onan Emergency Standby Electric Plant, your hospital will have electric power at all times, for all essential requirements, safeguarding patients and personnel. These quick-starting dependable engine-generators, equipped with line transfer controls, automatically take over the electrical load within seconds after a mainline failure . . . automatically stop when regular power is restored.

Onan Standby Plants are available in a range of sizes from 1,000 to 35,000 watts A.C. in all standard voltages. All models can be equipped to operate on gasoline or natural gas. Onan units meet the requirements of State Industrial Boards.

For reliable, low-cost standby protection, start plans for your Onan Standby installation today. Simply send details concerning your emergency electric power requirements to us, or write for hospital survey form No. SP2-1, and our experienced engineers will make recommendations promptly for your hospital, without cost or obligation.

A complete line of Onan Diesel Electric Plants ranging in size from 3,000 to 55,000 watts A.C. in standard voltages can also be supplied. Write for folder and detailed description.

Engineering and Maintenance

THE ENGINEERING and maintenance department has the responsibility at the beginning of each season of the year to check, inspect, repair, or overhaul equipment and ideas. The following seasonal checklist on hospital maintenance, published in sections in HOSPITALS during 1952-1953, is reprinted here in composite form.

MIDSUMMER

Light Vacation Schedules

Repair boilers and brickwork.

Inspect stacks.

Dismantle and overhaul combustion equipment.

Trace and repair minor roof leaks.

Award annual fuel contracts.

Dismantle, repack boiler room and water supply pumps.

Check or secure manufacturer's inspection of combustion controls.

Replace or install new combustion control instruments as required.

Inspect and overhaul water-softener equipment.

EARLY FALL

Fertilize and reseed lawns.

Inspect exterior sheet metal.

Annual overhaul of sump pumps.

Annual elevator overhaul and insurance inspection.

Organize for year's safety program.

Special annual inspection of all operating room explosion-proof electrical equipment, ground detectors, approved appliance cords and static conducting materials.

Check surgical lights including ceiling hangers.

OCTOBER—

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Recharge extinguishers.

Inspect fire hose.

Annual inspection of fire hazards.

Check kitchen exhaust ducts for grease accumulation.

LATE FALL

Remove, clean, tag and store electric fans.

Complete overhaul of all air-conditioning equipment.

Check kitchen grease vents.

Clean all ventilating fans and motors.

Check heating cables on exposed rainwater conductors (downspouts).

Store garden tools and check snow removal equipment.

Drain sill-cock lines to avert freezing.

Paint and store summer furniture.

Remove, repair, paint and store fly screens.

Install storm windows and storm doors.

Prune shrubbery and set out bulbs.

Remove leaves from roofs and area drains.

Drain and flush hot water tanks.

Flush underground sewers.

Clean, inspect and repair incinerator.

MIDWINTER

Check all portable electrical equipment.

Replace all worn appliance cords.

Check grounding wires for heavy portable electrical equipment.

Check electrical circuits for overloading and over-fusing.

Overhaul laundry equipment.

Re-evaluate opportunities for extension of preventive maintenance program.

Check routine tests on fuel quality.

Cut out dead trees.

Fire Extinguishers

In general there are three classifications of fires with which personnel should be familiar:

Class "A" fires: Fires in ordinary combustible materials, such as paper, wood, textiles, rubbish, etc., where the quenching and cooling effects of quantities of water, or solutions containing large percentages of water, are of first importance. This is necessary because ordinary combustible materials tend to produce glowing embers after becoming involved in a fire and these embers must be cooled and quenched with water.

Class "B" fires: Fires in flammable liquids, oils, greases, paints, etc., where a blanketing or smothering effect is essential.

Class "C" fires: Fires in live electrical equipment such as panel boards, motors, generators, circuits, etc., where the use of a "non-conducting" extinguishing agent is of first importance.

As a guide to the adequacy of protection certain categories of fire hazard have been established by the National Board of Fire Underwriters:

Nursing areas and offices: When there is a relatively small amount of combustible material, such as in fire resisting offices, schools (exclusive of shops) or public buildings, there should be one fire extinguisher for every 5,000 square feet, so located that a person will not have to travel more than 100 feet from any point to reach the nearest extinguisher.

Hazardous areas: Extra hazardous occupancies such as woodworking shops, paint spray shops, laboratories and operating rooms. This class should be protected with one extinguisher for every 2,500 square feet, so located that the person will not have to travel more than 50 feet from any point to reach the nearest extinguisher, plus additional extinguishers for special hazards. (Source: A Manual for Training Hospital Employees. Cleveland Hospital Council. Chicago, American Hospital Association. 1948. Pp. M-41, M-42.)

(a) Suitability and approximate fire extinguishing capacity established by Underwriters' Laboratories.

(b) Rating according to the Factory Mutual Laboratories.

(c) Applies only when plain water is used and not when an anti-freeze solution is used.

(d) Carbon tetrachloride base.

(e) Range of stream and time discharge are dependent on the operator. Figures given are for average operation.

(f) Classification B-2; B-4; B-4; C-4; or B-2, C-2, depending upon design.

Note on range and discharge time: The figures on maximum horizontal range of stream have limited practical significance, as the most effective use of the various extinguishers calls for relatively close approach to the fire, and in the case of some types listed as having a range of 30 to 40 ft., it should be noted that a fire of such proportions that heat would prevent closer approach would probably be beyond the capacity of hand extinguishers. The distances stated are those reported by Underwriters' Laboratories; figures published by Factory Mutual Laboratories generally agree, but there are differences of 1 ft. in some of the distances for the carbon dioxide type, and the FM listing shows 12 ft. effective range for the dry chemical type.

Discharge time represents a compromise in design between large volume discharge in short time which would have maximum extinguishing capacity in the hands of a highly skilled operator, and a lesser rate of discharge extending over a long period which would give an unskilled operator time to manipulate the device. Times stated are those reported by Underwriters' Laboratories; figures published by Factory Mutual Laboratories generally agree, but there are differences in some types, depending upon variation in method of measurement, e.g., FM effective times for dry chemical extinguishers are: 15 lb, 15 sec; 20 lb, 10 sec; 30 lb, 15 sec.

Lighting Maintenance Check Chart

Three types of lighting equipment frequently used in hospitals are the incandescent lamp, the fluorescent lamp and the mercury lamp. The following is a check list for the maintenance of such equipment.

Incandescent Lamps

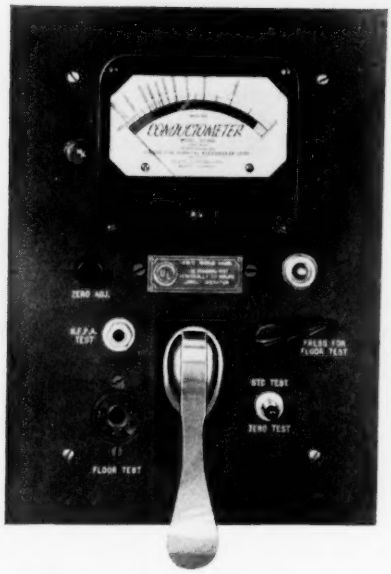
1. Lamp out, but looks all right.
   a. Tighten in socket.
   b. Secure terminals.
   c. Repair wiring.
2. Lamp burns dim (low voltage).
   a. Match lamp rating to line voltage.
   b. Increase line voltage.
3. Short lamp life (high voltage).
   a. Match lamp rating to line voltage.
   b. Reduce line voltage.
   c. Bulb may be cracked due to mechanical shock.
   d. Replace with lamp of size indicated for luminaire.
   e. Use shock absorbing device if there is excessive vibration in area.
4. Lamp breakage.
   a. Use enclosed, vapor-tight luminaire if water spray is present.
   b. Seal joint where conduit stem enters luminaire.
   c. If bulb is touching luminaire, use correct size of lamp or straighten socket.

Fluorescent Lamps

1. Lamp won't start or lamp

CHECK THESE THREE POINTS

FOR GREATER OPERATING ROOM SAFETY!

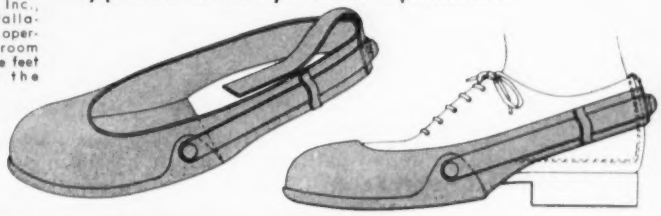


1 CONDUCTOMETER*

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF. PATENT PENDING

Is there a CONDUCTOMETER in each operating room, delivery room, emergency room and in other hazardous locations in your hospital? To avoid disastrous static spark explosions establish a routine of CONDUCTOMETER tests . . . A routine as rigid as that of the scrub-up! (See N.F.P.A. Booklet No. 56 regarding electrical resistance testing of flooring, equipment and personnel.) Check up now and lose no time in correcting any possible deficiency in this vital protection!

The CONDUCTOMETER* is listed by Underwriters Laboratories, Inc., for installation in operating room walls five feet above the floor.



2 CHACO* CONDUCTIVE RUBBER SLIPON

TRADE MARK

Do all members of your surgical staff — AND visitors to surgery — wear CHACO Conductive Rubber Slipons? These easy-to-use conductive rubber slipons are a vital link in guarding against the danger of operating room explosions. Light for comfort — strong for wear — low in cost! Keep a supply on hand!

Also manufacturers of conductive rubber sheeting!

flashes "on" and "off."

a. Seat lamp firmly and correctly.
b. Replace with tested lamp.
c. Replace with tested starter.
d. Check with voltmeter.
e. Check wiring and lamp holders.
f. Check ballast.

2. Lamp flickers, arc wiggles, swirls, or flutters.
   a. Turn luminaire "on" and "off" several times.
   b. Allow a new lamp to operate a few hours for seasoning.
   c. Remove lamp and shake one end down.
   d. If flicker is repeated in a new lamp, replace starter.
3. Ends of lamp glow, no starting effort.
   a. Replace starter.
   b. Check wiring with circuit diagram on ballast.
4. Lamp starts slowly when it should start in a few seconds.
   a. Check with voltmeter.
   b. Replace starter.
5. Short lamp life.
   a. A few early failures do not indicate an average for the group. Some lamps may fail in a few hundred hours while others may last 4,000 to 5,000 hours.
   b. Check with voltmeter.
   c. Lamp may be turned "on" and "off" too often. Lamp rated life is based on operating periods of 3-4 hours.
6. Radio interference.
   a. Turn lamps "on" and "off" to determine if they are the source of interference.
   b. Move radios 9-10 feet from lamp.
   c. Shield and ground the shield of any aerial lead-in.
7. Noise from ballast.
   a. Install filter at radio or luminaire.
   b. Fluorescent equipment is not perfectly noiseless. For very quiet locations take special precautions in locating ballasts.
   c. If unit is particularly noisy, replace ballast.

Mercury Lamps

1. Lamp won't start.
   a. Tighten in socket.
   b. Replace lamp.
   c. Connect line to transformer tap closest to line voltage.
   d. If low voltage, increase line voltage.
   e. Tighten wiring connections.
   f. Check wiring.
   g. 250 W. H-2 and 3,000 W. H-9 lamps may not start when temperature is below 32° F.
   h. Check line voltage with recording voltmeter for several days. Momentary dips of 10 per cent or more may cause lamps to go out.
2. Lamps frequently go out.
   a. Tighten wiring connections.
   b. Check wiring.
3. Annoying stroboscopic effect.
   a. If there is a cyclic flicker, connect luminaires in a staggered arrangement on a three-phase supply.
   b. Add incandescent luminaires to system.

SAFETY CHECK LIST

The following safety checklist has been prepared by the Committee on Safety. A final version of this list will appear as part of the forthcoming "Manual on Hospital Safety." This checklist is intended as an outline to guide the individual hospital in forming a specific checklist adapted to its own organization and physical plant.

Note that on items relating to elevator machinery and equipment, a licensed elevator inspector is indicated as this would normally be a legal requirement and routinely covered in licensing procedure.

Pharmacy

THE OBJECTIVE of the pharmacy guides is to provide "yardsticks" and areas of inquiry for measuring the performance and efficiency of this service by both the administrator and department head.

A secondary purpose is to suggest briefly some approaches or alternatives to the department head (or the administrator who may have to deal directly with departmental operations) which will implement good performance or integration of this hospital service.

An attempt has been made to emphasize measurement of pharmaceutical functions in the average-sized hospital. Because of borderline activities in certain institutional pharmacies, an occasional reference point may not be applicable to an individual hospital with limited facilities. It is presented, nevertheless, as an avenue of inquiry for both the administrator and the department head for practical exploration in order to provide a well-rounded service with limited deficiencies.

Similarly, the check lists or guides do not cover technical aspects of this professional service for it is assumed that the department head is qualified in discharging such responsibility. They emphasize, rather, the administrative responsibility of coordination and integration in the hospital environment as well as measuring the effectiveness of the institutional service developed by the administrator and department head in behalf of the hospital's patients.

This material was prepared by John J. Zugich, administrative assistant, University Hospital, Ann Arbor, Mich. Mr. Zugich is a registered pharmacist and a graduate of the Yale University program in hospital administration. He formerly served as chief pharmacist at Grace-New Haven Community Hospital, New Haven, Conn., and is a past president of the American Society of Hospital Pharmacists.

Sections incorporating minimum standards refer to those recently sponsored by the Division of Hospital Pharmacy of the American Pharmaceutical Association and the American Society of Hospital Pharmacists.

Both the administrator and the department head evaluate departmental performance and efficiency. For most of the subjects discussed in the following pages there are both an administrative check list and a departmental management check list.

Organization

Administrative check list: 1. Are the functions of drug procurement, distribution and issuance within the institution properly organized* so that responsibility can be fixed?

2. Is the pharmacy service under the direction of one of the following:

a. Full-time pharmacist-in-charge who is licensed by the state?*

b. Part-time pharmacist-in-charge who is licensed by the state* using one of these alternatives: (1) Combining functions, e.g., pharmacist-purchasing agent, pharmacist-storekeeper, pharmacist-central supply? (2) Coordinated or regional relationship with other nearby hospitals? (3) From local drugstore where the following may be specifically considered: Financial arrangements for patients and hospital, relationship with medical staff, provision for afterhour emergency service, responsibility for drug controls within the hospital, periodic re-evaluation of hospital sponsored vs. outside service?

3. Is the pharmacist-in-charge directly responsible to an administrative officer?

4. Is there a pharmacy and therapeutics committee* appointed by and advisory to the medical staff?

a. Meets regularly (minimum twice yearly)?*

b. Pharmacist-in-charge is a member and serves as secretary?*

c. Its purpose shall be: (1) To develop a formulary of accepted drugs for use in the hospital; (2) to serve as an advisory group to the hospital pharmacist on matters pertaining to the choice of drugs to be stocked; (3) to evaluate clinical data concerning drugs requested for use in the hospital; (4) to add to and delete from the list of drugs accepted for use in the hospital; (5) to prevent unnecessary duplication in the stock of the same basic drug and its prepara-

Federal Regulations

Alcohol tax information: The Alcohol Tax Unit of the Bureau of Internal Revenue requires a monthly report from each hospital pharmacy which claims a rebate on tax paid for alcohol. The reports are processed by the state alcohol tax units. Apply to the nearest Regional Office, U. S. Treasury Department, Bureau of Internal Revenue, for a copy of Regulation 29 on the alcohol tax, or write to the Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

Narcotics control: Required reading for the director of any hospital pharmacy is Regulation 5, covering the purchasing, dispensing and storage of narcotics in hospitals. Apply to the nearest Regional Office, U. S. Treasury Department, Bureau of Narcotics, for Regulation 5, or write to the Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

tions, and (6) to make recommendations concerning drugs to be stocked on the nursing units and other services.*

5. Is there a formulary system in effect for the economic and rational use of pharmaceuticals in the institution?* Is it kept current by revisions at periodic intervals?

Departmental management check list: 1. Is the administrative superior kept informed of pharmacy activities through: (a) Regularly scheduled conferences? (b) Periodic written reports covering "yardsticks" of his designation?

2. In larger institutions, are the pharmacy personnel appropriately kept informed about matters presented at department head or administrative conferences which the pharmacist-in-charge attends?

3. See all sections under "Functions," "Physical Facilities," "Personnel," "Records and Reports" and "Charges."

When a Pharmacist? According to the American Hospital Association Committee on Pharmacy, 1937 report: Any hospital larger than 100 beds warrants the employment of a registered pharmacist. This applies to a general hospital or special institutions for the acutely ill.

The Public Health Service in its report dated July 1949 said: The services of a pharmacist on a consultative or part-time basis should be utilized in hospitals of less than 100 beds. (Source: Margaret K. Schafer, Hospital Services Division, Public Health Service. Complete report, "Staffing the General Hospital 25 to 100 Beds," available in the Library of the American Hospital Association.)

Functions

A. Purchasing

Administrative check list: 1. Have the prerogatives or relationship between the pharmacist-in-charge and the hospital purchasing center been clearly defined regarding drug buying?

2. Are specifications regarding quality of all drugs, chemicals, antibiotics and biologicals provided by the pharmacist-in-charge?*

3. Are satisfactory controls operating on the emergency and "spot" purchases of pharmaceuticals? (a) Allowable circumstances defined? (b) Frequency reviewed? (c) Individual orders limited?

4. Are there some comparative statistical controls on efficient drug purchases available? (a) Annual or semiannual physical inventories? (b) Annual purchases per active bed?

Departmental management check list: 1. Is there a close working relationship with the purchasing section in: (a) Procedures for competitive bids (e.g., antibiotics)? (b) Investigating multiple sources of supply? (c) Handling pharmaceutical representatives? (d) Returning outdated and perishable items?

2. Is the advice of the pharmacy committee and the clinical experience of the medical staff utilized to determine: (a) Quality standards? (b) Validity of advertising claims? (c) Standardization and avoidance of duplication?

3. If operating on a budget, are purchases for each period closely correlated with the budgeted allotment and immediately reviewed with the administrative superior if appreciably out of line?

4. Are adequate internal pharmacy records maintained on all items purchased to provide an experience record on prices, quality and sources of supply? (See "Records and Reports.")

5. Are drugs purchased by generic name rather than by brand name if several firms manufacture an item?

6. As buying guides for sources and generic names are the following consulted: (a) New and Nonofficial Remedies? (b) Gutman's Modern Drug Encyclopedia? (c) The Green Buying Guide? (d) The Red Book? (e) U.S.P. and N.F.?

7. Is one person made responsible for specifications — preferably the pharmacist-in-charge?

B. Dispensing

Administrative check list: 1. Are there adequate safeguards in effect for prescription and floor drug dispensing within the pharmacy?

2. Does the number of reports of improper medications given on nursing units indicate that the pharmacy is lax in any of its safeguards?

3. Does the pharmacy meet the legal requirements of keeping prescription orders on file?

4. Are drugs received with reasonable dispatch by nursing units or has this been cause for frequent complaint?

5. Is a standardization program for nursing unit stock drugs in effect for economy and better service?

6. Is some provision in effect for maintaining pharmacy services when the pharmacy is closed? (See item 4 in the departmental management check list below.)

7. Has a definite policy been established regarding release of drugs, quantities and pricing for: (a) Lay public (other than patients), (b) employees, and (c) medical staff?

8. Has the accounting department provided an adequate system of cash controls in the pharmacy if cash is handled?

Departmental management check list: 1. Does the filling and labeling of all drug containers issued to services rest as a responsibility of the pharmacy?*

2. Does the file of original prescriptions required by law indicate the dispensing pharmacist on each in order to fix responsibility if an error occurs?

3. Are drugs for nursing units standardized by considering some or all of the following: (a) Advice of pharmacy committee or medical staff? (b) advice of head nurses? (c) cost? (d) volume used on a unit? (e) increasing the patient care time for nurses? (f) eliminating "nuisance" charges to patients?

4. Are the pharmacy services maintained after hours or when the pharmacy is closed? Some suggested alternatives are: (a) Emergency pharmaceutical supply box kept in nursing office, central supply, or on each patient floor; (b) supervisor of nursing service carries key to the pharmacy; (c) a pharmacist is on call at all hours; (d) arrangements are made with a local drug store to fill emergency prescriptions.

5. Does the volume of partially consumed prescriptions returned to the pharmacy indicate excessive amounts are sent to and charged to patients?

6. Are drugs issued or distributed by a system that minimizes or eliminates the necessity for nurses or auxiliary nursing workers to come to the pharmacy? Distribution may be by (a) pharmacy messenger, or (b) centralized hospital messenger system.

7. As one index of pharmacy service, is the administrative superior furnished with periodic reports of prescriptions and requisitions dispensed?

8. Are all drugs dispensed on written order only, except in extreme emergencies?

C. "Manufacturing" or Bulk Compounding

Administrative check list: 1. In those hospitals with an extensive program of bulk compounding have the provision for adequate controls and the risks of institutional manufacture been reviewed and resolved with the pharmacist-in-charge to determine the extent of such a program?

2. Are the savings accrued in a bulk compounding program reviewed objectively and periodically with the pharmacist-in-charge?

Departmental management check list: 1. Are all formulas written with explicit directions for bulk compounding?

2. Are periodic cost studies completed on manufactured items including such factors as: (a) Ingredients; (b) labor; (c) per cent yield; (d) utilities; (e) depreciation on equipment; (f) space; (g) controls; (h) packaging?

3. Are adequate controls maintained from time of manufacture to the dispensed unit?

4. If injectable preparations are routinely manufactured and sterilized in the pharmacy, have the environment and procedure been reviewed with the pharmacy committee or pathologist?

D. Education

Administrative check list: If the pharmacist is qualified, does he contribute to the hospital's formal or informal educational activities?

Departmental management check list: Have some of the following areas and mediums been explored for contributing to the education of members of the hospital team regarding hospital drugs?

a. House staff: (1) Conferences on new drugs? (2) Prescription writing techniques? (3) Pharmacy committee recommendations?

b. Graduate nurse staff: (1) Participation in periodic supervisory or head nurse meetings? (2) Voluntary seminars on new drugs? (3) Orientation schedules through pharmacy for newly employed nurses?

c. Student nurses: (1) Pharmacist-instructor for pharmacology or materia medica courses? (2) Case study assistance relating to drug therapy? (3) Computation of dosages?

d. Medical staff: (1) Pharmacy department drug bulletins? (2) Formulary? (3) Pharmacy committee recommendations? (4) Changes in laws relating to prescribing or dispensing?

Physical Facilities

A. General Considerations

Administrative check list: 1. Are minimum standards for adequate pharmaceutical and administrative facilities met, including especially the following areas: (a) The necessary equipment for the compounding, dispensing and manufacturing of pharmaceuticals and parenteral preparation? (b) Bookkeeping supplies and related materials and equipment necessary for the proper administration of the department? (c) An adequate library and filing equipment to make information concerning drugs readily available to both pharmacists and physicians? (d) Special locked storage space to meet the legal requirements for storage of narcotics, alcohol and other proscribed drugs? (e) A refrigerator for the storage of thermolabile products? (f) Adequate floor space for all pharmacy operations and the storage of pharmaceuticals at a satisfactory location provided with proper lighting and ventilation?*

2. Recommended areas: Shown below are the recommended areas for hospital pharmacies in three size groups. The areas in the table are net areas and do not include walls and partitions. Additional storage space is provided for bulk pharmacy stores in an area directly beneath the pharmacy and separate from central stores.

Type of unit	Size of hospital 50-bed	100-bed	200-bed
Compounding and dispensing laboratory	205 sq. ft.	320 sq. ft.	495 sq. ft.
Parenteral solution laboratory	—	185	200
Active storeroom	—	125	200
Manufacturing laboratory	—	—	120

Internships in Pharmacy

Three hospitals, in conjunction with university affiliated schools of pharmacy, offer internships and graduate degrees in pharmacy. The graduate programs are about two years in length and give opportunity for well-rounded practical experience in hospital pharmacy administration, pharmaceutical manufacturing, prescription compounding, dispensing, and in the preparation of sterile solutions and other sterile products.

The hospitals, university affiliations and course directors of the pharmacy internships follow:

Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore; University of Maryland; W. Arthur Purdum.

University Hospital, Ann Arbor; University of Michigan; Don E. Francke.

Jefferson Medical College Hospital, Philadelphia; Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science; Herbert E. Flack.

Entering requirements for these programs require a bachelor of arts degree from an accredited school of pharmacy. Applicants also must meet entrance requirements for the respective schools.

The minimum standards committee of the American Society of Hospital Pharmacists currently is working on a standard for pharmacy internships in hospitals. Tentative standards as drafted by the committee call for a minimum of 1,920 hours of training in the hospital pharmacy. A recommended division of these hours follows.

Outpatient prescription laboratory	320 hours
General dispensing laboratory	480 hours
Manufacturing laboratory	640 hours
Administration	480 hours

If the recommended division of hours is not followed, the standard calls for 240 hours training as an absolute minimum in each of the four major subdivisions.

2. Has decentralization been a consideration to provide better service by reviewing the hospital's: (a) Patient traffic; (b) personnel traffic; (c) ratio of outpatient to inpatient demands; (d) communication and distribution facilities; (e) premium or priority demands for hospital space?

3. Are facilities used jointly with other nearby departments, dependent on the demand, to avoid cost of duplication for such items as: (a) Autoclaves; (b) refrigeration; (c) waiting areas; (d) cashier facilities?

B. Compounding and Dispensing Unit(s)

Administrative check list: Is a suitable area for compounding and dispensing drugs provided to the pharmacy function considering: (a) Sanitation requirements; (b) ventilation; (c) lighting; (d) sufficient storage for active prescription items in work area?

Departmental management check list: 1. Does the pharmacy meet state requirements for minimum compounding and dispensing equipment for drug stores?

2. Is a clean and orderly environment maintained for the function of prescription compounding?

3. If drugs are dispensed directly to patients, is a suitable waiting area with seating provided?

4. To avoid time-consuming compounding and dispensing manipulations are work saving devices utilized such as: (a) Mechanical mixers; (b) filters; (c) prepackaged stocks?

C. Storerooms

Administrative check list: 1. Is provision made for a general storage area of nonactive pharmaceuticals with adequate space for organized control in a well-ventilated, dry and safeguarded section to prevent inventory losses?

2. Is the storage of bulk pharmaceuticals combined with central hospital stores whenever feasible to avoid duplication of facilities and to promote systemized control?

3. Is the pharmacy provided with adequate special storage facilities to meet federal and local regulations on the following: (a) Alcohol; (b) narcotics; (c) flammables; (d) biologicals?

Departmental management check list: 1. Is the general pharmacy storage area so arranged as to: (a) Provide prompt and complete check for incoming items? (b) Provide quick inventory checks of each item as withdrawn? (c) Allow adequate area for systemized stock control? (d) Avoid excessive heat, light or moisture? (e) Prevent pilferage?

2. Is a close working relationship developed with central hospital stores on bulk items to minimize storage facilities in the pharmacy area?

3. Is alcohol stored in a separate, locked and fireproof room under direct control of the pharmacist?

Basic Pharmacy Library

Because of the large number of medicinals prescribed and the constantly changing agents, a necessary working tool for the pharmacist is a basic reference library. It should provide a ready source of information about the details of handling a drug and guidance for the medical staff.

The following working references are suggested as a minimum. Items 13, 14 and 15 may be considered optional, dependent on the scope of pharmacy functions.

1. United States Pharmacopoeia and Supplements, latest edition. Easton, Pa., Mack Publishing Co.

2. National Formulary and Supplements, latest edition. Easton, Pa., Mack Publishing Co. By laws of the various states, these first two volumes are required to be available in the pharmacy.

3. New and Non-Official Remedies, latest edition. Chicago 10, American Medical Association. The most current listing of drugs including standards and uses found acceptable by the Council on Pharmacy and Chemistry of the American Medical Association. Drugs are judged by applying stringent criteria including investigations by the council and weighing evidence of claims submitted by manufacturers.

4. United States Dispensatory, latest edition. Philadelphia, J. B. Lippincott Co. An encyclopedic work whose index includes 30,000 entries covering drugs of official and nonofficial acceptance. Authoritative bibliographic references on standards and pharmacological uses are incorporated in expanded statements on each drug not generally available in any other single volume.

5. Remington's Practice of Pharmacy, latest edition. Philadelphia, J. B. Lippincott Co. A volume touching on every phase of pharmaceutical science and techniques. Includes technical manipulations in pharmacy and related sciences, preparations, special formulas, public health responsibilities of the pharmacist, administrative suggestions and ideas as well as summarized sections on chemistry. An illustrated section on hospital pharmacy practice provides up-to-date guides and references for detailed departmental operations.

6. Facts and Comparisons, latest edition. St. Louis 18, Facts and Comparisons, Inc. 3,500 trademarked drug specialties prescribed by physicians are listed. A timesaver for the hospital pharmacist by providing him with a quick comparison in tabular form on cost per dose, sizes, strengths, uses, potency and dosage of the same or similar products of various firms which may use different brand names. This source of reference assists in avoiding duplication, setting up purchasing specifications and promoting economy in the use of drugs. It is kept current by monthly revisions and additions as new products are placed on the market.

7. Merck's Manual, latest edition. Rahway, N. J., Merck and Co., Inc. Although primarily a handbook for the physician, this manual provides the pharmacist with background on etiology, diagnosis, tests and therapy for the most common pathologic conditions in order that he may more intelligently serve the function of consultant to the medical staff. Each condition listed suggests varied prescription compositions for its therapeutic management.

8. Merck's Index, latest edition. Rahway, N. J., Merck and Co., Inc. A comprehensive reliable encyclo-

5. Is the narcotics safe so situated that it will discourage possible robbery after hours?

6. Are narcotics stored on nursing units in non-removable metal strong boxes with the responsibility fixed at all hours for the key?

7. For thermolabile biologicals and serums is provision made for: (a) Adequate refrigeration*; (b) periodic thermometer checks on temperature?

8. Are volatile liquids or flammables stored in approved containers and suitable areas to prevent explosions?

9. Has the local fire marshal been consulted on their storage?

10. Are safety and work saving devices available for transporting or transferring heavy bulk materials, corrosives and poisons? (a) Dollies and hand trucks? (b) Carboy racks? (c) Face masks and aprons?

*Minimum Standard for the pharmacy.

D. Office

Departmental management check list: 1. Is the office or the desk of the pharmacist-in-charge so located that the dispensary can be supervised?

2. Are provisions made to provide a suitable conference or consultation area with physicians and nurses without interfering with the efficiency of the department?

3. Is an up-to-date library of reference books on pharmacology, drugs and chemicals and therapeutic uses maintained? (See the "Basic Pharmacy Library.")

Personnel

(See also Organization above.)

A. Pharmacist-in-charge and Assistants

Administrative check list: (Item 1 is specified in the Minimum Standards.) 1. Is the pharmacist-in-charge: (a) Legally qualified by licensure and registration in the state? (b) A graduate of an accredited college of pharmacy? (c) Professionally competent, of good moral character, mentally and physically fit? (d) Provided with an adequate number of assistants that the volume and quality of service demands?

2. Other qualifications that may be applicable: (a) Is the pharmacist-in-charge well-trained in the specialized functions of hospital pharmacy? (b) Is he able to institute sound departmental management within hospital policies in both revenue and service aspects? (c) Does he have the confidence and respect of the medical staff?

Departmental management check list: Are internal control systems involving supervision and checking in effect for all assistants to assure accuracy under conditions of frequent interruption?

B. Duties and Responsibilities

Administrative check list: (Minimum Standards) Is the pharmacist-in-charge responsible for:

1. The preparation and sterilization of injectable medication when manufactured in the hospital?

pedia of over 6,000 chemicals and drugs in condensed format indicating physical properties, medicinal uses and precautionary yardsticks for the compounding pharmacist.

9. Gutman's Modern Drug Encyclopedia and Therapeutic Index, with "New Modern Drugs" quarterly supplements, latest edition. New York City, Drug Publications, Inc. A comprehensive compilation describing drugs, biologicals and allergens recently introduced on the market and used by the physician and pharmacist. Three indices —by product, drug manufacturer and therapeutic indication—provide the pharmacist with a tool to help standardize on duplicated pharmaceuticals and to assist the physician in choice of medication. It is a ready reference on formulas, action and uses, methods of administration and dosage form of brand name pharmaceuticals. A quarterly supplement keeps the pharmacist abreast of newly introduced drugs.

10. Pharmacological Basis of Therapeutics. New York City, MacMillan Co.; or Manual of Pharmacology, Sollman, latest edition. Philadelphia, W. B. Saunders Co. Authoritative references on detailed pharmacological action of drugs.

11. Medical Dictionary, W. A. Newman Dorland, latest edition. Philadelphia, W. B. Saunders Co. A complete dictionary of the terms used in medicine, surgery, dentistry, pharmacy, chemistry, nursing, veterinary science and biology including definitions and derivations.

12. The Red Book, latest edition. New York City 18, Topics Publishing Co., Inc. A listing of all drugs sold in interstate commerce with purchase and selling prices.

13. The Green Book, latest edition. New York City 7, Schnell Publishing Co. A buying guide for bulk volume pharmaceuticals listing prime producers and sources.

14. Drug and Cosmetic Review, latest edition. Pittsfield, Mass., Drug Markets, Inc. A buying guide for the pharmacy that engages in more than a limited manufacturing program.

15. Aseptic Treatment of Wounds, C. W. Walter. New York City, MacMillan Co. This misleading title in actuality provides a broad text on sterilization and procedures in preparing injectables commonly used in hospitals for those pharmacists engaged in this function on demand of the medical staff.

With the rapid advances in drug research and constantly changing therapeutic agents, it is suggested that the pharmacist-in-charge keep up to date in developments on medicinals through:

a. Journals: Journal of the American Pharmaceutical Association, Scientific and Practical Pharmacy editions. Washington 7, D. C., American Pharmaceutical Association.

Bulletin of the American Society of Hospital Pharmacists. Washington 7, D. C., American Pharmaceutical Association, Division of Hospital Pharmacy.

American Professional Pharmacist. Great Neck, Long Island, N. Y., Romaine-Pierson Publishers, Inc.

Medical journals in hospital library.

b. Card indexing of potentially useful information as determined by the experience of the pharmacist in working with the medical staff and the needs of the hospital.

c. Attendance at meetings, e.g., journal club of the medical staff.

d. Manufacturers' catalogs kept up to date.

Specify CHIMEDIC for quality pharmaceuticals

TOLYPHY

TOLYPHY Chimedic for safe, effective relaxation of skeletal muscle spasm without loss of normal muscle tone or function.

TOLYPHY exerts the full spasmolytic action of TOLYSPAZ (Chimedic brand of mephenesin) plus the beneficial effects of physostigmine and atropine on the neuromuscular system.

Indications: TOLYPHY is specifically designed for the relief of pain, for increased range of motion and restoration of normal function in a wide variety of conditions complicated by skeletal muscle spasm or neuromuscular hyperirritability, such as arthritis, fibrositis and bursitis.

URISED

URISED Chimedic for dual attack against urinary infection Through its rapid, dual action, URISED effectively combats the two primary causes of pain, burning, urgency, dysuria and frequency in genito-urinary infections.

URISED, by exerting the prompt antibacterial action of methenamine, salol, methylene blue and benzoic acid along the entire urinary tract, rapidly reduces irritation, spasm and the pus cell count and encourages healing of the mucosal surfaces.

URISED rapidly relaxes painful smooth muscle spasm and aids in the restoration of normal tone through the dependable parasympatholytic action of atropine, hyoscyamine and gelsemium.

BEXII-M

BEXII-M Chimedic for high potency Vitamin B_{12} therapy High potencies of B_{12} have been reported to bring quicker, more effective relief of pain in a wide variety of conditions such as osteoarthritis, osteoporosis, diabetic neuritis and peripheral vascular disorders. BEXII-M—1000 mcgms. Vitamin B_{12} Crystalline U.S.P. per cc.—combines exceedingly low toxicity with high potency.

12. Maintenance of the facilities of the department?

13. Cooperation in teaching courses to students in the school of nursing and in the medical intern training program?

14. Implementing the decisions of the pharmacy committee?

15. The preparation of periodic reports on the progress of the department for submission to the administrator of the hospital.

Departmental management check list: 1. Have the above duties and responsibilities been reviewed with the administrative superior and intra- and extra-departmental adjustments made in order to discharge them to fit the needs of the institution?

2. Has an inspection program of nursing unit drugs been developed in cooperation with the nursing department to cover: (a) Elimination of deteriorated, overstocked or obsolete preparations? (b) Cooperative nursing-pharmacy safeguards for patients, including labeling, packaging, and storage on patient unit? (c) Frequency of inspections? (d) Reports of inspections? (e) Follow-up? (Other responsibilities are noted in other sections.)

Records and Reports

A. Legal

Departmental management check list: 1. Are all prescriptions kept on file?

2. Are narcotic prescriptions (a) Kept in separate file? (b) Retained for a minimum of two years? (c) Made non-usable by some cancellation method?

3. Are outpatient prescriptions not refilled except by express designation of the physician?

4. Is a perpetual inventory record system maintained for narcotics?

5. Are there adequate records of consumption of narcotics?

6. Is a perpetual inventory record system maintained for tax-free alcohol?

7. Are there adequate records of consumption of alcohol?

8. Are separate records maintained for narcotics purchased for and sold to outpatients?

9. Are there controls to prevent use of tax-free alcohol in medicinals which are later sold (e.g., to outpatients) and where there is direct exchange of money to the pharmacist? Some alternatives may be: (a) Direct purchase of alcohol-containing preparations not for inpatient or hospital use. (b) Rebate on tax-paid alcohol so used. (c) Flat rate charges for outpatient

Accounting Records for Pharmacy

Records may be kept of the number of prescriptions compounded for inpatients, recorded by patient services (i.e., by nursing units, accommodation, or type of medical care) and for outpatients (clinic patients, private outpatients and emergency patients). This information, however, will not disclose the amount of pharmaceuticals issued as routine medication to various patient services, nor will it indicate the amount of drugs requisitioned by special service departments such as the operating rooms, delivery rooms, department of radiology, etc.

An estimate of the cost of pharmaceuticals used by the various patient services and by other hospital departments may be obtained by having requisitions submitted and priced for all drugs and prescriptions ordered from the pharmacy. This information could be used then as a basis for allocating pharmacy expenses to the various hospital departments or patient services in a cost analysis of the hospital's operations.

CLASSIFICATION OF ACCOUNTS

The following classification of expense accounts for the pharmacy department is recommended in the American Hospital Association's accounting manual.

644-1 Salaries and wages. Salaries and wages of pharmacists, assistants, clerks and others employed in the hospital pharmacy department.

644-2 Supplies and expense: Drugs and pharmaceuticals—Drugs and pharmaceuticals dispensed by prescription or otherwise from the hospital pharmacy department.

Drugs and pharmaceuticals used in the outpatient and emergency departments should be charged there and not to this account.

Purchased services—This account should include the cost of prescriptions (excluding those for outpatients) purchased from an outside pharmacy if the hospital does not have its own pharmacy.

Miscellaneous supplies and expense—Bottles, labels, glassware, narcotic and alcoholic permit fees, printed forms and stationery, pharmacists' uniforms, reference books, etc. Parts required to repair and maintain equipment used by this department and repairs made by outside concerns to such equipment also should be charged to this account, to separate subaccounts if significant in amount.

services which include no additional charge for medications prescribed.

10. Have the following records or permits been reviewed recently for current applicability and availability: (a) Alcohol bond; (b) narcotic permits — manufacturing, inpatient sales, outpatient sales; (c) narcotic order forms; (d) still registration; (e) annual narcotic inventories?

B. Institutional

Administrative check list: Has a regular pharmacy department report been considered for appraisal of this service in more detail? Some suggested areas for reporting on a comparative basis between current activities and the previous month or year may be:

1. Number of prescriptions and requisitions filled, including dollar value.
2. Inventory status, with separate values for antibiotics from other pharmaceuticals. (Current usage of ACTH and cortisone may indicate a separate inventory value is also advisable.)
3. Cost per patient day for drugs.
4. Cost per outpatient visit for drugs.
5. Average cost per outpatient prescription.
6. Pharmacy personnel complement.
7. Number of pharmacy committee meetings.
8. Recently introduced expensive drugs and anticipated effect on purchases or budget.

Departmental management check list: 1. Does the pharmacy prepare an "unusual occurrence" or accident report and forward it immediately to the administrative superior if a potentially serious error in compounding has been committed on a dispensed drug?

2. For better control of departmental service and efficiency are the following records or reports maintained (or obtained from other sources) dependent on the extent of pharmacy operations:

a. Records of nursing division stock drugs including standards for replacement on units?

b. Number of prescriptions filled for inpatients and outpatients?

c. Manufacturing records, including work sheets, formula cards and costs, amount and kind of items manufactured?

d. Pharmacy inventory?

e. Modified perpetual inventory on those few drugs comprising bulk of pharmacy inventory value, such as antibiotics, diagnostics, and ACTH and cortisone?

f. Budget?

g. Floor charges from pharmacy?

h. Pharmacy "sales" to outpatients and inpatients?

i. Purchase record?

j. Prescription pricing and stock location index on each drug stocked?

k. Personnel, including payroll, salary ranges, and job descriptions?

l. Requisition for supplies?

m. Requisition to purchase?

n. Pharmacy report to administrator?

o. Pharmacy committee decisions?

3. Before specific record keeping is begun in special areas, is there an investigation to give assurance that the pharmacy is not duplicating the effort of other departments? Some sources of investigation may be the accounting, purchasing, and medical record sections, and the administration.

Charges

Administrative check list: 1. Has a definite policy been established with the pharmacist-in-charge regarding the extent (or lack) of markup on drugs? Some principal markup factors for drugs may be:

a. The over-all policy of the administrator. (This includes his theory on income limits from extra service charges and his definition of the "nuisance" charge level. He may likewise determine policy on discounts to physicians and employees or on double charges for drugs such as those used in x-ray diagnostics.)

b. Interpretation of hospital policies by the accountant or comptroller and the pharmacist. (A standard, predetermined markup may be set for prescription drugs to fit a desired income.)

c. Amount of income necessary to put the hospital pharmacy on a self-paying basis.

d. Charges for prescriptions creating a "nuisance" on pa-

One Equation for Determining Drug Charges

A hospital can use this equation as one basis for reasonable, consistent drug charges. Cost fluctuations and differences in dollar value thus may be adjusted and the pharmacist may maintain better control of his department, its surplus earnings, its financial needs and its fairness to hospital and patient.

$$\frac{\text{Desired income from drugs}}{\text{Cost of prescription drugs}} \times 100 = \text{per cent above cost to be charged for prescriptions}$$

1. Determine desired income from drugs.
2. Divide desired income by cost of prescription drugs.
3. Multiply the result by 100.

In one hospital, where no profit from prescription drugs was desired, the formula was used in this manner:

1. Desired income, based on cost of medications issued without charge to patients:

Total nursing unit expense	3,153.06
Auxiliary professional unit expense	280.83
Narcotics	80.00
Nuisance prescriptions	215.38
Pharmacy salaries and other expense	1,284.62
Desired income (tabulation)	5,013.89
Desired surplus earnings	00.00
Desired income to meet expenses	5,013.89
2. Cost of prescription drugs	$6,430.00
3. Above cost percentage

$$\frac{$5{,}013.89 \text{ (desired income)}}{$6{,}430 \text{ (prescription cost)}} \times 100 = 78 \quad \text{(per cent above cost to be charged for prescriptions)}$$

The 78 per cent represents the markup necessary to meet all pharmacy costs and to place the pharmacy on a self-paying basis with no desired profit.

tients' accounts and how such charges are offset by equivalent percentage markups on other drug charges.

e. Degree of manufacturing carried on in the pharmacy and general purchasing practices for lower costs.

f. Relation of hospital charges for prescription drugs to prices imposed by local retail outlets.

Some methods used by hospitals to set a drug charge policy are:

a. No special charge (absorbed in an all-inclusive hospital rate structure).

b. Partial-inclusive (charges are made for "special," "non-formulary" and/or "non-official" drugs only).

c. Cost plus a predetermined factor to offset: (1) Pharmacy operating expense; (2) small, "nuisance" charges; (3) general hospital losses. (See "One Equation for Determining Hospital Drug Charges" above.)

d. Manufacturers' retail "list" and/or "fair trade" price (56-66 per cent above purchase cost).

e. Flat rate for each prescription (generally applicable to outpatient drugs only).

2. What controls are used to avoid a late-pharmacy-charge problem in the following departments: (a) Medical staff; (b) nursing; (c) accounting; (d) pharmacy?

3. Drugs charged on the nursing unit: In general, the smaller the hospital the more likely there will be a charge made for drugs normally carried in stock in the nursing unit, according to the 1952 Hospital Rate Survey, conducted by the American Hospital Association. About 80 per cent of all small hospitals surveyed do charge for these drugs, and only 40 per cent of the largest hospitals make these charges.

The first hospital rate survey, published in 1947, had this to say about charges for drugs: Hospital literature often questions hospital practice in making an extra charge to the patient's account for the administration of simple medications carried in stock on the nursing division, and hospital authorities have regularly recommended that in so far as possible special charges in addition to the room rate be eliminated.

Over the six-year period that the rate survey has been made, changes in the number of hospitals charging for drugs in the nursing unit have been slight. The percentage for small hospitals was 82.3 per cent in 1947 and was 81.7 per cent in 1952.

Among the largest hospitals the percentage has decreased from 40.0 per cent in 1947 to 38.1 per cent in 1952 making this charge.

The following table shows the policies of general hospitals which replied to the 1952 questionnaire on the question of charges:

Charges for Drugs Carried in the Nursing Unit

Size of hospital	1947	1952
Under 50 beds	82.3%	81.7%
50-99	81.4	80.5
110-249	64.1	59.2
250 and over	40.0	38.1

Departmental management check list: 1. Has the administrative superior been consulted on a definite policy for drug charges?

2. Are charges for drugs consistent for the same medicament and quantity or are they arbitrarily priced?

3. Does the pharmacy have stringent internal controls to help prevent late pharmacy charges?

4. Are current reports obtained from accounting to determine the extent of late charges?

5. Is the medical staff periodically circularized with brief lists on the cost of drugs? Some measures to determine such lists may include: (a) Costs of oral vs. injectable forms; (b) exceptionally expensive drugs which are recently introduced medications or high cost per course and per dose; (c) pharmacy committee recommendations.

Are you last on the list . . . .

. . . . and wish you were first ?

Being low man on the totem pole isn't necessarily humorous if you are trying to do the type of a job that earns promotions.

You may be one of thousands of department heads who read this copy of HOSPITALS because your name is on the route slip. That is fine . . . except . . .

You may be able to do a better job . . . and faster . . . if you have opportunity to read the current issue of HOSPITALS just as soon as it is published. And that is possible with just a minute of your time and a really modest expenditure.

If you will fill out the coupon below (or send a card if this copy can't be clipped), you will receive your own copy of HOSPITALS each month . . . as regular as clockwork. Then you won't have to wait a day. Many other outstanding department heads now have their own subscriptions too.

That's one way to prepare yourself for doing the type of work that earns promotions.

IT COSTS SO LITTLE!

For hospitals (and their employees) that are members of the American Hospital Association, the costs are $2 for one year; $4 for two years, and $6 for three years. For all others the costs are $3 for one year; $5 for two years, and $7 for three years.

Nursing Service

EVERY HOSPITAL administrator at some time or another examines his nursing service department with the following questions in mind. What has been done, what is being done and what can be done by this department? He does not only an intradepartmental evaluation but he also studies the department in relation to all departments in his hospital, keeping in mind the need for cooperation and understanding of their mutual problems.

The primary purpose of nursing service administration is the provision of optimum nursing care for all patients. A clearly organized and well administered nursing service department utilizes all available manpower and material resources to obtain optimum care. This guide has been developed along the progressive and recognized principles of nursing service administration. It is divided into five large units which represent interrelated functions of the nursing service department:

1. Organization.
2. Planning and directing.
3. Staffing.
4. Coordination.
5. Communication.

Involved in all of these functions, are other factors such as human relations, continuous evaluation, interdepartmental activities, teaching and research.

ORGANIZATION

The organization of the nursing service department may be a formal or an informal one. Whichever it is, clearly defined lines of responsibility and authority are essential and must be adapted to changing conditions. Each person should know to whom and for whom he is responsible. The philosophy and aims of the hospital can be expressed through the organization pattern as well as through a constant flow of communication which permits interpretation of these philosophies and aims to the entire staff of the department.

Affirmative answers to the following questions on organization would show that the department is based on principles compatible with good administration:

1. Have the aims and objectives of the hospital been explained to the nursing service department?
2. Do the aims and objectives of the nursing service administration coincide with the over-all aims and objectives of the hospital?
3. Does the philosophy of the hospital, as set down in the charter, guide the nursing personnel as they perform their daily work?
4. Is there an organizational chart of the department, clearly denoting lines of authority and responsibility for carrying out nursing service activities efficiently?
5. Is the nursing service able to keep abreast of changing health practices?
6. Does the organization of nursing service encourage a free flow of communication upward and downward?
7. Is appropriate authority provided for the persons whose responsibility it is to make decisions?
8. Are authority and responsibility consistent with the individual and the individual's position?
9. Is there provision for all concerned to participate in policy formation and development?
10. Are the policies in writing and are they reviewed periodically by all concerned?
11. Does the nursing service administration organization encourage espirit de corps both intradepartmentally and interdepartmentally?

This material was prepared by graduate nurse students in the program leading to a master of nursing administration degree at the University of Minnesota School of Nursing, under the direction of Helen Goodale Florentine and Isabel Harris. Mrs. Florentine is lecturer and assistant to the director and Miss Harris is instructor at the University of Minnesota School of Nursing. It was reviewed by Ronald Jydstrup, instructor in the University of Minnesota's course in hospital administration, Carl Platou, administrator of Fairview Hospital, Minneapolis, and Marian L. Fox, R.N., nursing specialist for the American Hospital Association.

PLANNING AND DIRECTING

Planning is continuous in the process of administration. Action, direction, and evaluation are repeated ad infinitum. Planning may be short-term or longterm. Cooperative consideration of optimum nursing care of all patients will lead to the formulation of many types of plans that directly or indirectly carry forth the objective of improved patient care.

The committee on inservice education programs is a good example of a group within this department carrying on longterm and shortterm planning. Flexible longterm staff education programs for all groups of workers may be sketched roughly for the entire year centering around basic themes such as "Making our staff more safety conscious" or "Let's economize: Save time, energy and material." Short-term planning is detailed, continuous effort to carry out prescribed larger objectives. Shortterm plans in staff education might deal with such factors as more effective teaching devices, utilization of audiovisual aids and taking advantage of current activities.

The director of nursing service should set an example of how the work should be done, employ techniques which will stimulate personnel to better performance, issue clear-cut instructions and review periodically the service rendered in order to see that plans are moving forward. Directing also requires coordination, the key to all smooth performance.

Affirmative answers to the following questions relative to planning done by a nursing service department would indicate that this department is aware of the continuous nature of planning and directing.

1. Has previous planning been effective in meeting emergencies and maintaining nursing standards?

2. Are work loads planned for effective utilization of professional and nonprofessional personnel?

3. Does the medical staff have a favorable impression of the nursing service rendered? Do the medical staff's suggestions serve as a basis for cooperative planning toward meeting the patient's needs?

4. Does the attitude of patients in the hospital and the people in the hospital area indicate that they believe the nursing service is effective? Do their suggestions serve as a basis for present and future planning? Do human relations play an important part in planning?

5. Are pertinent data collected, analyzed and utilized in planning nursing care?

6. Are established standards of nursing care based on studies and an analysis of this institution and the community?

7. Are changing medical and nursing concepts utilized in planning and directing nursing care?

8. Are effective safety programs planned for patients and personnel?

9. Are established nursing techniques and procedures based on scientific principles, and do they lend themselves to sound administrative practice?

10. Are the patient's needs a factor in planning schedules of activities and routines necessary to maintain efficiency of service?

11. Do the present planned teaching and supervision of personnel strive for personal development as well as professional efficiency?

12. Are opportunities, materials and time available to the nursing staff for research and creativeness in problem areas of nursing?

13. Are opportunities provided for administration, medical staff and department heads to discuss interrelated problems and plan toward their mutual solution?

14. Are opportunities provided for nursing service and nursing education personnel to plan to keep abreast of the newest trends and developments in medical science and nursing?

15. Are opportunities provided for personnel within clinical divisions, and others who are part of the medical team, to meet and plan together for better coordinated service to the patient?

16. Is the planning for the nursing service budget based on needs for personnel, supplies and equipment which are necessary to accomplish the objectives of the hospital?

17. Does the planning in the budget anticipate specific requirements that will be needed in the future, such as new equipment, supplies or additional personnel?

18. Is the present nursing service budget planned and utilized as an operating tool? If so, by whom?

19. Are representative members of the nursing service consulted on the formulation of the nursing service budget, especially those whose responsibility it is to operate within it?

20. Does planning include provision for members of the nursing staff to attend institutes and conventions?

21. Is the planning for nursing service focused on the needs of the patient?

STAFFING

To a great extent the efficiency of the nursing service department is dependent upon the quality and quantity of its personnel. It is the people within this department, working cooperatively with all hospital personnel, that will accomplish the objectives set forth.

Staffing, a highly important responsibility of administration, deals directly with people—workers employed on a part-time or fulltime basis and volunteer workers. Staffing also includes recruitment, selection, appointment, assignment, orientation and continuing education of all workers within the department. Recently emphasis has been given to the responsibility of administrators to work with people rather than to exert power over them. The nursing service department should cooperate in the establishment, interpretation, administration, and evaluation of personnel policies and standards of performance for all employees within the department.

The nursing service department should conduct an active education program for all personnel, and the effectiveness of this program should be discussed periodically by all participants. This type of program which better prepares each worker for his position often makes it possible for individuals to advance to higher positions. Also careful planning, which allows sharing and discussion in educational programs, may help employees meet some of the challenges or remedy some of the difficulties encountered by them in their working situation.

Workers should be encouraged to share their special skills and knowledge with the community or other health agencies and to participate in appropriate community organizations, thus providing additional stimulation of professional and personal growth beyond that which takes place in the institution and an interpretation of the hospital to the community.

Affirmative answers to the following questions would indicate a well planned program for employees:

1. Are the personnel policies for nursing service a part of, and not in conflict with, the over-all policies of the hospital?

2. Is there a coordinated program for over-all personnel recruitment, including the nursing service department?

3. Are there established criteria for interviewing and selecting personnel?

4. Is there a written job analysis, job description and job specification for each position?

5. Is there a planned orientation program for all personnel?

6. Are "on-the-job" training programs planned and in operation for all employees who have had no formal preparation?

7. Does the "on-the-job" training program meet present needs and anticipate future needs of personnel?

8. Are daily assignments for employees clearly defined and available? Is provision made to evaluate types and methods of assignment periodically?

9. Is a method of evaluation established for measuring performance of all nursing service personnel?

10. Is there continuous study of the numbers and ratio of professional and nonprofessional staff needed in your institution? (Ratio of nursing hours per patient.)

11. Are there merit rewards for efficient service, and if so are there sound criteria on which these are based?

12. Are the employees aware of the personnel policies, and are they represented when these are reviewed?

13. Is there an active program for the promotion of health and job satisfaction for all workers?

COORDINATION

In order to achieve smooth, harmonious working relationships that will lead to efficient and economical nursing service there must be interdepartmental coordination and cooperation.

Some of the characteristics which will promote coordination interdepartmentally and intradepartmentally are: Imagination, because it takes a variety of techniques to produce complete coordination; energy, because it cannot be left to chance; vigilance, because it must be kept in constant operation.

The function of coordination is interrelated with all of the activities of the nursing service department. The questions listed below may give some indication as to the effectiveness of coordination in the department of nursing:

1. Do members of the nursing service staff participate in interdepartmental committee meetings and conferences?

2. Does the nursing service promote within the staff the concept of total health care?

3. Do all departments participate in developing routines and schedules that cut across the activities of their respective departments?

4. Is there a representative advisory committee for improvement of nursing service?

5. Are opportunities provided for members of the nursing staff to understand the functions and activities of other departments?

COMMUNICATION

As with coordination, communications are interrelated with all functions of nursing service. An effective communication system is another one of the principles of sound management. The channels of communication should be kept open, down, up and through the entire organization of the hospital. Various methods of communication should also be utilized in getting information out into the community.

In general, communications are of a written or oral nature, but the importance of attitude should not be overlooked. The nursing service is wise to employ a variety of techniques to establish an efficient communication system, such as notices posted on bulletin boards, staff meetings, periodic reports and the use of records. A constant effort should be made to check the effectiveness of the communication system, to remedy barriers in the channels of communication and to evaluate the accuracy of communications.

The questions listed below will serve as a starting point to determine the effectiveness of the communication system to, from and within the nursing service:

1. Is there a system of records and reports for the department?

2. Are records of other departments utilized in planning nursing service?

3. Are all personnel informed as to how records and reports are used?

4. Is there provision for clear interpretation of over-all administrative policies to all personnel?

5. Is there an established method of reporting activities and problems of the department to the hospital administrator?

6. Are records and reports reviewed periodically to determine their current usefulness?

7. Are barriers to communication recognized, and is an honest effort made to remove them?

8. Are members of the staff encouraged to participate in community activities and to share their skills and knowledge?

9. Do you know the origin and pathway of the grapevine in your institution?

10. Are reports on the operation of the hospital which would stimulate pride in employees communicated to them?

11. Does each employee within the nursing service understand what the accepted channels of communication are, and how they operate within the hospital?

Laundry

TRAINING IS one of your greatest and most important responsibilities, if in your laundry —Production has decreased.

—Quality is lacking.

—Labor turnover is heavy.

—Absenteeism is a daily headache.

—Complaints are excessive.

There are many factors which influence these conditions, but many of today's laundry problems are the result of employees not "knowing how" to do their jobs. Your responsibility, then, as a laundry supervisor, is to pass along the "know how" to the people who work under you—so that they can help in solving these problems by doing their jobs—correctly, quickly, and conscientiously.

Who is a "supervisor"? The answer to this is—anyone who is responsible for the activities of one or more employees. This may be the manager, superintendent, department head or a "key" employee. If you are one of these, it is your job to "train" the various employees who are responsible to you.

Who should be trained? Everyone from the plant manager to the bundle boy needs training. Too often, it is thought that only new employees need this attention. They do present the main training problem—but do not overlook the need for retraining experienced help whenever changes are made in methods of operation, equipment, or when a worker is transferred from one department to another. Newly hired "experienced" operators need training, too. Just because they have worked in another laundry does not mean that they can, without training, step in and do a good job in your plant.

How will you find time to train? You are very busy. Perhaps it is well to check and see why you are so busy.

If you work in an average laundry, a large portion of your time as a "supervisor" is used up in solving the following typical problems:

Production Problems

Bundles not properly identified.

Deliveries delayed because of errors and mistakes by operators doing the work.

Operators don't know their jobs.

Mix-ups in lots.

Garments returned by other departments because they were not finished right.

Operators have special problems because of engineering changes.

Poor planning through department.

Operators have difficulty in getting up to production on new type equipment.

Aisles too congested.

Excessive wear and tear on equipment.

Safety Problems

Safety equipment not properly used.

Poor laundry housekeeping.

Operators don't know safety rules.

Operators don't know hazards of their jobs.

Operators get careless.

Minor injuries not reported.

Quality Problems

Failure to meet inspection standards.

Many do-overs and re-washes.

Not following specifications.

Too much left to operator's judgment.

Personnel Problems

Insufficient number of operators.

Operators leave to other plants—couldn't "get the hang" of the job.

New operators lack experience.

Lack interest in the work.

Operators want transfers—think they can "make out" better on other jobs.

Claim to have good experience but don't "come through."

Too much time to get up to production.

Instructed wrong way.

Can't get experienced operators any more.

Operators get discouraged learning the job.

Naturally, this is not a complete list of your problems, but no doubt they are typical. Actually, then, if a major part of your work day is used in solving these problems—aren't you more of a troubleshooter than a "supervisor"? The majority of these problems could be solved if the employees who cause them really knew how to do their jobs.

One of your duties, then, as a supervisor, is to pass the "know how" along to your employees. As you begin to do this, your problems will gradually become fewer in number, thus allowing you more time for further training and real supervision. Your big job is training.

HOW TO GET READY TO INSTRUCT

As for anything else that you do, it is necessary to make some preparations before starting to train an employee on a job. Poor preparations on your part will result in a poorly-trained operator. The following outline describes a tested and proved method of preparing an employee training program.

This material was published originally by the American Institute of Laundering as Special Report No. 126, "How to Train Laundry Employees on the Job." It is reprinted here with permission of the American Institute of Laundering.

I. Have a Training Schedule Or Time Table

Do: —Ask yourself—How much skill should the worker have? By what date?
—Have a plan—save time.
—Think in terms of: "How soon can I get this employee trained?"

Don't:—Assume a casual attitude such as—
"It takes time—"
"A lot of mistakes just seem to happen—"
"Let 'em learn—that's the way I got it—"

"How much time" should be the real emphasis in your planning—not just a vague, "It takes time." The purpose of this emphasis is not a speed-up plan to hurt the employee. It is used solely to give them a real chance to develop as they are capable.

II. Have a Job Breakdown Or Job Description

Do: —Before training someone to do a job—make a brief description of all the main steps and important "key points" pertaining to the job.
—Make the job breakdown simple and brief.
—Check the number of steps in your breakdown—if there are more than 8 or 9, you may be attempting to "put across" too much for the learner to master at one time.
—After use, file the job breakdown away for future training needs.

Don't:—Rely upon memory in training an operator (you may know the job well, but it is important that every step and detail be presented to the learner).
—Try to teach "too much" at one time.
—Set a bad example for the employee by jumping about from one step to another.

Obviously, the purpose of a job breakdown is to give you a definite plan or procedure for doing the job. Too often, supervisors "think they know" the job. Many do "know it so well" that they perform many operations "mechanically" and do not get the idea across to the learner. Employees cannot learn correctly unless every step and detail is presented in a clear, concise manner. Plan not to assume that the learner understands—but to make sure that she knows.

Definitions:

What is a "step" in making a job breakdown?

A "step" is a logical "lump" or group of operations which causes something to happen and thereby advances the doing of the job.

What is a "key point"?

It is a "detail" piece of information concerning special knacks, hazards, feel, timing, or special information which a learner must know if a "step" is to be done properly.

A "key point" can best be determined by asking yourself three questions, namely:

1. Is there anything in connection with the "step" which will make or break the job?
2. Is there anything that makes the performance of the "step" easier to do?
3. Is there anything in doing the "step" which might injure the worker?

III. Have Everything Ready

Do: —Have the right tools, equipment, and materials ready before starting to train.
—Make necessary repairs, replacements, etc., before the learner is brought to the workplace. (If she needs to know how to make certain repairs, etc., train her to do that later —after she knows the job itself.)

Don't:—Fumble around looking for necessary tools, etc.
—Set a bad example.

IV. Have Workplace Properly Arranged

Do: —Arrange workplace as you want learner to use and maintain it.
—Set proper example.

Don't:—Start training with a "messy" workplace.
—Train operator and arrange workplace later.

HOW TO INSTRUCT AN OPERATOR

If you have completed the four "How to Get Ready" steps, you are ready now to actually instruct a learner.

There are again four main steps to follow if a successful job of training is to be accomplished.

I. Prepare the Learner

The learner of a new job must be properly "conditioned" or "prepared" for effective training.

In the case of a new employee coming on the job for the first time, let your tactics fit the situation. When a present employee is being transferred from one job to another, the tactics are somewhat different and must be chosen to meet the situation. For either case, the following "Do" and "Don't" points are offered as suggestions to guide you in "Preparing the Learner." Response of the learner will guide you in determining how much time you should spend on this step.

Do: —Put learner "at ease."
1. Have a friendly smile.
2. Use a "man to man" handshake when introduced.
3. Tell employee you are glad he or she is joining your organization — be sincere.
4. Ask where employee lives—try to establish mutual friends or acquaintances.
5. Ask friendly, interested questions about his or her family—discuss parallel situations, such as, if both of you have children, talk about them.

Deficiency Check List

For a list of common deficiencies, dealing wholly with physical aspects of the laundry department, with no intent of including procedures and washing practices, see page 49 of the Management Guides Section of the 1952 Administrators Guide Issue of HOSPITALS. This deficiency check list covers the physical plant and laundry equipment. Also in last year's issue is information of marking linens, economy in the laundry and a management check list.

6. Discuss learners' hobbies. Compare with your interests. Let worker know that you are a "human being" and interested in things other than everyday work.
7. Create the impression that you are unhurried. No matter how many problems you have, act as though training the worker is your most important problem at the moment.
8. By what you say and by the way you act, make certain he or she gets the impression you are a newly-found friend—ready and eager to help.
9. Introduce fellow employees working nearby.

—Find out what learner already knows about job.

1. Ask where she has worked before.
2. Point out things learned on previous job that may be helpful on this one.
3. Keep experience of learner in your mind as a guide for remainder of training.

—Get interest in learning job.

1. Be sure operator knows what wages she will earn and on what basis.
2. Point out possibilities for advancement.
3. Explain importance of the job. (Every job, no matter how small, is important for one or more reasons.)
4. Show how job fits into the general processing of a patient's linen.

(Note: The amount of information regarding the job, the plant, and general policies given the worker at this point will depend upon how much is normally explained to employees at the time they are hired.)

—Get learner in correct position.

1. Place operator where she can see what you do—close to the same angle that you see the job. (Same side of table, press, etc.)
2. Be sure learner is near enough to hear you speak. (In cases of nearby noises, speak loudly—remember new operators may not be accustomed to such noise.)

Don't:—Forget how you felt when you went on a new job.

—Overlook the fact that the employee's impression of you is just as important as your impression of her.

—Disregard the fact that people cannot learn when nervous, excited, and mentally uncomfortable.

—Try to "put at ease" by telling employee not to be afraid. This will merely "remind" her to be afraid.

—Ridicule or criticize methods used in another laundry where operator may have worked.

—Assume that an operator who has worked in a laundry on a similar job knows how to perform the same job as a whole in your plant. Plan to train her in your method.

—Forget that here is an opportunity—now—to "sell" an employee on the importance of her job.

—Tell a worker that her starting wage is low. Merely state how much the beginning wage is.

—Tell learner that she will have a "sore back" but will possibly get "used to it." Explain that "certain unused muscles may become tender for a few days, as when one swims for the first time. Shortly they get accustomed to the exercise and the soreness disappears."

—Fumble around with a pencil or some other object while talking to operator. This divides her attention and creates nervousness.

II. Present the Job Operation and Job Knowledge

As soon as the learner has been thoroughly "prepared" for training, you, as the trainer, should proceed to demonstrate just how the job should be done according to the following steps:

Do: —On the first demonstration:

1. Tell her how to do job.
2. Show her how to do job.
3. Explain and illustrate step by step and point by point according to your job breakdown.
4. Go slowly.
5. Be very patient.
6. Occasionally glance toward learner with a smile and expression of eagerness to help her.

—On the second demonstration:

1. Go through the same procedure as in the first demonstration at least a second time.
2. In addition, ask the learner various simple questions about some of the points mentioned in your first demonstration—questions beginning with why, how, who, what, when, where?
3. Be patient when asking questions and compliment operator when correct answers are given.

—If operator does not answer your questions satisfactorily, repeat second demonstration once or twice more.

If after four or five demonstrations learner still cannot answer questions very well, you are probably presenting too much information at one time—or else not doing a good job of it.

—Two or three demonstrations are usually enough.

Don't:—Overlook or skip steps or points shown in job breakdown. Remembering them later confuses the learner.

—Leave the learner at any time to take care of something else until your training job is done.

—Use words or phrases which have meaning only to people in the laundry industry; for example, "arching" collar, "press buck," "go-back," "shaker," "wash wheel." If such words are used, explain fully.

—Leave anything to judgment of operator; for example, if you are training girl to operate a hank ironer and no monogram hanks are handy, do not just tell her that monograms should be laid in a certain manner so they will be outside when folded, but get a monogram somewhere and really show her how it is done.

—Hesitate to answer questions of learner. Naturally, if such questions call for long complicated answers not relating to the job itself, then tactfully tell the learner that you will tell her about that sometime, but for the time being she will be better off just to have information about the job.

—Allow learner to "take job away from you" when asking her questions. Some over-anxious or "cocky" learners think they "see" how the job is to be done just as soon as you have presented one or two steps. They sometimes almost push you aside in their eagerness to show you. Do not let them take job away from you. When learners start to grasp at something, get your hand there first and let them merely "tell" what should be done. Their chance to do the job will come later after your presentation.

III. Have Learner Perform Job

Now you are ready to have the learner actually do the job under your guidance and supervision.

Do: —Let worker try out the job.

1. As she does it step by step,be sure to check her understanding of each major "step" and "key point" by again asking questions.
2. Use the same questions as in your presentation. If they were the correct questions then — they are still correct. By asking them, you are:
   a. Again causing various "steps" and "points" to be emphasized in the mind of the learner, and
   b. Finding out yourself just how much the employee is really learning about the job.
3. Correct errors at once.
4. Maintain a friendly and helpful attitude at all times.

—Repeat operator performance and questioning when it is obvious that some parts are still not clear.

—As soon as performance and answers to questions indicate a reasonable understanding of job, have learner tell and show you.

1. This is your real goal. When your learner can "tell" and "show" you how to do the job, it is a good indication that she knows the job.
2. Remember that quick performance cannot be expected at this point—speed comes with practice.

—Continue training until you know that the learner knows and really understands the job.

—Compliment learner on good performances.

Don't:—Hurry up worker's performance or show any signs of impatience.

—Grab work or tools from learner's hands — ask for them.

—Use "tricky" questions which may confuse learner.

IV. Follow-up

The final step in training a learner is not the point at which she "tells" and "shows" you how the job should be done. Instead, you, as the trainer, should "break" away gradually.

Do: —Point out that you "feel" learner knows job well enough to proceed alone for a while.

1. Make certain there is sufficient work at the work place for her to practice on.

—Ask her in a pleasing manner to save any questions for you which may come up.

1. Explain that you have something else to do for ten or fifteen minutes and that you will come back.
2. Point out that questions should not be asked of other operators—possibly because older operators are acquainted with different methods — or because the other operators would be slowed down in their work.

—Be sure to point out rest room facilities, drinking fountain, first aid.

—In case you are leaving near lunch time, arrange for someone to take new worker to lunchroom. (A new girl left standing bewildered and alone in the center of the plant after the noon "rush" is a pathetic sight.)

—Make sure new worker has lunch or lunch money, if she has just been hired.

—Check back frequently to see how learner is getting along.

1. Correct mistakes.
2. Retrain on "weak points" if necessary.

—Be encouraging at all times.

Before leaving employee, compliment her upon the fact that she has been a good learner.

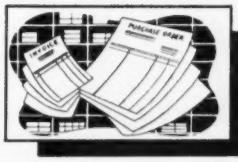
—Leave operator with a smile.

Don't:—Forget to come back to operator after being away for ten or fifteen minutes.

—Tell operator to get help from other operators if she gets "stuck" — unless you are sure of the other operators' knowledge and skill on the job.

—After finishing instruction, do not go back to informal discussions.

Leave operator thinking about the job.



Purchasing

WHENEVER ECONOMY of purchasing and dependable quality in products are desired, hospital purchasing agents refer to the simplified practice recommendations and commercial standards developed through the Commodity Standards Division of the Office of Industry and Commerce, U. S. Department of Commerce. Each of the recommendations and standards has been established through the cooperative efforts of manufacturers, distributors and users of the product working in conjunction with the Commodity Standards Division.

A large number of the standards have been initiated by the American Hospital Association's Committee on Purchasing, Simplification and Standardization and by member hospitals of the Association.

Consumers who base their purchasing decisions on the recommendations and standards benefit in many ways. They secure better values and quality than would be possible otherwise, and better service in delivery and repair. Inventories are reduced, and ordering and requisitioning simplified. Volume manufacturing of products eventually should result in lower prices.

Simplified practice recommendations establish standards for stock sizes and varieties of specific commodities that are in general production and use. The aim of each recommendation is to cut down needless and wasteful variety in purchasing and replace it with a systematic list of essential sizes or varieties.

Commercial standards regulate quality of materials and processes used in manufacturing an article. Standard methods are established for testing, rating, certification and labeling of commodities. One of the major purposes of commercial standards is to provide uniform bases for competition.

All products manufactured in accordance with a commercial standard may carry indentifying statements guaranteeing the product to meet the requirements of the standard. When reference to a standard is made in contracts, labels, invoices, or advertising literature, the provisions of the standard are enforceable through legal channels as part of the sales contract.

Initial action on the establishment of a recommendation or standard may be taken by the manufacturers, distributors, or users of a product. The initiating group submits pertinent data to the Commodity Standards Division for the drafting of a tentative statement. The division submits the standard to other organizations for criticism, and after final revision, the standard or recommendation is adopted. A standing committee, composed of manufacturers, distributors and consumers, receives criticisms of the standard and suggestions for revisions.

The effectiveness of the recommended practices and standards depends on voluntary compliance by purchasing agents, manufacturers and distributors. Successful programs can be established only if purchasing agents write out their orders and specifications in accordance with the recommendations.

Reprinted in this section of the Administrators Guide Issue are nine simplified practice recommendations for hospital products, followed by seven commercial standards. Also included are some proposed recommendations and standards and other buying guides.

Additional copies of these standards, and complete lists of all the simplified practice recommendations and commercial standards may be secured from the superintendent of documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C. The charge for most of the pamphlets is five cents each.

Food Purchasing

Purchasing of many hospital food items can be simplified with the use of the Master Menu Food Purchasing Guide, which begins on page 359 of this Administrators Guide Issue of HOSPITALS.

Hospital Beds, R24-37

The simplified schedule of sizes and varieties is as follows:
For general hospital use:

	Inches
(a) Length, inside distance between head and foot posts	78
(b) Width of end angles of springs	36
(c) Height from floor to top of springs, inclusive of casters, etc.	27

For certain institutional use the need for a narrower bed is recognized. In these cases the recommended width is 33 inches, with length and height the same as above.

For private-room use, where a wider than standard bed is desired, the recommended width is 39 inches, with length and height the same as above.

HOLLYWOOD HOSPITAL CHAIR

Model No. 5HL21-71
Semi-reclining Back, Detachable Head Rest and Adjustable Leg Rests.

Designed to take the place of obsolete non-folding hospital wheel chairs

A tremendous favorite with hospitals . . . a revolutionary aid in the rest homes. The light-weight metal HOLLYWOOD HOSPITAL WHEEL CHAIR is easily adjusted by the patient with a minimum of effort, and folds compactly to conserve storage space. Its U.S. Naughahyde-plastic upholstery can be cleaned with a damp cloth. Leg-rest panels have self-adjusting action, and fold aside for convenient entry and exit. Its high-quality workmanship and materials, together with an attractively moderate price, make the HOLLYWOOD HOSPITAL the ideal wheel chair for hospitals, clinics, and institutions.

Five Hollywood Folding Wheel Chairs can be stored in the same space required for two non-folding, wooden chairs.

Nomenclature

Sponges—Dressings for sponging and wiping.
Packs—Dressings for walling off and intra-abdominal sponging.
Postoperative gauze dressings—Dressings to cover incision after operation.
Pads—Dressings for absorbing drainage after operation.
Cotton balls—Dressings for sponging, or for applying medications and preparing the skin.

Directions for Folding Hand-made Dressings

2 by 2, 3 by 3, and 8 by 4 sponges.

Turn in ¾ in. at AA and BB; fold at DD and CC, bringing edges AB to EE; fold at EE, bringing edge DD over CC; fold at GG and at FF to produce a sponge approximately 8 by 4, 3 by 3, or 2 by 2 in.

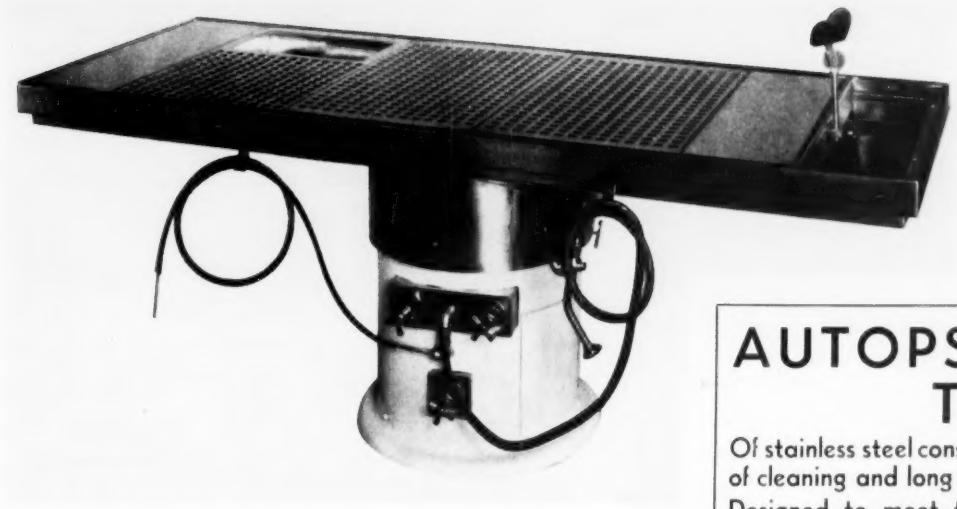
4 by 4, 16-ply sponge

Turn in ¾ in. at AA and BB; fold at DD and CC, bringing edges AB to EE; fold at EE, bringing edge DD over CC; fold at HH and FF, bringing the two edges EC to GG; fold at GG, bringing FF over HH to produce a sponge approximately 4 by 4 in.



← BOSTON MODEL

AUTOPSY TABLES

Of stainless steel construction for ease of cleaning and long life

Designed to meet the exacting requirements of the pathologist

The Boston Model is exclusive in design by virtue of its centrally located pedestal and top which may be rotated through an arc of 90 degrees.

Standard equipment includes an irrigator hose, suction apparatus and rubber headrest.

Accessories which increase the tables usefulness are a built-in sponge bowl and an instrument tray that provides a convenient cutting surface and holder for instruments.

Further information and detailed specifications of the Boston and other standard models are available on request.

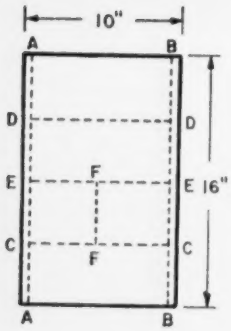

FIGURE 3.

4 by 4, 8-ply sponge

Turn in ¾ in. at AA and BB. Fold at DD and CC, bringing edges AB to EE. Fold at EE, bringing edge DD over CC. Fold at FF to produce a sponge approximately 4 by 4 in.

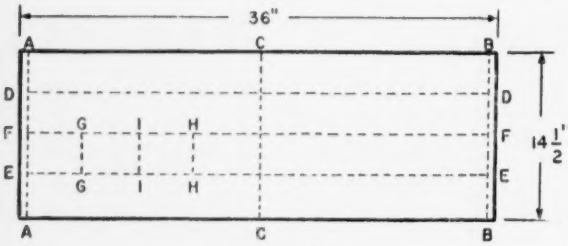

FIGURE 4.

4 by 3½, 32-ply sponge.

Turn in ¾ in. at AA and BB. Fold at CC, bringing edge BB over AA. Fold at DD and EE, bringing edges AB to FF. Fold at FF, bringing edge DD over EE. Fold at HH and GG, and then at II to produce a sponge approximately 4 by 3½ in.

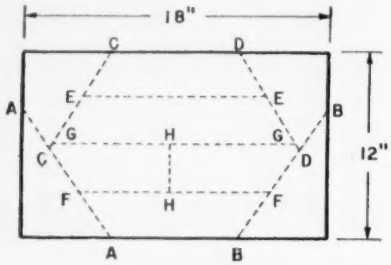

FIGURE 5.

Pointed (Mayo) sponge.

Fold at AA and BB at the approximate angles indicated. Fold at CC and DD approximately as shown. Fold at EE and FF, bringing edges AB and CD to GG. Fold at GG, bringing edge EE over FF. Fold at HH to produce a sponge, pointed at one end, with a maximum dimension of approximately 4 by 5½ in.

36 by 8 tape pack.

Turn in ½ in. at AA and BB; fold at DD and CC, bringing edges AB to EE; fold at EE, bringing edge DD over CC to produce a pack approximately 36 by 8 in. Insert tape 18 in. long in one corner (see fig. 13), stitch all edges, and quilt.

18 by 4 tape pack.

Turn in ½ in. at AA and BB; fold at DD and CC, bringing edges AB to EE; fold at EE, bringing edge CC over DD to produce a pack approximately 18 by 4 in. Insert tape 18 in. long in one corner (see fig. 13), stitch all edges, and quilt.

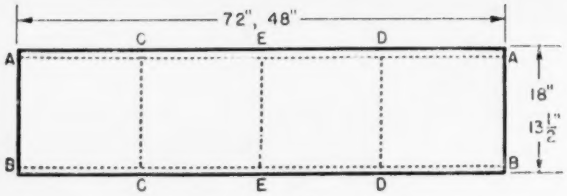

FIGURE 8.

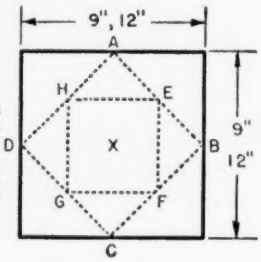
12 by 12 and 18 by 18 tape packs.

Turn in ½ in. at AA and BB; fold at DD and CC, bringing edges AB to EE; fold at EE, bringing CC over DD to produce a pack approximately 18 by 18 or 12 by 12 in. Insert a tape 18 in. long in one corner (see fig. 13), stitch all edges, and quilt.

FIGURE 9.

Small thick fluff, and large thin fluff.

For small, thick fluff dressing, first fold gauze in half to form a square, then fold as for large fluff, as follows: Bring four corners to center x, bring new corners A, B, C, and D to center x, to produce a square fluff approximately 4 by 4 or 6 by 6 in. Do not crease any fold.



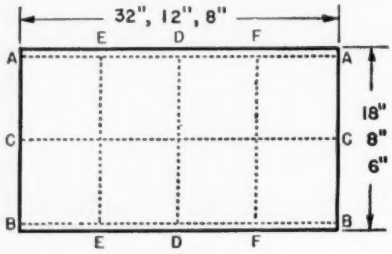


FIGURE 10.

Small, medium, and large flats.

Turn in 1 in. at AA and BB; fold at CC, bringing edge AA over BB; fold at EE and FF, bringing edges CB over DD; fold at DD, bringing edge EE over FF to produce dressings approximately 8 by 8, 3 by 3, or 2 by 2 in.

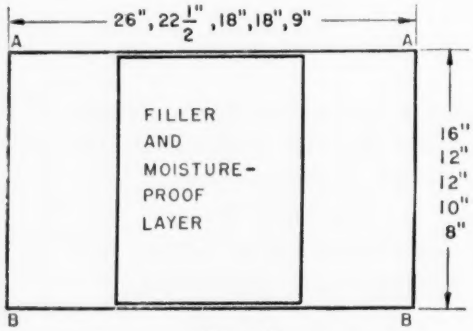

FIGURE 11.

8 by 8, 8 by 10, 10 by 12, and 12 by 16 combination pads; and 3½ by 12 maternity pads.

Place in position, as shown, filler of cotton or cellulose 16 by 12, 10 by 12, 12 by 3½, 10 by 8, or 8 by 8 in.; place moisture-proof layer of same size as filler on top of filler; fold gauze over filler so that edges AB overlap.

3½ by 8 maternity pads.

Place a filler 8 by 3½ in. on gauze as shown; fold gauze at AA and BB over filler so that edges CC and DD overlap; fold gauze at EE and FF.

Flat Veneer Products, R230-48

This recommendation applies to flat sticks, flat spoons and forks, shaped spoons and forks, tongue depressors, and mustard paddles, made of good quality light or dark single-ply gum, maple, birch, or similar clear and close-grained hardwood.

Sizes

Name of product	Nominal length (inches)	Nominal width (inches)	Nominal thickness (inches)
Flat sticks[1]	4½	⅜	1/16 and 1/12
Flat spoons and forks	3 and 5	.....	1/16
Shaped spoons and forks	3⅛ and 5	.....	1/16 to 1/12
Tongue depressors or blades[2]	5¾	11/16	1/16
Mustard paddles	5	.....	1/16

[1] Flat sticks have parallel edges and rounded ends.
[2] Tongue depressors have parallel edges and ends rounded to a radius equal to one-half the width.

Surgical Sutures—Nonboilable Type, R239-50

(Catgut, Silk, Nylon)

A list of the standard types and sizes of surgical sutures is given in the table. The items listed represent about 95 per cent of total sales of sutures of the kinds covered. Needle illustrations are shown in figures 1 to 9.

Plastic Tableware, CS173-50

Capacities and dimensions of plastic tableware

A commercial standard for heavy-duty alpha-cellulose-filled melamine tableware, CS173-50, covering chemical and physical requirements and methods of test, was developed by the industry and issued by the U.S. Department of Commerce in 1950. Copies may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C., at 5 cents each.

Weight (ounces per square yard), minimum	3.6	3.6	4.6	4.0

All tests for the above requirements are to be made in accordance with the test methods of the American Society for Testing Materials. Note that Type 180 in reality covers two types, one combed and one carded. The other requirements are identical.

Mattresses for Hospitals, CS54-35

This standard covers both inner-spring and curled-hair mattresses. Reprinted here is section I, requirements for inner-spring mattresses with hair or cotton filling for hospital use.

Types, Classes, Grades and Sizes

Mattresses covered by section I are designated as follows:

(a) Types of inner-spring construction:
Type I. All metal.
Type II. Cloth pocket (fully enclosed).

(b) Class and grades of filling:
Class 1. Curled hair in three grades.[1]
Grade A. 50 per cent horse mane, 50 per cent horse-tail hair.
Grade B. 100 per cent cattle-tail hair.
Grade C. 100 per cent horse-mane hair.
Class 2. Cotton-felt filling in one grade only.

(c) Sizes, over-all nominal:
39 by 77 in. (for 39 by 78 in. bed).
39 by 75 in. (for 39 by 76 in. bed).
36 by 77 in. (for 36 by 78 in. bed).
36 by 75 in. (for 36 by 76 in. bed).
33 by 77 in. (for 33 by 78 in. bed).
33 by 75 in. (for 33 by 76 in. bed).
30 by 39 in. (for 30 by 40 in. bed).
18 by 29 in. (for 18 by 30 in. bed).

General Requirements[2]

Workmanship—Workmanship shall be first class in every respect. The inner-spring unit shall produce no noise and shall remain noiseless during the life of the mattress. Mattress shall readily conform to any position of the Gatch type of bed spring without injury to the mattress. Both sides of the mattress shall be so finished that either side may be used with equal comfort. Mattress shall be well finished, clean and free from defects that materially affect its appearance or that might affect its serviceability. It shall be delivered ready for use.

Materials—All materials shall be 100 per cent new materials.

Springs—Springs requiring heat treatment shall be made of high-grade spring wire having a chemical analysis approximately as follows:

Constituent	Per cent
Carbon	0.61 to 0.65
Manganese	0.90 to 1.30
Sulphur	0.05 maximum
Phosphorus	0.05 maximum
Silicon	0.08 to 0.15

Springs not requiring heat treatment shall be made of high-grade oil-tempered spring wire having a chemical analysis approximately as follows:

Constituent	Per cent
Carbon	0.50 to 0.65
Manganese	0.90 to 1.30
Sulphur	0.05 maximum
Phosphorus	0.05 maximum
Silicon	0.25 maximum

Casing of spring unit—Each assembled spring unit, whether all-metal or cloth-pocket type, shall be completely incased in pre-shrunk unbleached cotton twill, canvas, or duck, weighing not less than 7.2 oz./yd.[2]

Ticking or cover—High-grade blue and white twill or other suitable weave ticking having not less than 78 warp threads and 62 filling threads per inch and weighing not less than 9 oz./yd.[2] (equivalent to 8 oz. per linear yd. 32 in. wide) shall be used. Breaking strength (grab method) shall be not less than 135 lb. warp and 90 lb. filling. (In lieu of the foregoing, ticking having an equalized breaking strength not less than 115 lb. in both warp and filling may be substituted.)

The ticking on each face or cover shall be made up of not more than two pieces with a longitudinal seam properly matched and securely sewn. The stripes of the ticking on the upper and lower faces shall run lengthwise.

Tufting—Each mattress shall be well and securely tufted or tied with high-grade polished cotton twine having a breaking strength (single strand) of not less than 36 lb. In lieu of this, ties may be tubular tape not less than ⅛ in. diameter or single flat tape ⅝ in. in width, either of which shall have a breaking strength of not less than 50 lb. A round needle which will not cut the ticking shall be used for all tufting. Tie or tuft holes shall be spaced not less than ½ in. apart and shall be located so that ties will not contact springs.

Tufts may be of tape, composition buttons, molded rubber, covered corrosion-resisting metal, or other suitable material. Raw-cotton tufts are not acceptable. For pattern of tufting and minimum number of tufts, see detail requirements.

Side-stitching twine—Twine for stitching side filling to spring units shall be two-ply all-linen twine having a breaking strength of not less than 32 lb.

Thread and stitching—Thread shall be not less than 3-cord and shall have a breaking strength (single strand) of not less than 3 lb. All machine stitching shall run not less than 10 stitches to the inch.

Edge—Unless plain edge is specified, all edges shall be of the roll type, well filled, with rows of stitches not over 2 in. apart, and with two additional rows of side stitching, making what is known as a four-row Imperial Edge.

In lieu of the four-row Imperial Edge, the following prebuilt border, with or without padding, may be furnished at the option of the manufacturer. Outer material of border shall be identical with above specifications, Ticking or cover. If padding is used, it shall be in addition to the amount required for top and bottom in tables 1 and 2, and shall be covered on the inside with a lining of same material as casing of inner-spring unit, specified above. If no padding is used, the border shall consist of two thicknesses of ticking identical with that specified above for cover, between which four to six continuous manila or cotton ropes ¼ in. in diameter shall be sewn.

Corners—Unless otherwise specified, corners shall be round and cut on a 4- to 5-in. radius.

Ventilators—Circular ventilating screens of corrosion-resisting metal shall be provided, the combined area of which shall be equivalent to 12 ⅞-in. diameter screens for the 36- by 77-in. size and a proportional number (based on area of mattress) for other sizes. Ventilators shall pass through all border material in such manner as to provide a clear air passage into the spring section.

Lifting straps—Two lifting straps of double-thickness ticking, with turned-in sewed edges, not less than ½ in. wide shall be securely attached in a vertical position to each side of mattress border at the top and bottom seams, located about 36 in. apart and equidistant from the ends. Straps will not be required on mattresses 60 in. or less in length. When longitudinal lifting straps are specified in lieu of vertical, they shall be furnished only on prebuilt borders or when other adequate reinforcement is provided.

Tags—Tags marked to conform to the legal requirements of the state in which the mattress was manufactured and/or is to be sold shall be sewn on each mattress.

[1]Throughout this standard, percentages indicated are based on weight.

[2]When laboratory testing is required to demonstrate conformity with any requirement, if the method of test is not specified or described, it is assumed that modern, approved test methods will be used. In the settlement of controversy, test methods used and approved by the National Bureau of Standards shall apply.

Detail Requirements

Spring units (types I and II)—After having been formed, springs requiring heat treatment shall be heat treated so that they will not decrease in height more than $\frac{1}{8}$ in. after having been completely compressed not less than 20 times.

All springs that are used individually, or all-metal constructions after being assembled, shall be coated with baked-on enamel or other rust-resisting material.

Resiliency of spring units—The assembled spring unit (without filling) shall be of such resiliency that a weight of 44 lb./ft.^{2} applied uniformly over the entire surface of the unit will compress all springs to $2\frac{1}{2} \pm \frac{1}{2}$ in. in height.

Type I. All-metal spring construction—All springs shall be of the type known as "Hour Glass" or "Double-Cone Spiral," except the edge row, which, at the option of the manufacturer, may be cylindrical or elliptical type.

The diameter of wire used in hour-glass springs shall be not less than 0.072 in. (no. 15 steel-wire gage).

Spring units shall be $4\frac{3}{4} \pm \frac{1}{4}$ in. in height after heat treatment. Each coil shall have three or more free turns or convolutions.

Individual coils used in the all-metal spring construction shall be of the free-end type or knotted (fastened to itself or the adjacent spring) in a permanent manner. Each coil shall be fastened to each adjacent coil in such a manner as to permit free hinge action perpendicular to the length dimension of the spring, and without lateral slippage. Where cross helical connections are used, the coils shall be assembled by one of the two following methods, depending on whether free ends are used or knotted ends.

When the coils are unknotted, the free ends shall be anchored within the helical connection without the use of any accessory locking device, so as to form a straight hinge section, and alternate coils shall be wound right and left hand.

When the coils are knotted, they shall be offset with a straight section passing through not less than four turns of the helical connection.

The number of springs in the all-metal type shall be not less than the minimum given below:

Over-all size of mattress (inches)	Minimum number of springs
39 by 77	171
39 by 75	162
36 by 77	152
36 by 75	144
33 by 77	152
33 by 75	144
30 by 39	63
18 by 29	28

Type II. Cloth-pocket (fully-enclosed) spring construction—The spring coils for the cloth-pocket-type spring construction shall be approximately cylindrical in shape with both ends turned in. Springs shall be not less than 4 in. in height when confined in the pockets. Minimum number of turns or convolutions shall be $4\frac{1}{2}$, not including end or bearing convolutions.

Cloth pocket—Spring coils shall be fully enclosed in individual cloth pockets. The fabric used in the construction of these pockets shall be preshrunk, weighing not less than 7.2 oz./yd.^{2}

The number of springs in the cloth-pocket type shall be not less than the minimum given below:

Over-all size of mattress (inches)	Minimum number of springs
39 by 77	608
39 by 75	589
36 by 77	576
36 by 75	558
33 by 77	544
33 by 75	527
30 by 39	240
18 by 29	108

Spring coils, after being enclosed in cloth pockets, and laid up in mattress formation, shall be laced into position with twine passing through not less than five rows of cloth pockets, both top and bottom, and knotted securely at the ends. The twine used shall have a breaking strength of not less than 32 lb.

Class I. Curled-hair inner-spring mattresses—Cleanliness—All hair used for filling or upholstering shall meet the following test to determine cleanliness, sterilization and freedom from offensive odors. This requirement shall be fulfilled to the entire satisfaction of the hospital authorities:

Four ounces of hair are immersed in two liters (roughly two quarts) of water. (The hands of the operator are thoroughly cleaned with a sterilizing wash, before each individual lot of hair is so treated.) After standing in this water bath for two hours and becoming thoroughly soaked, the mass is agitated the same as for ordinary cloth washing, until all clinging dirt and impurities are separated from the hair. Next, the hair is rinsed free from water by squeezing with the hands. The remaining hair is screened off from the water, using a 14-mesh screen. Note whether the resulting solution is cloudy, dirty, or clear. The solution should be clear to meet the requirements of the specification for cleanliness.

Allow the solution to stand not less than 72 hours, at room temperature, in open containers. (Caution: If containers are sealed, there is danger of bursting of the containers due to generated gases.) Examine for evidence of offensive odors or decomposition. The solution shall be free of offensive odors to meet the requirements of the specification.

Horse hair—Shall be new 100 per cent horse hair, properly cleaned and curled. It shall be of natural color, black predominating. (Dyed hair is not acceptable.) It shall be odorless, and free of epidermis and all foreign matter, including hair from other animals and from parts of the horse other than the mane and tail.

(a) Horse mane hair—Not more than 17 per cent shall be under 2 in. in length, not more than 67 per cent shall be under 5 in. in length. (Not less than 33 per cent shall be 5 in. or over in length.)

Horse tail hair—Not more than 10 per cent shall be under 2 in. in length, not more than 30 per cent shall be under 6 in. in length, not more than 90 per cent shall be under 10 in. in length. (Not less than 10 per cent shall be 10 in. or over in length.)

Cattle tail hair—Shall be new 100 per cent cattle tail hair of natural glossy white color or dyed black, free of dust, vegetable fiber, scaly matter, or other foreign substance, and be properly curled. It shall be free of hair from other animals and from parts of cattle other than the tail. If dyed, paraphenylenediamine, aminophenol, or other dyes of the type classified by the British Colour Index as No. 875, shall not be used. Dye shall not discolor the hands in ordinary handling of the hair. Not more than 10 per cent shall be under 2 in. in length, nor more than 50 per cent shall be under 5 in. in length, not more than 90 per cent shall be under 9 in. in length. (Not less than 10 per cent shall be 9 in. or over in length.)

Fastness of color—The color of all hair used shall be fast when tested according to the following methods:

(a) Fastness to crocking: The hair to be tested is rubbed on a white unsized piece of cotton-worsted union cloth. A sample of hair sufficient to cover the end of the finger is placed over the index finger and, applying considerable pressure, the finger is passed 10 times over a length of 4 in. on the white cloth. A similar test is made on cloth moistened with water. There shall be no appreciable staining of either the wet or dry cloth.

(b) Fastness to perspiration: Two solutions are required as follows:

1. Acid Solution

10 g. of sodium chloride.
1 g. of lactic acid, U.S.P. 85 per cent.
1 g. of disodium of orthophosphate, anhydrous.
Make up to 1 liter with water.

2. Alkaline Solution

10 g. of sodium chloride.
4 g. of ammonium carbonate, U.S.P.
1 g. of disodium orthophosphate, anhydrous.
Make up to 1 liter with water.

Two specimens of the colored hair and two pieces of undyed cotton-worsted union cloth measuring 2 by 4 in. are required.

A specimen of hair and a piece of the undyed cloth are thoroughly wet with the acid solution, rolled with the cloth on the outside, and inserted in a glass tube, one end of which is closed, leaving one-third of the roll projecting. The tube is about 15 by 150 mm. in size. The other specimen and cloth are treated similarly using the alkaline-test solution. Each tube is then placed in a glass desiccator about 4 in. in diameter, in the bottom of which is placed about 300 ml. of a 70 per cent aqueous solution of sulphuric acid. The specimens should dry in about 48 hours. They are then ready for examination. No appreciable stain shall be visible on either white cloth. (These methods of test are based on the standard methods of the American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists.)

Moisture—The weights of hair shown in table 1 are based on a normal moisture content of 10 per cent. If the hair used in mattress construction contains more than this amount of moisture it shall be dried before weighing and filling, or a sufficient excess of hair shall be used to compensate for the weight of the excess moisture.

Curled hair shall conform to one of the following grades, as required in the invitation for bids:

Grade A—50 per cent horse-mane, 50 per cent horse-tail hair.
Grade B—100 per cent cattle-tail hair.
Grade C—100 per cent horse-mane hair.

Filling—The assembled springs, after being incased, shall be completely covered (top and bottom) with the grade of hair specified, which shall be evenly distributed. This is known as the primary filling. Additional hair of the same grade about 15 per cent of total amount, shall be well and evenly distributed over the middle one-third area of both top and bottom, extending over the full width of the mattress. This is known as the crown filling. The total amount of hair used per mattress shall be not less than that given in table 1.

Sizes—Unless otherwise specified, the over-all sizes of mattresses shall be as given in table 1, with a plus or minus tolerance of $\frac{1}{2}$ in., except that minus tolerances will not be allowed on both dimensions for the same mattress.

Tufts or ties—The minimum number of tufts or ties is given in table 1, which shall be arranged in a diamond pattern.

Class 2. Cotton-felt inner-spring mattress—Filling—The assembled springs after being incased shall be completely covered (top and bottom) with cotton felt equal to a felt made from a mixture, in equal parts (1) of cotton of not less than $\frac{7}{8}$-in. staple nor lower than middling grade, with (2) U. S. grade no. 2 high cotton linters. (See U. S. Dept. of Agriculture service and regulatory announcement no. 125.) Filling shall be felted by garnett machine and evenly distributed. This is known as the primary filling. Additional felt of the same kind and grade, about 15 per cent of the total amount shall be well and evenly distributed over the middle one-third of both top and bottom, extended over the full width of the mattress. This is known as the crown filling. The total amount of felt per mattress shall be not less than that given in table 2.

Cotton felt shall be examined under an ultraviolet light in order to determine the absence of second-hand linters. The filter used in the light shall be such that new linters of acceptable grade will show a light violet fluorescence readily distinguishable from the fluorescence of used cotton. If the material under inspection has been oiled, specimens shall be washed with carbon disulphide prior to examination. (Caution: Carbon disulphide is highly inflammable and poisonous.)

Sizes—Unless otherwise specified, the over-all sizes of mattresses shall be as given in table 2, with a plus or minus tolerance of ½ in., except that minus tolerance will not be allowed on both dimensions for the same mattress.

Tufts or ties—Cotton-felt mattresses shall have not less than the minimum number of tufts or ties given in table 2, which shall be arranged in either a biscuit or a diamond pattern.

Packing—This specification contemplates that mattresses normally will be shipped by closed truck, unmixed with other freight, and protected from injury, direct from bidder's plant or warehouse to the purchaser. For such method of shipment, cartons will not be required except when specified. Mattresses shipped by l.c.l. freight, express, or by truck in mixed cargo shall be packed in fiberboard or cardboard cartons.

Certification—It is recommended that mattresses manufactured in accordance with the requirements of this standard shall have a label permanently sewn to the mattress worded as follows:

The ..... Company certifies this Type ....., Class ....., Grade ....., mattress to conform to all requirements of Commercial Standard CS54-55, issued by the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Blankets for Hospitals, CS136-46

Following are the types of blankets covered in the standard, indicating the three types of blankets, with varying percentages of wool and the sizes of each type manufactured. These are the details that should be specified in ordering blankets; also, the basic requirements to be met under the standard are indicated in order to guide the buyer.

Types of Blankets Covered

Type	Fiber Content	Size (Inches)
I (all wool)	All Wool	60 x 84 66 x 90 72 x 90
II (75% wool)	75% wool (cotton warp, wool filling)	60 x 84 66 x 90 72 x 90
III (50% wool)	50% wool (cotton warp, wool and cotton filling)	45 x 60 54 x 76 60 x 84 66 x 90 72 x 90

It includes for each type minimum requirements covering size, weight per square yard, thickness, breaking strength, compressibility, color-fastness, shrinkage, and launderability; methods of test, and the recommended wording by which manufacturers and distributors may guarantee compliance with the commercial standard.

Requirements

The word "wool" as used herein is the term "Wool"[1] as defined in Section 2 (b) of the Wool Products Labeling Act of 1939, which "means the fiber from the fleece of the sheep or lamb or hair of the Angora or Cashmere goat (and may include the so-called specialty fibers from the hair of the camel, alpaca, llama, and vicuna) which has never been reclaimed from any woven or felted wool product."

Type I (all wool) blankets shall be composed of 100 per cent wool by weight of the total fiber weight (dry basis) of the blanket.

Type II (75 per cent wool) blankets shall be composed of a cotton warp and a wool filling. The amount of wool by weight (dry basis) in a type II blanket shall be equal to at least 75 per cent of the total fiber weight (dry basis) of the blanket.

Type III (50 per cent wool) blankets shall be composed of a cotton warp and a wool and cotton filling. The amount of wool by weight (dry basis) in a type III blanket shall be equal to at least 50 per cent of the total fiber weight (dry basis) of the blanket.

Blankets shall contain not more than 5 per cent of their total weight (dry basis) of nonfibrous materials.

The size, thickness, weight, breaking strength and compressibility of blankets shall comply with the requirements given in table 1.

[1] It should be noted that the term "wool" as defined above does not include "reprocessed wool" or "reused wool" as defined in section 2 of the Act.

Table 1. Size, Thickness, Weight, Breaking Strength and Compressibility of Blankets

	72x90	.150	10	40	25	.30

Colorfastness to light—When subjected to the procedure described in "Textiles, Testing and Reporting," Commercial Standard CS59-44, for 20 hours, the specimens so tested shall show no appreciable change in color.

Colorfastness to laundering—When subjected to the procedure for determining colorfastness to laundering described under Section XI of "Textiles, Testing and Reporting," Commercial Standard CS59-44, (except the specimen shall be renapped with a hand card while damp to bring the surface back to resemble that of the original material, and not ironed) the specimens so tested shall show no appreciable change in color or staining of the white fabrics.

Texture—When subjected to the procedure referred to in the immediately preceding paragraph, the specimens so tested shall retain their original texture and feel.

Shrinkage—When subjected to the procedure described under Section XVIII of "Textiles, Testing and Reporting," Commercial Standard CS59-44, the shrinkage in either the warp or the filling shall not be greater than 7 per cent.

Labeling

Blankets shall be labeled for fiber content in accordance with the requirements of the Wool Products Labeling Act of 1939 and the regulations authorized thereunder.

In order to assure the consumer that he is receiving a blanket which complies with the requirements of this commercial standard, it is recommended that blankets be accompanied by a certificate, tag, card, or other label incorporating the following wording in addition to the labeling requirement mentioned above:

The manufacturer guarantees that this blanket complies with all requirements for Type ..... of Commercial Standard
(I, II, or III)
CS136-46, as issued by the National Bureau of Standards.

Notes

The type and sizes of blankets and their particular use in hospitals are given in table 2 for the information of the purchasing officers.

Gowns for Hospital Patients, CS146-47

This standard covers size designations, methods of measuring, and standard minimum measurements for gowns for hospital patients; it specifies the number of stitches per inch, and the type of stitch used in sewing different parts of the garment. It includes a recommendation that the collar facing be 1½ in. double thickness reinforced with bias tape. A recommended statement for use on labels guaranteeing conformity to the standard is also included.

The methods and measurements given herein are applicable to finished garments as delivered by the manufacturer.

General Requirements

Method of measuring—The garment to be measured is laid out, front up, without tension, on a smooth flat surface so that creases and wrinkles will not affect the measurements.

Accuracy—Measurements are taken to the nearest ⅛ in.

Detail Requirements

Hems—All hems are to have the raw edges turned in and single stitched 1/16 in. from the turned edge; stitching across ends of hems; finished hem to measure about ½ in. wide.

Stitching—All seaming and stitching operations shall be conducted with not less than 14 nor more than 16 stitches per inch. Seams joined with two rows of stitching shall be double-lapped with the edges of material concealed. The double stitching shall be not less than 3/16 in. nor more than ¼ in. apart and may be sewn with the chain type of stitch. All other stitches in the garment shall be of the lock-stitch type.

Methods of Measuring

LENGTH—Measured from point where shoulder seam joins neckband to bottom of garment when front and back lengths are even at the bottom (C, fig. 1).

CHEST WIDTH—Measured across garment between lowest point of armholes (B, fig. 1).

NECK OPENING—Distance across neck opening is determined by grasping opposite sides of neck opening and bringing the two sides parallel, or it is measured around the neckband from center to back hem (Q, fig. 1).

YOKE, FRONT—Depth of yoke: measured from bottom of yoke to front edge of neck opening (X, fig. 1). Length of yoke: measured across bottom edge of yoke (Y, fig. 1).

ARMHOLE, WIDTH—Measured along the seam from point where sleeve is attached to top of shoulder, to lowest point under arm (A, fig. 1).

SLEEVE, LENGTH—Measured from lowest point of armhole along inseam to end of cuff (D, fig. 1).

SLEEVE, OPENING—Measured across lower end of sleeve (F, fig. 1).

Standard Minimum Measurements

The standard minimum measurements for gowns for hospital patients are shown below.

Standard Size Designations and Minimum Size Measurements for Gowns for Hospital Patients

Location		Size
		Medium (inches)	Large (inches)
Length	(C)	37	39
Chest, width	(B)	27	29
Neck opening	(Q)	8	8
Yoke, front:
(a) depth	(X)	2	2
(b) length	(Y)	9½	9½
Shoulder, width[1]	(S)	21	23
Armhole, width[1]	(A)	10	11
Sleeve, length[1]	(D)	17	19
Sleeve, opening[1]	(F)	8	9
Bottom, width	(Z)	27	29
Tape, length		11	13
Hems		½	½

[1]Applies only to set-in type.

Recommendations

It is recommended that: (a) Where a yoke is not used the neck opening have a 1½-in. double-thickness hem reinforced with bias tape. (b) Tie tapes be herringbone twill stitched into the seam, turned back and bar tacked. (c) Two pairs of tie tapes be provided, one at the neck and one 9½ in. below the neck.

Although raglan-sleeve gowns (fig. 2) are not included in this standard, it is recommended that when such gowns are made:

(a) The sleeves be elbow length in order to eliminate strain and insure freedom of motion and more comfort to the patient; to make it easier to give hypodermics and do blood work; to reduce damage through the tearing out of tie tapes, the ripping of front center, armholes, and across the back.

(b) When raglan-type gowns are specified it is recommended that the sleeve length (measured from center of gown at back of neck to end of sleeves) be 25 in. for all sizes. The other applicable measurements to be identical with similar measurements for the set-in-sleeve type of gown shown in the standard.

Shrinkage—It is recognized that fabrics having a varying degree of shrinkage are used in the general production of gowns for hospital patients. Since it is not practical to set up measurements for gowns made from fabrics of every degree of shrinkage, the industry has adopted measurements applicable to fabrics having not more than 1 per cent residual shrinkage as determined by test methods for shrinkage in Textiles—Testing and Reporting, Commercial Standard CS59-44, as issued by the U. S. Department of Commerce.

In view of the above fact, it is recommended that manufacturers using unshrunk fabrics or fabrics having a residual shrinkage of more than 1 per cent make proper shrinkage allowance.

Identification

In order to assure the purchaser that he is receiving garments that comply with standard minimum measurements, it is recommended that gowns for hospital patients manufactured to conform to such standard measurements be identified by a washable ink stamp, a sticker, tag, or other label attached to the garment carrying the following statement:

> This garment has been made to measurements that are in accordance with Commercial Standard CS146-47, as developed by industry and the trade, under the procedure of the National Bureau of Standards, and issued by the U. S. Department of Commerce.
>
> Or, more briefly
>
> Size conforms to CS146-47, as developed by industry and the trade, and issued by the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Heavy-duty Alpha Cellulose-filled Melamine Tableware, CS173-50

The proposed commercial standard reprinted here has been submitted by the Society of the Plastics Industry. Only minor revisions are expected to be made before the standard is accepted.

The purpose of this commercial standard is to foster maintenance of the quality of heavy-duty alpha cellulose-filled melamine tableware, and to provide a nationally recognized specification for the information of producers, distributors and users.

This commercial standard covers chemical and physical properties, and methods of test of heavy-duty tableware molded of alpha cellulose-filled melamine materials. The materials used are composed of melamine-formaldehyde condensation resin combined with alpha cellulose as the filler. An identifying hallmark and recommended statement of compliance are included.

Requirements

Thickness—Tableware conforming to this commercial standard shall have a thickness of not less than .100 in. over not less than 90 per cent of the surface area, and the remainder shall be not less than .090 in. in thickness.

Finish—The surface of all tableware shall have a high luster produced by molding and not by the application of finish or protective coating or lacquer, or by the use of other adulterants. Flash or parting lines only shall be buffed to a high polish.

Resistance to boiling sulfuric acid solution—When tested with sulfuric acid, tableware shall show no chalking and/or loss of gloss which is readily perceptible without close examination.

Resistance to boiling water—When tested with boiling water, tableware shall not develop cracks, or show surface chalking or any other defects that might impair the serviceability or appearance of the tableware.

Resistance to dry heat—When tested with dry heat, the tableware shall show no cracks.

Methods of Test

The methods of test are especially designed so that they can be conducted by purchasers, distributors, or molders, without the use of costly equipment, and by personnel that need not be specially trained. Meeting these tests is evidence of proper molding.

Sulfuric acid test—Materials: Aqueous solution of sulfuric acid 0.8 per cent by weight. This solution can be obtained from a local druggist or chemical supply house.

Porcelain enamel or stainless steel pail, with cover, about 2- to 3-qt. capacity (2000 to 3000 ml.). Enameled ware must not be used if the inside surface is chipped, exposing bare metal.

Heater, preferably a gas burner about 4 to 5 in. in diameter. In any event, it should have sufficient capacity to keep the acid solution boiling fairly vigorously.

Procedure: From the molding to be tested, cut a cross-section strip about 3 in. wide, if a plate, dish or saucer is involved. If testing a cup, cut a section of about one-half of the molded part, taking for the test that part which includes the handle. The entire piece of tableware may be used if it is desired not to destroy it by cutting.

Heat to boiling a fresh portion of acid solution, keeping the container covered. Immerse a test piece(s) and recover the vessel. Keep boiling. Remove test piece(s) after 10 minutes ± 0.5 minutes, rinse in cold water and dry. Inspect for conformance with above requirement.

Precautions: The acid solution is corrosive, and care should be taken it is not splashed on one's person or clothing, or about the premises.

Use fresh acid solution for each test run.

The solution must be kept boiling during the 10 minutes of the test. If too many test pieces are put in at once, the solution will be cooled to such an extent that it will stop boiling, thus endangering the accuracy of the test. By trial and error, one can determine the maximum number of parts which can be properly tested at one time.

Test pieces can be attached to fairly heavy cord or string, and be removed by this means when the test is completed.

Test pieces should be kept separated during boiling so that the acid bath has free access to all surfaces.

Dispose of waste acid solution by allowing to cool, then flushing it down the toilet.

Resistance to boiling water—Each sample of tableware shall be placed in boiling water for 30 minutes, removed, and allowed to stand for one hour at room temperature. This cycle shall be immediately repeated three times to give a total of four such cycles. The tableware shall be allowed to stand for 48 hours in air at room temperature. In cases of dispute, a temperature of 23° $\pm$ 1.1° C (73.5° $\pm$ 2° F), and a relative humidity of 50 per cent $\pm$ 4 per cent shall be maintained. Inspect the tableware for conformance with above requirement.

Resistance to dry heat—Place the tableware in a circulating air oven for eight hours at 170° F. Cool to room temperature, and inspect for conformance with above requirement.

Marking and Identification

Hallmark—Pieces of heavy-duty alpha cellulose-filled melamine tableware may carry a hallmark which shall constitute the manufacturer's declaration of compliance with this commercial standard. (A hallmark will be included in the standard.)

In order that purchasers may be assured that pieces of heavy-duty alpha cellulose-filled melamine tableware purchased actually comply with all requirements of the commercial standard, it is recommended that manufacturers include the following statement in conjunction with their name and address on labels, invoices, sales literature, etc.:

This (these) article(s) of heavy-duty alpha cellulose-filled melamine tableware complies (comply) with Commercial Standard CS — , as developed by the trade, under the procedure of the National Bureau of Standards, and issued by the U. S. Department of Commerce.

When available space on labels is insufficient for the full statement in legible type, an abbreviated statement, as follows, is recommended:

Complies with CS — , as developed by the trade, and issued by the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Latex Foam Mattresses for Hospitals CS182-51

The purpose of this commercial standard is to provide a nationally recognized standard for latex foam mattresses, promote fair competition among manufacturers, protect purchasers against inferior products, and provide a basis for guaranteeing quality.

This standard covers sizes, minimum requirements and methods of testing for one grade of latex foam mattresses for hospitals which may be manufactured from either natural or synthetic type of rubber latex. It also includes a recommended method of labeling to be used by the manufacturer.

Sizes

Sizes of finished mattresses shall be as specified, within the tolerances shown in the table. When the bed size is specified, mattresses shall be finished 1 in. shorter and 1 in. narrower, within the above tolerances. Latex foam unit shall be 1 in. larger in each lateral dimension than the covered mattress.

Requirements

Workmanship—The workmanship shall be first class in every respect and free from imperfections in manufacture which might affect either the appearance or serviceability. The mattress shall readily conform to any position of the multiple-position bed spring without any injury to the mattress. Molded or assembled shapes, which, due to manufacturing conditions may have to be altered physically, will be accepted under this specification, providing that such alteration does not affect the serviceability or size or shape beyond tolerances as specified herein. The material used in such repair or alteration shall be of the identical composition and quality as the original product.

Materials—All materials shall be 100 per cent new materials.

Latex foam unit—The latex foam shall conform to the best commercial quality of this type of product and shall meet the requirements as designated herein.

Structure—The latex foam unit shall be made in not more than four sections, cemented in a manner that the seams shall not be so firm as to be detectable through the cover, and shall consist of interconnecting cells, permeable to air and water, reasonably uniform in size and free from unrepaired surface voids $\frac{5}{8}$ in. or larger. End or side walls may be added to adjust for size, not to exceed $1\frac{1}{2}$ in. on any one wall.

Sidewall thickness—Straight row lug spacing: Wall thickness shall be $1\frac{3}{4}$ in. min. with permissible use of one additional row of lugs $\frac{1}{2}$ in. or less in diameter. This row, if used, to be a minimum of 1 in. from edge.

Staggered row lug spacing: Average minimum wall thickness shall be $1\frac{1}{2}$ in.; 1 in. min. wall for closest lugs.

Inner cover (optional)—The latex unit may be enclosed in a muslin cover meeting the following minimum requirements:

Weight	2.8 oz./ sq. yd.
Thread count	48 x 48
Breaking strength	Warp, 35 lb./in. Filler, 25 lb./in.
Thread for stitching	Breaking strength, 3 lb.
Stitches	10/in.

Ticking or cover (optional)—High-grade blue and white twill, or other suitable weave ticking having not less than 78 warp threads and 62 filling threads per inch and weighing not less than 9 oz./sq. yd. (equivalent to 8 oz. per linear yard 32 in. wide) shall be used. Breaking strength (grab method) shall be not less than 135 lb. warp, 90 lb. filling, or not less than 115 lb. in both warp and filling. Residual shrinkage shall not exceed 2 per cent.

The ticking on each face or cover shall be made of not more than one piece. The stripes of the ticking on the upper and lower faces shall run lengthwise.

The cover shall be removable and closed at side or end panel with either laundry proof snap fasteners or slide fasteners. The snap fasteners shall be spaced not more than 10 inches apart.

Thread and stitching—Thread shall not be less than 3-cord and shall have a breaking strength (single strand) of not less than 3 lbs. All machine stitching shall run not less than 10 stitches to the inch.

Lifting straps—Two lifting straps of double-thickness ticking, with turned-in sewed edges, not less than $\frac{1}{2}$ in. wide, shall be securely attached in a vertical position to each side of the mattress border at the top and bottom seams, located about 36 in. apart and equidistant from the ends. Straps will not be required on mattresses 60 in. or less in length. When longitudinal lifting straps are specified in lieu of vertical, they shall be furnished only on prebuilt borders or when other adequate reinforcement is provided.

Odor—The mattress shall be free from any objectionable odor.

Tags—Tags marked to conform to the legal requirements of the state in which the mattress was manufactured and/or is to be sold shall be sewn on each mattress cover.

Each foam rubber unit shall be permanently marked with the manufacturer's name or recognized trade mark.

Accelerated aging—Maximum change in indentation from the original value shall be plus or minus 20 per cent, after treating in the air oven as described below.

Air bomb effect—A specimen cut from the mattress will not change shape, become hard, soft or appreciably tacky, when subjected to the air bomb test described below.

Maximum permanent set shall be 10 per cent of the original height when tested.

Flexing—A sample of the mattress, at least 12 in. by 12 in., taken from the softest section of the mattress, shall withstand a minimum flexing of 250,000 cycles as described in the test below, without showing any breakdown of the physical structure, or permanent set greater than 10 per cent. For mattresses of variable core construction, the sample shall be taken from the softest area.

Washability—The mattress shall be capable of being washed repeatedly, without damage in a hot (150° to 160° F) 1 per cent soap solution conforming to Federal Specification P-S-616.

Dimensional tolerances—Tolerances on length and width of latex foam units without cover shall be as shown in the table.

Dimensional Tolerances

Length or width (inches)	Tolerance (inches)
	Plus	Minus
0 to 6	3/16	1/16
6 to 12	3/8	1/8
12 to 24	1/2	1/4
24 to 36	5/8	3/8
36 to 48	3/4	1/2
48 to 60	7/8	5/8
60 to 72	1	3/4
72 and over	1 1/8	7/8

Thickness—Four-and-one-half-inch mattresses (without cover) shall be 4½ in. thick at the crown, with a maximum crown of ½ in., and with a plus tolerance of 3/16 in. and a minus tolerance of ⅛ in. Three-inch mattresses (without cover) shall be 3 in. thick at the box, within the foregoing tolerances, and 3 in. thick throughout, minimum. Crown is not required on 3 in. mattresses, but is permitted at the manufacturer's discretion. Two-and-one-half-inch mattresses (supplied only in crib sizes) shall be 2½ in. thick (without cover), with a plus tolerance of ⅛ and a minus tolerance of 1/16 in.; they are normally supplied without crown, but may be moderately crowned at the discretion of the manufacturer. Care not to distort latex foam shall be observed in making measurements.

Indentation or compression—The load, in pounds, required to compress the mattress 25 per cent of its thickness, using an indentor foot 50 sq. in. in area, shall be determined as described in the indentation or compression test. The compression resistance shall be 28.5 ± 6.5 lb. (0.57 ± 0.13 lb./sq. in.)

Static fatigue—The latex foam shall show no cracking at the folded edge when tested in accordance with the procedure outlined below.

Packing—This specification contemplates that mattresses normally will be shipped by closed truck, unmixed with other freight and protected from injury, direct from bidder's plant or warehouse to the purchaser. For such methods of shipment, cartons will not be required except when specified in invitation for bids. Mattresses shipped by l.c.l. freight, or by truck in mixed cargo shall be packed in fibreboard or cardboard cartons.

Methods of Test

Accelerated aging—Air oven test: The conditions described in paragraphs 14b and 14c of Federal Specification ZZ-R-601a shall apply excepting that the test shall be run for 22 hours at 212° F. The specimen used shall be at least 12 in. by 12 in.

Air bomb test: The conditions described in paragraphs 14b and 14c of Federal Specification ZZ-R-601a shall apply excepting that the test shall be run for two hours at 200 F and 60 lb./sq. in. pressure. The specimen used shall be a plug approximately ½ in. in diameter and at least ½ in. long.

Permanent set under constant deflection—The sample shall be compressed to 50 per cent of its height for 22 hours at 158° F. The load shall be released at the end of the test period and the thickness measured after 30 minutes rest at room temperature.

Flexing—The 12 in. by 12 in. sample shall be compressed to 50 per cent of its original thickness at a rate of 60 cycles per minute, and shall be placed on a perforated base during flexing to allow escape of air. The sample shall have parallel upper and lower surfaces and shall represent the entire cushioning unit where possible. The foot of the compressor unit shall be flat, parallel to the base, and in all cases be larger than the sample.

Indentation or compression test—A suitable instrument shall be provided to measure the load, to the nearest pound, necessary to produce an indentation into the mattress 25 per cent of its thickness. There shall be a circular indentor foot with square edges, of 50 sq. in. in area, connected by a ball and socket joint to a load-measuring device (such as a scale) and mounted in such a manner that the specimen can be depressed at a rate of 25 in. per minute. The cored side of the mattress, if any, should be placed on a plate which has been drilled with 1/4-in. holes on 3/4-in. centers to allow for rapid escape of air. The specimens, if cut out sections, shall be not less than 12 by 12 in. The test shall be made with the indentor foot in the center of a cut out section, and in no event shall be made within 4 in. of the edge of the mattress. Tests shall be made at the center and 12 in. from one end and the loads averaged. The result obtained in this test is influenced by temperature and humidity conditions, and tests which are to be compared shall be conducted under substantially the same conditions.

In cases of dispute, the compression readings shall be performed at a temperature of 73.4° ± 2° F, and in an atmosphere having a relative humidity of 50 per cent ± 4 per cent. The product shall be conditioned undeflected and undistorted at this temperature and humidity for at least 12 hours before being tested. Ordinarily only one test shall be made but in cases of dispute the result shall be expressed as the average of a minimum of three tests.

Static fatigue—Bend a piece of latex foam 4 in. by 6 in. parallel to the 4 in. dimension to 180° between two compression plates and place in a Geer oven at 158° F, for 22 hours. The opening between the two plates should be equal to twice the thickness of the unfolded sample. The folded edge of sample should not extend beyond the edges of the compression plate. When cored stock is tested the cover should be folded in. After this test, sample shall not show any cracking at the folded edge.

Identification

In order that purchasers may be assured that latex foam mattresses purchased actually comply with all requirements of the commercial standard, it is recommended that manufacturers include the following statement in conjunction with their name and address on labels, invoices, sales literature, etc:

This ..... type latex foam mattress (natural or synthetic) complies with Commercial Standard CS182-51, developed by the trade, under the procedure of the National Bureau of Standards, and issued by the U. S. Department of Commerce.

When available space on labels is insufficient for the full statement in legible type, an abbreviated statement, as follows, is recommended:

Complies with CS—, as developed by the trade, and issued by the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Appendix—Care of Latex Foam Mattresses

A latex foam mattress is porous and should, therefore, like any other mattress, be protected from contaminating liquids.

If it is necessary to remove it from the cover, it should be protected against direct sunlight which will cause deterioration.

While the rubber foam itself has sufficient tensile strength to withstand ordinary abuse, it can nevertheless be torn through deliberate mishandling. Therefore, some care must be taken in handling the product when it has been removed from the cover.

The following materials are harmless to latex foam rubber: ammonia water, borax, washing soda, soap solution and synthetic detergents. Any other cleaning agents should be investigated thoroughly before using. Typical cleaning agents which are harmful include gasoline, carbon tetrachloride, bleaching solutions and any acid material.

For sterilization, the mattress may be sprayed, sponged, or soaked with a mild antiseptic solution. It should not be subjected to temperatures above 150° F. for a prolonged period of time and never to steam pressure. Any copper or manganese bearing material should be avoided.

Steel Bone Plates, Screws and Drills

Following is the draft of a revision of Commercial Standard CS37-31, Steel Bone Plates, Screws and Drills.

This commercial standard covers the physical and metallurgical requirements, design, dimensions, workmanship and finish of stainless steel bone plates, screws and drills available for use in the reduction of bone fractures, together with the packaging, identification and certification of quality to buyers. It also includes requirements for some auxiliary items designed to facilitate their application.

General Requirements

Workmanship and finish—Steel bone plates, screws and drills shall be of good workmanship without apparent flaws or defects. They shall be thoroughly cleaned and polished smooth.

Metallurgical requirements—The steel for plates, screws and drills shall be a chromium-nickel-molybdenum alloy steel of the class commercially known as 18-8 SMo, conforming to the following requirements:

	Per Cent
Chromium	17-20
Nickel	10-14
Molybdenum	2- 4
Manganese	2 Maximum
Silicon	0.75 Maximum
Carbon	0.08 Maximum
Phosphorous	0.03 Maximum
Sulphur	0.03 Maximum

The screws and drills and the plates after forming shall have a Rockwell hardness number of not less than C30 nor more than C35.

Inspection and tests—Chemical Composition: Each manufacturer of bone plates, screws and drills shall secure from the manufacturer of the steel used in their manufacturing a certificate of the analysis of the steel supplied, giving the percentage content of each of the elements listed above. He shall furnish a certified copy to the purchaser on request. The purchaser at his option may have check analyses made on samples from delivered stock.

Hardness: The manufacturers of bone plates, screws and drills shall have Rockwell C tests made on each end and the middle of each strip or rod from which plates, screws, or drills are to be manufactured. No plate or rod for which these measurements differ by more than 5 Rockwell C numbers shall be used for bone plates, screws, or drills. A check test shall be made on one finished plate made from each strip. This hardness impression shall be made as near the end of the plate as practical and not in the mid-section of any plate which is to be put into service. The purchaser at his option may have check hardness tests made on samples from delivered stock.

Dimensions and tolerances: The manufacturer of bone plates, screws, drills and auxiliary items shall gage each plate, screw, drill and auxiliary item to ensure that they comply with the dimensions and tolerances specified.

Design—Stainless steel bone plates shall be of one of the three designs shown on figure 1, Modified Sherman, Modified Venable and Slotted. They shall be made in one grade only.

Screw holes and countersinking—Screw holes shall be drilled or reamed and countersunk after the plate is curved.

Sizes and dimensions and tolerances—Bone plates shall be made in seven sizes with dimensions, contour and tolerances to conform with table 1 and figure 1.

Stamping—Each bone plate shall be stamped near an end with the name or trade-mark of the manufacturer and with the designation "18-8 SMo," indicating the material from which it is made. No stamping shall be allowed on the mid-section. Stamping shall not be so deep as to appreciably weaken the plate.

Packaging—Each individual plate shall be sealed in a transparent envelope so that the seal or envelope must be broken to remove the plate. The envelope shall bear a mark showing the size number of the plate contained therein.

Identification label—Each envelope containing a plate shall bear a label worded as follows: .....declares that this 18-8 SMo steel bone plate conforms to all requirements of Commercial Standard CS37-.....issued by the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Screw thread design—Screws shall have 60° threads and a pitch between 20 and 32 threads per inch.

Screw point design—The screw points shall be of one of the two flute self-tapping designs shown on figure 2.

Screw head design—The screw heads shall have either cruciate slots or a straight slot as shown in figure 2.

Sizes and dimensions and tolerances—Screws shall be made in 13 sizes with dimensions and tolerances as shown in table 2 and figure 2. Longer screws may be supplied on special order if desired.

Packaging—Screws shall be packaged in lots of three or six of one size, in transparent envelopes so sealed that the seal or envelope must be broken to remove screws. Each envelope containing screws shall bear a label stating the size and number of screws contained therein.

Identification label—Each envelope containing screws shall bear a label worded as follows: .....declares that these 18-8 SMo screws conform to all requirements of Commercial Standard CS37-.....issued by the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Design—Drills shall be of the design shown on figure 3.

Sizes and dimensions and tolerances—Drills shall be of two sizes with dimensions and tolerances as shown in figure 2, a pilot hole drill and a reaming drill.

Packaging—Drills shall be packaged in lots of one size, in transparent envelopes so sealed that the seal or envelope must be broken to remove drills. Each envelope containing drills shall bear a label stating the size and number of drills contained therein.

Identification label—Each envelope containing drills shall bear a label worded as follows: .....declares that these 18-8 SMo drills conform to all requirements of Commercial Standard CS37-....., issued by the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Material—The steel for the drill guide, cruciate type screw driver and the countersink shall be a chromium-nickel corrosion-resisting steel conforming to the requirements of Federal Specifications for Instruments, Dental and Surgical; General Specifications, CG-I-526, January 12, 1943. Grade 2,C.

Design, dimensions and tolerances—The drill guide, screw driver and countersink shall be made of the designs, dimensions and tolerances shown on figure 3.

Packaging—Each drill guide, screw driver, or countersink shall be wrapped in moisture-proof paper and packaged singly in an individual sealed carton of appropriate size.

Identification label—Each carton containing a drill guide, screw driver or countersink shall bear a label worded as follows: .....declares that this.....conforms to all the requirements of Commercial Standard CS37-....., issued by the Department of Commerce.

Clinical Thermometers, CS1-52

Purpose

The purpose of this commercial standard is to provide a specification and methods for testing clinical thermometers as a basis for certification of compliance with a nationally recognized standard of quality and accuracy, and to promote fair competition among manufacturers.

Scope

This standard applies to maximum self-registering, mercury-in-glass thermometers of the types commonly used for measuring body temperatures. The certificate specified below, when issued by a manufacturer, or certification by a testing laboratory that a thermometer has been found to meet the requirements of this standard, means that the thermometer has been examined and tested and has been found to meet the construction and performance requirements and has passed the tests specified. The requirements and tests may be outlined as follows: Construction; aging; test for entrapped gas; test for hard shakers; test for accuracy; test for retreating index, and test for permanence of pigment.

Construction Requirements

1. Bulb glass: The bulbs shall be made of Corning Normal glass or equal having a softening point of 702 $\pm$ 5° C. and a coefficient of expansion of 86($\pm$2) x 10^{-7} cm/cm/°C.

2. Stem glass: The glass used for stems shall be Corning standard thermometer lead glass or equal having a softening point of 648 $\pm$ 5° C. and a coefficient of expansion of 85($\pm$2) x 10^{-7} cm/cm/°C.

3. There shall be not more than 9.0° F. per inch of scale. The minimum over-all length, excluding cap, if any, shall be $37\frac{1}{8}$ inches.

4. The range of scale shall be at least from 96° to 106° F., or 35° C. to 41° C. The 96.0° F. mark shall be not less than $\frac{3}{8}$ inch from the top of the constriction; that is, from the point at which the capillary resumes its normal shape above the constriction. The 106° F. mark shall be at least $\frac{3}{8}$ inch from the end of the thermometer, or $\frac{1}{8}$ inch below any part of any cap attached to the thermometer and at least $\frac{1}{8}$ inch from the end of the bore.

5. Fahrenheit thermometers shall be graduated in 0.2° F.; each degree mark and the mark at 98.6° shall be longer than the intervening marks (The requirements of this standard shall not preclude the manufacture and sale of special thermometers having different ranges and degrees of subdivision designed for a specific use; for example, with tubercular cases or for ovulation temperature measurements.) Numerals shall be placed at every even degree mark, at least.

6. Centigrade (Celsius) thermometers shall be graduated in 0.1° C.; each degree and half-degree mark shall be longer than the intervening marks. Numerals shall be placed at every degree mark, at least. The Centigrade (Celsius) temperatures corresponding to the various Fahrenheit temperatures throughout this standard are listed in the appendix.

7. The graduation marks shall be substantially straight, regularly spaced, of uniform width; perpendicular to the axis of the stem and not wider than the spaces between the graduations nor wider than 0.012 inch, and not narrower than 0.004 inch.

8. Each thermometer shall bear in legible characters the name or trade mark of the manufacturer, and either a serial number, or a serial number and year, to provide complete identification.

9. All marks, numerals and identification marks shall be made readily legible, in some way, as by the use of pigment. All thermometers shall retain their pigment after the completion of all tests specified in this standard. Thermometers shall be examined for extent of pigmentation before the test, and loss or absence of pigment from one complete graduation or numeral or from the equivalent of one long graduation shall be cause for rejection.

10. The graduation at 98.6° shall be designated by an arrow or other suitable mark within a tolerance of plus or minus one-half scale division.

11. Each thermometer shall exhibit creditable workmanship which will permit certification under the remaining sections of this standard. Constructional defects shall not prevent observations of temperature within a tolerance of $\pm$0.2° F. in the range 96° to 104° F. and within $\pm$0.3° F. in the range 104° to 106° F. The presence of unhealed fire cracks or fractures shall be evidence of discreditable workmanship.

12. Aging: All thermometers shall be aged by either natural or artificial means, so that the performance requirements involved will be met after the thermometer has been introduced into commerce. The natural method involves holding at room temperature for a period of four months after completion of the constriction. The artificial method involves heat treatment of bulb and constriction at a temperature of at least 840° F. for at least three hours, followed by cooling to 500° F. at a rate not to exceed 100° F. per hour. Any other method approved by the standing committee for this commercial standard may be used.

Performance Requirements—Test Methods

1. Gas in mercury column. Thermometers in which visual inspection shows the presence of gas in the bulb shall be rejected.

2. All thermometers in which there is sufficient gas or other foreign material to cause separation in the mercury column above the constriction during shipment, test, or use, shall be rejected. To test for this, the thermometer shall be shaken down if necessary, then heated so that the reading is 102° F. The mercury shall be shaken away from the bulb in a centrifuge at 200 rpm with the top of the thermometer 32 cm from the axis of rotation. A broken mercury column above the constriction shall be an indication that there is gas or other foreign material present in sufficient quantity to justify rejection. In this test, if the mercury column above the constriction is found removed from the constriction, but is in one uninterrupted piece, this shall not be evidence of a broken mercury column.

3. Hard shakers: All thermometers, after having been heated to 106° F., shall be mounted in a centrifuge and whirled at the specified speed. For a centrifuge in which the ends of the bulbs are 17 cm from the axis of rotation, the specified speed is 580 rpm. For a centrifuge in which the ends of the bulbs are 32 cm from the axis of rotation, the specified speed is 400 rpm. The larger type is preferred. When whirled at the specified speed, the index shall fall below 96° F.

4. It is not necessary to heat and shake down the thermometers especially for this test, since these operations are performed during the test for accuracy. The thermometers may, therefore, be examined to determine whether the index has fallen below 96° F. after they have been shaken down in the test for accuracy.

5. Accuracy: Thermometers shall be compared at 98°, 102° and 106° F., with certified clinical standards, by heating them in a well stirred water bath, removing from bath, and reading. Thermometers not graduated above 106° F. which give readings above 106° F. may be retested at 105.6° F. to reduce uncertainty in determining the error. The temperature of the bath shall be raised at a substantially uniform rate during the last two minutes before the test temperature is reached and the rise during this two-minute period shall be not more than 0.2° F. The thermometers shall be removed from the bath as soon as the temperature of test is reached, except in the second test at 106° F., where the procedure specified under "retreating index" shall be followed. The readings shall be observed after removal from the bath.

(In making the readings, allowance should be made for the width of the graduation marks. Take, for example, a Fahrenheit thermometer in which the width of the mark is 0.4 of the length of a graduation interval. The interval is 0.2°, so that the width of the mark corresponds to 0.08°. In such a thermometer, if the top of the mercury column is opposite the middle of the 102° mark, the reading would be 102.00°, whereas if it were opposite the lower edge of the mark, the reading would be 101.96°, and if opposite the upper edge, the reading would be 102.04°. A fine mark on a thermometer with a very open scale, say 10° F. in a scale length of two inches, would have a width corresponding to about 0.02° F., whereas the width of a broad mark on a thermometer having 9° F. to one inch, would correspond to about 0.1° F.

(The use of the method of reading to one-tenth division or better is implied in paragraphs 5, 6 and 7, and uniform and satisfactory use of these tests depends upon using this method of reading.)

6. Two independent comparisons shall be made on each thermometer at each test temperature. No individual reading, in comparison with the certified standard, shall be in error by more than +0.20° F. at 98° F. and 102° F., nor by more than +0.30° F. at 106° F., and the two readings at 98° and 102° F. shall not differ from each other by more than 0.20° F.; except as provided in paragraph 7, the two readings at 106° F. shall not differ from each other by more than 0.30° F.

7. If either reading at one and only one test temperature is in error by more than the tolerance specified in paragraph 6, or if the readings at one and only one test temperature differ from each other by more than the tolerance specified in paragraph 6, the thermometer shall be completely retested for accuracy. If on retest the thermometer fails to meet the requirements of paragraph 6, it shall be rejected.

8. Retreating index: In one of the tests for accuracy at 106° F., the thermometers are removed from the bath as soon as the test temperature is reached. In the other test at 106° F., the bath is brought up to the test temperature and then allowed to cool slowly to 105° F. or below, at a uniform rate not exceeding 1° F. in three minutes. The thermometers are then removed from the bath and read. The two readings shall not differ from each other by more than 0.30° F.

9. Retention of pigment: Thermometers shall be immersed in a 5 per cent (by weight) phenol-in-water solution for a period of one hour at a temperature between 70° and 90° F. without the indication of removal of the coloring matter or its appearance in the solution. All thermometers shall retain their pigment as specified in paragraph 9 under CONSTRUCTION REQUIREMENTS after the completion of all tests herein required.

10. When testing lots of more than 100 of the same brand, it is not necessary to submit each individual thermometer to the phenol test, and a sample of 100 thermometers selected at random shall be tested. The lot may be considered to have passed the phenol test if not more than 2 per cent of the representative sample taken from the lot fails in this test.

Certificate

Each thermometer certified by the manufacturer shall be accompanied by a certificate which shall include the following statement or its equivalent:

We, the undersigned manufacturer, hereby certify that this registering clinical thermometer marked (insert manufacturer's trade mark or brand name) has been examined and tested and found to meet all the requirements and tests specified in Commercial Standard CS1-52, developed by the trade under the procedure of the Commodity Standards Division and issued by the United States Department of Commerce.

Canned Fruit and Vegetables. The Manual of Specifications for Canned Fruit and Vegetables, published by the American Hospital Association in 1948, uses the United States standards as the basis for its specifications. There is additional material, as well, from canning agencies and packers. The descriptions of the U. S. Grades are condensed and supplemented on quality requirements and in evaluating products received.

Irregularities in each commodity that are an indication of poor quality are listed following the descriptions of the product grades.

Two charts are included. The Buying Chart provides summarized information from which individual hospital requirements may be selected and written specifications made for securing bids. For each product it gives the container size and cans per case, the United States standards for grades and the minimum score points; the type of product and styles in which each product is canned; the sieve size, other size designation, or the range of count of pieces in the most popular size cans; type of container; packing media; minimum degrees Brix of the syrup, and the minimum drained weight for each product.

The Serving and Cost Chart gives the average number of servings per container and aids the buyer in determining quantity requirements. Cost comparison of the serving portions of each canned food at the time of purchase results in economical purchasing and assists in controlling hospital food costs. This chart gives for each product the most popular container sizes; approximate net weights or volume; the approximate measure of contents in cups or pieces; the average size of each serving; and the approximate number of servings per container. In products which are measured by pieces the count of pieces per serving is given. In other products four ounces, or one-half cup, is used as the standard serving, including four ounces for all fruit juices.

AMERICAN INDUSTRY GIVES GENEROUSLY TO HOSPITAL FUNDS

Contributions by corporations have been a major factor in the high degree of success achieved in building fund campaigns for $200,000,000 for almost 200 hospitals, entrusted to our direction since Pearl Harbor.

The subscriptions by industrial, commercial and financial companies to these funds generally were based on an equation we devised for each project. These formulas demonstrated the actual capital investment to be made in hospital facilities required by the employees of the contributing companies and their dependents.

Many of our clients attribute the significant share of their building funds contributed by business concerns to this realistic method of establishing the amounts corporations are justified in subscribing. Read the examples of corporate response to a dozen typical individual and federated hospital funds.

EXPANSION

In a $1,250,000 campaign for a new wing for Coatesville (Pa.) Hospital, $1,450,000 was subscribed. A total of $697,458 was contributed by corporations. At York, Pa., $2,651,000 was obtained in an appeal for York Hospital, to which corporations gave a total of $1,153,000.

FEDERATED FUNDS

Corporations in Milwaukee had subscribed $4,350,000 by early April to the $7,500,000 United Hospitals Fund, to be completed June 30. In federated funds for $40,435,000 at Detroit, Rochester, Cleveland, Harrisburg and Bridgeport, contributions totalled $41,572,000; corporations subscribed $25,071,632.

ENLARGEMENT

A $700,000 building fund for Pawating Hospital in Niles, Mich., was exceeded by $70,000, with corporations subscribing $458,200. In Battle Creek, Community Hospital, one of the city's three hospitals, raised $813,000 in a program for $750,000, to which corporations contributed $435,421.

REPLACEMENT

For a new structure to replace the present outmoded North Adams (Mass.) Hospital, $1,350,000 was sought. Of the $1,321,000 contributed, $576,100 came from corporations. The Pottstown (Pa.) Hospital needed $850,000 for a new building. Corporations subscribed $374,127 of the $1,125,000 raised.

Basics...for community living

CHURCHES, schools and hospitals are basic for community living and each, to do its part, must keep pace with the increasing demands of a growing population.

WHEN faced with the problem of raising funds to expand facilities, hundreds of hospital administrators throughout the nation have turned to HANEY & ASSOCIATES.

THEIR unanimous reasons for seeking our counsel are:

★ Specialists in hospital campaigning exclusively.

★ Nearly thirty years of successful fund raising.

★ Every campaign has an experienced director.

★ Former clients invariably say —

"We'll have 'em back for the next campaign!"

WHEN you think of fund raising, think of HANEY & ASSOCIATES.
